and France, in reference to questions which have become subjects of discussion between the two governments, will, at a proper time, be laid before Congress.

NATURE AND DESTINY OF OUR GOVERNMENT.

When, on the organization of our government, under the constitution, the President of the United States delivered his inaugural address to the two Houses of Congress, he said to them, and through them to the country and to mankind, that "the preservation of the sacred fire of liberty and the destiny of the republican form of government are justly considered as deeply, perhaps as finally, staked on the experiment intrusted to the American people." And the House of Representatives answered WASHINGTON, by the voice of MADISON: "We adore the invisible hand which has led the American people, through so many difficulties, to cherish a conscious responsibility for the destiny of republican liberty." More than seventy-six years have glided away since these words were spoken; the United States have passed through severer trials than were foreseen; and now, at this new epoch in our existence as one nation, with our Union purified by sorrows, and strengthened by conflict, and established by the virtue of the people, the greatness of the occasion invites us once more to repeat, with solemnity, the pledges of our fathers to hold ourselves answerable before our fellow men for the success of the republican form of government. Experience has proved its sufficiency in peace and war; it has vindicated its authority through dangers, and afflictions, and sudden and terrible emergencies, which would have crushed any system that had been less firmly fixed in the hearts of the people. At the inauguration of WASHINGTON the foreign relations of the country were few, and its trade was repressed by hostile regulations; now all the civilized nations of the globe welcome our commerce, and their governments profess towards us amity. Then our country felt its way hesitatingly along an untried path, with States so little bound together by rapid means of communication as to be hardly known to one another, and with historic traditions extending over very few years; now intercourse between the States is swift and intimate; the experience of centuries has been crowded into a few generations, and has created an intense, indestructible nationality. Then our jurisdiction did not reach beyond the inconvenient boundaries of the territory which had achieved independence; now, through cessions of lands, first colonized by Spain and France, the country has acquired a more complex character, and has for its natural limits the chain of lakes, the Gulf of Mexico, and on the east and west the two great oceans. Other nations were shaken by civil wars for ages before they could establish for themselves the necessary degree of unity. The fixed conviction that our form of government is the best ever known to the world, has enabled us to emerge from civil war within four years, with a complete vindication of the constitutional authority of the General Government, and with all civil liberties and State institutions unimpaired. The throngs of emigrants that crowd to our shores are witnesses of the confidence of all peoples in our permanence. Here every one enjoys the free use of his faculties and the choice of activity is a natural right. Here, under the combined influence of a fruitful soil, genial climes and happy institutions, population has increased fifteen-fold within a century. Here, through the easy development of boundless resources, wealth has increased with two-fold greater rapidity than numbers, so that we have become secure against the financial vicissitudes of other countries, and, alike business and opinion, are self-centred and truly independent. Here more and more care is given to provide education for every one born on our soil. Free religion, released from political connection with the civil government, refuses to subserve the craft of statesmen, and becomes, in its independence, the spiritual life of the people. Here toleration is extended to every opinion, in the quiet certainty that truth needs only a fair field to secure its victory. Here the human mind goes forth unfettered in the pursuit of science, to collect stores of knowledge and acquire an ever-increasing mastery over the forces of nature. Here the national unity is offered and held in millions of separate households, so that our fellow-citizens, beyond the mountains of any other part of the earth, constitute in reality a people. Here exists the democratic form of government; and that form of government, by the confession of European statesmen, gives a power of which no other form is capable, because it incorporates every man with the State, and secures everything that belongs to the soul." Where, in past history, does a parallel exist to the public happiness which is within the reach of the people of the United States? Where, in any part of the globe, can institutions be found so suited to their habits or so entitled to their love as our own free constitution? Every one of them, too, in whatever part of the land he has his home must wish its perpetuity. Who of them will not acknowledge, in the words of WASHINGTON, that every step by which the people of the United States have advanced to the character of an independent nation, seems to have been distinguishably some token of Providential agency?" Who will not join with me in the prayer, that the invisible hand which has led us through the clouds that rolled around our path, will so guide us onward in perfect restoration of fraternal affection, that this day may be able to transmit our great inheritance of State Governments in all their rights of the General Government in its whole constitutional vigor, to our posterity, and they to theirs through countless generations?

ANDREW JOHNSON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4, 1865.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

☞ The Reporter is printed upon CAMPBELL'S Country and Job Press. Office No. 56 Gold New York. Thomas H. Senior, agent.

☞ A new Telegraph Line is to be built to Towanda to Pittston next Spring. Some half-dozen or more operators will be wanted. A good chance to those who wish to learn. For terms enquire at the Telegraph office, Towanda.

