Plan To Begin Work on New School

tract. If present plans progress without delay, the building should be completed by April 1, 1942, and should be ready for occupancy when school opens in September, 1942.

There are four contracts in the program. One is the general contract, including the foundations, buildings, roof, and inside finish. Others are heating, plumbing and electrical contracts.

Approval of plans and specifications was accomplished through three motions as follows: one by the school board informing the Building Corporation that plans and specifications are satisfactory to the board; one by the corporation approving the plans and specifications as submitted by the architects, Hunter & Caldwell; and another by the corporation fixing the time for advertising for bids, and for the opening of bids.

During the lengthy discussion of specifications at the session, there appeared to be a difference of opinion on only two features of the proposed structure. The architects had specified rough red brick, in various shades, for outside surface brick. One board member declared that perhaps a buff brick structure, similar to the building destroyed by fire, might be more attractive. Members of the building committee reported that a survey of opinion in town showed an overwhelming sentiment in favor of red brick and the board finally placed its official stamp of approval on the red brick suggestion, which the architects claim will give the structure character and warmth.

The only other difference of opinwas in regard to the finish of corridor walls. Specifications called for Keene cement, a hard, smooth-finished cement which is easily painted. Board members felt that tile would be more durable, and would require no upkeep expense.

The architects' representatives declared that tile would be considerably more expensive, and that unless perfectly placed would give an irregular appearance to the hallways. The board approved the cement finish.

The building will be of fire resistive construction, and with a roof of steel-bound plank gypsum, will entitle the district to a new and unusually low insurance rate.

The specifications were reviewed by Paul M. Hayward and Harold F. Lenz, members of Hunter & Caldwell's staff, and many points in construction were touched upon. All the plans and specifications include a number of alternatives which were incorporated to reduce the cost of the building in the event bids on the complete structure prove too high. Alternates include the omission of a block of three classrooms; a block of six classrooms; substitution of less costly materials in construction; omission of two-inch insulation on the west walls; and many others.

All members of the school board and of the building corporation were present at the session, as were Musser W. Gettig, attorney for the board, and Roy Wilkinson, Jr., who represented John G. Love, attorney for the building corporation.

A brief discussion regarding the $400,000 bond issue was led by Mahlon K. Robb, Building Corporation president, who declared that one brokerage firm has indicated a desire to purchase the entire block. Other members of the corporation felt that it would be to the school district's advantage to let the bonds out to bids. No definite action was taken, but assurance was given that there is nothing to indicate that there may be any difficulty with financial arrangements.

Summarizing plans and specifications for the structure, Mr. Hayward declared that the plans contained nothing extraordinary or unusual in school building construction, indicating that there are no extravagances or experiments in the plans. He predicted that there will be "plenty of bidders."

In most instances the specifications calling for materials specify that they shall be of a kind made by a certain company or companies, "or their equals." This system gives contractors a definite idea of the materials desired, Mr. Hayward explained, and yet permits any other companies having such materials to submit bids.

Advertisements for bids will appear in the three Bellefonte newspapers and in various trade reports widely circulated among contractors and builders.

Members of the school board who took part in the discussions were: Horace J. Hartranft, president; R. C. Blaney, vice president; J. Bossart DeHaas, William H. Brouse, and Franklin B. Schad. Building Corporation members are: Mahlon K. Robb, president; William H. Brouse, vice president; Lewis R. Lenhart, secretary; Newell B. Long, and Horace J. Hartranft.

Inventor Granted Patent

The Patent Office at Washington has announced the award of a patent to Randall W. Shultz of Bloomsburg, listed as inventor of a wire coating apparatus. Filing his claim for federal coverage May 15, 1940, Shultz listed three claims of new features which were passed upon by Patent Office examiners. He has assigned rights to the use of the patent to Metalloys Company, Williamsport.

Boy and Matches Cause Fire

A small boy playing with matches caused a fire scare with little damage at the Creighton Little home in Philipsburg on Monday. Merle, 5-year-old son of the family, was playing with matches in an upstairs bedroom. Some bedding and Christmas trimmings in the room caught fire and broke out in flames after the boy had left. Prompt work of the firemen who responded to the alarm kept the loss at $25.

137 Operations

Council To Decide On Parking Meters

lects the money from the boxes. In the closed type, the coins drop into a locked box, which must be removed to a bank or to some other authorized agency, for opening. Council favored the open type.

Councilmen John Weber, W. J. Emerick, and Harold D. Cowher spent considerable time last week in inspecting meters now in use in Lock Haven and State College. It was their suggestion that a full program for Bellefonte might include meters in the following areas: both sides of Allegheny street, from Burrowes to Bishop streets; both sides of Bishop from Spring to Allegheny; both sides of South Spring from Perry Alley to High; north branch of East High street, from Allegheny to H. P. Schaeffer residence, on north side only; south branch of East High street, from Allegheny to theatre building, on south side only; in front of Court House; West High street, from Allegheny street to the railroad crossing. It was suggested that metered parking be in effect from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. weekdays; 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Saturdays, and at no time on Sundays and holidays.

The meter representative suggested that Council's proposal might be more extensive than required at this time. He declared that he had conducted a survey of the business area and suggested that meters be installed as follows: 107 meters on Allegheny street from Howard to Bishop; 14 around the Diamond, and 43 on one side and 48 on the other side of High street from Allegheny to Water streets. If Council wishes to extend meters on High street to the railroad crossing, 26 more would be needed, he estimated. He declared that delivery could be made within two weeks, and one additional week would be required for installation.

Council reported that a number of merchants are in favor of meters, and that virtually every other town and city of this size in Central Pennsylvania has meters. It was claimed they not only regulate parking but also are a source of substantial revenue to the borough.

