ONE JUROR TOO MANY

Causes a Serious Delay in the Work of the Present Grand Jury.

THE FITZSIMMONS BILLS GO BACK.

Pittsburg's Market Robber Is Convicted on Eight Charges.

MR. MOECK IS TOLD TO TAKE HIS BOY

In the Criminal Court yesterday District Attorney Johnston made a motion to recommit to the grand jury about 50 bills which had been returned by them the first week they were in session. The cause of the motion was that a man named William Sinclair, Jr., who was not a member of the grand jury, had sat with them during the first week. A man named John Sinclair was drawn on the grand jury and has been serving with it. In some manner a notice was given to William Sinclair, and he also took a place with that body.

He had served with them a week when it was discovered by Clerk Long that Sinclair was answering to his name in the grand jury room, but was not on the roll of the court. An investigation soon showed what was wrong. As a result, the District Attorney, to avoid any legal complications arising, moved to quash the indictments found by the grand jury while Sinclair was sitting with it. The Court granted the motion and the bills were returned for a second consideration. Among the cases which thus go back are all the indictments found against the Fitzsimmons gang for murder and robbery. The mix will not affect any of the cases which have been tried and the defendants convicted, or where pleas of guilty were made.

Kate Cordell and Bridget Campbell were tried yesterday on the charge of receiving stolen goods. Kate Cordell was convicted and Bridget Campbell acquitted.

John R. McMillen was convicted of the larceny of a pocketbook from Frank Carson.

John Holland and William Slattery were convicted of entering a building with intent to commit a felony.

Charles Jones was convicted of eight charges of larceny for stealing butter, eggs, produce, etc., from different hucksters in the Pittsburg market.

John Flannigan was convicted of a serious crime on the information of Mary Cahill.

The jury is out in the case of Joshua Leech, tried for assault and battery with intent to commit a felony on Katie Dugnan on April 24.

ONLY NEEDS TO TAKE HIS BOY.

The Court Says Jacob Moeck Does Not Need a Writ.

A hearing in the habeas corpus case of Jacob Moeck, Jr., against John J. Cella, was had yesterday before Judges McClung and Porter in Common Pleas No. 3. Moeck alleged that Cella had possession of his 14-year old son, Walter, and refused to give him up. At the hearing it developed that the boy ran away from his father, going to Cella, and had refused to return home.

Cella said that he was not detaining the boy, and he could have gone if he wanted to. The Court after hearing the case refused to make an order, as none was necessary, the father only needing to take the boy.

Work Done by the Grand Jury.

The grand jury yesterday occupied the main portion of the day in hearing witnesses in favor of the petition for the incorporation of Emsworth borough. Two true bills were returned. They were John Hayward and Michael Mundy, for assault and battery. The ignored bills were A. Stein, David Musgrove, larceny; William J. McNorton, false pretenses; Peter E. Lucher, misdemeanor.

The Court Room Pickings.

THE Court yesterday decided that William H. Price could take his daughter from Mr. Zimmerman.

DIVORCES were granted yesterday in the cases of Susan Collins against William M. F. Collins, and Margaret Morton against Edward Morton.

SUITS for divorce, on the grounds of desertion, were entered by Juniata Bevan against Henry Bevan; Elsie B. Kessler against Peter Kessler, and Otto Kanun against Annie Kanun.

ARGUMENTS were heard before Judge Hawkins in the Orphans' Court yesterday in the matter of the distribution of the estate of Captain R. C. Gray, the schedule having been excepted to. A decision was reserved.

J. A. Wood yesterday entered suit against Albert Blumberg for $5,000 damages. Wood states that he keeps a hotel at the corner of Thirty-third street and Madison avenue, which he rented from Dr. Blumberg. On May 18 the defendant, for alleged non-payment of rent, he states, illegally levied on his furniture and stock.

TWO COMPANIES ORGANIZED.

Brushton Is to Have a Complete System of Fire Protection.

