

FOR PRESIDENT:
GEN. FRANKLIN PIERCE,
OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:
COL. WILLIAM R. KING,
OF ALABAMA.

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER:
WILLIAM SEARIGHT,
OF FAYETTE COUNTY.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

Senatorial, GEORGE W. WOODWARD, of Luzerne, WILSON McCANDLISH, of Allegheny.

Additional, ROBERT PATTERSON, of Philadelphia.

District, 1. Peter Logan, 14. H. C. Eyer, 2. Geo. H. Martin, 15. John Clayton, 3. John Miller, 16. Isaac Robinson, 4. F. W. Hocking, 17. Henry Potter, 5. W. W. Jones, Jr., 18. James Herdodie, 6. R. N. Strickland, 19. Maxwell McCaslin, 7. N. Strickland, 19. Maxwell McCaslin, 8. Abraham Peters, 20. W. S. Colahan, 9. David Foster, 21. Andrew Burk, 10. R. E. James, 22. William Duan, 11. John McReynolds, 23. J. S. McCallum, 12. P. Damon, 24. George R. Barrett.

Lundy's Lane. This famous battle was fought on the 25th of July, 1814, and now, after a lapse of eighty three years, its anniversary is celebrated for the first time by the Whig party. It was unquestionably one of the bloodiest battles of that war, and the immense loss of life on our side is to be mainly attributed to the rashness of Gen. Scott who commanded a brigade composed of the very flower of the American army. That Gen. Scott is a gallant soldier and brave man no one will dispute. His courage has been repeatedly tested on the battle fields of his country. But that he acted the part of a wise general or a skillful commander at Lundy's Lane, is what no one will allege with any degree of truthfulness. But even if he had given evidence of true Generalship, what was his rank at the time? He was only a subordinate officer, and (according to Whig doctrine as applied to his Mexican campaign) could not monopolize all the credit of the victory. There were other officers present in addition to the commanding General BROWN. There were RUSSELL and PORTER, and MILLER, and GARLAND, and JESSUP—all of whom acted a gallant and distinguished part in the action, and who certainly beheld with much more prudence than Gen. Scott, who held his brigade in front of the British army and permitted it to cut to pieces before the main body of the American army could be brought on the field. If credit is due to any one officer more than another, for the successful issue of the battle, it is to Col. MILLER who at the head of his gallant regiment captured the British battery that had dealt death and destruction to Gen. Scott's brigade, and without whose capture the battle would have been irretrievably lost.

Major General Patterson. It gives us pleasure to publish the following tribute of respect to Maj. Gen. ROBERT PATTERSON. When he broke out with Mexico he was surrounded by all the enjoyments which affluence, family and friends could secure. He was also embarked in the most extensive business engagements. But he voluntarily left all behind to encounter the dangers of war in the enemy's country and the perils of exposure in an unhealthy climate. His conduct at Vera Cruz and Cerro Gordo elicited the highest praise, and his kind and gentlemanly deportment towards the brave men under his command received their gratitude and regard. The people of this city will remember the terms of commendation in which these war-worn citizen-soldiers spoke of their commanding General during their temporary sojourn in this place, on their return from their victorious achievements in Mexico.

William Searight. Treason of an Honest Man and a Neighbor in his favor. Mr. Searight, the Democratic candidate for Canal Commissioner, having been for several days confined to his bed by severe illness, the jackals of the opposition have thought proper to embrace it as a favorable time to attack his character for honesty, and capacity in the most villainous manner. The persons who make these attacks are utterly irresponsible; they have neither character nor property to lose; hence their boldness in making and publishing such base, contemptible charges against an honest man, while lying on a sick bed. It is with pleasure we publish the following unsolicited testimony in favor of Mr. Searight, from a neighbor of his—a gentleman who is well known for his love of justice and detestation of every thing that is base and dishonorable. We ask our readers to ponder over it and see how effectually it nulls to the contrary the puny efforts of personal and political enemies.

Important Debate. In our last week's paper we stated that Mr. Mason, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations in the U. S. Senate, had offered an important resolution on the subject of the existing difficulties respecting the Fisheries. Subjoined is the resolution with the animated and interesting debate which followed its introduction:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be required to communicate to the Senate, if not possible on the day of the Convention, the Convention of the Convention of the Convention, signed on the 21st of October 1818, touching the fisheries on the Coasts of the British Possessions in North America, and the rights of citizens of the United States, engaged in such fisheries, to the said Convention, and that the President be also requested to inform the Senate whether any of the naval forces of the United States have been ordered to the Sea-adjacent to the British Possessions in North America, to protect the rights of American fishermen under said Convention of 1818, since the receipt of the Convention of Great Britain, of October 20th, 1818, touching the fisheries on the Coasts of the British Possessions in North America.

