The Pensbacot river has closed earlier this season than it has for fifty years. Is it not remarkable how many peculiarities of weather and temperature occurred fifty years ago?

Gen Zachary Taylor, his wife and Old Whitley, are all buried a few miles from Louisville, without a stone or cross, or sculptured thing to tell the passing traveler that he treads near hallowed ground.

The New York Evening Post asks why is Bulwer more likely to get tired of novel writing than Warren? Because Bulwer wrote Night and Morning, Warren only Now and Then.

Forty miles of fire, a pretty extensive conflagration, is raging in Wisconsin. Four counties are being burned out at once, and nothing can be done to stop the fire-fiend's course.

So many grapes have been raised this year in Ottowa, Ohio, that not more than half of them could be picked and sent off, principally on account of lack of boxes; what remain on the vines are probably frozen into raisins by this time.

A prize fight was to have come off in Detroit on Friday, but when the principals arrived on the ground they found a squad of policemen there, and concluded to go home without fighting. A Detroit local complains of the police for having destroyed a promising item before maturity.

England denies that the late S. G. Goodrich was the original Peter Parly, and claims that honor for an Englishman. Andrew Johnson is also soon to be claimed as a British vilizen. Abraham Lincoln had that honor, as have his wife and the immortal George, who was the father of his country.

The Missouri Republican, a violent Copperhead sheet, suggests Dan Rice, or the great M'Cosle for President. After a little reflection, it drops these, however, and boldly copies after Disraeli, by making a flank movement and going the whole hog, in suggesting Frederick Douglass for that high office. There is no telling what we may look for next from such papers.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Mail says that the new Constitution begins:

"For him we preach.
"For him we pray,
"For him we labor night and day—
"That colored duss from Africa."

We suggest instead:

For us his sweat,
For us he bled free,
He'll once be free to vote in yet—
That African with skin of jet.

A Mr. James I. Bowers, of Sandusky, O., offers one thousand dollars reward for the delivery alive of his child Mary Lilly, stolen from her home on the 26th of October last. The child was three years old, full flesh, light hair, and blue eyes, is left handed, has a scar on the bottom of one of her feet, and the nail of her left great toe is bruised.

Letter carriers are to be uniformed in New York State. Why should the work stop there; it is a good thing, and should be extended into all the other States. Most of the Continental European countries dress their letter carriers in yellow, so that that color is always looked upon as the postal one. Dark green would be less conspicuous, and better than blue, as it differs from the military and naval colors.