The people of Brushton have been worried for a long time about the lack of adequate fire protection in their borough. Hitherto the only hope they have had in case of an outbreak of fire has been in an impromptu bucket brigade or the assistance of firemen from the city. At the meeting of Borough Councils on Tuesday evening an ordinance was passed providing for the incorporation of a regular fire company. Already a citizens' meeting has been held to make preparations for the formation of a fire department. It will commence with a membership of 50, and will consist of two companies. A committee has been appointed to purchase the necessary apparatus, which will most likely consist of two hose reels and a hook and ladder truck. The water will be supplied by the Pennsylvania Water Company. It has already put in plugs and there will be no scarcity of water. It is expected that the new department will be ready for operation by the 1st of July.

A meeting will be held this week to elect a president, vice president, captains and other officers. Each district will elect its own captain and make its own rules. Then the two districts jointly will nominate one or more candidates for superintendent. Should more than one be nominated Council will elect, but if only one it will confirm the nomination.

WATER FAMINE IN ALLEGHENY.

Strict Economy to Be Practiced During the Summer.

Allegheny is threatened with a water famine this summer. Notices have already been sent out to consumers asking them to be as economical as possible in order that there may be a fair supply for everyone. The threatened famine will be most severely felt in the hill districts, where the supply has always been short. The announcement of Chief Elders regarding economy came as a great surprise, as it has frequently been asserted that the Allegheny water works had a capacity of 31,000,000 gallons of water per day, while the consumption was only 20,000,000.

Chief Elders says the present shortage has been caused through the builders' strike interfering with the erection of additional boilers at the Howard street station which has not sufficient power at present.

HANGING ON TO THE WOOL.

Buyers Complain That Farmers Want More Than the Market Price—How Australian Growers Beat the Americans—Prospects for Higher Prices Are Not Brilliant.

The wool trade is as dead as a mackerel tossed upon the shores of the Atlantic, if the reports of buyers are correct. L. H. Humphrey, the representative of a Boston firm, has been in this section for some time buying wool. He says he has only purchased about 60,000 pounds so far this year in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. The trouble is that the farmers want from 2 to 3 cents more for their product than the market price.

Mr. Humphrey states that the Australian wool under the tariff is cheaper than the American article, on account of less shrinkage. The Australian ranchers take the wool from the backs and sides of the animals, and put it in separate bales. The skirts and tags—terms understood by the trade—are cut off, labeled and sold for what they will bring. The farmer in the United States puts all the wool indiscriminately in the bale, even scrapes the sweepings from the floors, and the result is that the shrinkage is fully 5 per cent more than the imported wool. In Australia the climate is favorable to the production of wool all the year around. Land is cheap; in fact, at present can't be used for other purposes to advantage, and as long as this state of affairs continues the farmer in the antipodes will have the "bulge" on the Yankee granger.

Mr. Humphrey states that few flannel goods are being sold. The drygoods trade is dull, and he doesn't understand why the farmers are holding on to their wool. He hardly thinks prices will be better in the fall.

COLORED BAPTISTS WITHDRAW.

They Organize a Ministerial Association of Their Own.

The convention of the colored Baptists was continued yesterday morning in the Green Street Church, when the reports of the Committees upon Foreign and Home Missions, Church Letters, Education, Temperance and Resolutions were heard. A resolution stating that young men entering the ministry should have some theological training before being licensed to preach caused considerable discussion, but was finally adopted.

At the afternoon session the church was crowded to the doors. The first business taken up was the appointment of the Allegheny Baptist Ministerial Association, after which the organization of the Allegheny Baptist Sabbath School Association was considered.

Mr. S. S. Arter and Mr. H. C. Jones were elected President and Secretary and Treasurer respectively for the ensuing year. A resolution asking that harmony be maintained between the Pittsburg association and the Allegheny organization was adopted, as were also resolutions supporting the establishment of home and foreign missions and the education of the colored man.

BIG FIRE AT WILKINSBURG.

It Destroys Property to the Amount of Over $10,000.

About 8 yesterday morning a destructive fire broke out at the foot of South street, Wilkinsburg. The wall paper and paint shop of T. R. Carboy & Co. was situated at that point. How the fire started is still a mystery. The inflammable nature of the stock points to probability of spontaneous combustion, although it is deemed possible that a spark from a passing engine may have flown into the building and caused the disaster.