County Committee Meeting. The Democratic County Committee of Lancaster County will meet at the public house of J. G. Leber, in E. King Street, in this City, on Wednesday, the 16th of August, 1852, at 10 o'clock, P. M. Punctual attendance is requested, as business of importance will be laid before the body.

WILLIAM MATHIOT. Chairman. The names of the gentlemen composing the County Committee will be published next week.

Pierce and King Club. A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Association was held at Scheiber's Hotel, in West King Street, on Saturday evening last—the President, Capt. HENRY HAMBURG, in the Chair—Addresses were delivered by Messrs. SANDERSON, WILLIAM S. ANGELO and HILLS, and a handsome accession of new names was made to the roll of members.

The following article from the Buffalo Courier is so much to the point in reference to the battle that we cheerfully forego any further remarks of our own in order to give place to it. The editor—and he speaks what he knows, and what every sensible man knows who has any correct knowledge of the history of that battle—says:—

"The Whigs are making a spasmodic effort to create a little enthusiasm in their flagging ranks by celebrating the Anniversary of Gen. Scott's life. It is a far more judicious plan than celebrating the battle, which is but a mere triumph over what of glory or credit that battle reflected on the American arms, Gen. Scott, to aid him in reaching the Presidential Chair.

Major General Patterson. The undersigned, your fellow citizen, who has long regarded you with high favor as a citizen, and whose esteem and regard have been greatly enhanced by your noble and gallant conduct in the war with Mexico, is anxious to offer you a testimonial of his respect and admiration. We therefore respectfully ask your acceptance of a public dinner, on such day as may suit your convenience, during your visit to our city.

An Honest Man Vindicated. A number of small irresponsible sheets of the opposition, controlled by reckless mad men, have commenced a violent attack on Wm. SEARIGHT, the Democratic candidate for Canal Commissioner. When this base work commenced, we denounced it as a fabrication of the enemy unworthy the belief of any respectable man. We had, and still have in our possession, the best evidence that the letter said to have been written to HENRY KEYS, is a forgery, and in the trial for slander, which will soon come off, against the wretches who are endeavoring to defeat Mr. SEARIGHT's election by circulating villainous libels, it will be shown to such an extent, and we trust that the creatures who have endeavored to rob an honest man of his character, will receive their reward.

Important Debate. Mr. Mason said: I have thought it my duty, in considering the present aspect of the subject, to submit this resolution, and ask that it be considered immediately. We are informed unofficially, but in a manner clearly indicating that it is correct, that the Convention of 1818 in relation to the fisheries in the north, which is their right, they still suffered from 1818 to 1841, when the question was moved as to the respective rights of British subjects and American citizens under the Treaty of 1818, they still suffered to remain in statu quo. Sir, the British Government knew well, that very large interests are embarked in the fisheries in North America, and seas off the coast of the United States, in these fisheries, is one of the seasons with these fishing vessels, and is a very large British naval force has been ordered to those seas for the purpose of enforcing the Treaty of 1818, which has recently determined to place on that Convention.

Important Debate. Mr. Mason said: I have thought it my duty, in considering the present aspect of the subject, to submit this resolution, and ask that it be considered immediately. We are informed unofficially, but in a manner clearly indicating that it is correct, that the Convention of 1818 in relation to the fisheries in the north, which is their right, they still suffered from 1818 to 1841, when the question was moved as to the respective rights of British subjects and American citizens under the Treaty of 1818, they still suffered to remain in statu quo. Sir, the British Government knew well, that very large interests are embarked in the fisheries in North America, and seas off the coast of the United States, in these fisheries, is one of the seasons with these fishing vessels, and is a very large British naval force has been ordered to those seas for the purpose of enforcing the Treaty of 1818, which has recently determined to place on that Convention.

