Wit and Humor.

ELECTIONS for candidates for the United States Congress are to be held on December 3d, in the districts of New Orleans. The following appears in the Delta of the 18th, in relation to one of the candidates:

"We desire that there shall be the fullest liberty of speech through the columns of the Delta. This is already omitted from the fact that all sorts of paper—black, spirits and white, blue spirits and grey—have had an opportunity to mingle with the living world, and we believe that in the future all who wish to enjoy the privilege of speaking, shall have the same privilege. It is in this spirit, then, that we cheerfully place prominently before our readers the letter of Mister Michael Mullaboon, who offers himself as a candidate for Congress:

"THE FIGHTIN' IRISHMAN'S TERRITORY,
"New Orleans,
"November the 18, 1862.

"Mister Delta:—I am an old countryman, and I represent the laberin classes; the Casuals at present bye. It is time them important porshun of our fellu citizens was personnified in the national Congress of free glorious Amerikey. I offer meself for that personnification. I can speak four languages—Dutch, French, Spanish, and Irish well—and a small smatterin' of English. I could wallop any man or two wait in Tipperary forninst his friends. Since my approach to this town I have filled the important post of stevedoor made vacant by the late and lamented John T. Mouroe, and have had open-air opportunities of obdurvin' the wonderful workins of our institutions. I stood out forninst all the terrible turmile raised by that blaggard Bowregard, the little Creeble spalpeen that brags of havin' fired the first gun at the loold flag, thereby takin' the glory which belongs to another Ruffin. Many a night, wid my blackthorn, have I walked these thoroughfares, seein' if anything or 'em wid be plased to step upon the tale or me top coat. I never signed the Ordinance of Secession—I wasn't a member or the Convention—and the devil as much as a tay bell ever I gave the infernal Jewish creation, styled the 'Southern Confedthereacy.' No, Mister Delta, in them dirty days, I was, so to spake, like a Tower of Courage in a Bay of Fear.

"Wid these explanatshions, I approach the hardy laberin classes or ather or the parliamintary districts.

"Yours, druly,
"MICHAEL MULLADOON."

"P. S.—Or course I am'nt what is called, through the law-curts, a naturalized born citizen, and that's the convanience that makes me equally available in both the districts.—Do you mind me felle counthrymen?"

A CASE OF GREAT EXPECTATIONS.—For the past two weeks the military authorities of Tennessee have been very strict, and, as no person is permitted to leave Nashville who is not loyal, necessarily a vast amount of questioning takes place at the Provost Marshal's office. A few days ago, a tall, dejected looking, middle-aged man made his appearance before Colonel Gillem, and solicited a pass. The first question asked by the Colonel was:

"Are you a loyal man?"

"Well," said the mysterious looking solicitor, "I expect I am."

"You expect you are; don't you know whether you are a good Union man or not?"

"I expect—I don't know, sir."

The appearance of the man, and his manner of conversation rather nonplussed Colonel Gillem, who continued, however:

"Where do you wish to go, sir?"

"I want to go home."

"Where is your home?"

"In East Tennessee."

"When did you arrive in this city?"

"Several years ago."

"Where were you at the commencement of the rebellion, sir?"

"In this city."

"Did you ever hear Andy Ewing make any of his speeches?"

"No, sir."

"Have you ever been in the rebel army?"

"No, sir."

"Did you ever intend to take up arms against the government of the United States?"

"No, sir."

"Have you a family in East Tennessee, sir?"

"Yes, sir, a wife and two daughters."

"How long is it since you have seen your family?"

"Ten years."

"Ten years! Where have you been during all this time?"

"In the State prison, sir."

"Mr. Bent," said the Colonel, turning to one of his clerks, "give this man a pass to East Tennessee."

COURTSHIP AND MATRIMONY.

"Courtship is fun enough—I haint got a word to say again courting. It's about as good a way of killing a long evening as I know of. Wash your face and put on a clean dickey, and talk as sweet as molasses candy for an hour or two—to say nothing of a few sweet kisses behind the door, as your sweetheart goes to the step with you. The fact is, I've a genius for courting. It's all sunshine and no clouds.

