The accident happened while Frank was climbing about in the chair.

—Heavy thunderstorms, almost as severe as any experienced during the summer, visited Bellefonte during the weekend and a further oddity in the weather included an old-fashioned hail storm at noon, Saturday. Hail pellets nearly as large as marbles fell for approximately ten minutes. The storms seem to have ended the unseasonably warm weather and since then we've been having typical fall temperatures. Clear skies are alternated with heavy laden clouds which have so far fallen short of their promise of snow flurries.

—Clyde M. Stewart, of East Linn street, took his class from the Lutheran Sunday school to Harrisburg, Sunday, for a day's outing in that city. Through arrangements with Assemblyman Kenneth G. Haines, Charles Noll, Bellefonte resident who is employed at the capital, was assigned to conduct the group through many parts of the capital which usually are not open to the public. —A scene to delight the heart of any hunter is now on display in the show windows of the Bellefonte Hardware Company store on South Allegheny street. The window, trimmed by James Williams, son of Mark W. Williams, proprietor of the store, is designed to show the interior of a typical hunting camp. The table, consisting of a board placed across a barrel, is set for a meal of canned foods. On a small stove opposite the table are frying pans and a coffee pot. In various places about the "room" are stocks of canned goods, rifles, axes, a supply of wood for the stove, lamps, boots, traps and other appurtenances of the hunt,—even down to a decanter or two. Mounted game adorns the walls. In the foreground is a most interesting display of ancient and modern rifles, shotguns and revolvers, loaned through the courtesy of D. M. Hutchison, a guard at Rockview penitentiary, whose hobby is firearms. The window has been attracting an unusual amount of interest from passersby.

Their furniture has been shipped to that city. Miss Olewine, a native of Bellefonte, is widely known and is held in high regard throughout the county. Mr. Murray was engagd in the jewelry busness in Washington, and according to reports will continue in that occupation at Daytona Beach.

—A group of Bellefonte Boy Scouts put their training to practical use Sunday night when one of their number was a victim of an accident while the group was enjoying an outing at Point McCoy. The group of Scouts, including William Beatty, 14-year-old son of Mrs. Charles R. Beatty, of East Curtin street, had hiked to Point McCoy Sunday afternoon, and planned to return about midnight. They built a campfire, cooked their own meal and after eating were engaged in playing games about 9 o'clock when Beatty was bowled over by one of his companions. In falling the back of Beatty's head struck a rock, rendering the boy unconscious. His fellow Scouts, after efforts to revive him failed, cut several saplings, fitted their jackets over the saplings, and with the improvised stretcher carried Beatty to the foot of the mountain. Meanwhile several other Scouts had gone on ahead and had enlisted the aid of D. D. Guardsmen Ordered Extra Week In Camp weeks' training period in camp, but not in the recollection of present officers has an extra period of camping been required. Then, too, it was pointed out that the entire week is to be devoted to actual firing practice, which is taken to mean that the National Guard units are being brought to an unusual peak of efficiency.

Several weeks ago it was announced that because of a Presidential decree increasing National Guard quotas throughout the country, the Bellefonte membership quota was raised from 63 to 81. This increase leaves 18 vacancies in the ranks of the Bellefonte Battery, and applications for membership are now being received by Captain Herbert M. Beezer, commanding officer of the unit.

Captain Beezer declared yesterday that present indications are that all of the 63 enlisted men and the four officers comprising Battery E, will be required to attend the extra week of camp. They will be transported to Indiantown Gap in the motor equipment of the detail, and all other regular equipment will be taken along. During the week the Guardsmen will be housed in the spacious permanent mess halls at Indiantown.