Portrait of Gen. Pierce. W. L. OMSBY & Co. of New York, have just published a handsome steel engraving of our distinguished nominee for the Presidency, representing the General, mounted on his war steed, with a sword in hand, and in full uniform. It is admirably executed, and is said by those who have seen it to be a correct likeness. The picture is handsomely framed and retails as follows: with the gilded frame $4—without the frame $2. Mr. THOMAS M. WHITZEL, of Philadelphia, has been appointed agent for the sale of the engraving, and is now in this city attending to that business. Those of our patriotic fellow-citizens who may wish to obtain the picture, in addition to being able to give a correct likeness of the next President of the United States, will be an ornament to their parlors, and will do well to call upon the agent without delay, as his stay will be limited in this city. We have one of the Portraits hanging up in our office, where our friends can have a sight of Gen. Pierce "free gratis for nothing."

Whig Standers. Many of our readers will recollect the fool and infamous standers—the Peg Beatty and John Stonebraker affair—concocted and propagated by the Whig agent, David R. Porter, the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1836. The same course is now being pursued against WILLIAM SEARIGHT, the Democratic candidate for Canal Commissioner, for the double purpose of defeating him and carrying the State for Gen. Scott. They failed then in defeating Gen. Porter, and we predict that they will just as signally fail now in defeating Gen. Pierce and Mr. Searight.

Judges Black and Lewis. These two distinguished Judges of our Supreme Court were invited, by the Democrats of Philadelphia, to participate in the Anniversary Celebration of the 4th of July. Of course they declined the invitation; but at the same time wrote eloquent and patriotic letters in favor of the Democratic cause, extracts from which we gave in the Intelligence two weeks ago. This was a mortal sin in the eyes of Federalism, and for daring to advocate the rights of the people, they have been taken soundly to task by some of the Whig prints. Among others, our neighbor of the Independent Whig essays to be very severe upon them—calls the writing of those letters "Judicial Indecency"—and devotes nearly a column to the abuse of these gentlemen. He calls them "demagogues," and stigmatizes their conduct as an attempt to "corrupt the fountains of justice," and further says that in this they have "shown in all their turpitude the baseness of their hearts." He alleges that their minds are "blasted with prejudice and themselves drunk with bigotry," and winds up his tirade of abuse by saying that "they are a disgrace to the Judiciary of the Commonwealth which gave them birth," &c., &c.

The Portage Road. The following are the allotments of the work on Portage Road, made July 20th, 1852, by the Canal Commissioners:

NAME.
10 Charles Carson,
12 Andrews, Barr & Barr,
14 Burdick & Co.,
20 Burdick & Co.,
22 Tunnell, Morehead and Patterson,
23 McQuaid & Co.,
24 G. W. English,
25 Bailey & Co.,
26 Alexander McCammon & Co.,
27 Barber & Laughlin,
28 D. H. & D. Daugherty,
29 Hunter, Kirkpatrick, Anderson & Co.,
30 Hoover, Kesch & Tamany,
32 Rockefeller & Hamilton,
33 Arnold & Barber,
34 Cummings & Painter,
35 Alexander & Hastings,
36 E. D. Gillis,
37 Beck & Dull,
38 Leaning & Shiner,
40 George Scott & Co.,
41 Daugherty & Co.

Lock at Northumberland to Riddell, Sallada & Co. Lock at New Hope to James Burns. Lock at Eshelville to Thomas Meelin. Aqueduct and Bridges, Newhope, to Biting & Grogan. Widening Canal at Newhope to E. Pickett.

Book Notices. THE PENNSYLVANIA SCHOOL JOURNAL in its every respect creditable to the Editor and Publisher. The July No. commences the new series, and contains 32 pages of highly interesting and instructive matter on the subject of Education. The editor, Mr. BARNWELL, is admirably qualified, both by education and experience, to conduct such a Journal, and we have no doubt that, in his hands, the work will go forward prosperously.

Important Debate. Mr. Mason said: I have thought it my duty, in considering the present aspect of the subject, to submit this resolution, and ask that it be considered immediately. We are informed unofficially, but in a manner clearly indicating that it is correct, that the Convention of 1818 in relation to the fisheries in the north, which is their right, they still suffered from 1818 to 1841, when the question was moved as to the respective rights of British subjects and American citizens under the Treaty of 1818, they still suffered to remain in statu quo. Sir, the British Government knew well, that very large interests are embarked in the fisheries in North America, and seas off the coast of the United States, in these fisheries, is one of the seasons with these fishing vessels, and is a very large British naval force has been ordered to those seas for the purpose of enforcing the Treaty of 1818, which has recently determined to place on that Convention.

