Towanda, Thursday, Oct. 24, 1867.

THE LESSON OF THE ELECTION.

The result of the late elections has furnished a fruitful subject to the newspaper writers. We venture to say that reams of foolscap have been spoiled by the editors in giving vent to their exultations, or in explaining the "causes of our defeat." The Copperheads are excusable; and for us, we have no desire to clip the wings of their rejoicing, nor to deny them the satisfaction they apparently derive from indulging in their crowing. It has been so many years that they have been overwhelmingly whipped at the polls, that we supposed they had become reconciled to their fate, and rather enjoyed it. Now that they have accomplished something like a victory, we cannot blame them that they are beside themselves with joy. Who would deny them their brief hour of exultation—however obtained—when the next wave of popular expression will sweep them again out of sight?

But our Republican friends, some of them, seem to have a doleful task in explaining away the causes of our defeat in this State and the reduced majorities for the Republican candidates in other States. We must confess that we cannot see anything discouraging in the recent votes—nor anything that calls for explanation, nor for bickering and accusations amongst Republicans. Not that like Tapley we are disposed to be "jolly" under any circumstances. The "causes of our defeat," we consider as being easily accounted for, and extrinsic. Repeated and overwhelming victories had inspired an undue confidence. The masses of the Republican party supposed that the party was invincible, and many staid away from the polls because they thought their votes were not wanted. Fatal delusion! The adversary has taken advantage of our confidence and apathy, and the consequence is that we are overwhelmed with our narrow escape from defeat.

For one, we have not the least apprehension that the Copperheads are to assume the control of the Government until the questions growing out of the Rebellion, are settled—and settled upon the basis of Eternal Justice. To doubt this latter result is to question the immutable wisdom of that Providence which has so far guided us through the dangers that have environed us. And the issue really before the people for their determination is, whether loyal men shall settle the great questions now engaging attention—or whether Rebels, and their Copperhead allies, shall stay the wheels of progress, "set back the hands on the dial of time" and all that—enslave the freed—disfranchise the enfranchised—and bring back the nation to the condition in which it was at the breaking out of the Rebellion—with all the evils and barbarism and wickedness of human bondage.

The progressive tendencies of the age forbid the idea that we are to suffer a relapse into the old condition of things. He is blind indeed who does not see in the occurrences of the past six years the indubitable evidences that an overruling and beneficent Providence is guiding the destinies of the Nation. It may be that our crimes have not been sufficiently punished, and that grievous chastisements may be in store for us—but in the end we are to come out of the crucible refined and purified. He who looks for a "revolution in public sentiment" which shall sweep the Republican party out of existence and bring the Rebels and Copperheads into power, denies the wisdom of Providence, doubts the civilization of the age, and insults the intelligence of the People.

IMPEACHMENT.

Judge Lawrence, of Ohio, one of the members of the Judiciary Committee, now here, says the Washington Chronicle has received information that the Hon. James Wilson, of Iowa, the chairman, who opposed impeachment at the last session, is now in favor of it. At the last session the committee stood four for impeachment, viz: Messrs. Boutwell, Lawrence, Williams, and Thomas; three for censure, viz: Messrs. Wilson, Churchill, and Woodbridge, all of whom are Republicans; and two for outright acquittal, viz: Messrs. Marshall and Eldridge, both of whom are Democrats. No vote has been taken by the committee since the adjournment in July on the question, and consequently no official statement can be made at present regarding their opinions; but if Judge Lawrence's information is correct, which is more than probable, a vote taken to-day would result in the presentation to the House of articles of impeachment.

—Advices from New-Mexico are to the effect that a fight had taken place between the Comanche and Navajoe Indians at Bosque Redonda Reservation. The reservation although occupied by the Navajoes is claimed by the Comanches, and, to get possession, the latter attacked and killed several of the former.

—Dispatches from Chili announce that the Government has manifested a disposition to enter into negotiations for the restoration of peace with Spain.

