THE INDIAN CAPTIVE—MRS. PAGE'S PERSONAL NARRATIVE.

[From the St. Louis Republican.]

TUBAC, April 9.—The following thrilling details of captivity, savage barbarity, suffering, and final restoration to her husband of one whose misfortunes have lately attracted the public eye, will be read with interest. The writer has taken the story as it fell from her own lips, and gives it to the public without embellishment:

NARRATIVE OF MRS. LARCENA A. PAGE.

I had been married but little over two months, and was living with my husband, Mr. J. H. Page, at a ranch, some at the mouth of the grand cañon leading to the pinery of the Santa Rita Mountains. Our family consisted of myself and husband, a little Mexican girl, eleven years of age, Misses Kirkland, and Mr. Wm. Randall, who was engaged with my husband in the lumber business.

On the morning of the 16th of March, after an early breakfast, my husband left us at camp for the purpose of getting some Mexicans to work, and Mr. Randall going out to kill a deer, Misses and myself were left quite alone. As it was washing day, I had started to procure some water, when the little girl screamed and said the Apaches were on us. They came up in a run. Having a six-shooter (Colt's revolver) in my hand, I turned to fire at them, but they were already so close that, before I could pull the trigger, they had rushed upon me and secured the weapon. They then proceeded to plunder, seizing on everything they could carry off—flour, blankets, clothing, &c., and, not satisfied with this, they destroyed the balance. We hallooed and screamed for assistance, but the Indians struck me with their lances, and told us to keep quiet, or they would kill us. They packed up what they could take, and marched us off, hand-in-hand, in a hurried and barbarous manner. After proceeding thus for a quarter of a mile, they separated us, in order to prevent our talking together, the little girl being a little in advance of me.

We travelled thus all day, over a very rocky and mountainous road, penetrating deeper and deeper into the mountains, and finally almost reaching the summit. Having suffered much from recent attacks of fever and ague, I was in a very enfeebled condition, totally inadequate for the fatigues of such a journey; and my inability to travel at the speed which they desired was the cause of my receiving the most brutal treatment at their hands. They several times pointed a six-shooter at my head, as much as to say that my fate was already decided upon, and that I was to be made a victim of savage barbarity. The little girl, who was ahead, would occasionally fall back, crying, and tell me that the Indians were going to kill me. They spoke but little Spanish, yet enough was understood to awaken my fears and fill me with apprehension. I knew that my strength, which was rapidly failing, would admit of my proceeding but little farther, and that, unless my husband and other parties were following to rescue us, I must fall a victim as soon as my strength entirely failed.

We had proceeded thus about sixteen miles, as nearly as my limited ideas of distance will enable me to judge, and I now lagged behind so much that my savage captors grew impatient, and resolved to kill me. They stripped me of my clothing, including my shoes, and left me but a single garment. They then thrust their lances at me, inflicting eleven wounds in my body, threw me over a ledge of rocks, or precipice, some sixteen or eighteen feet high, and hurled large stones after me, to make sure of their victim, and then left me, supposing that I must die, and too barbarous to end my misery by entirely extinguishing the spark of life. This occurred near sunset. I had nine lance wounds in my back, and two in my arm; and my head was cut in several places by the rocks which were thrown after me, but most of the latter glanced without striking me.

I had alighted on a bank of snow, almost in a state of nudity, and in a senseless condition. In counting up my camping places before reaching home, I think I must have laid there in a state of unconsciousness for near three days. When I came to I took some snow and put on my wounds. I recollected the direction travelled and the position of the sun from camp at sunset, and, with these guides, started for home. My feet gave out the first day, and I was compelled to crawl the most of the distance. Did not dare to go down to the foot of the mountain, for fear I could find no water, and was therefore compelled to keep in the steep and rocky mountain. Sometimes, after crawling up a steep ledge, laboring hard for half a day, I would lose my footing, and slide down lower than the place from which I started. As I had no fire and no clothing, I suffered very much from the cold. I was at a point said to be six thousand feet above the sea; and only wonder that I did not freeze. I scratched holes in the sand at night in which to sleep, and before I could travel was obliged every day to wait for the sun to warm me up. I travelled what I could every day, and in the mean time had to subsist on grass alone. On the fourteenth day I reached a camp of some workmen in the pinery, which was untenanted. There I found a little food, and some flour which had been spilled on the ground. The fire was not quite out, and I kindled it up; scraped up some of the flour, and made me a little cake, the first food I had tasted since I left home. I was now near the workmen in the pinery, and within two miles of my home, but was too weak to go on. I could hear the men at work, and sometimes saw them, but could not attract their attention. At length I crawled along to the road over which they must pass, and was found there, and was carried home, after being out sixteen days.

