Marching Unit Holds Banquet

of the Undines and one of the pioneer leaders in the move for a marching unit. The theme of the many brief speeches by officers and members of the company centered around the solution of the many problems and difficulties that arose in organizing the team and bringing it to its present state of perfection.

Among the speakers called upon by the toastmaster were: the Rev. Father William E. Downes, Arthur Boob, chief of the Logan Company; Philip Saylor, Bellefonte fire marshal; John Derstine, formerly of the United States Marines, who is drillmaster of the Undine team; former Councilman William Doll, one of the oldest members of the Undines; and George Carpeneto, one of Bellefonte's best known fire officials.

One of the principal speakers was John Gillen, chief of the Undines and head of the marching organization. Chief Gillen declared that with a fire school, ladder drills, the marching unit, basketball and mushball teams are being part of the Undine firemen's program, members spend a greater part of their leisure time in interests directly concerned or associated with the fire company. He expressed his gratification at the fine spirit of co-operation shown by members, and for their valuable efforts to improve every department of the organization. In concluding he read a letter received from a Bellefonte resident after the marching unit made its first appearance last Flag Day, in which the writer highly commended the military bearing, the natty appearance and the fine training of the team.

Among the Undine officials introduced during the evening were: Merrill Waite, president; Charles Saxion, vice president; Albert Knisely, recording and financial secretary; Paul Emerick, Frank Sloan, and James Carpeneto, trustees; Joseph DeLallo, Edgar Kustanbauter and Ralph Moerschbacher, assistant chiefs; Vincent Bauer, chairman of the booster committee; Henry Casper, chairman of the basketball committee; Charles Kellerman, Ralph Eyer and Mr. Cowher, members of the board of control.

Mr. DeLallo led group singing at the opening and closing of the dinner, while Father Downes gave the invocation. A one-minute period of silence was observed in honor of the memory of Arthur Brown, a member of the drill team who passed away during the year.

George Sheckler and his orchestra, of Milesburg, provided music during the evening. After the dinner the hotel dining room was cleared of tables and dancing was in order.

Hints Arson In Barn Fire

revolver. While he was searching for shells for the weapon, Mrs. Haines, from a position near a window in an adjoining room, saw a light in the barn. A moment later she saw flames in the strucutre.

The fire apparently started in the haymow and in a matter of moments the flames broke through the roof. Aided by neighbors, members of the family got 9 head of cattle and 1 horse out of the doomed structure before the intense heat prevented further activity.

Among the grain and implements lost were all the past season's wheat, oats and corn, a binder, mower, drill, windmill, harness and many other items.

When there was danger that the house and outbuildings on the farm might be involved in the fire, the Howard Fire Company was called. Firemen and neighbors kept a watchful eye on other buildings, and saved the ice house from destruction when one side and the roof of the structure caught fire.

Mr. Haines declared that he knows of no enemies who might have set fire to the barn, adding that the blaze might have been started by a transient who might have sought shelter in the barn. He added that he found no indications around the barn that the structure had been deliberately set on fire, although it is possible for such evidence to have been destroyed in the blaze.

Because the fire destroyed all of Mr. Haines' stock feed as well as the building itself, he has arranged to hold public sale of his livestock and some implements this Friday afternoon, February 16. The sale will begin at 1 o'clock. Later the owner hopes to rebuild the barn.

State Police at Rockview barracks, notified of the suspicious cirumstances of the fire, have referred the investigation to the special arson squad of the State Police at Harrisburg.

70 ATTEND FATHER AND SON DINNER AT HOUSERVILLE

More than 70 persons attended the annual Father and Son banquet at the United Brethren church, Houserville, last week.

The dinner was served by the Young Women's Class of the Sunday Scchool and was followed by a program of entertainment and special music.

George J. Bohn, Lemont, toastmaster, gave the address of welcome. Group singing was led by Guy Stearns. Marvin Lee gave the toast to the sons, and Daniel Stearns offered a toast to the dads.

Short speeches were made by the following: James Reese, George Dyke, Guy Stearns, J. Aady Dale, James H. Schreck and John Shuey, Jr.

Rev. Max Kirkpatrick, Presbyterian minister of Centre Hall gave an inspiring talk to the dads and sons, after which an appropriate song was sung to the women who served the dinner so well.
