

John Wilson, who made his escape from the Cambria county jail in 1896 where he was confined, charged with the murder of Harry Waterhouse, of Bellefonte, has been located in a western penitentiary, and when released will be answer to the county court for the crime for which he is indicted.

S. W. Davis, Esq., the new prothonotary, has retained the services of H. H. Myers, Esq., the efficient deputy prothonotary under Mr. Darby, for a few months until he gets familiar with the workings of the office, while Register and Recorder Jones has retained Mr. H. A. Englehart in the recorder's office for the same purpose.

George W. Price, employed at Bradenville as a carpenter, was run down by a train at Saxman's tipple, near Latrobe, on Tuesday evening, and instantly killed. He resided at Johnstown, and had been at work but one day. Deceased was a widower, about 40 years of age, and was a brother of Howard, the adopted son of the late Dr. W. Evans, a former resident of Ebensburg.

The man who kicks about accepting silver coins will do well to familiarize himself with a decision of the United States supreme court rendered last week declaring that silver coins are legal tender as long as they bear the resemblance of the coin. Of course this decision referred only to coins worn by circulation. Mutilated and defaced coins are not legal tender, even if they are new.

Exaggerated reports of the strike among the coal miners in the mountain district, some of which state that more than two thousand men are out. The truth of the matter is that there are about eight hundred men on strike, the only men out being those of Taylor & McCoy and the Mitchell coal & coke company at Gallitzin and the men of the East End Coal Company. They demand an advance of ten cents per ton for mining coal.

Mr. Henry Hudson, who lives at the corner of Railroad and Hudson streets, in the Ninth ward, Johnstown, a veteran railroad engineer, whose active life in railroad service began on the Old Portage in 1847, and who has been in the service of the Pennsylvania since 1858, has been off duty for some weeks on account of an attack of rheumatism, but is convalescent. Mr. Hudson is 75 years of age and is still one of the most trusted engineers on the road.

On Thursday Creek, Huntingdon county, Pa., Wednesday, the two sons of Frank Keith, aged seven and five years, respectively, were playing with a keen edged hatchet. The elder ordered the younger brother to lie down on the chopping block, and said that he would cut off the head of the smaller boy. The command was obeyed, but just as the elder boy had the hatchet swung to give the blow, a neighbor's girl came on the scene and stopped what might have been a tragedy.

On Tuesday last week Miss Sadie Pennekaker, formerly of Reed's Gap, Juniata county, but who has been a resident of Pittsburg, Pa., for some time past, underwent an operation at the Presbyterian hospital, in that city, for the removal of a tumor. The operation was successfully performed and a tumor weighing about twenty-five pounds was removed. The patient stood the operation well, and, although greatly prostrated, great hopes are entertained for her ultimate recovery.

Messrs. Eugene and E. W. Litzinger, administrators of the late William Litzinger, of Loreto, will offer at public sale at the store room of E. R. Dumeaux, Esq., at No. 141, on Saturday, January 18, 1896, at one o'clock p. m., the one undivided one-seventh of 80 acres of land in Clearfield township, known as the D. H. Season homestead. Also a farm of 120 acres with outbuildings, situated in Clearfield township, underlaid with coal and known as the James Litzinger farm.

At a meeting held on Tuesday by the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Electric Co., it was decided to purchase the real estate for sale and the bondsmen then began to investigate, with the above result. The school tax duplicate has not yet been examined and it may show a still greater shortage.

The board directors at their first meeting for the year made the following appointments: Steward, Thomas J. Hughes, salary, $500; matron, Mrs. Hughes, $150; solicitor, William Davis, of Ebensburg; physician, Dr. F. C. Jones, $300; Porter, Dr. Miller, $75; Gallitzin, Dr. Bradley, $75; Freight, Dr. Byrom, $75; Chest Springs, Dr. Sommer, $75; Huntingdon, Dr. Res, $75; Spangler, Dr. Holtzick, $75.

It is part of the duty of constables, to advertise the approaching election which comes off on the third Tuesday of February. The law requires them to put up not less than ten notices, ten days before the election. Where there is a justice of the peace to elect a notice of that fact must be posted not less than twenty days before the day of election. In boroughs or townships where there is no justice of the peace, the duty of the constable is to cause the notices to be posted by the supervisors or assessors to put up the notices, though they need not give five instead of ten days' notice.

