PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

HON. JOHN HICKMAN ASSAULTED.—WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A personal difficulty happened after the adjournment of the House to-day. As Mr. Hickman was returning home through the Capitol grounds he was overtaken by Mr. Edmundson, of Virginia, who, upon reaching him, called out, and drew back his hand to strike. Mr. Clingman, who was accidentally passing, hastened up and seized his arm, when Mr. Edmundson struck at Hickman with his left hand, knocking off his hat, but doing him no injury. The whole affair was instantaneous, and seemed to surprise Mr. Hickman. Mr. Breckinridge, who came up, took him away, and the scene ended. The alleged provocation for this attack was an insulting reflection upon Virginia, contained in a recent speech of Mr. Hickman, in which he charged that seventeen men and a cow had frightened the State.

☞ The Cincinnati papers say that an anti-slavery clergyman of that city actually wrote a letter to Gov. Wise, soon after the conviction of John Brown, begging the privilege of taking Brown's place on the gallows. He set forth that Brown was a hero, and his life should be spared for future brave deeds. If that could be done, he (the minister) was ready to sacrifice himself, and would gladly die the ignominious death. The answer of Governor Wise was to the effect that it was out of his power to save the life of John Brown, but if the minister was very anxious to be hanged, and would come to Virginia, the Governor would try to have him accommodated!

MISSISSIPPI AND THE AFRICAN SLAVE TRADE.—At the Southern Convention of Vicksburg, Miss., last May, the vote of Mississippi was cast in favor of the opening of the African slave trade. The present Legislature has left the State right on the subject. The bill to repeal the State law against the introduction of Africans into the State was rejected on the 25th ult., by a vote of three to one. On motion to indefinitely postpone the whole subject the yeas were sixty-six, nays twenty-two. The New Orleans Bulletin commends this action, and says: "The members of the Mississippi Legislature have evidently been conversing with their constituents."

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE.—The Richmond Whig, in opposing the Southern Conference as bid for by South Carolina, says that in 1851 Col. Memminger, the "ambassador" of South Carolina, said in a speech "that he had rather South Carolina should be attached to the Government of Great Britain, as she was previous to the Revolution, than to remain a member of this Union." The Whig adds:

"Members of the Legislature and the people of Virginia can judge from language like this what South Carolina subjects are to urging a Conference of the Southern States at the present time. The sole object, gentlemen of the Legislature and citizens of Virginia, is immediate and unconditional disunion."

The conference committee of the Legislature on the Southern Conference had made no report on Friday.

THE SOUTHERN TRADE.—Some of our merchants are absolutely oppressed with the extent of the orders they receive from the South. We spoke with one of them this morning, who said that the house in which he was concerned had twice the amount of Southern trade this winter that it had last season.

What is quite as worthy of note is, that those who come on from the South to purchase buy, as they did last year, where they can buy to the best advantage. They speak with the utmost contempt of the attempts to proscribe certain Northern merchants, as a mere shift of the politicians, adopted in an exigency of desperation. They pay no attention to it, they buy freely where they can be best suited, and ask no questions as to the politics of the seller. They have nothing to gain by foregoing the opportunity of purchasing where they can get the best bargains.—N. Y. Evening Post.

LETTER OF DECLINATION FROM THE HON. A. H. REEDER.—A letter having been addressed to the Hon. A. H. Reeder, requesting authority to use his name as a candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, he replies as follows:

EASTON, Feb. 6, 1860.

MY DEAR SIR: Yours is received. I cheerfully give you all I have to say in regard to the Gubernatorial nomination. I say now, as I have said from the first suggestion of my name, that I do not desire it, and would decidedly prefer that it should be conferred on some one else. In saying this, I have no idea of disparaging the nomination or of affecting to look down upon it. Conferred by that party which embodies all the true and genuine Democracy, the real conservative and well-directed principles which are to be found in the political organizations of the present day, it is an honor of which any man may be proud. Still, I do not desire it, and would very much prefer not to have it. For this I have three or four private reasons, which are quite convincing to myself, and equally so to many friends who are acquainted with them, but which it would be in bad taste and obtrusive to thrust upon the public. Influenced by these, I have from the beginning expressed the wish, and repeat it now, that no man will urge my nomination from the motive of mere personal friendship to me.

I nevertheless recognise fully the obligation resting upon every man to sacrifice personal considerations to any reasonable extent, when called on by his party to become a candidate, for their sake, and not his own; and, recognising this obligation, I would respond to it wherever such a state of circumstances should occur. On the present occasion, however, with a number of eminent gentlemen, and desirable candidates ready to take the nomination, such a contingency need not at all be apprehended. This fact assures me of a result most consonant to my own feelings and wishes, and saves me from a sacrifice of them, without violating my consistency and displeasing some of my friends by an abrupt or unqualified withdrawal of my name.

Do not infer from this that I am indifferent to the great struggle which is coming, and will soon upheave the political community. I only ask to fight as a private in the ranks. I am alive to all its influences and effects, and feel the deepest and liveliest interest in its result.

