GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17.—The first game between the Bostons and Clevelands for the national championship has come and gone, and not a run has been scored nor a victory achieved. Nearly 6,000 people occupied the seats at National League Park this afternoon, comfortable in the warm rays of an autumn sun, and crazy as bedlam's inmates before they had been on the grounds an hour. The opening contest was a duel between the coal miner of Pennsylvania, Stivetts, and the farmer boy of Ohio, Young, and honors are easy between the two, except that Stivetts struck out Young three times, while the latter caught his adversary but once. Of the ten hits made in the game by both teams but six were hard line drives, and these were mutually divided between the clubs. In fielding Cleveland did rather the more sensational work of the two—a phenomenally good catch by McAleer spoiling an apparent three-base hit by Duffy, and Davis' work at third excelling that of any infielder.

Some Good Infield Work.

The first basemen of both teams were frequently applauded for extraordinary stops of poor throws. Behind the bat Cleveland had the best of it, as Kelly was all at sea on high fouls, and had but little speed in throwing to second. In all respects it was one of the most even games that ever was played in the city. Gathering darkness obliged the umpires to call it after the eleventh inning was completed. It was then quite impossible to see the ball from the outfield. The Cleveland club came nearer scoring than Boston. Burkett was the lucky man and lost his run by about a foot at the plate on Quinn's throw to Kelly. This was in the ninth inning when it looked at one time as though Cleveland would win the game with two men on bases and but one out. McKean was at the bat, and in spite of the fact that he hit the ball very hard, one of the hardest hits in fact in the game, he batted it squarely into Long's hands, forcing Davis at second. Long tossed the ball to Quinn and the latter started to argue with the umpire.

Burkett Was Fooled Greatly.

In the meantime Burkett had gone away from third and made a dash for the plate, but Quinn aroused from his trance and threw the daring youngster out. Boston had two good opportunities to score after two men were out, that is they got a player as far as third base, where a hit would bring him home. These chances occurred in the fourth and fifth innings. In the first instance Kelly was at bat and Young struck him out, and the second time McKean made a good stop and throw off Quinn's hit. After that the Bostons never were within reach of the plate. In addition to the ninth Cleveland had a possible chance to score in the second inning, when McKean spoiled it by being caught napping at second. In general the progress of the entire game each inning was one, two, three out.

President Young, of the National League, and President Soden, of the Boston club, were delighted spectators. The pitchers tomorrow will be Staley and Clarkson. Score:

Jimmy's Good Benefit.

Jimmy Galvin's benefit was a great success yesterday. There was a great crowd and an enthusiastic one. All told, "Old Sport" Galvin will get about $1,800 from the benefit. Lots of tickets had been sold, and some of the most prominent people in the State had paid as much as $25 for a ticket for Jimmy's benefit. Altogether "Old Sport" had a good time of it yesterday, as his side won. Morris pitched a really good game considering Edward's business anxieties. The regular nine were outplayed, and were beaten by 6 to 7. The picked nine were: Swartwood, Mack, Berger, Terry, Gillen, Grey, Haller, Quinn, Ehret and Morris, the latter pitching. The regular nine were: Donovan, Farrell, Van Haltren, Miller, Beckley, Smith, Bierbauer, Cargo and Galvin. Mitchell and Terry were the umpires. Terry batted in Berger's place once to try and help the picked nine out.

Louisville Pays 50 Per Cent.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—At a meeting of the directors of the Louisville baseball Club held this afternoon it was decided to pay the players 50 per cent of their salaries for the remaining 12 days of the season.

The Diamond.

THOSE Cleveland fellows are tough. We've met them.

IT would be strange if "Old" Clarkson was to win to-day.

THAT was a hot starter yesterday for the world's championship.

WELL, Old Sport had a good benefit yesterday. He was worth it.

HARRY STEVENS has many offers to "boom matters" from different parties since the baseball season closed.