Portrait of Gen. Pierce. W. L. OMSBY & Co. of New York, have just published a handsome steel engraving of our distinguished nominee for the Presidency, representing the General, mounted on his war steed, with a sword in hand, and in full uniform. It is admirably executed, and is said by those who have seen it to be a correct likeness. The picture is handsomely framed and retails as follows: with the gilded frame $4—without the frame $2. Mr. THOMAS M. WHITZEL, of Philadelphia, has been appointed agent for the sale of the engraving, and is now in this city attending to that business. Those of our patriotic fellow-citizens who may wish to obtain the picture, in addition to being able to give a correct likeness of the next President of the United States, will be an ornament to their parlors, and will do well to call upon the agent without delay, as his stay will be limited in this city. We have one of the Portraits hanging up in our office, where our friends can have a sight of Gen. Pierce "free gratis for nothing."

Whig Standers. Many of our readers will recollect the fool and infamous standers—the Peg Beatty and John Stonebraker affair—concocted and propagated by the Whig agent, David R. Porter, the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1836. The same course is now being pursued against WILLIAM SEARIGHT, the Democratic candidate for Canal Commissioner, for the double purpose of defeating him and carrying the State for Gen. Scott. They failed then in defeating Gen. Porter, and we predict that they will just as signally fail now in defeating Gen. Pierce and Mr. Searight.

Judges Black and Lewis. These two distinguished Judges of our Supreme Court were invited, by the Democrats of Philadelphia, to participate in the Anniversary Celebration of the 4th of July. Of course they declined the invitation; but at the same time wrote eloquent and patriotic letters in favor of the Democratic cause, extracts from which we gave in the Intelligence two weeks ago. This was a mortal sin in the eyes of Federalism, and for daring to advocate the rights of the people, they have been taken soundly to task by some of the Whig prints. Among others, our neighbor of the Independent Whig essays to be very severe upon them—calls the writing of those letters "Judicial Indecency"—and devotes nearly a column to the abuse of these gentlemen. He calls them "demagogues," and stigmatizes their conduct as an attempt to "corrupt the fountains of justice," and further says that in this they have "shown in all their turpitude the baseness of their hearts." He alleges that their minds are "blasted with prejudice and themselves drunk with bigotry," and winds up his tirade of abuse by saying that "they are a disgrace to the Judiciary of the Commonwealth which gave them birth," &c., &c.

The Portage Road. The following are the allotments of the work on Portage Road, made July 20th, 1852, by the Canal Commissioners:

NAME.
10 Charles Carson,
12 Andrews, Barr & Barr,
14 Burdick & Co.,
20 Burdick & Co.,
22 Tunnell, Morehead and Patterson,
23 McQuaid & Co.,
24 G. W. English,
25 Bailey & Co.,
26 Alexander McCammon & Co.,
27 Barber & Laughlin,
28 D. H. & D. Daugherty,
29 Hunter, Kirkpatrick, Anderson & Co.,
30 Hoover, Kesch & Tamany,
32 Rockefeller & Hamilton,
33 Arnold & Barber,
34 Cummings & Painter,
35 Alexander & Hastings,
36 E. D. Gillis,
37 Beck & Dull,
38 Leaning & Shiner,
40 George Scott & Co.,
41 Daugherty & Co.

Lock at Northumberland to Riddell, Sallada & Co. Lock at New Hope to James Burns. Lock at Eshelville to Thomas Meelin. Aqueduct and Bridges, Newhope, to Biting & Grogan. Widening Canal at Newhope to E. Pickett.

Book Notices. THE PENNSYLVANIA SCHOOL JOURNAL in its every respect creditable to the Editor and Publisher. The July No. commences the new series, and contains 32 pages of highly interesting and instructive matter on the subject of Education. The editor, Mr. BARNWELL, is admirably qualified, both by education and experience, to conduct such a Journal, and we have no doubt that, in his hands, the work will go forward prosperously.

Important Debate. Mr. Mason said: I have thought it my duty, in considering the present aspect of the subject, to submit this resolution, and ask that it be considered immediately. We are informed unofficially, but in a manner clearly indicating that it is correct, that the Convention of 1818 in relation to the fisheries in the north, which is their right, they still suffered from 1818 to 1841, when the question was moved as to the respective rights of British subjects and American citizens under the Treaty of 1818, they still suffered to remain in statu quo. Sir, the British Government knew well, that very large interests are embarked in the fisheries in North America, and seas off the coast of the United States, in these fisheries, is one of the seasons with these fishing vessels, and is a very large British naval force has been ordered to those seas for the purpose of enforcing the Treaty of 1818, which has recently determined to place on that Convention.