EDITORIAL.

IF Eddie Chambers desires to beat Willie Runkle he will have to get up in the morning at 3 o'clock and run like h——, and, then some.

IT IS unfortunaie for a man to have cold feet in summer time. Another thing, it is said that a man is not dead until his feet are cold; but that does not warrant the assertion that a man with "cold feet" is a corpse—he may still be moving about and running a newspaper.

HARMAN NOMINATED.

Hon. John G. Harman, of Columbia county, was nominated for state treasurer, at the Democratic State Convention in Harrisburg, on Thursday, June 27th. It was the only name presented and was made by acclamation.

State Treasurer Berry presided and made a brilliant speech setting forth the issues of the campaign, which was greeted with much enthusiasm.

Harman is a strong, capable man, with a clean record and for whom no apologies need be made.

FAVORABLE ACTION FOR THE ORPHANGE

speedy correction for our own information and in justice to Mr. Keller.

FUND HAS INCREASED.

On Friday, June 28, Mrs. Clara Moyer, died at her home in Tyrone. She was a niece of Col. E. J. Pruner, and was one of the beneficiaries mentioned in his will, and upon her death the legacy reverts to the "Home for Friendless Children." The property set aside by Col. Pruner for her benefit during her life, are residences in Tyrone. The agent, F. T. Waring, makes this report of them:

"The two houses that go directly to the "Home" are near the paper mill on Penn ave. and rent for $9 and $10, are worth $2400.

"The other two are on Washington ave. near 14th St., and rent for $11 and $12 (per month) and are worth $2500.

These two revert to the estate and are therefore also for the "Home," as I understand it, for the will provides that all legacies that may revert to the estate are for the "Home for Friendless Children."

"I think an estimate of $5,000 is low for these four houses and the rental of $492 is too low, and should be increased, I think—Yours, Waring."

In addition to this, another sum of $1000 has reverted to the home, and is on deposit in a Philadelphia bank. By the death of Mrs. Moyer the income of the Orphanage Fund has been increased by at least $350 per year and possibly $400. On less than that sum alone there are many men in Bellefonte who have supported a wife and reared several children in a decent manner. It means that the income of the orphanage is increased about $30 per month which added to the former amount, totals at least $200 net each month or over $7 per day and rent free—and yet intelligent men in this town can stare you in the face and brazenly declare that this fund (yielding $2300 annually) is insufficient to maintain this Home.

Thus another gross misrepresentation is shattered. In the light of such facts, we hope our Councilmen will proceed to do their duty. They have possession of the funds; now pass the ordinance for regulating the Home, which was prepared two years ago and have this matter settled.

A WIDE DIFFERENCE.

"When the last will and testament of the late Mary McBride, of this place, asked the Presbyterian church to become trustees of a fund she had set aside for the aid of the crippled children and the Presbyterian church decided that it was not advisable for it to accept the provisions of her will there was no one running around shouting about the unholy ends of the church in "subverting the last wishes of a dead benefactor."

The above appeared in the last issue of the Watchman and greatly misrepresents what has been done with the bequest of Mary L. McBride to the Trustees of the Presbyterian church, of the one-half of one-fifth of her estate to be by them invested and the interest thereof used for the relief of any girl not over twenty-five years of age suffering from spinal disease

All the trustees of the church did was, to refuse to accept the trust. No attempt was made on the part of the trustees to destroy the bequest or divert it from the purposes for which it was devised.

True it is, that when the trustees refused to accept the trust the residuary legatees thought it ought to revert to the estate and be divided among them. To this effect they petitioned the Court. The Court then appointed an Auditor to ascertain the facts and report on the question as to whether or not the trust had, by reason of the refusal of the Trustees to act, lapsed and become part of the estate to be divided amongst the heirs.

The Auditor found that the bequest was for charitable purposes and that the objects of the trust are still in existence and that the trust remains notwithstanding the refusal of the trustees to act, and under no conditions could the fund residuary legatees. That the trust and its purposes survived even though the Trustees appointed by the testatrix refused to act.

The Court, after full argument and consideration confirmed the auditor's report and appointed the "Bellefonte Trust Company," trustee of the fund, to care for it and to apply the income to the purposes directed by the testatrix. The fund remains alive, as directed by the will.