Algeria Stud Sale.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—At the first day's sale at Tattersall's, which begun to-day at Hunt's Point, 57 mares and foals brought $117,000. The sale will be resumed to-morrow, and on Wednesday night the stallions, including Raymon d'Or, will be sold. Among the chief sales to-day were:

Made a Mistake.

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 17.—Saturday night, after the last race was over, and after everybody had gone home and all bets had been paid, it was discovered that Beatific had finished third in the last race instead of Interior, as officially announced. The correction was made in distributing the purse money, but the holders of place tickets on Interior had been paid by the bookmakers and the holders of place tickets on Beatific had destroyed their tickets. The weigher had put the number for Beatific on the jockey for Interior and thus caused the mistake.

AMONG THE RUNNERS.

A Good Opening Day at the Benningss Track and Fair Betting.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The fall meeting of the Washington Jockey Club was opened at the Bennings track to-day under promising conditions. The track was in fair condition, a trifle too deep if anything. For an opening day the crowd was an excellent one, but did not appear disposed to bet very heavily. The infield was well filled with fashionable turnouts, some of them occupied by members of the diplomatic corps, and though the campaign work has taken away many Washington officials there was a fair representation present. The number of ladies at the course was not as large as usual. During the afternoon the Third Artillery Band furnished excellent music. The races themselves were not of a highly exciting nature, none except the fourth furnishing a driving finish. Twenty firms made books to-day and fared very well, as but one favorite, Sport, won and he was at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 4.

First race, five furlongs—Tormentor 122, Sims, first; Walcott 117, Doggett, second; Rival 109, Taral, third. Time, 1:02. Betting: Tormentor, 4 to 1; Walcott, 8 to 5; Rival, 6 to 5. Bella D. Romney filly, Lady Wooster, Kucknia, Ella, May Bird and Captain Wagner ran unplaced. Mutuals paid $16 60.

Betting: Can Can, 3½ to 1; Grey Gown, 3 to 1; Ecarte, 2½ to 1. Flip Flap 142, Cook, 2½ to 1, fell. No straight mutuals were sold on Can Can. Grey Gown paid $5 00.

RUNNERS AT LEXINGTON.

Lots of Starters and a Good Day for the Turf Patrons.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 17.—The second day of the Kentucky Association races opened most auspiciously with glorious weather and an excellent track. The day was an ideal one for racing, but the finishes were not such as to bring out any fast performances. Five events were on the card in which 42 horses were down to start, out of which number 34 started. The talent were bumped hard in the first two races by the winning of the two long shots, Interior and Tenteen, both of which won in hand and prices from 30 to 40 to 1. The wise men recouped their losses, however, by the wins of the two top-heavy favorites, Anna and Evanulus, while the third race fell to Semper Rex, a liberally backed second choice. Bryant was the only jockey to win two mounts, the other races falling to Taylor, Lilly and Juison. Attendance was over 3,000 and the betting lively, being specially heavy on the Semper Rex and Anna races.

First race, purse $300, seven-eighths of a mile—Interior, 20 to 1, won by half a length, whipping; Calhoun, 9 to 10, second by two lengths, whipping. Time, 1:29.

Second race, purse $300, three-quarters of a mile—Tenteen, 40 to 1, won by two lengths, easy; Annoran, 10 to 1, second; The Queen, third, by four lengths.

Third race, free handicap, purse $350, one mile—Semper Rex, 3 to 2, won by four lengths, pulling up; Newton, 4 to 5, second by ten lengths, driving; Hispania, 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:43¾.

Fourth race—Purse $300, five-eighths of a mile—Evanulus, 3 to 5, won by three lengths, easy; The Governess, 10 to 1, second, driving, by four lengths. Time, 1:03¾.

Another Record Broken.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Oct. 17.—Sensational racing was the order to-day at Cumberland Park. Two world's records were broken, the race record for yearlings being reduced below 2:30 and the race record for 2-year-olds being now 2:15¾, made by Silicon to-day. The 2-year-old race was a heavy betting race, Silicon and Princess Royal being equal favorities, the field selling for a trifle. Silicon won in straight heats and was never really fully extended. When Geers found he could not win he stopped driving and finished easy.