An ordinance calling for the licensing of vending machines passed first reading and is well on the way toward becoming another new source of revenue to Council. The measure, if finally passed, would become effective June 1.

Under provisions of the ordinance, jukeboxes (music vending machines) pin ball machines and similar devices may be operated only after the proprietor of the establishment in which they are located has secured a proper license from the borough treasury. The annual fee will be $10. Peanut, candy, cigarette vending machines, and weighing devices will be licensed for $1 a year. With each license will go a metal disc which must be attached to the machine. If licensed machines are exchanged for others during the year, the license may be transferred at no additional cost. The penalty for violation is a fine of not more than $50, or 30 days in jail for each day a violation occurs.

Council authorized payment of a $300 installment on a $1000 loan to the Bellefonte Fire Department to defray expenses of the Central District Firemen's Association convention here next summer. The remainder of the loan will be paid to the firemen from time to time as funds are needed.

If the convention is a financial success the loan will be repaid to Council with interest. If it isn't a success, no interest will be charged. The loan is secured by the Undine and Logan Fire companies.

At the request of Paul R. Emerick, who also represented firemen in the loan negotiations, the Fire and Police committee is to investigate a device which, when a fire alarm is sounded, automatically turns traffic lights to red and holds them on red until fire apparatus has answered the alarm. Emerick said it is possible that fire equipment might be seriously delayed in answering a call through movement of traffic through traffic lights.

The Street committee is to install a stop sign at the corner of South Water and Mill streets, opposite the C. & H. store. Water street will be designated as the through street. A pole at the corner of Lamb and Water streets is to be relocated. At present the pole stands on the street, endangering traffic.

The following Fire Police appointments for the Undine Fire Company were approved by Council: Merrill Waite, John Galaida, Samuel Confer, Linn Derstine, Larry Justice, Ben Kofman and Frank Smith. These Undine truck drivers also were approved:

nue, State College, received a small cut on his left hand, and A. Belle Herman, of State College, R. D. 1, was bruised about the forehead in the accident one-half mile south of Potters Mills at 2:40 o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Edna Dippery of Lewistown, received a bruised knee.

The cars were operated by Dale F. Herman of State College, R. D. 1, and F. M. Dippery of Lewistown. They collided on a curve while traveling in opposite directions. Dippery was taken before a justice of the peace for driving on the wrong side of the road. Damage to the Herman car was about $200, and loss to the other machine was approximately $150.

Approximately $20 damage was caused to cars operated by B. N. Sampsell of Bellefonte, R. D. 3, and Floyd Snyder of Centre Hall, when they tangled on Route 53 one and one-half miles south of Bellefonte, Saturday afternoon. One of the operators was making a left turn from the road at the time of the accident.

authority to organize a county chapter. In making the request Mrs. Weber pointed out that it is vitally important that the funds raised for combating infantile paralysis be effectively used for the purpose for which they are intended. To accomplish this end it is necessary that a county chapter be organized immediately, the chairman added. With a county organization in force, victims of infantile paralysis would be close to a ready and willing source of aid, both financially and in securing the most modern treatment for the malady.

You can always get good, young horses with us because we work them. Good horses are cheaper in many ways than the middle class.

This is what I advertised in the Milton Standard and Mifflinburg Telegraph last year. I can show more horses on the farms working, within a radius of 25 miles of Mifflinburg, that I shipped and sold than any other two dealers put together in the same territory. Now if you don't believe this lay down $200.00 and I will put $400.00 down, we will drive 3 days and that will tell the tale of who gets the money and sold the horses. ## Modern Etiquette

1. When it is necessary for a person to blow his nose, in company, should he apologize?

2. Is it ever permissible to elbow or push your way through crowds?

3. Should a hostess issue two sets of invitations for a dinner dance?

4. Is it the man's or the girl's privilege to suggest how the evening should be spent, when no previous arrangements have been made?

5. Is it necessary for a bridge hostess always to have a new deck of cards on the table?

6. What is the customary tip for a checkroom attendant?

7. How far in advance should a man telephone a girl to ask her for a dinner date?

8. When it is necessary to discharge a servant, shouldn't one give this servant a good reference, if possible?

9. Does a well-bred man ever discuss a woman of his acquaintance with other men or women?

10. If a young man deliberately breaks a date with a girl, without a plausible excuse, then asks her for another date, what should she do?

11. When someone compliments you on the suit or gown or hat you are wearing, what should you say?

12. Is it correct to answer a private telephone by saying "Hello?"

Answers

1. No; but try to make the performance as quiet and unnoticeable as possible. Do not imitate a foghorn.

2. No, try to avoid brushing against others. If you will notice the type of a person who does this, you will have no desire to put yourself in that class.

3. Yes; one set is sent to those invited to both dinner and dance, the other set to those invited to dance only.

4. It is courteous for the man to ask the girl where she would like to go. But a girl should be considerate where expense is concerned.

5. The bridge hostess should have two fresh decks of cards on each table.

6. Ten cents is the usual tip.

7. One day ahead is sufficient. If she is engaged for that evening, he may ask her what evneing she will be free.

8. Yes. Anyone who is fair and considerate will do without being asked.

9. Never.

10. Decline the invitation.

11. "Thank you" is sufficient.

12. Yes; that is the accepted form.

Raises Lions

There's one crop growing in the vicinity of El Monte, Cal., in which the Department of Agriculture is not particularly interested. It's Charles Gay's crop of lions. Since starting his lion farm in 1919, he has raised more than 700, selling some 600 to circuses and zoos.