Judge Gordon has declared the mining act of 1880, known as the general Bituminous law, unconstitutional. It was in the case of Mr. Bratt against the Board of White Coal Mining company. Her husband had been killed it was claimed, by a defective mine elevator, and the widow claimed $5,000 damages. It was contended by the company that the act was unconstitutional, and that it did not designate the boundaries over which territory it had power. This decision is of great interest to all soft coal miners, as it is claimed it exempts operators from the payment of damages to employees by reason of defective appliances.

Postoffice at Hastings Robbed.

At a late hour on Tuesday night or an early hour on Wednesday morning, burglars effected an entrance to the postoffice building at Hastings. After taking all the small change left in the money drawer and a few stamps, they went outside of the safe, they undertook to blow the safe open. The safe, however, resisted their efforts and although badly shattered, after the explosion, still remained closed and the contents are supposed to be undisturbed. At the time our informant left Postmaster Kaylor was unable to get at the inward side of the safe himself and had telegraphed for an expert to come and open it for him.

It is supposed the burglars were in some manner frightened away after their unsuccessful attempt, before they had time to make a second. The loss, with the exception of the ruin of the safe, is small.

In the Supreme Court.

At a sitting of the supreme court in Philadelphia on Monday, among other decisions handed down were those of Lulay et al. vs. Barker, Common Pleas of Cambria county, and Gray vs. Pennsylvania Railroad company, Common Pleas of Cambria county, judgment affirmed. The Lulay case originated in Susquehanna about 68 acres of coal land in Susquehanna county, and the Gray case is for damages for the death of the late Caleb A. Gray, who was killed on the late Calhoun at Hastings, several years ago.

Paid the Penalty.

Albert Woodley, the murderer of his intended wife, Jennie Buchanan, was hanged at the gallows on Thursday last week, "I am innocent" were his last words. On May 7, 1894, Woodley, who had been drinking for several days, called at the home of his sweetheart in Allegheny. After smoking a cigar with her father, he went into the kitchen, where the young woman was preparing a meal. Three minutes later two shots were heard, and when the father reached the kitchen he found the couple lying on the floor unconscious, with blood on their faces. The young woman died in a few minutes, but Woodley recovered. He admitted the killing, and said he was jealous. He always maintained that he was drunk when he committed the crime, and therefore not responsible.

A Dangerous Wound.

A man giving the name of McHenry, and his residence given as being in the town of residence of George Patten, near Delmont, Westmoreland county, on Sunday, informed Patrick that he had been shot by James Thompson, a shoemaker in Delmont. Aside from the wound which will likely prove fatal, McHenry was nearly exhausted from cold. Physicians attended and pronounced McHenry's case almost hopeless, the bullet having entered the left breast and lodged in the kidneys. McHenry also claimed that he had been robbed. Thompson was arrested, admits the shooting, but claims it was done in self defense, that McHenry attacked him with a knife. Thompson's story is discredited.

Crushed to Death.

Frank McConigle, a contract foreman at Cambria blast furnace No. 1, at Johnstown, and Albert Rager, one of the Cambria brakemen, were killed at No. 1 furnace at an early hour on Monday morning by an iron wheelbarrow falling about ninety feet and crushing him. The accident occurred about 2:30 o'clock. A Hungarian had dropped a lot of ore into the barrow and was in the act of returning to the hoist. On account of the steam blowing all about the hoist, the barrow, which was not in its place, and pushed the wheelbarrow, which weighs about 600 pounds, off the floor.

McConigle was in the act of taking a cinder off the track at the oxmen and Rager was standing at his side, waiting to take his train through the place.

The wheelbarrow struck McConigle on the head, rendering him unconscious, and buried Rager beneath it, and his contents. The former was carried to one of the offices, where he died about 3 o'clock. Rager was not found until shortly after 3 o'clock, when one of the Hungarians removed the wheelbarrow.

McConigle was 34 years of age and leaves a wife and four small children. Rager was 30 years of age and is survived by a wife and two small children.
