There are thousands and thousands of Long Distance calls every day. Three, five and ten times as many between some cities as before the war.

When your Long Distance call is on war-crowded circuits, the operator may ask you to—"Please limit your call to 5 minutes."

That's especially important these days when wires are needed for the war.

● When the electricians come to wire the house you expect to build, be sure they come laden with enough copper wire for all your immediate and future electrical needs.

Whether it's your new home or your present home modernized—it's the wiring—installed in the floors and ceilings on which all the comforts of electrical living depend. Remember—your lighting equipment, your iron, washer, radio, refrigerator, appliances, are lifeless without wires to carry electricity to them. If these wires aren't big enough and there aren't enough outlets to attach appliances and light switches, you cannot have satisfactory use of electric service.

Now when you are planning is the time to make sure the wiring to be installed in your home will provide for all your electrical needs. There is an easy way to do this—just insist on RED SEAL, the standard of adequate wiring.

West Penn will be glad to prepare a complete RED SEAL adequate wiring layout and specifications for your home at no charge. Just inquire at any West Penn office.

BIG ENOUGH WIRES + ENOUGH OUTLETS + ENOUGH SWITCHES FOR EVERY NEED = ADEQUATE WIRING