Death of S. G. Goodrich, Esq.

[From the New York Times, May 11.]

We deeply regret that we are obliged to announce the death of Mr. S. G. Goodrich, more widely known as "Peter Parley"—the pseudonym under which he acquired his reputation. He died very suddenly, at his residence in Ninth street, of disease of the heart. Mr. Goodrich was a native of Connecticut, and was born in 1793—though no one would have judged from his appearance that he was so nearly seventy years old. He had a vigorous constitution, which he preserved to the last by care and regularity in his mode of life. He began life as a publisher, first in Hartford and afterwards in Boston—and edited in the days of Annuals one of the most celebrated of them, the Token, from 1828 to 1842. His greatest success, however, was achieved in compiling books for children, designed to convey instruction in natural history, travels, biography, and various branches of science and art, by simply-written narratives and anecdotes, copiously illustrated by engravings. He wrote as "Peter Parley" telling stories to children, and for many years the series of works thus published, extending to over forty volumes, had an enormous circulation, both in this country and abroad. They introduced a class of books which have since become universal. In 1841, he established a periodical called Merry's Museum, based upon the same general plan, which he continued until 1854. In 1857, he published two volumes of Recollections—containing an immense amount of exceedingly interesting memoranda concerning men and events in Connecticut, and forming one of the most readable books of the day. Mr. Goodrich was appointed American consul at Paris, under Mr. Fillmore, and held that office for several years. He performed its duties with great fidelity, and enjoyed the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. He published several works while there, calculated to diffuse a more general knowledge of America and its institutions, and upon his return prepared an elaborate and admirable illustrated History of the Animal Kingdom, which was issued last year in two large and elegant volumes. He was a man of great diligence, and continued to prosecute his literary labors to the latest period of his life. Mr. Goodrich was preparing to leave the city, and to reside in Connecticut. Some four or five weeks since he sold his furniture, pictures, &c., and was intending to remove his family within a few days. His death will be deeply regretted, even beyond the very wide circle of his personal friends and acquaintances.

The Methodist General Conference.

BUFFALO, Thursday, May 10.—The Conference assembled at the usual hour, Bishop Baker in the chair.

The credentials of Messrs. Stinson, Wood, and Harlbut, delegates from the Wesleyan body of Canada, were presented, and the delegates were admitted to seats on the platform.

Among the petitions presented to day were fifty-six for a change of the rule on slavery, and three against; in favor of lay delegates and against the same; on the Presiding Eldership; in relation to the extension of time of the ministerial service; in relation to a new building in Baltimore for the book concern; in favor of a book-publishing house in Quincy, Illinois; in relation to the Five Points and other New York city missions; on seating the congregations in churches; and from Oregon, on the importance of a resident bishop on the Pacific coast.

The Committee on Missions reported in favor of sending a missionary editor to Germany to assist Rev. Mr. Jacobi, and to take charge of the Biblical Institute at Baden; also, in favor of having one of the bishops pay an occasional visit to the missions in Germany, Norway, and Sweden. The report was adopted.

A memorial was presented, and referred to the Committee on Episcopacy, in relation to the administration of Bishop Ames, in the Philadelphia Conference during March, 1858. The Bishop is charged with having passed upon the character of certain slaveholding members without investigation, and with having taken a partisan stand in reference to certain slaveholding preachers. The Committee on Correspondence reported against sending a special delegate to represent this body in the Presbyterian General Assembly at Rochester, as this Conference has no power to ask any member of this body to vacate his seat, without the consent of his constituents.

Dr. Hibbard hoped the Conference would not omit the opportunity, in this day and age, of holding out their hands to their sister Churches. The coincidence might not occur again in a life-time. He moved to recommit the report, with instructions to prepare a letter of salutation to both the assemblies of the Presbyterian Church, now about to meet.

Mr. Coombs opposed the motion, on the ground that it would involve a similar course towards all other Churches. Four years ago this Conference expressed its desire for fraternal intercourse with all its sister Churches, and not a single reply had been received. He was opposed, therefore, to placing themselves in a position which would subject them to similar treatment and neglect hereafter.

Dr. Curry was in favor of sending a delegate to Rochester, to make his bow, and say, how do you do, and then return, and if the Presbyterians desired to make any reply they would be at liberty to do so.

After some farther good-natured discussion, the motion to recommit was laid on the table, and the report adopted.