"When I was a single man, the world wagged along well enough. It was like an omnibus—I was a passenger, paid my levy, and hadn't nothing more to do with it but to sit down and not care a button for anything. Spoain the omnibus got upset—well I walks off and leaves the man to pick up the pieces. But then I must take a wife, and be hanged to me. It's all very well for a while; but afterwards its plaguey like owing for an upset omnibus.

"What do I get by it? A jawing old woman, and three squallers.

"Mighty different from courting that is. What's the fun of buying things to eat and things to wear for them, and wasting good spreeing money on such nonsense for other people, and as for doing what we like, there is no such thing. You can't clear out when people's owing you so much money—you can't stay conveniently. No—the nabbers must have you. You can't go on a spree when you come home missis kicks up the devil's delight. You can't teach her better manners—for Charleys are as thick as blackberries. In short you can't do nothing. Instead of "Yes my duck," and "No my dear," "if you please, honey," and "when you like, lovey," like it was in courting times, its a regular row at all hours. Sour looks and cold potatoes; children, and table clothes bad off for soap, and always darning and mending, and nothing ever darned or mended. If it wasn't that I'm particular sober, I'd be inclined to drink—it's excuse enough. It's heart breaking, and it's all owing to that Peewsuch a pain in my gizzard, this morning. I'm so miserable, I must stop and sit on the steps.

ARTEMAS WARD AND THE ARTIST.—"I was fixin' myself up to attend the great war meetin' when my daughter entered with a young man who was evijently from the city, and who wore long-hair, and had a wild expression into his eye. In one hand he carried a portfolio, and his other paw claspt a bunch of small brushes. My daughter introduced him as Mr. Sweiber, the distinguished landscape painter from Philadelphy.

"He is a artist, papa. Here is one of his master pieces—a young mother gazin' admirin'ly upon her first born," and my daughter showed me a really pretty picter, dun in ile.

"Is it not beautiful, papa? He throws so much soul into his work."

"Does he? Does he?" said I—"Well, I reckon I'd better hire him to whitewash our fence. It needs it. What will you charge sir," I continued, "to throw some soul into my fence?"

My daughter went out of the room in very short meeter, takin' the artist with her, "and from the emphatical manner in which the door slam'd, I concluded she was summut disgusted at my remarks. She closed the door, I must say, in italics. I went into the closet, and larfed all alone by myself for over half an hour.

A FEW days ago the following conversation took place between General Banks and a member of his staff:

Staff Officer—General, the members of your staff are desirous of knowing something about the destination of the expedition, so that they can take proper clothing with them.

General—A very natural desire, certainly.

Staff Officer—We would like to know whether we should take light or heavy clothing?

General—(With his accustomed gravity)—Take both kinds, sir, take both kinds, and you will not fail to hit the nail on the head.

Staff Officer—Good morning, General.

General—Good morning, sir.

A PARCOCIOUS youth in a country town in this State had arrived at the age of nine years, when his father sent him to school. He stood beside the teacher to repeat the letters of the alphabet.

"What's that?"

"That's a harrer," vociferated the urchin.

"No, that's A."

"A."

"Well what's the next?"

"Ox-yoke."

"No, it's B."

"Tain't neither! It's an ox-yoke. Crotch all hemlock! Think I don't know?"

GREAT BOOKS IN PRESS.

THRILLING INCIDENTS

OF THE

GREAT REBELLION;

OR

The Heroism of our Soldiers and Sailors

ILLUSTRATED.

1 vol., large 12 mo. Price, $1 25.

The critics and the public are right in predicting that this will surpass, in graphic narrative, exciting interest, and extensive popularity, all other histories of the War for the Union. Its theme will be the heroic daring, patient suffering, and hair breadth escapes of our soldiers and sailors, and its incidents will form the theme of conversation at innumerable firesides for years to come. It will contain, in addition to its stirring details, the philosophical Analysis of the Causes of the War, by John Lothrop Motley, LL.D., Author of "The Rise of the Dutch Republic," etc., the dates of all the important events from the John Brown raid, and an accurate and revised account of the principal battles, with engravings.