CORBETT'S BIG BLUFF.

He Only Wants to Fight Mitchell, Who Is Under Legal Bonds.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Champion Jim Corbett is in Chicago to attend the World's Fair dedication, and as a side issue he is playing "Gentleman Jim" at the Haymarket. Although not at this moment ready to shy his castor into the ring, he expresses a desire to get a chance at Mitchell.

"I am," he said, "especially anxious to meet Mitchell, and prefer his game to that of any man living. He insulted me once, and I am anxious to face him in the ring. I feel confident that I can whip him. While I would not be willing to cancel my theatrical engagement, which runs into summer, I will make all possible concessions to bring on a fight. I will post all necessary money, and will guarantee to meet him at the date specified. Next to Mitchell, I prefer to meet Peter Jackson. If the Englishman refuses to come to the front I will make a preference in Jackson's favor. I am not anxious to fight right away. Sullivan did not fight a championship battle for years, and here Goddard, who has no claims whatever upon my favor or consideration, is trying to force me to meet him before my honors have grown cold. He has no call upon me, and I will pay no attention to the Kangaroo. He can bluff to his heart's content, and claim the earth if he wants to—it won't affect me any. I am the champion, and at the proper time will be ready to defend my title."

A MODEST FIGHTER.

Joe Choynski Makes a Good Impression on a Few Visitors.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—If condition, modest confidence and agility go for anything, Joe Choynski should have a good chance at winning the fight on October 30, when he faces George Godfrey, the colored prodigy. A party of sporting men accompanied by an Associated Press reporter visited the young Californian at his training quarters at Navesink, Atlantic Highlands, and found him in good health and spirits. With Choynski were "Parson" Davies, his backer, and Johnny McVay and "Buffalo" Costello, his trainers. The fighter's quarters are in a two-story cottage immediately facing the Atlantic ocean and only a step from the water's edge. The cottage, however, is used only for light exercising and as sleeping quarters. The harder part of the training is done in a barn a short distance up the road, all the paraphernalia used in reducing weight and hardening the muscles being fitted to walls and ceiling of the barn. Here Choynski every morning punches the bag for ten minutes, practices with the dumb bells, tries his hand at the wrist strengthening machine and takes a 20 minute turn at throwing a heavy leather ball. Then follows the usual long walk. Choynski said that he intended to enter the ring at 165 pounds.

"I hope to whip Godfrey in quick time," he added: "Why shouldn't I."

GREAT BATTLE EXPECTED.

The Contest Between Choynski and Godfrey Causing Lots of Interest.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—If the sale of seats is any criterion, the battle between Joe Choynski and George Godfrey, which occurs before the Coney Island Athletic Club on October 31, will be the most remarkable in point of attendance which has been held since the opening fight. Johnnie Eckhardt has been besieged with applications for boxes and seats. Several hundred have already been sold, and, judging from the outlook, the house will contain very few unreserved seats on the night of the fight.

Tickets have already been sold to Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Chicago sporting men. Several special trains will be run from the East and Philadelphia so that the match can be attended conveniently. The prices of admission will be fixed at $3, $5 and $6. Private boxes holding five chairs, will retail at $25. The Maher-Goddard fight, which will be held in the same club, is, so those most interested say, the best indication in the world that the Coney Islanders are on easy street so far as finances are concerned. The club has made a good deal of money in the past and without any unlooked for interruption it has a great deal more to make in the future.

Very Tough for Kelly.

MILLVILLE, Oct. 17.—The trains yesterday brought a number of sporting men from Philadelphia, Camden and Manchester to this city, and they secured teams and drove to a secluded place over the county line, where an exciting set-to between David Elliott, of this city, the featherweight champion of South Jersey, and Thomas Kelly, of Gloucester City, the bantamweight champion of Camden county, took place. The Elliott-Kelly fight was preceded by six friendly set-tos of three rounds each between Philadelphia sports, and then Elliott, weighing 130 pounds, and Kelly, weighing 112 pounds, stepped into the ring. It was nip and tuck for six rounds. At the beginning of the seventh Elliott forced the fighting. Catching Kelly's jaw he felled him in his own corner and then, it is claimed, deliberately jumped on him and made a pass at him while lying on his back. The crowd got in front of the referee and prevented him from seeing the foul. Kelly claimed the fight on a foul, but the referee said he did not see it, and refused to award it to him. Kelly then refused to continue the fight, and the referee gave the fight to Elliott and awarded him the stakes.