A communication from the Bishops was laid before the Conference in reference to a revision of the ritual, which was read and placed on file.

RATHER SEVERE.—The New York Freeman's Journal says of the Charleston Convention:

"This Convention, again, has shown the value and necessity of principles in politics. Buchanan has tried to carry on government by low chicanery [illegible]"

[illegible] As he was returning home, he was overtaken by a brother clergyman, who told him he was glad to see him out, as he had just heard the last stages of the small pox. At five o'clock, the sexton came to his house, and doubtless the next report will be that he has been measured for his coffin. The facts of the case are these: Four weeks ago, his children had the chicken pox—pronounced so by his experienced physician, who has never seen fit to alter his opinion. As to the sexton, he was "after selling down" a back yard. The clergyman hopes that the butcher and baker will not be deterred from making their usual call, that he (the first-mentioned clerical) was down in.

Weekly Review of the Philadelphia Markets.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11, 1860.

The Produce markets have been dull this week, owing, in some measure, to the unsettled state of the weather, and for Breadstuffs the demand continues limited, and the prices of most kinds rule about the same as last noticed. Bark is dull, and rather lower. The Coal trade continues inactive. Coffee, Sugar, and Molasses meet a limited inquiry, without change in prices. Cotton is firmer and more active. Fish are in good request, and for Mackerel prices are rather better. Fruit is quiet. Hides—Nothing doing. Iron is very dull, and the sales of all kinds small. Lead is quiet. Lumber is arriving more freely, and meets a fair inquiry. Naval Stores have been in rather better demand, and for Spirits of Turpentine prices have advanced. In Oils, but little change. Plaster is dull. In Provisions there is very little movement, and the stocks, particularly of Green Meats, are now very much reduced. Rice is firmer. Seeds are quiet. Wool is very dull.

The Spring trade is about over, and the market for Dry Goods is very inactive, but without any changes to note in the leading articles of cotton and woollen manufacture.

The Breadstuffs market is without any important change since the close of last week. There is very little export demand for Flour, and only some 5 a 6,000 bbls found buyers at $5.25 for superfine, $5.37½ a $5.50 for common and good extras, and $5.62½ a $6.75 ₱ bbl for extra family, the latter for selected brands; at the close, however, there are more sellers than buyers at these rates, and the market was very quiet, the receipts being quite moderate. The sales to the trade are also to a limited extent, within the above range of prices for superfine and extras, and $7 a 7.75 ₱ bbl for fancy brands, as in quality. Rye Flour is rather scarce, but the demand is limited, and a small sale was reported at $4.25 ₱ bbl. Corn Meal is not much inquired for, and Pennsylvania is firmly held at $3.62½ ₱ bbl, with small receipts and sales at that rate.

The following is the inspection of Flour and Meal for the week ending May 10, 1860:

Half barrels of superfine	26
Barrels of superfine	9,752
" fine	220
" middlings	81
" Rye	273
" Corn Meal	1,168
" Condemned	101
Total	11,603

WHEAT.—There is more offering, and the demand being limited prices have ruled unsettled and lower; sales of 20,000 bus at $1.45 a 1.50 for ordinary and prime Red, and $1.60 a 1.75 for White, including prime Pennsylvania Red at $1.48 a 1.49, and White at $1.60 ₱ bus. Rye is less active; 3,000 bus Pennsylvania sold at 85 a 87c, mostly at the latter rate. Corn is lower, with moderate receipts and sales, in all about 25,000 bus, Yellow at 73 a 73½c, the latter for very handsome lots, and White at 73 a 75c. Oats are rather dull; 8,000 bus sold at 45 a 45½c for Pennsylvania, 43½c for Delaware, and 43c for Virginia ₱ bu.

PROVISIONS are unchanged, but they are very inactive since our last report. The receipts and stocks of all descriptions are light. Sales of Western and city-packed Mess Pork at $18.50 a 18.75, cash and time; and rump and new prime at $15. City-packed Mess Beef sells as wanted for ship's stores, at $14.50 a 15 ₱ bbl. Bacon—There is a steady inquiry, both from the trade and for the South, but prices are unchanged; sales of plain and fancy Hams at 10 a 13c; sides at 10½c; and shoulders at 9 a 9½c, sixty days. Green meats come in slowly, but prices are firm. We quote Hams in pickle at 10c; do. in salt, 9½c; sides at 9½ a 9¾c; and shoulders at 7½ a 7¾c, sixty days; with sales of 600 casks, mostly of the latter, at these rates. Lard—The stock is reduced, and there is not much coming forward; the demand, however, is limited; sales of 400 bbls and tcs. at 11¼ a 11¾c; and kegs at 12 a 12¾c, on time. Butter—The receipts have fallen off, and it is in limited request, at 10c for packed, and 15 a 18c ₱ lb for roll, according to quality. Cheese is steady at 11 a 13c ₱ lb.

