Charlie Ruffing tried to beat his own record in 1943 but lost. This is baseball.

I won with 396 horses sold in 1944 against 378 in 1937, which was the record for seven years.

I like when you come to the barn if you want to buy a horse or not. But remember this—don't mention anything regarding the activities at the other place because I never attended one sale there last year and am not interested.

When I ship a load of horses from the west I will advertise it. I always have good horses on hand for sale.

To Offer Aid to Returning War Vets

visions of the soldiers' Bill of Rights, Mr. Rhinesmith declared.

The demand for information is light at this time, but as more and more veterans return home the work of the administration will increase. It is to get each committee thoroughly familiar with its task that the work is being begun now, even though the demand is slight. It is hoped that when service men and women return home in large numbers the committees will have established a smoothly operating system to render the best possible service.

As chairman of the Veterans Service Committee, Mr. Rhinesmith is overseer of the entire program in the Bellefonte area, while A. H. Hagyard, of Philipsburg, will be in charge of the program in that district. The various committees and those in charge of them, are as follows:

Welfare

Miss Mary Slegal, West High street, Bellefonte, chairman.

Services under Miss Slegal's charge are:

Child Care.
Family Welfare.
Medical Attention.

Pensions and Insurance

W. W. Hampton, VFW Home, South Spring street, Bellefonte, chairman.

Services to be administered by Mr. Hampton are:

Insurance and Claims.
Financial Problems.
Hospitalization.
Homiciliary.
Vocational Training.
Transportation.
Mustering Out Pay.
Pensions.
Lapel Buttons.
Loans.
Purchases of Homes and Businesses.

Legal Department

Judge Ivan Walker, Court House, Bellefonte, chairman.

Matters pertaining to the following subjects are to be referred to Judge Walker:

Legal Questions.
Tax Exemption.
Naturalization.

In matters involving litigation, Judge Walker will serve only as an advisor and will refer applicants to an attorney when necessary.

Employment Department

This department will be handled by the United States Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission, located on West High street, Bellefonte. Questions to be handled directly by the office are those pertaining to:

Civil Service.
Unemployment Insurance.
Claims.
Job Placement, other than veterans seeking to return to their former jobs.

S. D. Rhinesmith will have charge of veterans who seek re-employment in the jobs they had prior to entering military service.

Education

Lewis R. Lenhart, Masonic building, North Allegheny street, Bellefonte, chairman. Mr. Lenhart will have charge of all matters pertaining to education, for which varied provisions are made in the veterans' Bill of Rights.

Farming

R. C. Blaney, Postoffice building, Bellefonte, chairman. This department will administer problems related to agriculture, including the following:

Farm Loans.
Types of Farming.
Amount of Capital Required.
Sources of Credit.
Sound Operating Policies.
INSERT No. 1

Procedure Outlined

A veteran desiring information upon a certain subject has only to pick out the person in charge of that department and call on him for advice. It is planned to keep the entire organization closely knit so that action on requests is prompt and effective. If the veteran chooses the right department he should have no need to "shop around" among the varous committees to obtain satisfaction, Mr. Rhinesmith declared.

If the veteran does not know the name of the proper person to see, he has only to ask at the Employment Office or at the Draft Board office.

The above list of committees should be kept by relatives and friends of service men for future reference when men return.

Benefits Listed

The overall purpose of the veterans legislation is to ease returning veterans back into civilian life with a minimum of hardship and delay. The provisions are broad enough to cover almost any eventuality and nearly every veteran, regardless of private resources, will find that the Bill of Rights offers him a short cut back to normal civilian life.

Among the main provisions of the legislation are:

NEW JOBS: The U. S. Employment Service will have interviewers to offer jobs in various industries suitable to the veteran's ability and desire.

MUSTERING OUT PAY: Veterans with less than 30 days service all in the United States are entitled to $100. Those with more than 60 days in uniform, all in the United States, get $200. Those who saw overseas service get $300.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION: A veteran may draw $20 a week up to 52 weeks for unemployment occurring within two years after his discharge, on the basis of four weeks' compensation for every month of active service.

