says:-I have seen in the Country Gentleman lately several remedies for the cure of scratches, [or grease, as the English call it, ] but all of them were for outward application and none for inward to work on the blood. Scratches in horses, like salt-rheum in persons, generally arise from an impure state of the blood. They generally come on in the fall of the year, when the horses are taken from grass to hay and are much used, and the mud not properly cleaned after their day's work is done. I have often tried outward applications alone, but could never effect a cure. The best medicine 1 ever tried is to take one pound of Epsom salts, balf a pound of saltpetre, pulverize well, mix them together, and give a tablespoonful of the mixture every morning; wash the parts effected with Castile soap, rub dry and anoint with Dalley's horse salve, and you are sure of a cure. This mixture, while it works in and purifies the blood, is a mild diuretic, but will produce over stalling. This medicine will not take the horse from his daily work, but he should be kept from the storm, and not exposed to cold winds when warm.

WEDNESDAY MORNING July 28, '69,

Stick to The Plow And The Plane.

Don't come to the city, my boy.

Your chance, in the long run, is better where you are. Hundreds, indeed make fortunes here, but thousands live wearisome and even suffering lives in the city. - Clerks have larger salaries than farmers, but then their expense of boarding, clothes, and amusements, are so much larger, that less is saved at the end of the year. Then the temptations of the city are so strong and so constant that few young men resist them. Not many young city clerks, even if they avoid bad company, are able early in life to have a home of their own. A young man in the country, soon after his time becomes his own, can secure capital enough, with an economical wife, to set up housekeeping for himself, and have a quiet-comfortable, and even beautiful little home of his own. One of the wealthiest men in the vicinity of Boston, who died a few years since, said the happiest years of his life were passed when he was gathering, very slowly, the beginnings of his fortune. When he married he and his wife were worth, each, twenty-five cents. and they labored lovingly and happily together. This was certainly a very small fortune for two to com-hundreds of thousands when they died, gathered by economical labor.

The writer knows an excellent young thirty. He has long been engaged to a young lady of fine talents and a good temper. It would be great comfort to both to be married; but then, his salary, although quite large, would not support them in the style of life to which the young woman has been accustomed in her own home. Besides, the position of clerks is very uncertain. By the failure of what was considered one of the strongest houses in the city, this young man was thrown out of place and salary for six months.

Stick to the plow, then, or some solid, whole some trade. You will then be sure of a comfortable living. You can earlier have a home of your own, and you will be less exposed to the constant changes in business which destroy at one blow the earnings of years.

SETTING OUT STRAWBERRY BEDS.

Strawberry plants can now be set out from the middle of August to the end of September. It is true August is generally a very warm and very dry month, but in case of the absence of rain the newly planted beds must be watered every day or two until they

The bed should not be in a damp situation or the soil heavy. Dig deep pulverize finely, and apply a pretty heavy dose of good barnyard manure.

Let the devisions be about three and a half feet in width and as long as may be desirable. Set the plants about eighteen inches apart insert them in the ground firmly but not too deeply, and then keep clear of all grass and
