Kind to Animals Week Observed by Humane Societies

A reader asks us to say a word in behalf of "Kindness to Animals Week" now being observed.

It really should not be necessary for enlightened people to be thus reminded and to have special weeks set apart for demonstration of what should be natural solicitude for dumb creatures.

But in the hurry and worry of human existence, we lose thought of the four-footed creatures, unable to speak for themselves and mutely dependent upon favors of mankind.

Perhaps we all have a spark of kindness in our makeup for animals, that this reminder will rekindle. May it flame into the realization of its humane obligation.

AWNING FIRE THREATENS BUSINESS BUILDING HERE

Through their prompt and effective work, the building was saved from a probable disastrous fire. The loss, including the awning and slight damage to the front of the structure was estimated at less than $100.
