Modern Etiquette

1. What is the proper way to shake hands?

2. What is the meaning of a "bread and butter" letter?

3. Does the bridegroom pay for the bouquets carried by the maid of honor and the bridesmaids?

4. Where does a man take leave of a woman he has been entertaining for an evening?

5. Is it obligatory to acknowledge an invitation to a church wedding?

6. Should one take the last piece of bread or cake from a dish that is offered at dinner?

7. Is it proper to expectorate on the street?

8. When eating in a restaurant should one wipe the silver with the napkin?

9. Should children be made to write their own acceptances and regrets to invitations?

10. What should one do after greeting a guest when asked to stand at the head of a receiving line?

11. What kind of stationery should be used for formal invitation?

12. May one ever reach across another person or across the table to take a dish of food?

Answers to Modern Etiquette

1. Never respond to the handclasp offered you with a dead, limp hand—sometimes known as the "dead fish" or "wet dishrag" hand clasp. Each hand should grasp the other with a firm, cordial grip. However, it is not good taste to grasp the other hand so tightly as to make the person wince with pain. And avoid the pump-handle shake.

2. The letter that a guest must write to his hostess after returning home, thanking her for her hospitality.

3. No; the bride's family assumes this expense.

4. The man sees the woman to the door of her home and is sure that all is well before he departs. He must never leave before the door has been unlocked and she has entered, and he should not enter the house if it is late, even if he is invited to do so.

5. No.

6. Yes; there undoubtedly is more in the kitchen or you would not have been urged to take it.

7. This is indecent at any time, but to do so in the company of another man or woman is unpardonable and is an insult to that person. If absolutely necessary, use a handkerchief as unobtrusively as possible, and don't be guilty of the vile habit of examining the contents of the handkerchief. Dispose of it as quickly as possible.

8. No; if the silver is not clean enough, call the waiter and have him bring you another piece.

9. Yes; this is excellent training.

10. After greeting the guest, turn to your right and introduce him to the next person in line.

11. Plain white paper of good quality should always be used for engraved invitations to a formal affair.

12. No; ask the person who is near the dish to pass it to you.

Tales of High Valley

was the only section of Pennsylvania where canic lycaon was found, and they hung on quite late, as one was seen heading for High Valley near Aaronsburg in the spring of 1908.

The raids of black wolves in Penn's Valley and Brush Valley during Civil War times, when they were not much hunted and increased fast, have been described vividly by landlord Charlie Hosterman of Motz' Bank, now called Woodward and Professor Henry Meyer of Rebersburg.

Daniel Karstetter was the greatest panther hunter of Penn's Valley and had a fierce encounter with a specimen as big as an African lion at the Blue Rock, near Coburn which he surprised in the act of killing a grown bull. This "lion" ought to be adopted as the emblem of the Millheim Lion's club.

It is said that what became known as the "Town of Ingleby" was named for an English lord, but all that remains of him is his sporting rifles, fencing foils, duelling pistols and ammunition. Some have claimed he was related to the O'Fowler or Fowler family for whom Fowlerville in his domain was named.

The term, "Town of Ingleby," probably preferred to his patent or warrant, taken up from the Penns, and later confirmed by the Pennsylvania land office in 1789, like the "Town of St. Thomas," now called Lingletown.

Probably no more beautiful or spirited girl lived in that region than Fonrose O'Fowler, who brought a love of sport with her from Donegal, especially otter and fox hunting, a girl who combined the characteristics of a staid Scotch mother with a genuine high-spirited Irish Celtic dad with the blood of the Russells in him.

The O'Fowler home, more like an Indian fort than anything modern was built on the same foundations, some say, where later gallant Cavalryman Samuel Barker, of Civil War fame, erected his graceful chateau, a spot often discussed as general state headquarters of the Pennsylvania Alpine club by J. Herbert Walker and others.

"The beauty spot of central Pennsylvania," said the late Major William J. Cooper. "Penn's Valley, the magnificent" was the way Judge A. W. Johnson of Lewisburg, once eulogized it. "Every look makes the heart leap," said Mrs. M. A. Clark as she gazed over the glorious scenery from Paddy mountain.

4-H POULTRY TEAMS COMPETE AT HARRISBURG

The State champion 4-H Club poultry judging and poultry demonstration teams which were selected at the Pennsylvania State College in August will go to Harrisburg to participate in the Sixth Northwestern Poultry Producers Exposition, October 7-10.

Viola Schwabenbauer, Martha Grotzinger, and William Eckert, all of St. Marys, won the State 4-H championship for poultry judging. At Harrisburg they will judge several classes of poultry.

Donald Ressler and Charles Hensler of Cogan Station, who won the State 4-H poultry demonstration contest will present their demonstration "The Care and Handling of Eggs."