One-third the proceeds of all subscriptions sent direct to us will be given for the Relief of Disabled Soldiers, and all persons who wish a copy of the work, and also to benefit the soldiers, should send their name and address at once.—Also, any officer or private, or person in any section of the country, having knowledge of a heroic act or stirring incident, will oblige us by sending us an account of it.

BOOKSELLERS, POSTMASTERS, and CANVASSING AGENTS will be furnished with a Subscription Prospectus, on application to the Publishers.

☞ A liberal commission given to soldiers desiring immediate agents in taking subscriptions.

APPLETON'S NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FROM THE PUBLISHERS.

MR. B. BANNAN—Dear Sir:—The 16th and concluding volume of the New American Cyclopædia being now at press, and shortly to be published, it is proper to advise you that after the publication and delivery to subscribers of that volume, the price will be advanced 50 cents per volume to all future subscribers. This increased advance is rendered necessary by reason of the advance of paper and material in the manufacture of the work, as also by the very great expense of the literary labor, much exceeding the estimate made when we first issued our terms to subscribers, five years since. We have faithfully kept to our engagements, giving to the subscribers more than we promised, and we trust that those who have failed to procure the work during its progress, will not regard the increased price as unreasonable.

Very respectfully,
D. APPLETON & CO.

☞ Persons now subscribing for this valuable and reliable Cyclopædia, before the publication of the 16th volume, which completes the work, can be furnished at the old prices, viz: $3 50 per volume, in cloth, or $3 00 in Library style. After the completion, the price will be advanced, as stated, 50 cents per volume.

It cannot be repeated, that this work is furnished only by subscription, through regular agents, and that those who delay subscribing now, can only procure it at the advanced price.

Subscriptions will be received by the subscriber, at the low rates, until the 16th volume is published.

It is the fullest and best Cyclopædia published in the world; is universally acknowledged to be equal to any of the 9th edition, and is sold at one-third the price of any of the latest publications of the kind.

Agent for the Publishers.

To Coal Operators and Others.

DEIHM & DUFUR, Sole Agents and Licensees is the Coal Region for the E. T. W. B. Co., take pleasure in announcing that, in the U. S. Court, Nov. 30, '61, in the suit of said Company vs. Geis & Co., of Pottsville, April Sess., '61, No. 6, in Equity, Judge Grier granted an Injunction on Belted Screws, decreeing that Plaintiffs alone own the Henry Jenkins Crimping Patent, for making Coal Screens, &c.

The points involved in Judge Grier's opinion are very important, fully establishing the rights of the Company against the various devices used to violate the Patent, and will apply as fully to others making Crimped Screens or work, as to Geis & Co.

It was contended by defendants—1st, That they had the title to the Patent; 2d, That their purchase of machines from Henry Jenkins entitled them to make and sell; and 3d and principally, that the Patent was invalid or insufficient, in not stating how the crimping was to be done.

All these positions were ruled against Geis & Co., the Judge particularly remarking, that, as the Patent stated, the crimping might be done in various ways, and Jenkins was not bound to say how he (the Patentee) crimped wire by means of his machine, that violates the Jenkins Patent, which Plaintiffs own.

In notifying our friends and the public, therefore, that we throw in the Coal Region are authorized to manufacture or repair Coal Screens or Crimped Wire, we also caution all persons, either selling or purchasing such work, no MATTER HOW MADE, that they are violating our rights, and will be held strictly accountable in damages.

Coal Operators, and the public generally, are hereby notified that the NEW YORK WIRE RAILING COMPANY are the sole owners of the Letters Patent of the United States issued to HENRY JENKINS, of Pottsville, Pa., bearing date March 6th, 1862, and extended for the term of seven years, from the 6th day of March, 1861, for a new and useful improvement in the Process of Manufacturing Wire Grating, &c., and that all persons bringing the same will be held accountable, and liable to respond in damages, and you are hereby prohibited from making, selling, or using, or continuing to make, sell, or use, screens, sieves, or any other article infringing the said patent.