Wilkinsburg has only a volunteer fire company, but it is a good one. The members of the company were at the scene as soon as the first flames showed themselves, and while they could not prevent the fire being a serious one, they kept it well within bounds. The paint shop was completely destroyed, and a frame dwelling next it was so badly damaged that it will have to be pulled down. The loss is about $10,000, with an insurance of $8,000.

A Woman Fights for Her Child.

A colored woman named Wilson has been arrested in Allegheny for endeavoring to kidnap her 4-year-old child from the Colored Orphan Asylum, on Greenwood street. It had been placed there nine months ago when the mother was sentenced to prison for keeping a disorderly house. A fierce fight took place between the officers and the woman for the possession of the child, which was ultimately returned to the asylum.

Had the Detective Arrested.

Detective C. W. Cook, of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroad, is under $300 bail, charged by James W. Walls with extorting $5 from his wife on a threat of entering a suit against Walls for gambling at a picnic. It is stated Cook does not deny having received the money, but wants Walls to pay him $3 more, as he agreed to withdraw the warrant if he was paid $8 down.

NO MORE MIRACLES.

Father Mollinger Will Go to the East for a Two Months' Vacation.

PILGRIMS LEAVING FOR HOME.

The Famous Faith Healer Completely Prostrated Yesterday.

ONE PATIENT REFUSES TO GO AWAY

For two months to come there will be no more miracles performed upon Troy Hill by Father Mollinger. Yesterday morning the famous faith healer was so completely prostrated by his recent exertions as to be utterly unable to leave his bed, and was consequently prevented from carrying out his intention of blessing the people, who had assembled in almost undiminished numbers in the now celebrated churchyard upon Mount Troy. In his absence Father Smith pronounced the healing blessing, but did not supply anyone with either medicines or prescriptions. Throughout the morning the scenes inside the building were merely a repetition of those of the past two weeks with the notable exception of the absence of the central figure. It was indeed a case of "Hamlet," with the title role unrepresented. For, although the pilgrims were more than anxious to receive the blessing from Father Smith, they could not but feel that their highest expectations were unsatisfied unless they were treated by Father Mollinger himself.

Upon being told that Father Mollinger would not bless any more patients until after his return from a brief vacation, the great majority of the people reluctantly left the hill. Some more patient and more hopeful than the others remained behind, and vainly made renewed efforts during the afternoon to obtain audience with the Father.

Troy Hill Again Grows Natural.

Troy Hill yesterday afternoon had once more resumed its ordinary air of quiet suburban calm. Even the conductors of the electric cars abandoned their erstwhile announcement that the car had arrived at "Father Mollinger's place," and substituted the dry and uninteresting commonplace that Clark street was at hand.

In place of the sweltering crowds of maimed and infirm humanity who have been wont to cram the churchyard the greater portion of that space was yesterday evening taken up with an intromantic washing stretched upon a maze of clothes lines. Scattered all over the yard were evidences of the struggles of the past fortnight. At the door steps, where the crowd had been greatest, the ground bore somewhat marked traces of the scrimmages which had taken place.

Bound to See Father Mollinger.

At the corner of Clark street, one young man who arrived on Tuesday, was engaged in discussing with two companions his probable chances of success in seeing Father Mollinger. He said that although he had been informed that the reverend gentleman would not see any more patients he was determined to have another try to-morrow and would stop over night. It had cost him over $25 to get to Troy Hill, and he did not propose to throw away any opportunity which might present itself, now he was there.

Across the street, one old gentleman, from the Western boundary of the State, was holding forth on his experiences at Troy Hill. He had been much benefited by the treatment he had received from Father Mollinger.

At the conclusion of the service in the chapel Father Smith was interviewed by a DISPATCH reporter, when he said that Father Mollinger was too much broken down to see anyone, and intended to leave Troy Hill as soon as he was sufficiently restored to health and could make arrangements for his departure. He was not actually sick, but was suffering from the effects of his tremendous exertions during the past fortnight. He would spend the next two months in the East before returning to resume his duties at Mount Troy.
