—Bellefonte High School graduates from 1900 on down to the present time can get at least a good laugh by inspecting the gallery of photographs now on display in the windows of the Montgomery & Co. store. Hundreds of persons have inspected the display, and Mr. Montgomery reports that the exhibit has attracted more interested attention from more people than any display he's ever had in his store. You'll be surprised at the number of your classmates you've completely forgotten, while your own photo may strike you as being something conjured up by a bad camera lens, rather than a reproduction of what you looked like 'way back when.

IMPORTANT TO SUBSCRIBERS

If you were one of our patrons who last week received a pink slip containing a statement of your account you know with certainty to what date your subscription is paid. As a rule, these statements are appreciated because many subscribers ask that we notify them when the amount is due. Otherwise they would forget it.

Naturally the publishers depend upon the collection of the small accounts to keep their business going. If you find your statement showing your account now payable or past due, a prompt remittance will be appreciated. Please don't overlook the fact that many newspapers have been compelled to raise subscription rates—The Centre Democrat is endeavoring to avoid this.