They do not sell, Messrs. DEIHM & DUFUR are the sole licensees under the said patent, and the only persons authorized to manufacture and sell articles made according to said patent, within the limits of the Anthracite Coal Region of Pennsylvania. They have associated with them JOHN W. BROCK, Esq., of Scranton, as a full and equal partner, and the business will be conducted in the name of DEIHM, DUFUR & BROCK.

The orders of the Coal Trade and others, for any description of Wire Screens, Grating, Sieves, &c., are respectfully solicited, as the undersigned are prepared to fill them at the usual prices.

Eighteenth Year.

VOLUME VIII.—NEW SERIES.

A NEW volume of this popular Journal commences on the first of January. It is published WEEKLY, and every number contains thirty pages of useful information, and from five to ten original engravings of new inventions and discoveries, all of which are prepared expressly for its columns.

TO THE MECHANIC AND MANUFACTURER.

No person engaged in any of the mechanical or manufacturing pursuits should think of "doing without" the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. It costs but six cents per week; every number contains from six to ten engravings of new machines and inventions, which cannot be found in any other publication.

TO THE INVENTOR.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is indispensable to every inventor, as it not only contains illustrated descriptions of nearly all the best inventions as they come out, but each number contains an official List of the Claims of all the Patents issued from the United States Patent Office during the week previous; thus giving a correct history of the progress of invention in this country.

We are also receiving, every week, the best scientific journals of Great Britain, France and Germany; thus placing in the possession of that is transpiring in mechanical science and art in these old countries. It shall be our endeavor to transfer to our columns such of these journals of whatever we may deem of interest to our readers.

A pamphlet of instruction as to the best mode of obtaining Letters Patent on new inventions, is furnished free on application.

Messrs. MUNN & Co. have acted as Patent Solicitors for more than an aggregate term of fifteen years, in connection with the publication of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, and they refer to 20,000 patentees for whom they have done business.

No charge is made for examining sketches and models of new inventions, and we advising inventors as to their patentability.

CORRESPONDENTS, ARCHITECTS, MILLWRIGHTS AND FARMERS.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN will be found a most useful journal to them. All the new discoveries in the science of chemistry are given in its columns, and the interests of the architect and carpenter are not overlooked; all the new inventions and discoveries appertaining to these pursuits being published from week to week. Useful and reliable information pertaining to the business of the millwrights and mill owners will be found in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which information they cannot possibly obtain from any other source. Subjects in connection with the interests of the farmer appertained in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN; most of the improvements in agricultural implements being illustrated in its columns.

TERMS:

To mail subscribers: Three Dollars a year; or One Dollar for four months. The volumes commence on the first of January and July. Specimen copies will be sent gratis to any part of the country.

Western and Canadian money or Post Office stamps taken at par for subscriptions. Canadian subscribers will please to remit 25 cents extra on each year's subscription to prepay postage.

PATENT INSULATOR

FOR KEROSENE LAMPS.

This invention is calculated to insure SAFETY in using KEROSENE OILS.

It being placed between the burner and the collar of the lamp, IT CUTS OFF ALL COMMUNICATION OF HEAT TO THE OIL, thus rendering it

Absolutely Impossible to Explode the Lamp, or render the Oil inflammable.

It is a well known fact that the burners now in use cause the oil to become heated to a degree that it is inflammable and in many CASES EXPLOSIONS HAVE TAKEN PLACE. By keeping the oil cool a saving of TEN PER CENT. is gained in consumption. The following result of a chemist in New York is submitted.

I find that burning a lamp five hours with the ordinary burner it increases the maximum heat of the oil so much as to render it inflammable; but by so heated ON INTERPOSING THE INSULATOR, I find that it cuts off the heat from the oil so that it is not inflammable, and no explosion can take place when so used.

I earnestly recommend its adoption by the public as a means of preventing accidents in using Kerosene Oil.
