Nancy Wynne Speaks of Miss Crisfield's Dance and Another for Devastated France—She Tells of Miss King's Approaching Marriage to Mr. Baird

THE only party today will be a dinner-dance which Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pearce Crisfield, of Chestnut Hill, will give tonight for their daughter, Josephine. "Jo," who has been going to Smith College for the last two years, will make her debut in the autumn at a tea on September 15, but whether she will go back to college after that or come out all winter I haven't heard.

She is a younger sister of Lillie Crisfield, who was a debutante several years ago. Lillie married Billy Dixon, of Baltimore, and lives at Green Point, Md., though just now I think she is visiting her parents.

THERE will be another dance in Chestnut Hill on Saturday night. It is to be at the Philadelphia Cricket Club and a great many people who live around there are interested in it. Among the patronesses, there are about forty altogether, are Mrs. Lucia Chapman, Mrs. A. J. Antelo Devereux, Mrs. Philemon Dickinson, Mrs. William M. Elkins, Mrs. William E. Goodman, Jr., Mrs. Samuel F. Houston, Mlle. Camille Jacques, Mrs. A. Barker Mellor, Mrs. J. Cheston Morris, Jr., Mrs. Cushman Newhall, Mrs. John H. Packard, Mrs. E. Florens Rivinus, Mrs. William J. Sewell, Jr., Mrs. George F. Tyler and Mrs. Joseph W. Wear. The dance is for the benefit of devastated France

MRS. JOSEPH MINOTT is certainly being very gay during her visit here. As you know she has been staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wright Baird, for several weeks, and lots of parties are being given for her. The latest one is a dinner which Mr. and Mrs. William West Frazier, 3d, will give next Tuesday evening. Mrs. Frazier was Charlotte Brown, Mrs. Samuel F. Houston's daughter, and she and Gainor Baird Minott have always been good friends.

Speaking of the Bairds reminds me that the invitations are out for the wedding of Harriet King, of Cleveland, and the Bairds' son, Edgar Wright Baird, Jr. Harriet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. King, of Cleveland, and the marriage will take place on Saturday afternoon, July 8, at Kingwood, the Kings' summer home at Mentor, O. Teddy Baird and his bride will live in Williamstown, Mass., I hear.

MARY KNIGHT is very attractive. She is the daughter of Mrs. Bradford Knight and a sister of Kitty Knight. I saw Mary several days ago at the Ritz, in a gray canton crepe dress simply made with an uneven hem and a draped skirt caught at one side with a rhinestone buckle. A large black straw hat trimmed with two big black velvet flowers and gray stockings and blac kslippers completed an unusually good-looking costume.

I hear that the Knights expect to spend part of the summer at Cape May, and later they will go to the Adirondacks. You remember, they've only been home for several months after a year spent out West.

NANCY WYNNE.

We have purchased the entire stock of M. J. Lewis, 1206 Chestnut Street, who is retiring from business in Philadelphia. Everything has been marked one-third to one-half off the original Lewis prices, and in some cases the reductions are even greater.

Not only is the merchandise all of extremely high grade, but the stocks are extraordinarily complete and show exquisite taste in the selection. All the goods described below are of the very finest materials and workmanship. The Art Needlework department was undoubtedly the best known in Philadelphia. We are confident that the new prices will prove irresistible. This is a rare opportunity that is not likely to recur.

INFANTS' WEAR. There are irresistible hand-made babies' dresses, wrappers and sacques of soft flannels; some beautifully embroidered. Among the knit goods for infants are tiny sweaters, bootees and caps, all hand knit and some daintily embroidered. Some of the carriage robes are knit, others are of soft silk. The line of infants' wear is, in fact, complete, and every item is of the finest grade.

SWEATERS Silk-and-wool sweaters, sweaters of wool alone or artificial silk. Many of them are hand made. A splendid selection of sweaters in the newest styles.

NECKWEAR. There is a really tremendous stock of neckwear — probably one of the most complete stocks in Philadelphia. There is a range between popular-priced neckwear and the very finest quality of French handwork. Collars, vestees, collar-and-cuffs sets and ruffilings may be found in linen, muslin, organdie, silk, chiffon and net.

HANDKERCHIEFS. An assortment including the staple grades, novelties and the loveliest hand-embroidered goods.

BEADED NECKLACES. A splendid assortment of the newest things, especially imported goods.