However, if the veteran leaves "suitable" work voluntarily, without good cause, is discharged for misconduct, or fails to apply for suitable work to which he has been referred by a public employment agency, he can be denied unemployment compensation.

HOSPITALIZATION: If a veteran needs hospital care for a disability incurred in the service, it will be provided on request to the Veterans' Administration. Free transportation also will be provided to the hospital. If the illness is not due to service, the veteran may still get hospitalization if a bed is available and the applicant is financially unable to pay the cost himself.

EDUCATION: A veteran is entitled to a minimum of a year's education if his schooling was interrupted by the war. The government pays up to $500 annually for tuition and other fees, plus $50 monthly for subsistence for single men, or $75 a month for men with dependents. If the veteran is 25 or younger, the law applies automatically. If over 25, a veteran will have to prove the war interferred with his education.

OLD JOBS: A veteran is entitled to his old job if he applies within 90 days after his discharge. He cannot be laid off without cause for one year, if the company and job still exist and the veteran is able to perform his original duties. If the job pays a higher wage, based on the job and not on the skill of his replacement, the veteran deserves the higher wage rate.

LOANS: A veteran can obtain a government guaranteed loan by a private or public lending agency—at not more than 4 per cent interest, repayable in 20 years—for purchase and repair of homes, farms and small businesses up to 50 per cent of the principal. However, the Government guarantee does not exceed $2,000 and the Veterans' Administration will pay the first year's interest on the amount guaranteed.

These are merely highlights in the legislation. For more complete information the veteran or dependent is urged to call upon any of the above committeemen, or at the Draft Board Office, or at the U. S. Employment Office, both located in Bellefonte.

ine Patrol," the "News Notes" article was as follows:

"Word has been received at U. S. N. R. MS of the recent commendation for performance of duty by Lt. (jg) W. J. Dorworth, U.S.N.R., who graduated from Midshipmen's School in August, 1942. The praise came from the Commander Submarines, Atlantic Fleet, who included the following excerpt from a submarine patrol report:

'Lt. (jg) W. J. Dorworth, Jr., has become an excellent Torpedo Data Computer operator, and much of our success is due to his efforts.'

"The letter stated that Lt. Dorworth's efforts contributed to the sinking of many tons of Japanese shipping.

"Lt. Dorworth was an instructor in the Damage Control Department for a year before reporting to New London, Conn., and submare duty. He was graduated from Penn State, where he studied Chemical Engineering."

The Navy imposes the strictest secrecy regarding submarine activities. For this reason Lieut. Dorworth's home folks have had no direct information from him. A photograph received recently by the family, taken at his base at some unnamed place, revealed that he had been awarded the coveted Submarine Pin denoting that he had been in combat duty. Showing also on the photograph is the still more highly prized Dolphin Pin signifying that he had qualified by tests to assume command of a submarine as occasion warranted.

Lieut. Dorworth has completed several submarine patrols and is now on another patrol, presumably somewhere in the Pacific. According to magazine articles the type of submarine on which he is serving is nearly as large as a destroyer, with a personnel of six or seven officers and sixty or more men. Suggesting that a submarine is something rather difficult to locate is the fact that Lieut. Dorworth received 1943 Christmas presents from home only a month or so ago.

The individual does not have to advertise his, or her, religion in big type.

grade schools and was employed as a lathe operator at the Titan Metal plant about four years before entering service.

His wife and two children are making their home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Confer, Burnside street, Bellefonte, for the duration. Pvt. Newman has three brothers in service. They are Pvt. Donald and Pvt. Blaine, both in England, and S. 1/c Luther, now at Pearl Harbor.

Pfc. Richards Wounded

A War Department telegram last Thursday revealed that Pfc. James R. Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Richards, of Prossertown, was slightly wounded in action in France on October 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards had previously been informed by the War Department that their son had been reported missing in France since October 28, and no additional word had been received of his whereabouts since that time.