Moore Won It.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—In a rattling mill on the West Side this morning Dick Moore, the St. Paul middle weight, defeated Tim Crowley of Boston after five furious rounds. A purse of $300 had been hung up for the fight, while the gate receipts reached an equal amount. The fighting was fast and heavy from the start. Moore showed up well, drawing blood in the first round, while Crowley seemed very slow. In the second, Moore had decidedly the best of the exchange. Crowley came to the fore in the third rushing Moore and banging him around with good right-hand swings. He failed to follow up his lead, however, and Moore came to the scratch perfectly fresh in the fourth. This was a hot round, both men smashing right and left. Crowley had the worst of it, and was weak when he came up in the next round. Moore saw his chance, rushed in, caught Crowley a left-hander in the neck, and followed it up with a storm of punches which laid Crowley senseless on the floor.

More New Yachts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Most of the members of the New York Yacht Club are, it is said, in favor of all altering a new deed of gift of the America's cup so as to make it possible to accept the Earl of Dunraven's challenge. Mat Herreshoff, the designer, and builder, has said that in case the challenge is accepted he can build three boats of the size required in time to meet the challenger. It is altogether likely that he would have that many orders. General Paine might have a boat built at Lawleys' in Boston, but if Archibald Rogers, Edwin D. Morgan and August Belmont decide to build—and they are almost sure to do so—Herreshoff is likely to get the order.

The Chicago Race.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—To-night at 12:01 o'clock several stout-limbed pedestrians will start in the walking match which is to continue for six days and nights at the Second Regiment Armory. About half of those entered have taken part in prominent contests before and Hart, Guerrero, Hagelman, Cartwright and Engeldrum are well-known to pedestrian fame, while Ashinger is famous because of his enduring performances on the bicycle. The complete list of the performers is: Cartwright, Hegelman, Hart, Connors, Stokes, Guerrero, Glick, Dean, Smith, Moore, Day, Morse, Engeldrum, McCall, Graham, Ashinger and Stevens.

Miscellaneous Sporting Notes.

CORBETT is offended when anybody calls him "Gentleman Jim."

THE "boxing" exhibitions in theatrical companies are becoming stale.

THE betting on Choynski and Godfrey is becoming very lively. Godfrey has lots of friends.

PHIL BULGER will not, on account of sickness, meet Jack Beck in their proposed fight until November 5.

THE directors of the California Athletic Club have been trying to get a match for Reddy Gallagher, but their efforts have not apparently been appreciated. A friend of Gallagher, writing from Creede, says that Reddy is not likely to fight there again, for he regards the place as a hoodoo to him.

MR. CORRIGAN has received a letter from Howe & Hummel, his New York attorneys, predicting an early decision in his favor in the case of his noted suit against the Coney Island Jockey Club, and also announcing that they propose to bring suit for the forfeiture of the charters of the Board of Control tracks.

JOHN H. CLAUSEN, known in various ways in connection with athletics, has issued over his own signature a statement that he withdraws his name as candidate for the position of official handicapper of the New England Amateur Athletic Union. Mr. Clausen stood but little chance of election to that responsible position.

E. D. FULFORD, the crack Eastern trap shot, has challenged "Jim" Elliott, who holds the American Field Cup, to shoot five matches for the championship of the world. Elliott will accept the challenge. The matches will probably take place at Pittsburg or Harrisburg and Kansas City, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Cleveland.