METALS.—The dullness which we have noticed for some time past in Pig Iron continues, and the sales are confined to 1,400 tons Anthracite, in lots, at $23, $22, and $21 ₱ ton for the three numbers, 6 months. Scotch Pig is nominal at $23 a 25 ₱ ton. For American Bar and Boiler Iron there is a limited inquiry at previous rates. Lead is dull, and no further sales of Galena or foreign have been reported. Copper is also quiet, and prices the same as last quoted.

BARK.—Of Quercitron there is very little here, but the supply is more than equal to the demand, and small sales of No. 1 have been made at $29 ₱ ton. No change in Tanners' Bark.

BEESWAX is held firmly, but the demand is limited; sales of good yellow at 33½ a 34c ₱ lb.

CANDLES.—Adamantine are selling in lots, as wanted, at 17 a 19c ₱ lb, 4 and 6 months, for city-made. Sperm are dull at 41c, and Tallow 12 a 13c ₱ lb.

COAL.—Orders come forward rather more freely, but the trade generally is dull. In the Lehigh region a number of miners have contracted for all of their supply; but in the Schuylkill region there is not much doing; prices continue as last quoted, say $3.20 a 3.35 for White and $3.24 a 3.80 ₱ ton for Red Ash Coal.

COFFEE.—The market is very quiet. There is none coming forward, and the stock being light, holders are firm; sales of 600 bags at 12¾ a 14c for Rio, and 14c for Laguayra, on time.

COTTON.—The market is more active, particularly the better grades, and prices are firmer; but for inferior, of which the bulk of the stock consists, there is little or no demand; sales of 500 bales at 7¼ a 12¼c cash for low grade and middling fair Uplands, and 10½ a 11½c for New Orleans, cash and four months.

meets all such emergencies, and no household can afford to be without it. It is always ready, and up to the sticking point. There is no longer a necessity for limping chairs, splintered veneers, headless dolls, and broken cradles. It is just the article for cone, shell, and other ornamental work, so popular with ladies of refinement and taste.

This admirable preparation is used cold, being chemically held in solution, and possessing all the valuable qualities of the best cabinet-makers' Glue. It may be used in the place of ordinary mucilage, being vastly more adhesive.

It has nearly 8 acres of land, fenced in with a variety of shade trees; a good spring of water; it would make a good Summer Boarding House. It has the advantage of a business place, as the rear end of the lot is adapted for the coal and lumber business, without interference with the Mansion. FIRST-CLASS STEAM FORGE FOR SALE.—Will be sold at public sale, at 2 P. M., on the 28th day of May, 1860, at the public house of WM. L. DE BORBON, in the city of READING, the property known as the READING STEAM FORGE, in the said city. Said forge is substantially built, and completely equipped with all the modern improvements, including a seven-ton Nasmyth steam hammer and three Kirk steam hammers, each with heating furnaces and boilers attached; a tire-bending machine and oven; three puddling furnaces; five blacksmiths' forges; two thirty ton cranes; one largest class boring mill; slotting machine; turning lathe, and sixty-horse engine. Main building 300 by 100 feet, with sheet-iron roof; a carpenter shop and brick office, with fire-proof, &c., on the premises, which contain over 2½ acres.

Said Forge is most conveniently located for business, adjoining the Reading Railroad, and so connected therewith that locomotives can take away and deliver cars of iron, coal, and other freight without cost for hauling. Shutes run outside the building, by which coal, scrap-iron, &c., can be dumped close to each furnace, without extra cost for hauling or labor. This Forge is capable of executing the heaviest work, having forged and finished the main shafts of the "Adriatic," (believed to be the largest ever made,) besides complete sets of forgings for numerous steamships for Government and others.

The city of Reading presents peculiar advantages for the successful operation of such a forge. It is within 58 miles of Philadelphia, connected therewith by the Reading Railroad, and the Schuylkill (160 ton) Canal; 128 miles by rail direct from New York; 138 from Baltimore; 54 from Harrisburg, and 34 from the Schuylkill coal region, whence the best anthracite coal can be placed at the furnace doors for about $2.25 per ton. Reading is situated in one of the finest agricultural districts of Pennsylvania, has a population of 25,000, and is noted for its general health and the purity of its water. As Berks county contains more furnaces than any other in the United States, iron of every description can be procured by the forge at the lowest prices.

