PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

HUNDRED MILE TROT.—About a twelvemonth since a match against time was made by a gentleman of New York that a horse could be produced within a year that would trot one hundred miles in nine consecutive hours. The terms were $1,000 to the horse against $2,000 on time. The maker of the match, Mr. C. Coster, at once named his own horse, a large bay gelding, and immediately put him in training for the feat.

As the time had expired for the performance, Saturday was selected for its accomplishment, and although it proved to be wet and disagreeable, yet the horse was started, being driven in a light sulky. At twenty minutes to nine o'clock in the morning the betting was about even.—The day was cool and damp, with occasional showers of rain. After starting the horse continued his course uninterruptedly, except occasional sponging, until the termination of the hundred miles, which he accomplished in the unprecedented time of eight hours, fifty-five minutes and fifty-three seconds!!! At the end he did not appear greatly distressed; but, now that the feat has been accomplished and the horse surviving, we hope never to record the like again.

If no other cause existed than this one fact, that the noblest horse in the world, one which had performed the greatest feat of speed and endurance, has been brutally murdered by horse-racing gamblers, there would be cause enough for us

To put in every horse's hand a whip
To lash the racer mad through the world."

For who but a rascal could be guilty of driving a horse one hundred miles in less than nine hours, for no other object on earth than to make the noble animal the tool of gamblers to win money from their dupes; and then, not contented with that cruelty, to force him on another mile to win a few more dollars, till the poor exhausted creature only found relief from his worse than brute driver in the sleep of death! Such is the fate of the horse that trotted 101 miles on the Long Island Centerville Course on Saturday. Such will probably be the fate of the splendid gray horse that we reported a few days since as trotting on Friday. It seems a pity that if brutes must be razed to death, a lower sort of animals had not been chosen. The proprietors and drivers of these defunct horses should have been put through the process in their stead.—N. Y. Tribune.

Important to Travelers Going East.

THE early hour, three o'clock in the morning, at which the EXPRESS TRAIN starts for the East from Pittsburgh, had made it very inconvenient for travelers going by that train, compelling them to be aroused at a most unconfortable time, (say 2 o'clock A.M.) or else to remain up all night. This inconvenience is now obviated by a late arrangement. That Express Train now breakfasts regularly at LATROBE, instead of Hollidaysburg—so that travelers East can leave Pittsburgh at 5 o'clock P.M., have pleasant cars to Latrobe for night, at the large and elegant Hotel of Mr. Rinke, breakfast comfortably with the other passengers in the morning, and be at the East by the Express, having DAY TRAVEL ALL THE WAY from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia or Baltimore. Every provision is made at the Hotel, for the accommodation of guests and visitors by those trains.