There is a very wide difference from this action of the Court and the intention of those trying to divert the Pruner bequest from the purposes for which it was devised. First, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes offers to the boroughs to which the Pruner bequest was made $20,000.00. Second, he demands that this fund shall be used in establishing, to the memory of Col. Pruner a memorial entirely different from that to which Col. Pruner directed the whole property should be dedicated,

There would never have been a question raised about this generous bequest by either of the boroughs but for Dr. Hayes He has persistently followed each of the trustees appointed by Col. Pruner and insisted that he shall have property worth about $60,000.00 for $20,000.00 and then this fund is to be put in a memorial to suit him, without any reference to the board and direct bequest of Mr. Pruner.

However desirable it may be to help the hospital it cannot be done without the violation of the terms of Col. Pruner's will. Here is where the fuss the Watchman speaks about comes in. Let the property devised by Col. Pruner for an Orphanage be used for that purpose and the effort to direct it to something else cease, and the "Fuss," will be over.

The provisions of the act of assembly relating to trusts passed in 1855 are very broad and are as follows:—"That no disposition of property hereafter made for any religious, charitable, literary or scientific use, shall fail for want of a trustee, or by reason of the objects being indefinite, uncertain or ceasing or depending upon the discretion of a last trustee or being given in perpetuity or in excess of the annual value hereinafter limited, but it shall be the duty of any Orphan's Court or Courts having equity jurisdiction in the proper County, to supply a trustee, and by its decree to carry into effect the intent of the donor or testator, so far as it can be ascertained and carried into effect consistently with law or equity." How in the face of this can the trustees under Col. Pruner's will undertake to dispose of $60,000.00 worth of property for $20,000.00? The idea is monstrous.

What Dr. Hayes fears is, that if the orphanage is once opened it will be perpetual and that the property will never revert to the person or the heirs mentioned in the will of Col. Pruner. For this reason he offers $20,000.00 for the property and would destroy the memorial Col. Pruner had determined should bear his name in the interest and for the benefit of humanity.

FOR THE ORPHANAGE.

OVER THE COUNTY.

The Musser House, Millheim, was sold to Mr. Clark, of Williamsport, who will himself take charge of the hotel next spring.

An unusual number of horses have died over the county within the past six months. What caused these fatalities seems to be unknown.

A new dyeing machine is being installed in the knitting mill at Millheim. These mills are in a very flourishing condition and are very ably managed.

Miss Eleanor Marshall, of State College, graduated with honors from a school for trained nurses at Philadelphia. Her future is very promising in her line of work.

The wheat fields in this county are turning color towards ripening, and in a few days harvesting will be on, with every prospect for a large crop, if hail and storms do not set in to do damage.

Owing to a difference over rates the institution at State College is pumping water from their artesian well, instead of securing their supply from the local company, which recently advanced their rate.

D. Scott Currin, formerly editor and proprietor of the Sugar Valley Journal of Loganton, Clinton Co., has accepted the secretaryship and management of the News dispatch publishing company, at St. Paris, O.

B. Frank Morgan, of Philipsburg, who recently sustained the fracture of his collar bone by falling from a roof, is able to be out of doors again, though it will be some time before he will be able to do any work.

The members of the praise service of Jacksonville Reformed church, will hold a festival on the school house lawn, Saturday evening, July 20. A good band will furnish the music. Come one and all, and help a good cause along.

—William P. Humes is new walking around Bellefonte with his nose all done up with court plaster, indicating that he was trying to do up Bob Fitzsimons. That is not the fact however, as he met with the misfortune while at Point Comfort, Md. He was walking along when he tripped on a step and in falling broke his nose in two places Not being able to secure a competent physician at that place the injured nose was temporarily fixed up until he reached Baltimore where he consulted a specialist who set the bones and since then he has been getting along very nicely.

$30,000,000 Fine.

The result of the hearing of the Standard Oil case in the United States court in Chicago on Saturday leaves little room for doubt that a fine of nearly $30,000,000 will be imposed by Judge Landis. Not a fact was developed upon which a plea for clemency could be based. It was brought out clearly that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana is but one arm of a mighty corporation, whose annual earnings are from $50,000,000 to $80,000,000. Thus the maximum fine of $29,240,000, possible under the conviction of the company on 1,462 counts, represents less than one-half of its earnings for one year. The period covered by the indictment through, was 18 months, being parts of three years, so this maximum fine could hardly be construed as a "cruel and unusual punishment" by a court of last resort.

Jean R. Graham, of State College, Mary Grove, of Centre Hall, and Verna M. May, of Port Matilda, were among recent graduates at the Lock Haven Normal school.