News of the Week

—The Binghamton Republican narrates the following accident: On Wednesday afternoon two young men aged about [illegible] years, were [illegible] old gun in a [illegible] Grant [illegible] Street, when one of them [illegible] young man named Collins [illegible] by a window, and not supposing the gun was loaded. The charge entered the left side of Collins, over the lung, in a slanting direction, which fact probably saved his life.

—On Wednesday morning, 9th inst., a carpenter named Edward Otto, from Easton, employed on the new block between the Wyoming Bank and Farer & Smiths Store, Wilkes Barre, accidentally fell from the top of the wall (three stories high) to the ground, alighting on a pile of bricks, and was so injured his death was reported, but Dr. Urquhart says he is recovering and may get well.

—On Wednesday night some burglars broke into the State Prison at Wethersfield, Conn., and stole several hundred dollars worth of silver ware from the burnishing room. They broke through a gate in the rear of the prison, loaded the goods on a wheelbarrow which they took from one of the work-shops, and escaped with their booty. The property belonged to contractors of prison labor.

—Gen. McClellan has taken passages for himself and family, and proposes to sail from Liverpool for this country in the steamship Persia on the 16th of November. He may be expected, therefore, to arrive here about the 27th of that month.

—Nicholas Jenks, eighty-seven years old, died at Danby, Vt., on Wednesday. He has four sons, the youngest of whom is fifty, and this is the first death that has occurred in the family since his marriage, in 1808.

—A letter from Canada, referring to the approaching session of Parliament, says that among the earliest measures to be introduced will be one to re-establish, if possible, the Reciprocity treaty with the United States.

—It being necessary to verify a will in the Probate Court at Cincinnati one day last week, an old lady came into the city for the first time in forty-eight years, though she has always lived within ten miles of the place.

—The school fund of Tennessee, which fell into the possession of the Insurance Mutual Bank of Memphis, amounting to $400,000, will, it is feared, be lost to the State.

—First Assistant Postmaster General Skinner is dangerously ill in Washington. He has been in the Post-office Department for over fifty consecutive years.

—Louisiana has declared her voice for a convention. Thus the practical work of reconstruction goes surely on in the face of Executive opposition, and discouragement from the apathy and carelessness of friends.

—The Executive Committee of the National Union Club of the city of Philadelphia, have passed decided resolutions in favor of the nomination of General Ulysses S. Grant, as the Republican candidate for President of the United States.

—Hon. T. C. Hulburd has sent to the State Committee of New York, his declination of the nomination of State Comptroller. Mr. Hulburd has just returned from Europe, and only learned of his nomination upon his arrival. His action is in accordance with the wishes of his political friends.

—A prairie fire, on the 7th instant, swept into the Government stock-yard at Fort Ransom, Dakotah, and destroyed all the Government hay. The same fire ran into a half-breed camp and burned ten half-breeds to death, and ten more were so badly burned that their lives are despaired of.

—Scene on the Street.—Jubilant Democrat—"Do you hear those Guns? I tell you we can afford to burn powder over such victories as these!" Touchy Republican—"That's so! You didn't burn much during the war, and haven't burned much since."

—Judge E. F. Buckner, aged sixty-five, residing in Brandenburg, Kentucky, some time since became enamored of a young lady of nineteen. She declined his suit, and last week Mr. Buckner shot his head to pieces with a double barrel gun.

—Associate Justice Swayne, of the United States Supreme Court, at Louisville, on the 10th, in a lengthy and able opinion, gave a decision in favor of the constitutionality of the Civil Rights bill.

—Down South the rebels call the flag under which they rally "the banner of the Lost Cause." Up North it is styled "the Democratic standard." In both sections it represents opposition to liberty, progress, and every good and noble sentiment in politics.

—Mary Harris, who killed Burroghs, the department clerk, in the Treasury Department at Washington, on the 30th of January, 1865, is under treatment for insanity at the Government Insane Asylum at Washington. She is said to still exhibit unquestionable evidences of insanity.