The poultry judging team, all from Elk county, will be accompanied by A. C. Rockwell, agricultural extension representative, while E. B. Tait will accompany the Lycoming county demonstration team.

$6,000 Fire Damage

Fire caused by a gasoline explosion resulted in $6,000 damage in the second blaze in a garage owned by H. H. Follmer, of Milton, in a week. This second fire was at the Susquehanna Motors Company at Danville. Monday, Sept. 29, a $10,000 fire occurred at the service station of Mr. Fullmer in Milton, having spread from adjoining buildings.

Partisanship leads politicians and newspaper editors into many absurd conclusions.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Cox—Wallace

Miss Helen May Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore M. Wallace, of Pine Grove Mills, became the bride of Harry Edward Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cox, of Centre Hall, R. D., at a small wedding on Saturday evening, September 27, at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Rev. J. N. Fisher, pastor of the Pine Grove Mills Lutheran church, performed the ceremony which was attended only by members of the immediate families. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The bride is a graduate of the State College High School in the class of 1941. The bridegroom is employed at O'Bryan Motor Company, State College. The couple will make their home in State College in the near future.

Bickel—Emenhizer

A beautiful wedding was solemnized in the Bellefonte United Brethren church, Saturday evening, October 11 at 7:30 o'clock, when Miss Kathleen Cecelia Emenhizer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest M. Emenhizer, of Pine street, Bellefonte, became the bride of Arthur Richard Bickel, of Bellefonte, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bickel. The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. E. Householder, pastor of the church. The young couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Houser, of Bellefonte. The bride was beautifully attired in blue with matching accessories. She carried a corsage of pink roses. The traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Anna Weber, Mrs. Fred L. Shope sang, "I Love You Truly," with Miss Weber as accompanist. The bride and groom both attended the Bellefonte High School. Mr. Bickel is employed by the National Gypsum Co. The young couple will reside in their newly furnished apartment on South Allegheny street.

Hoover—Woods

Miss Francis Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Woods, and Harvey Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Hoover, of Port Matilda, were married in the Port Matilda Methodist church on Saturday morning, October 11 at 10 o'clock. Rev. William Rissmiller performed the ceremony. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woods, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. Miss Patty Hoover played the Wedding March. Immediately following the wedding ceremony a lunch was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woods. The newlyweds will reside at Altoona, where the groom is employed at the P. R. R. shops. On Sunday a dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents in their honor, at which the following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Woodring and Mr. and Mrs. Mann, of Nanty-Glo; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hoover and son, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pry and family, Miss Helen Hoover and Glenn Porter, of Altoona; Rev. Rissmiller, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woods and Mrs. Miles Woods, of Port Matilda.

Meek—Raisin

In the presence of members of the immediate families and a few intimate friends, Bishop Helfenstein, Bishop of Maryland, read the marriage service for Peter Gray Meek, II, and Miss Lucille Raisin, at 4 p. m. Saturday, October 4, in his private chapel at Baltimore, Md. The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Parks Raisin, of Chestertown, Md., was gowned in white fraille with high neck and long sleeves. She wore a finger-tip veil and carried a shower bouquet of bouvardia and white roses. Her attendant was her only sister, Miss Margaret Raisin, while her father gave her in marriage. George R. Meek, Jr., served as his brother's best man. Philip Gentille, a close friend of the bridegroom, seated the guests in the chapel. After the ceremony a reception was held in the blue room of the Hotel Belvedere, after which Mr. and Mrs. Meek departed for a motor trip south, expecting to spend a week at Sea Island, Georgia. Upon their return they will go to their already furnished apartment in Alexandria, Virginia. Out-of-town guests at the wedding included: Mr. Meek's mother, Mrs. George R. Meek; her sister, Miss Louisa Valentine; Mrs. David Dale, her daughter, Mrs. L. Orvis Harvey, and Mr. Harvey, all of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. T. King Morris, of Greensburg; Miss Bertha Laurie, of Cape May, and a number of the bridegroom's Washington friends, in addition to the bride's family and friends from Chestertown.