☞ TUTTLE & MATHER, Proprietors of the Village Hotel, Ulster, Pa., respectfully announce to the dancing public, that they will give a Christmas Party at their house, on Monday eve., Dec. 25, 1865, when a good time is confidently expected. Music, Keeler's Cotillion Band. Bill, $2,50.

A SURGICAL OPERATION.—Dr. UP DE GRAFF performed an operation yesterday, which tested his surgical skill and ability most thoroughly, and which he met with a most triumphant success. We have often witnessed with admiration and wonder the extraordinary skill of Dr. Up De Graff, performed upon the ear and eye, but we were not aware yesterday when the Dr. at his INSTITUTE performed an operation far ahead of anything we have heretofore seen.

The subject was Mr. Thomas Shean, of Centreville, Pa., near Wellsburg, and was for the removal of what the Dr. calls an Adipose Tumor, which lay on the back of the neck, and was as large as a Hen's Nest, and was most inconvenient for Mr. Shean to carry around with him, besides endangering his life. The Tumor was of eight years of growth, and was any thing but ornamental in its appearance. Chloroform was administered to the patient, and in nine minutes by the watch Dr. Up De Graff removed the Tumor, and to the most unprofessional eye could determine, the most perfect and wonderful manner. We do not make no comparisons, but so far as we can opinion it is that Dr. U. knows how to use the knife surgically, better than any other man in the "Southern Tier;" and you may take the word for it, he stands well over, and "few can equal, and none excel."—Elmira Advertiser.

☞ We learn with deep regret of the expected removal of Rev. B. J. Douglas from our town. He has labored fifteen years among us and with great success. He is universally beloved, and his loss will be felt in this community. Other churches, we suppose, call him to more or less arduous labors. He will carry away with him the prayers of not only those of his own denomination, but of all the others.

We have been requested to say, since writing the article concerning the new Episcopal church, for next week's issue, that we omitted one very important item, the horse sheds. The deficiency which has long been in this respect will be remedied, and our horses will have a safe and dry place for their feed.

☞ The Annual Election for Directors of the First National Bank of Towanda will be held at the Bank, on Tuesday, the 9th day of Jan. between the hours of 1 and 2 p. m.

Oh, Israel weep? and all ye saints
Weep, weep, and mourn for her whom death
Hath this day claimed. 'Tis meet to grieve for such.
Her seat within God's house is vacant,
And her voice forever hushed on earth.
Yea weep; but while thy tears do flow
Look up and bless her God, and thine
That he hath given to earth, e'en for a little space
A life so pure so blest as hers; that now
All free from toil, and pain, and care,
She sits with saints, at God's right hand
And doth behold his glory. C.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS EXPERIENCE IN DENTISTRY.—J. S. SMITH, M. D., would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Bradford County that he is permanently located in Waverly, N.Y., where he has been in the practice of his profession for the past four years. He would say that from his long and successful practice of 25 years duration, he is familiar with all the different styles of work done in any and all Dental establishments in city or country, and is better prepared than any other Dental operator in the vicinity to do work the best adapted to the many and different cases that present themselves oftentimes to the Dentist, as he understands the art of making his own artificial teeth, and has facilities for doing the same. To those requiring under sets of teeth he would call attention to his new kind of work which consists of porcelain for both plate and teeth, and forming a continuous gum. It is more durable, more natural in appearance, and much better adapted to the gum than any other kind of work. Those in need of the same are invited to call and examine specimens. Teeth filled to last for years and oftentimes for life. Chloroform, ether, and "Nitrous oxide" administered with perfect safety, as over four hundred patients within the last four years can testify.

SMITH'S PNEUMATIC CHURN
Patented May 2, 1865.

THE TIME COMES WHEN PERFECTION IS ATTAINED IN ALL THINGS.

In Smith's Pneumatic Churn perfection is reached. It combines all that is useful in making Butter. The principle of introducing air into cream has long been the study of inventors of Churns, but it has never been accomplished to any extent until the invention of Smith's Pneumatic Churn. In this Churn all the air made by a double acting Bellows is forced into the cream, and at the very bottom, setting the cream in a great commotion. At the same time the air brings the cream to the same temperature of heat and cold as in the place where the Churn is worked, the butter being made by currents and counter currents of air, causing a friction by the currents against each other, removing the covering without bruising the globules, consequently the grain of the butter is perfect. It makes Butter in half the time of an ordinary Churn, a far better, and a larger per cent. of butter than any other Churn in use. A trial is all that is simple in its construction, not in any way likely to get out of order, and the same jars used for cream are used to make the butter in, saving all trouble and time spent in keeping a wooden Churn clean.

I ask no certificates, but can get them wherever the Churn is worked. All are governed by their interests, and for that reason this Churn will take the place of all others wherever introduced.
