The Pittsburgh Gazette

A BILLIKIN.

BY BARRY CORNWALL.

Which is the maiden I love best!
Twenty are now bewaling round me;
Three in their milk-white arms have wounded me.
Gently—yet I feel no rest!
One hath showered her black locks o'er me;
One kneel on the ground before me,
Casting forth such beams of bliss
That I'm pierced—O! through and through.
Bacchus! Gods! What can I do?
Which must I love best?

Tell me—(ah! more gently take me,
Sweet one, to thy warm white breast!)
Tell me—which will ne'er forsake me
Through all life's ills and harms!
Is it she whose blood is returning
From that forehead crowned with pride?
Is it she whose pulse is beating
Full against my unarmed side?
What do all these things betide?
Strong my doubts grow—strong and stronger;
Quick! give answer to my call!
If you pause a moment longer,
I shall love ye—all!

—Penobscot bay is frozen over.

—Spain is to furnish 25,000 soldiers to the Pope.

—Horace Greeley lectured in St. Louis on Thursday.

—Utah has a phrenological barber who cuts hair scientifically.

—Utah has sixteen thousand school children and moderately good schools.

—New Albany is rejoicing in the entire disappearance of the ice in the river.

—There are twenty-five institutions for the deaf and dumb in the United States.

—Rossini says that Adelina Patti shall never marry a man who is not either a Duke or a tenor.

—Judge J. S. Holt, of Texas, died on the 10th inst. He was a brother of the Hon Joseph Holt.

—The Republicans of Portland, Me., have renominated Captain Jacob McClellan for Mayor.

—The condition of affairs in North Mississippi is said to be very lamentable, money and hope both gone.

—Hartford, Conn., boasts of having more unfinished church spires than any city of its size in the world.

—The winter in Santa Fe has, unlike the same season in other places, been unusually mild and pleasant.

—A big freshet, when the ice on the Hudson breaks up, is confidently predicted by weather prophets at Troy.

—Arkansas hotels keep slippery stones instead of soap. They pass off as well as the real article and cost but very little.

—The Brazilian Government has ordered five millions of cartridges from the cartridge works in Bridgeport, Connecticut.

—General Schofield's grand parents—Dr. Townsend Sely and wife—celebrated their golden wedding on the 12th instant.

—Lord Stanly is forty years of age. His father Earl Derby calls him the "old man," because he is so excessively grave and serious.

—Buffalo has had a Spiritual Convention. Delegates from the other world were expected but did not put in an appearance.

—On account of the severity of the weather the increase in the iron tankage of the State was but some 80,000 barrels last month.

—King Train can not succeed in being arrested. England has been afraid of burning her fingers again and cannot find a convenient cat's paw.

—The New York Tribune approves of the sentiments expressed in this paper by Mrs. Swisshelm in her introduction to the memoir of Miss Hawkins.

—Dr. Cumming says that he is no prophet. We don't believe him. He is as false a prophet as Balaam; but finds plenty of asses to believe him.

—Adah Isaacs Menken has a new entertainment, which is said to be styled "Recollections of Two Hemispheres," and is described as being entertaining.

—Any body wanting to buy an opera house cheap can do so at Elmira this week, where the Sheriff is going to sell one, built last year and as good as new.

—Straw and saw dust is the invigorating material from which Russian peasants have been forced to make their not very nourishing bread on account of the severity of the weather.

—Sprague, who is said to be a great authority on cotton factories and whisky, says that Wilmington, Delaware, is the proper place for a cotton factory, and he is going to build one there.

—St. Louis has a sensation. A dead baby is supposed to be in a trunk, which possesses a disagreeable odor. The coffin for her has never been opened, but will be soon, when a fearful sight is expected.

—Mexican banditti have gone into a very lucrative business. They abduct bankers and judges, and keep them until ransomed. Two a week is the usual average when trade is brisk.

—The Irrepressible Bismarck is not content with Prussian, Austrian, Italian and French affairs, but is threatening to put his fingers, like Jack Horner, into the Alabama pie. We hope he will pull out his plum.

—The deaths from famine at Tunis amount, it is stated, to one hundred and seventy daily, and a fearful sickness is anticipated from the unhealthy state of the atmosphere, resulting from the numbers of unburied dead.

—There are three hundred and fifty-three students this term in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia. One hundred and eighty-seven of these are from our own State, and the majority of the remainder are Southerners.

—A female in New Orleans has petitioned councils to give her money enough to pay her expenses to Washington, where she expects to take possession of an English fortune of $265,000, all depending on her speedy arrival at the capital.

—The Sentinel on the Border, published in Louisville, and claiming a larger circulation in Michigan than any paper out of Detroit, and in Ohio than any other paper out of Cincinnati, has hoisted the name of Jefferson Davis for President, to its column's head.

—Opera House Pike is described as a fine, looking Hebrew, with a moustache an eighth of an inch shorter than Jesus, somewhat longer than the Indian Herb Doctor's and a good deal shorter than that of an ex-cavalry officer, well known in most of our large cities.

—At last we have another instance of progress to record. The Northern Central Railroad Company has determined to uniform all its officers and employes in or about passenger trains or stations. This order carried out will give a much more respectable appearance to the men, and at the same time prove a great convenience to passengers.

—Although the area of Pennsylvania is smaller than that of several of the other States, and a large portion of that area is mountainous and rugged, there is a much greater extent of railroad in this State than in any other. There are finished, or nearly finished, 4,628 miles of railroad built, at a cost of $222,000,000, which is about one-eighth of all the money spent upon works of this character in this country, although we have but about one-twelfth of the number of miles of road.

—One of the most portentous rumors now abroad is that from Europe, of a fresh revolt in India. When we remember the fiendish character of many of the people, and the terrible outrages committed by them at Delhi, Lucknow and other places, we can sympathize with the shudder which runs through England at the merest hint of a repetition of those horrors. And when we reflect that there are but about eighty thousand English troops and from forty to fifty thousand civilians among a native population of 150,000,000, is it any wonder that we shake at the mere rumors of an insurrection among them, as if we were ourselves overtaken by some dire calamity!
