Western Union. These people supply hotels, banks, brokers an' others with tickers which tell the status of the market.

Steve is an inspector of these tickers and daily goes to read the hieroglihics. And so, the people in his office figgered that the best way to round him up, 'cause he was out when we arrived, was to send out his personal call, which is "COMO" and which would tell him to get in touch with his office p. d. q.

Which he did. Steve is a very busy man these days and sorta has to dope out his Lim'ricks while combing his hair or riding in trolley cars. In his evenings he is employed as head usher at the Poplar Moving Picture House, at Sixth and Poplar streets. This, with his work during the day, and visits to the hospital to see his mother, who is very ill, leaves him very little time to himself.

He is going to use the hundred-dollar check toward buying more things for his mother while she is sick and, as he is married, the "Mrs." will come in for her share, too.

The nine other contestants who received mention on the ballot are: George Kreuzberger, Jr., 2030 East Chelten avenue; H. Canan, 5707 Lansdowne avenue; Frank Cavanaugh, 8 South Front street; Katherine Kelly, Philadelphia Trust Company; Mrs. J. Walter Trumpy, 5531 North Lawrence street; Mary Pennock, Wilmington, Del.; Foster Felton, 3895 North Darien street; Harold Colson, 511 Drexel Building; Mrs. Helen Flood, 2643 North Sixth street.

The jury was composed of eight of the girl employes of the Stecker Company, at 1220 Walnut street. We wuz rather in sympathy with the ladies who buy so many clothes after walking among the clinging silks of the frocks and fingering the rough tweed of the sports clothes.

An' then—the ladies who sell 'em! Of course, we suppose they don't make much impression on the feminine customers of the store, but we surely found them good to look upon.

Those who served are: Mae Agnew, 1847 North Seventeenth street; Laura Keubel, 1847 North Seventeenth street; Helen Sheehan, 630 North Seventeenth street; Rose Phillips, 2010 South Tenth street; Mary Gormley, 50 West Louden street; Ethel O'Kane, 149 West Sharpnack street, Germantown; Parasene Truitt, 5431 Malcolm street, and Paulone Hamilton, 5725 Florence avenue.

Now about this consolation prize. It was suggested in a mighty square and sportsmanlike letter from an ardent lim'ricker. Here it is:

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:

Dear Sir—Am taking the liberty of writing to you, and hope you will allow me to make a suggestion in regard to the Lim'rick contest. To wit:

Have a "Consolation Lim'rick." After the present contest is ended publish a special Lim'rick, the only eligibles being those who have attained honorable mention. Give them one whole week to submit their last lines.

In my humble opinion this would prove to be highly interesting to every EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER Lim'ricker, whether eligible or not. So far I would not be eligible, but am getting better every day. Who knows? My name may yet be emblazoned on the "Roll of Amateur Lim'rickers."

I remain a loyal EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER Lim'ricker,

JOE DIANI,
1624 North Front street.

And so we're going to do it. But don't forget, next Saturday is the last regular Lim'rick.

"Listen In" on "I X L" "Radio Ralf's" Fun Waves

Ever hear of "Radio Ralf"? Well, he was "the first boy on his street to get a Radio Set." And he's some expert. Claims to be a foremost authority on ether waves 'n everything! You ought to see his outfit. Built special for sending out wit, humor, fun, laughter, joy, but absolutely no "high-brow" stuff.

No use buying a radio set now. "Radio Ralf" has it all fixed. Every boy and girl, from three to sixty, interested in "sending out rays of sunshine" and receiving "miles of smiles" can "LISTEN IN" every day on "Radio Ralf's" radio in the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.

Don't worry about receiving sets, wave lengths, aerials or amplifiers. Just turn to another page in the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER and become a permanent subscriber to Jack Wilson's mirthmaking COMIC, entitled "Radio Ralf." You'll enjoy "Radio Ralf's" programs, which will be right up to the minute every day. Tell your friends!

The EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER prints more entertaining features and on an average of 25 per cent more news than any other Philadelphia evening newspaper.
