To Speak at Millheim

Rev. Vere Walford Abbey (above) will speak at the Millheim Evangelical church at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, March 22, under the sponsorship of the Christian Endeavor Union of Centre County.

The career of Rev. Vere Walford Abbey has been a busy and far-reaching one. Born in Pennsylvania, he adopted Indiana as his home, and was graduated from Taylor University in Upland. Entering the ministry in the Methodist Episcopal Church, he had two years as a pastor in North Dakota. Then he spent one term of service as a missionary in Rangoon, Burma.

In 1929 Mr. Abbey went again to the Orient, this time as general secretary of the Christian Endeavor Union of India, Burma and Ceylon. After his furlough in the United States in 1934-1935 he returned to India in the latter year, following attendance at the World's Christian Endeavor Convention in Budapest. In 1936 he attended the International Missionary Conference at Madras as a representative of Christian Endeavor.

Under Mr. Abbey's administration as general secretary of the India Christian Endeavor Union there have been large organizational gains in Christian Endeavor, the number of societies and the number of members being increased.

Any description of Mr. Abbey's work is incomplete without glowing reference to his brilliant wife, Jessie Norman Abbey, who has carried much of the load of office leadership and administration while Mr. Abbey's time has been devoted largely to the field.

The public is cordially invited to hear Mr. Abbey at Millheim, Saturday.

Meyers Denies '41 Candidacy

a Democratic governor next year. He indicated that if he is successful in that ambition, he will "step down" from politics after 30 years of active work.

Other speakers included Miss Marie M. Bickertt, of Philadelphia, state vice-chairman, and George Ocker, aged 84, of Harrisburg. The toastmaster was Henry A. Brockerhoff, of Bellefonte, state treasurer of the Democratic party.

Mr. Meyers, making his first political address in Centre county in nearly three decades of public life, declared that harmony has been restored in the state organization. He said wounds opened during the last state and national elections have been healed and that the party now presents a united front.

Mr. Meyers, who aided the Democratic House to draw up its policy and program for the current year declared that the greatest threat to the welfare of Pennsylvania is the activities of reactionary groups, which seek a return to the "old days," and who see no good in the modern trend of social and humane legislation.

The State Chairman paid high tribute to Miss Bickertt for her splendid work as vice chairman, and to Mr. Brockerhoff for his invaluable services as State Treasurer.

Miss Bickertt, speaking on the topic "Leadership of the Nation," stressed the vital part being played and to be played in the future by the women of Pennsylvania. She cited the deplorable condition into which the city of Philadelphia has fallen as a result of plunderbund politics but added that of recent months there has been a noticeable improvement. She attributes this fact to the efforts of the women of Philadelphia who have organized to clean up the city government.

Miss Bickertt expressed her appreciation for being invited to speak to Centre countians and mentioned that she had turned down an invitation to speak in Philadelphia in order to be present.

George A. Ocker, despite his 84 years, showed the crowd what an old-fashioned political speech should be. Mr. Ocker, long an ardent Democrat and active in politics in Harrisburg for a number of years, was born in Rebersburg. A carpenter by trade, he conducted a coal and grain business in Centre Hall in the 1890's and then went to Lewisburg, where he was engaged as a carpenter. From there he moved to Harrisburg where he and his wife, the former Della Gramley, of Rebersburg, have been among the most active Democratic workers. Mrs. Ocker was unable to attend the Spring Mills meeting bebecause of preparations for a large Democratic meeting at Reading Saturday night.

Mr. Ocker pleaded for party workers to go out and return Centre county to the Democratic column.

During the course of the program Toastmaster Brockerhoff suggested that the women of the Penns Valley area organize into clubs to assist the county organization. He emphasized the fact that the Democratic party is "very much alive."

Harry Potter, of Centre Hall, general chairman of the Jackson Day committee, and Lloyd Boob, of Millheim, Centre county chairman, spoke briefly at the close of the program. Mr. Potter expressed his thanks to members of the committee who aided in the preparations, while Mr. Boob declared that the committee's work was a task well done.

The dinner was one to be remembered even in an area where good food, in plentiful quantities, is a tradition. The dinner, prepared and served by the ladies of St. John's Union Sunday school of Farmers Mills, was headed by roast turkey and fish. The tables were laden with a wide variety of dishes and there apparently was an endless supply of the well prepared food.

The music section of the Centre Hall Women's Club, under the direction of Mrs. William Campbell, provided music and entertainment during the dinner, and Mrs. Campbell led the audience in the group singing of "God Bless America." Cecil A. Walker, of Bellefonte, led the opening song, "America," and J. Victor Brungart, of Rebersburg, Centre county auditor, pronounced the invocation.

Other entertainment during the evening included numbers by the Rythm Rangers of Pleasant Gap, who also furnished music for dancing after the speaking program.

Among those introduced by Toastmaster Brockerhoff were: Miss Maude Miller, of Pennsylvania Furnace, county vice-chairman; Mrs. E. M. Grove, State College; Victor Auman, Centre Hall; Fred Mensch and Charles Hipple, Centre County Commissioners; A. L. Boversox, of State College, a former commissioner; D. A. McDowell, of Axemann, former County Recorder; Harry A. Corman, of Spring Mills, County Register, and Philip H. Johnston, of Bellefonte, former County District Attorney.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE TO HOLD "OPEN HOUSE"

Mrs. Sue Gety, chairman of the Social Service Committee, Bellefonte Women of the Moose, has promised an interesting program for the committee's Chapter Night program which will be held Wednesday, March 26. Co-workers of the Chapter, members of the local lodge, and the general public are invited to this open meeting, which will open at 8 p. m. at the Moose home, North Spring street. Refreshments will be served.

It is expected that many will avail themselves of the opportunity the Women of the Moose Social Service committee is offering, and will attend the presentation of its Chapter Night program, which will sum up in brief outline, the social service activities of the local Chapter, as well as the activities of the national organization of which they are a part.

Social Service chairman, Mrs. Gety, further reminded the chapter members that the Social Service committees throughout the United States, Canada and Alaska, in the name of the Women of the Moose, are sponsoring dental clinics; assisting in securing pensions for the blind, for war veterans and mothers and for widowed mothers; free hospitalization for tubercular patients and crippled children; and so on down the line in all instances where physical needs exist.