In a letter written on October 24 the Bellefonte Private said: "Well, I got myself five Jerries and I have a wrist watch. I can't write much because I have to be on the lookout for the Germans."

Pvt. Richards, a member of the 197th Infantry under General Patton, was called to service on April 17, 1943. He trained at Camp Blanding, Fla., Camp Robinson, Ark., and at Ft. George Meade, Md., before going overseas early last July. He was a junior at the Bellefonte High School when called for service.

Pfc. Estright Wounded

Henry A. Estright, of Milesburg, Saturday received a War Department message informing him that his son, Pfc. Parrish Estright, was slightly wounded in Germany on December 2.

The Milesburg soldier, better known as "Buck," was serving with the Third Army. He was called for service on December 15, 1943, and trained at Camp Wolters, Texas, for 17 weeks. He then spent an 11-day delay-enroute furlough with his father and other relatives after which he reported to Fort Meade, Md.

About two weeks later he was sent to an embarkation point in New York State and went overseas in June of this year. Last November he was awarded the infantryman's combat badge.

Pfc. Estright attended the Boggs township schools and was employed for some time by the highway department in Centre county. For more than two years before entering service he was employed by the Harrisburg Steel Company. He is a brother of Mrs. W. C. Cassidy, also of Milesburg.

John Coslo Wounded

Boatswain's Mate second class, John Eugene Coslo, son of Mrs. Mary Coslo, of Coleville, was wounded somewhere in the Pacific area on November 11, according to a letter his mother received from him last Tuesday.

Mrs. Coslo had known beforehand that her son was wounded, for on Christmas day she received the Purple Heart from him.

His letter to his mother read in part:

"I am in a hospital in the South Pacific recovering from wounds to my right arm, hand and fingers but nothing to worry about. I have a sore right arm and several sore fingers. I guess my sister, Anna May, won't hear from my buddy any more as they 'got him' and several other of my best buddies. I have had no mail for six weeks."

The Coleville seaman enlisted in the Navy in September 1941, and trained at Great Lakes, Ill, and San Francisco, Cal., and within several months was sent to Pearl Harbor. He returned in November, 1943, and spent a five-day furlough at his mother's home and then returned to the Pacific coast from where he was sent to the Philippines. His exact location at the present time is not known by his family.

Bos'n Coslo is a graduate of St. John's Parochial School, Bellefonte, and attended Spring Township High School for two years. He was employed by the National Gypsum Co. for about two years until going to Norfolk, Va., where he was employed as a carpenter at the time of entering service.

Lt. MacMullin Missing

Lt. Robert J. MacMullin, son of Col. and Mrs. George M. MacMullin, of Camp McCoy, Wis., formerly of State College, is missing in action after a combat mission in Italy on December 14, according to a message recently received by his parents.

Lt. MacMullin, 22, a fighter bomber pilot, was with the 15th Air Force in Italy.

Another son, Lt. George M. MacMullin, Jr., was killed in a training plane crash at West Point on November 11, 1942.

Lt. Robert, after graduating from the State College High School in 1938, entered West Point and was graduated in June 1943. He served at various Army Air Force training stations and was then assigned as flight instructor at Lubbock, Texas, Army Air Force Field. Upon completion of that tour of duty, he was sent overseas in August.

Col and Mrs. MacMullin were formerly residents of State College where Col. MacMullin was stationed with the College Military Department.

the service as well as for a few minor changes.

A round-table discussion on the proposed changes was held and many worthwhile suggestions were made.

J. M. Hartswick, assistant postmaster, was among the numerous speakers who complimented the Acting Postmaster on his splendid record and who commented favorably on the fine cooperation existing between the postmaster and employes.

Brief remarks were made incident to the service during the year by several of the employes, who added their commendations to Mr. Bower and Mr. Hartswick.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a social hour.