You are a delegate to the nominating convention, and I would impress on you the necessity of selecting a standard-bearer who is sound upon the two great questions on which our future hangs. The first is, whether slavery shall be recognised, extended, and perpetuated as a social blessing; and the second is, whether free white labor shall be cherished and protected against ruinous foreign competition. Much reading, thought, and observation, have fixed on my mind the indelible conviction that if we would preserve our institutions in their purity, and roll back the tide of corruption and subserviency which has made the so-called Democratic organization a mere pro-slavery, sectional spoils party, we must plant ourselves on the pure original doctrines of the early fathers of the Republic, and stand by them with fidelity and determination. Discriminating and reflecting men must see that to foster and extend human slavery, and surrender the departments of Government, with all their patronage and influence, to the control of its advocates, is to travel the straight road which leads to the establishment of mob law, and the destruction of freedom of speech, social opinion, and suffrage; and through that, with inevitable certainty, to obligarchy and despotism; while to build up, enlighten and dignify labor, is to deepen and strengthen the foundations of self-government, and to increase and extend the blessings of intelligence, good order, well-regulated liberty, national wealth and power.

Intimately, perhaps inseparably, connected with this is the other question, whether American labor shall be protected through our revenue laws against foreign competition. Pennsylvania demands this protection and ought to have it. Our candidate should be as sound on this point as the other. I know that the Republican party not as unanimous on this as on the former question, but the People's party of Pennsylvania are; and I believe that the great dominant controlling mass of the Republicans of the nation are with them, and will make it a part of their platform. Without it, it is idle and absurd to expect to carry Pennsylvania, and the sooner this is distinctly understood, the better. We must look this truth in the face. Indeed, I cannot understand how a man can be a Free-trade Republican. Meaning no disrespect to adverse opinions, they seem to me plainly paradoxical. To the development of free intelligent labor, this protection is a necessity, while slavery and free trade are the most natural allies. So true is this, that if our Union ended at Mason and Dixon's line, or was composed entirely of free States, there would be but one opinion upon the subject, and free-trade doctrines would become a curiosity.

Very truly yours, A. H. REEDER.

Charles Albright, Esq., Mauch Chunk, Penn.

☞ The Paris correspondent of the New York Courier & Enquirer relates the following interesting incident:

The Emperor and Empress are models of domestic felicity. Her beauty and captivating, enchanting manners are the theme of eulogism with all who approach her, and his Majesty's perfect abandon when (what may be termed) in the bosom of his family astounds those who admire the solemn gravity of his deportment. Henri Quatre was not more playful in the nursery than is Louis Napoleon. Lest I shall not carry this matter further than to narrate a little anecdote of the Empress:

Like Haroun Alraschid, and like a far greater man, Napoleon I, her Majesty sometimes amuses herself by a promenade through Paris, in disguise. The other day, accompanied by General Fleury, and followed by other officers en suite, her Majesty in passing along the Boulevards, overheard a Zouave recount to a young woman on his arm his participation in the battle of Solferino.

"How did the Emperor conduct himself in that affair?" asked the Empress. "Admirably," replied the Zouave. "I am told the contrary." "Comment, madame! The Emperor not conduct himself well?" "Yes." "Then, you are misinformed," rejoined the indignant soldier abruptly, and proceeded to describe the unquestionable courage and sang froid of the Emperor.

When she had returned to the Tuileries, the Empress, laughing, told the Emperor and the Court de Morny, who was with him, the particulars of the adventure. "Your Majesty knows how it was brought about," said De Morny. "Brought about?" "Yes. The Prefect of Police, knowing that your Majesty was bent on one of your escapades, prepared the Zouave for the occasion. There was nothing wonderful in it therefore." The color mounted to the pale cheek of the Empress, who bit her beautiful coral lip. The Emperor, standing with his back to the mantel-shelf, twirling his moustaches (his custom of an afternoon), faintly smiled; whereupon De Morny apologized, confessed he had only jested, and in a moment all was fair weather again.

The Zouave has been traced and rewarded.

MEDICINAL.

MRS. WINSLOW,
AN EXPERIENCED NURSE AND FEMALE Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her
SOOTHING SYRUP
FOR CHILDREN TEETHING, which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation, will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.
Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and
RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.
We have put up and sold years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been enabled to say of any other SOOTHING SYRUP, THAT IT NEVER HAS FAILED IN EFFECTING A CURE, when we know an instance of it being used in the hands of those who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and recommendations of its magic effects. We speak in this matter "what we do know," after ten years experience, and the reputation for the full support of our assertions, is the dearest we can pay for it. In almost every instance where the child is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the Syrup is administered.
This invaluable preparation is the prescription of one of the most EXPERIENCED NURSES in New England, and has been used with never-failing success in THOUSANDS OF CASES.
It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve GRIPING IN THE BOWELS AND WIND COLIC, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it this to be the most SOOTHING AND HEALING SYRUP IN CHILDREN, teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints, do not let your prejudices or those of others stand between your suffering child and the RELIEF—yes, ABSOLUTE RELIEF—that will follow the use of this medicine, if taken for using will accomplish what we claim for it, unless the fact of THIRTY YEARS' STANDING OF THE MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING, in the hands of the most EXPERIENCED NURSES in New England, and never-failing success in THOUSANDS OF CASES, should be sufficient to give the most SKEPTICAL confidence in its virtues and efficacy.