Kirkpatrick—Guardino

The Presbyterian manse in Centre Hall was the scene of a pretty wedding Tuesday of last week when Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick united in marriage his son, John H. Kirkpatrick, and Marjorie G. Guardino, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Center Harbor, N. H. The double ring ceremony was used. The bride was given in marriage by her sister, Mrs. Schanelli, of Brooklyn, and was attended by Miss Grace Wible of State College. The bridegroom was attended by Hubert Haugh of State College. Miss Helen Hall of State College, was the ring bearer and Sylvia Hall of State College, was the flower girl. She carried a basket of roses, azaleas and chrysanthemums. Miss Betty Hall of State College played "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me," the Wedding March from Lohengrin, and Schubert's "Ave Maria." Miss Hall played during the ceremony and played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" at the close of the ceremony. The bride wore Mrs. Kirkpatrick's wedding dress of ivory satin and a fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of delphinium, roses and baby's breath. The maid of honor was dressed in organdy and carried a bouquet of talisman roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was graduated from Adelphia Academy, La Vouvella Rosera Finishing School in Switzerland, Stone Leigh College in New Hampshire, and the New York Institute of Photography. She is the daughter of Steven Guardino and the late Mrs. Guardino of New York City. Mr. Kirkpatrick is a son of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Kirkpatrick of Centre Hall. He was graduated from the Centre Hall High School, attended Penn State two years, and was graduated from the New York Institute of Photography. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick are on a week's wedding trip to the Adirondack Mountains. Those from out-of-town who attended the wedding were: Mrs. DeSalva and Mrs. Schanelli, of New York City, sisters of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Haugh and daughter, Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Haugh and son, Hubert, and daughters, Helen and Sylvia, and Miss Grace Wible, all of State College.

Stere—Tingue

Miss Dorothy Louise Tingue, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Parsons Tingue, of Unionville, became the bride of John Cecil Stere, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Stere, of Unionville, at a ceremony performed at 10 o'clock last Saturday morning, October 11, at the Trinity Methodist church of Clearfield, with the pastor, Rev. Rowland R. Lehman officiating. The ring ceremony was used. The maid of honor was a cousin of the bride, Miss Margaret Parsons of Harrisburg, and the bridesmaids were cousins of the bride, Miss Lorraine Parsons of Canton, Pa., and Miss Joanne Parsons of Morgantown, W. Va. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore street length dresses and wore corsages of roses and baby's breath. The best man was a brother-in-law of the groom, Cecil R. Stevenson of Altoona. The bride was attired in a street length dress of soldier blue with black accessories and carried a bouquet of Rubrum lilies and baby's breath. Miss Charlotte Stere, sister of the groom, played "I Love You Truly" as a prelude and played "O Promise Me" softly during the ceremony. The traditional Wedding March was played by Miss Stere. Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party and relatives returned to the home of the bride in Unionville where a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate families of the bride and groom. Soon after the breakfast the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip to Niagara Falls and other places of interest in New York State. The bride is a graduate of Bellefonte High School and the Rudemar Beauty School of Altoona. The groom is a graduate of Bellefonte High School and of Pennsylvania State College and is employed by the West Penn Power Company at Bellefonte where the newlyweds will reside.

Words Often Misused

Either "Drive slow" or "Drive slowly" is correct. Slow is in good use both as an adjective and as an adverb, while slowly is an adverb only.

Do not say, "The invalid is some better today." Say, "The invalid is somewhat better today.

Do not say, "Please give this matter your soonest attention." Say "Please give this matter your earliest attention."

Do not say, "The source of her injury was an automobile accident." Say, "The cause of her injury was an automobile accident." Source stresses the idea of beginning or origin, and is often misused for cause.

Do not say, "He is still continuing his studies." Still is redundant, as continue contains the idea of still.

Do not say, "I suspect you are enjoying yourself." Say, "I suppose you are enjoying yourself."

Words Often Mispronounced

Habitat. Pronounce hab-i-tat, both a's as in at, i as in it unstressed, accent first syllable

Lapis lazuli. Pronounce lap-is laz-u-li, both a's as in add, first i as in it, u as in unite, second i as in ice, accent both words on first syllable.

Lien. Preferred pronunciation is le-en, first e as in me, second e as in end unstressed, two syllables.

Literature. Pronounce lit-er-a-tur, i as in it, e as in her unstressed, a as in ask unstressed, u as in unit, accent first syllable, and not lit-er-chur.

Masseuse. Pronounce ma-suz, a as in an, u as in fur, accent last syllable.

Pastorate. Pronounce pas-tur-it, a as in ask, e as in her, i as in it, accent first syllable.

Words Often Misspelled

Genius (mental power, or talent); genus (a class; order; kind). Gaiety, or gayety; either spelling is correct. Cite (to summon); sight (vision); site (situation). Christen; observe the t. Inseparable; observe the ar, not er. Perpetrate; not perper.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

INDOMITABLE; not to be subdued; unconquerable. "He has an indomitable will."

AXIOMATIC, AXIOMATICAL; pertaining to, or of the nature of, an axiom; self-evident. "The stores of axiomatic wisdom."——I. Taylor.

ABRASION; the act of wearing, or rubbing off; the wearing away by friction. "Time has caused an abrasion of the coins."

MANDATORY; containing an authoritative command; hence, obligatory. "The instructions were mandatory, and they were compelled to go."

INSOLVENT; unable to pay one's debt. "He left an insolvent estate."

DICTUM (singular), DICTA (plural); an authoritative statement; a dogmatic saying. "A class of critical dicta everywhere current."—M. Arnold.