Title clear of all incumbrance. Possession given immediately, and terms made easy, to suit purchasers. The Forge is in complete order, and is furnished with every necessary tool and appurtenance to commence work immediately on taking possession. It is a property well worth the attention of those engaged in the above business.

For any further information, apply to H. H. MUHLENBERG, Cashier Farmers' Bank, Reading, Pa.

COLLIERY TO LET.—THE CELEBRATED LUKE FIDLER COLLIERY, situated at Shamokin, in the Shamokin Coal Basin, and on the line of the Shamokin Valley and Pottsville Railroad, will be let upon the completion of the improvements now in progress.

There are two veins of Red Ash Coal opened on the property, each seven feet thick. The coal is of a superior quality, and has attained a high reputation wherever it has been introduced. It is highly valued and commands a ready sale in Baltimore and intermediate places, to which it is sent both by canal and railroad. A market has also been opened for this coal in the North and Northwest. For shipment to the East it may be taken to Delaware City, and, upon the completion in June next, of the extension of the Mine Hill Railroad to connect with the Shamokin Valley and Pottsville Railroad, it can be shipped at Richmond.

These veins will yield from three to four hundred thousand tons above water level. There are other veins of White, Red, and Gray Ash Coal on the property, which are easily accessible. The capacity of the breaker is fifty thousand tons per annum.

The Colliery can be examined on application to D. W. C. Cleaver, on the premises.

For further information apply to A. M. EASTWICK, mh22-tuths tf No. 221 VINE Street, Philadelphia.

It is this which resides its peculiar excellence, and to this is due its world-wide renown.

It contains all the vegetable principles which experience has proved useful in clearing the system from disease, extracted and combined with the highest skill which the refinements of modern chemistry enable us to employ.

Whatever may be said by mortified competitors or splenetic physicians the fact that this medicine is everywhere used, and that its use creates an increased demand, shows conclusively that it possesses medical merits of the first order.

CAUTION.—To avoid imposition, it will be necessary to see that Dr. JAMES R. CHILTON'S Certificate, as well as the Signature of Dr. S. P. Townsend, is on the outside wrapper of each bottle.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

THE VINE-GROWERS' COMPANY OF COGNAC.

CAPITAL, THREE MILLIONS OF FRANCS.

THE COUNT DE SAINT-LEGER, PRESIDENT.

JULES DURET, Jr., MANAGER.

AGENT IN NEW YORK, JOHN OSBORN.

THIS CORPORATION, numbering amongst its shareholders four hundred Proprietors of the best Vineyards in the District of Cognac, with extensive Establishments located in the centre of the town of that name, was organized for the express purpose of maintaining the standard character of PURE COGNAC BRANDY, by shipping that article, in all its native purity and excellence, to Correspondents in Foreign Countries, and is bound down by its Statute of Regulation to confine its transactions entirely to the Brandy grown within the District of Cognac, and wholly the produce of Vine yards in that highly-favored locality; on no condition whatever admitting into its storehouses any Brandy which may have been produced without the limits of said District.

With the object of extending the just reputation of their brand by such means only as will meet the approval and co-operation of the most respectable Wine Merchants in the United States, THE VINE-GROWERS' COMPANY has authorized the Agency in New York to put up their choice Cognac Brandy in cases of one dozen full-sized bottles each, and the same will be disposed of to the Trade and the Public, by the undermentioned respectable firm.

Every bottle is sealed with the capsule of the Company—the corks bear the same stamp, and the labels contain an exact description of the quality, duly signed in fac-simile, by the Agent of the Company.

The Brandies now offered consist of two different qualities; both guaranteed to be equally pure in quality, differing only in point of age, and degrees of strength depending thereon, the oldest being the least potent. One description, termed THE VINE-GROWERS' THREE YEARS OLD, is an excellent article of the age represented, suitable for family or medicinal purposes, and another quality is designated the VINE-GROWERS' ANTEDILUVIAN, so called on account of its extreme age, and because the remote year of its actual production is beyond positive verification.

Objections having been urged that the bottles are too large, and the Brandy of a greater strength than is usually supplied to the public, the Agent of the company ventures to express the opinion that a large bottle may be preferred to a smaller one, and that in obtaining the article of the exact strength at which it was exported from Cognac, consumers may recognise the advantage of adding water to suit their own taste, instead of purchasing water at the price of Brandy.