GUIDO looks well and has evidently been benefited after his long rest. After Strathmeath arrives at Hawthorne a well-adjusted handicap, at about nine furlongs, with Guido, Verge d'Or, Lorenzo, Ray S, Fannie S, Chimes, Ernest Race and Highland would prove highly entertaining and would surely attract a large attendance.

THE Olympic Club, of New Orleans, has again shown that it has an eye for business, while the California Club, the father of them all, is still hanging on the verge of bankruptcy. When Hiram Cook recently took hold of the club he said he would have it out of debt within a month. He has, however, left the bulk of the work for his associate directors.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Jersey City—The Vulcan Iron Works, the Wallis Iron Works and two dwellings. Loss, $125,000.

Hillsboro, O.—J. M. Boyd & Co.'s flouring mill, warehouse and several adjacent buildings. Total loss, $80,000. Boyd & Co.'s insurance, $30,000.

Franksford, Del.—One of the most destructive fires for years is now raging in the Cypress swamp. If the fire reaches a pine woods the town will be in danger. Already thousands of dollars worth of cypress timber has been ruined. The loss to the huckleberry crop next year will be at least $15,000 in the county.

Lima, O.—The residence of Mrs. Pangle, a well-to-do widow, was set afire early Sunday morning. The only other occupant of the house was a daughter, who awoke half suffocated and with difficulty rescued her mother. The Pangle residence and that of Mrs. Winder, adjoining, were totally destroyed. Loss, $15,000; insurance, $7,800.

A PASTOR PROTESTS.

He Claims His Church Has Been Illegally Disciplined.

A COMMITTEE'S POWER DEFIED.

Some Opinions on the Government of Baptist Congregations.

REV. J. C. TAYLOR DEMANDS A TRIAL

Rev. J. C. Taylor, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, colored, takes strong exceptions to the action of the Executive Committee of the Allegheny Baptist Association, in declaring him deposed from the ministry.

Mr. Taylor said yesterday: "The action of the Executive Committee, or of any other body not provided for in the organic law of the denomination, is a usurpation of authority which belongs to a council of churches when properly constituted. The constitution of the association provides for an executive committee, whose duty it is to change the place and time of the annual meetings of the association in case of an emergency, and to attend to business referred to it at the annual session. It has no authority to discipline a church, or dismiss a pastor, or withdraw the hand of fellowship. The constitution provides for any irregularity which may be brought to the annual meeting of the association.

"The government of the Baptist Church is congregational; the right of discipline rests in the church, and when a church becomes disorderly the churches composing the association shall proceed according to the regulations. The grievance must be brought to the body and referred to a committee to investigate and report back, the body then finding in the case. The church against which the charge is preferred shall have an opportunity for defense, and cannot be justly disciplined and excluded from the association without a trial. The Tabernacle Baptist Church, which is reputed as being disorderly, has violated no law of her constitution, nor the recognized authorities of Baptist Church polity.

"The Executive Committee has gone a step further in an illegal manner in asking for the resignations of members of the Woman's Missionary Society and Sunday School Convention. These organizations have their own officers and executive boards separate from the association. Therefore the Executive Committee of the association has nothing to do with them. The Executive Committee is so blinded with prejudice as not to see the fallacy of its course. The principal officers of these organizations are members of the Tabernacle Church.

"The churches of the association will not indorse any such proceedings. They have had no part in these unlawful actions, and the whole matter can be traced to three ministers who are attempting to run the affairs of the church. If the leader would walk after the unconverted and give them the Word of Life instead of going about trying to disrupt the Tabernacle Church, it would be better for the cause he claims to represent."

RAN INTO THREE ENGINES.

The Panhandle Limited Wrecked at Bradford Junction.

The Panhandle express due here in the morning was wrecked at Bradford Junction, 16 miles west of Columbus, yesterday. Several passengers, two engineers and two tramps were injured, but not seriously. The accident occurred at a point where the Chicago and St. Louis connections meet. Three express engines were running down the track close together toward the depot to take out trains. The engineers thought the road was clear, when the limited plowed into them. The four locomotives were badly wrecked, but, strange to say, none of the passenger coaches were smashed or left the track.
