him by a vote of one hundred and ten to forty-two. The minority vote was mostly a partisan vote. The exculpation was based on the disbelief of Sweeny's testimony and a distrust of Triplett's. This decision goes a good way toward destroying the case against Gilbert, which rests almost entirely on the testimony of these two witnesses. It is also a severe blow at the action of the committee, whose intelligence or impartiality is greatly impugned by it.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1857.

The Senate sat until a very late hour on Saturday night and finished up two more of the Appropriation bills, namely: A small Deficiency bill and the Legislative, Judicial and Executive bill, amounting to about $6,000,000.

The House closed its proceedings on the Investigation. As soon as it met in the morning, Mr. Edwards having resigned, nothing remained to be done but to expel Triplett and Simonton, which was done, the Committee and House coolly throwing them away after using them, like two sucked oranges.

More Border Ruffianism in Kansas!

ST. LOUIS. Wednesday, Feb. 25, 1857.

The Jefferson City correspondent of The St. Louis Democrat, learns from the passengers from Kansas to-night that a serious difficulty had arisen between Gov. Geary and Judge Sherrod, growing out of the refusal of the former to appoint the latter Sheriff, as desired by the Legislature. Sherrod had avowed his intention to kill the Governor, and, meeting him shortly afterward in the street, spat in his face

Geary did not resent this, but his friends got up an indignation meeting on Thursday, the 19th, which Sheriff Jones, Judge Sherrod and others attempted to brake up, when a conflict ensued, in which Sherrod shot Mr. Shepperd, one of Gov. Geary's friends, four times, killing him, and wounding two others. Mr. Jones, the Governor's Secretary, then shot Sherrod, the ball passing through his head and killing him instantly. Very great excitement existed at Lecompton, and a general fight was anticipated that night. Gov. Geary's residence was guarded by United States troops.

ST. LOUIS, THURSDAY, Feb. 26, 1857.

Mr. Sherrod or Sherrard is the man who was appointed by the Court to fill the vacancy occasioned by Sheriff Jones's resignation, and to whom Gov. Geary refused to grant a commission, on the ground of his habitual drunkenness. The Westport correspondent of The Republican says that Sherrod did not spit in the Governor's face, but called him a liar, coward and scoundrel. The remainder of the report is not yet corroborated, nor is it contradicted. We look for letters from Lecompton to-night.

ST. LOUIS, Saturday, 28, 1857.

Accounts from Lecompton state that Gov. Geary, having visited the Territorial Legislature, was assaulted at the door by Sheriff Sherrod. While leaving, Sherrod insulted Geary and spit on him. He had arms, and it was supposed it was a plot to assassinate the Governor; but he was prevented from using his arms.

The Council condemn the outrage by resolution, while the House fully sustains Sherrod.

A law has passed both branches to punish rebellion with death. All resistance to Territorial law or authority is declared rebellion.

Gov. Geary fears assasination, and sent yesterday for the troops at Tecumseh to remain here for his protection. A detachment of dragoons have gone to arrest Capt. Walker.

ST. LOUIS, Saturday, Feb. 28, 1857.

The latest advices from Kansas state that Sherrod was not killed, and that the Mr. Jones who was arrested was not the Governor's Secretary. He had been held to bail in $5,000.

RAILROAD PICKPOCKETS.—On Monday evening as C. L. WARD, Esq., of Towanda, was on his way up from Philadelphia in "lightning line," on a visit to Wheatland, he had his pocket book with its contents, stolen by some of the "light fingered gentry." There have been a great many depredations of this kind committed on the railroad, of late, and there is no doubt that a gang of pickpockets, artfully disguised, travel with the cars, mix in the crowd at the depots, pick pockets, and then disappear with the train on which they came.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

MARRIED,

On Wednesday, February 17th, at the residence of Edw'd Tripp, in Warren, by the Rev. Henry W. Barnes, Mr. WARREN R. FRISBIE, of Orwell, to Miss CAROLINE H. COBURN, of Warren.

On Thursday, February 12th, at the residence of Linus Robinson, in Orwell, by the same, Mr. ITHEL J. HARRIS to MISS LOUISA NORTON, all of Orwell.

DIED,

In Howard, Wisconsin, on Tuesday, Jan. 27th, of small pox, FREEMAN W. GREGG, aged about 26 years.

Mr. Gregg, who has been so suddenly cut off, in a land of strangers, was a young man of excellent character. He had been engaged for the last year in the Howard Steam Mill, as millwright and engineer, and had by his fine disposition and exemplary habits won the friendship and confidence of all about him. He was from Pennsylvania, and the sad news of his death will fall heavily on the parental home, where he has a father and mother, sisters and brothers. He was unmarried.

It will be a consolation for his relatives to know that he received every attention during his illness; and in this connexion it will not be out of place to state that our young friend S. M. DURAND remained with him during his entire illness, and used every exertion in giving him proper care. When we consider the contagious nature of the disease, it exhibits an instance of true courage and fidelity which ought no to go unnoticed.—Green Bay Adv.

A Great Bargain for Some One.

THE subscriber having purchased, repaired, and fitted up in order for business, the Grist Mill formerly owned By P. M. Peck, now offers it for sale, as he desires to remove West.

Said mill is made to run with steam or water, is located in the centre of a thickly populated farming country, and is believed to be one of the best locations in the country. It has in it three run of stone, two bolts, hulling stone, smutter, and all the necessary fixtures for a custom mill. Connected with it are twenty-five acres of land, some ten acres of which is timbered, suitable for wood. The rest is for pastering. There is also on the premises a mill house, a wagon shop, and two buildings formerly occupied by merchants.

The terms will be made easy for the purchaser—say one-fourth down, and for the balance time will be given.

WYLLYS BROWNSON.
