students at Howard High School although two of them have not been attending classes this year.

State Motor Police at Pleasant Gap sub-station assigned no cause for the accident which occurred at a crossing where visibility normally is excellent. Centre County Coroner Charles Sheckler, of Milesburg, said an inquest would be held when all witnesses are able to testify.

After colliding at the intersection the Allison car swerved right, ran into a field, described nearly a complete circle and ran back on the intersection, coming to rest not far from the point of impact. It did not upset.

The Heath car veered left, struck an abutment and overturned in a ditch near the intersection. Both cars were badly damaged.

Allison and Miss Beightol were brought to the hospital in the Widdowson ambulance. Fulton was taken to the hospital by T. R. Dickson, who lives near the accident scene.

Arlene Pearl Swope, a freshman at Howard High School, was a daughter of Elmer and Neta Breon Swope and was born on June 10, 1928. Surviving are her father and these brothers and sisters: Mrs. Paul Uber and Clifford Swope, both of Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. James Lucas, Mill Hall; Harry Swope, Jacksonville, and George Swope, serving in the U. S. Medical Corps at Atlanta, Ga.

She was a member of the Jacksonville Reformed church and Sunday school. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at her father's home, followed by services at the Howard Reformed church, with Rev. John R. Gulick officiating. Interment was made in the Reformed cemetery, Jacksonville.

Blackout Not Entire Success

was not notified of the test and that community was not blacked out. In Milesburg the test was only a partial success since the signal could not be heard in part of the town.

At least four violations were reported in the business area of Bellefonte, while in outlying sections of town there were many unintentional violations on the part of individuals who had not heard the signals. Wardens performed speedily and efficiently in warning such persons, officials said.

The test came as a complete surprise to all but a handful of Civilian Defense officials and in that respect it was a success. Whether any steps will be necessary to improve the signaling system in Bellefonte has not been determined at this time.

MILESBURG

Our community was saddened the past week by the news of the death of David Mumper, for whom memorial services were held Sunday evening in the Baptist church. David was a young man of sterling qualities and well liked by everyone. The sympathy of the entire town is extended to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Arthur Wasson, who has been quite ill for the past two weeks, is getting along nicely at this writing.

Fred Malone, who was recently taken into the army, is stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carter of Renovo, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Boggs, recently.

Jerry Green, a Coast Guardsman stationed at Manhattan Beach, N. Y., spent a few days recently at his home here. Jerry has been across a couple of times on convoys, and it will be remembered he was on the Wakefield when it was burned at sea.

We think it just as well to ration coffee as other things, for as it is now some of us have more than we need while others do not have any. Now we don't need any one in particular, just the United States in general.

Mrs. Ralph Mitchell recently entertained the members of her knitting club at a fried chicken supper.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Shearer expect to move their household goods from New Alexandria to Bellefonte about Nov. 1st.

Our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wetzler and their new son, Dean K., Jr.

Hospital Officers Named

Last week in a report of the organization meeting of the Centre County Hospital an unfortunate error which occurred in getting the story into type resulted in a garbled version of the proceedings.

Ray Noll, of Pleasant Gap, was re-elected president of the corporation; Harold Albright, of State College, was re-elected vice president, and Jesse H. Caum, of Bellefonte, was re-elected secretary.

Ray D. Shoemaker, of State College, was named treasurer to succeed J. Mac Curtin of Bellefonte, who had served in the office during the past year.
