The Somerset Herald.

EDWARD SCULL, Editor and Proprietor.

WEDNESDAY.....May 28, 1890.

PENNSYLVANIA has now nearly one thousand more post offices than any other State in the Union.

No man ever loses anything by exhibiting a courteous and kindly disposition toward those with whom he comes in contact.

RICHARD VAUX, nominated for Randall's seat in Congress, will never be popular with the Democratic masses. It is said that he takes a cold bath—in water—every morning.

THE vote on the McKinley tariff bill in the House was 162 for, to 142 against. Two Republicans voted against the bill and one Democrat for it.

THE Democratic Washington correspondents who predicted that the McKinley bill would never pass the House because of the "Republican revolt"—which utterly failed to materialize when the time came—are now kept quite busy in explaining to their readers how it was that they came to make such unqualified donkeys of themselves.

WHEN a newspaper slanders its fellow citizens and is compelled by public indignation to admit that it lied, as is the case with Mr. Koontz's "personal organ" in the matter of the Pension Board, it cannot be believed, even if by accident it tells the truth. When, therefore, it asserts that Koontz has no interest in that paper and never wrote or dictated a line for it, the general public well knows how much stock to take in its assertion.

MR. KOONTZ'S personal organ bit off more than it can chew when, for the purpose of villifying Mr. Scull, it slandered the Pension Board of this county. The storm which it created among the friends of the eminent physicians composing that Board, terrified the little fellows who do the gallant General's bidding, and they at once took to cover. They first tried to extenuate their malignant folly by asserting that they published the "Twenty Soldiers" article for the purpose of calling forth a contradiction of it. But finding that the public could not be gulled by so thin an attempt to avoid responsibility, the "personal organ" in its last issue abjectly cats its own assertion, by publishing a communication which gives the lie direct to the slanders it had previously published against Mr. Scull and the Pension Board. Truly, the way of the transgressor is not only hard, but very humiliating.

THE following extracts from a speech delivered by Representative Bliss, of Michigan, during the debate on the McKinley tariff bill, fully explodes the fallacy of the Democratic cry that the bill discriminates against the farmers:

"Mr. Chairman, the committee, in the preparation of this bill, have shown special consideration for the farmers, and while the farmers of Texas may not feel the benefit of these increased rates on agricultural products, they will suffer no harm and their brethren of Michigan will be greatly benefitted. Michigan lies very convenient to Canada, and it is very easy to run in cheap vegetables and cereals across the Detroit River or Lake Huron. Our farmers feel the evil effects of this competition, especially in barley, oats, hay, and potatoes. The farmers of Michigan should supply the lumber camps with their provisions, and by the grace of this bill they will. In this connection I wish to attach a table I have prepared showing the present rate of duty and the proposed rate under the McKinley tariff bill on some few of the farm staples:

	Present Rate.	Proposed Rate.
Hay	$2 a ton	$4 a ton
Barley	10 cts. a bushel	30 cts. a bushel
Potatoes	15 cts. a bushel	25 cts. a bushel
Eggs	Free	5 cts. a dozen
Wheat	20 cts. a bushel	25 cts. a bushel
Oats	10 cts. a bushel	15 cts. a bushel
Corn	10 cts. a bushel	15 cts. a bushel
Horses and Mules	20 per cent	$30 per head equal to 20.67 per cent.
Hogs	20 per cent	$1.50 per head, equal to 45.68 per cent.
Sheep	20 per cent	$1.50 per head, equal to 50.30 per cent.

Look Upon This Picture-And Then Upon This.

From General Wm. H. Koontz's personal organ.—May 9th.

"The old soldiers of Somerset County have long been trying to get a representative on the Board of Examining Surgeons. There are plenty of doctors in the county who saw service on the field and whose skill is unquestionable, but by some means the old soldier is not receiving any recognition by the powers that be. Petitions have been sent in to the pension office time after time, asking that the appointment of some soldier as examiner, but in no instance have their prayers been heard.

Commissioner Tanner promised that none but soldiers would be appointed to any such boards, excepting in cases where it could not be done for want of proper persons, but in departure from the office left matters where they were when he found them. We also noticed that those appointments would be made upon the recommendation of the Representative from the district, so we know where to place the blame.

It is not right, and we regard it as an act of great injustice on the part of Representative Scull to deny us a board composed of men who saw service on the field. We are not even allowed one man on the board, and as a result nearly all who are examined by the Somerset board have to go elsewhere to get justice done. A very large proportion of the men who are rejected go elsewhere and are granted pensions. Why this fling at the soldiers? Why not give him a respectable recognition in the adjustment of a pension for his shattered health and honorable wounds? We want at best two soldiers on the board, and should have three.

We are coming around next fall, if not sooner."

TWENTY SOLDIERS.

From General Wm. H. Koontz's personal organ.—May 16th.

"There has been some talk lately to the effect that the present Pension Examining Board for this county is composed of physicians who were not soldiers. A communication signed 'Twenty Soldiers' was printed in this paper last week, in which such a charge was made. We deemed it prudent to print this communication, in order that the charge might be properly refuted, and the matter thus permanently settled. A reply will be found in this issue by a soldier who was a member of the same company in which Dr. W. H. Gardner—a member of the Pension Board—served. This is all sufficient proof that the charge is erroneous, and should terminate all quibbling.

We have endeavored to learn of any dissatisfaction that may exist, and find that there is but little, if any. The other members of the board—Dr. H. S. Kimmel, of this place, and Dr. Cavode, of Jenner X Roads—as well as Dr. Gardner, are men who stand high in their profession in this county, and whose fitness for the position they occupy will not be questioned. We have heard no complaint of unfairness or discrimination, and believe in view of the high character of the board there can be none.

Representatives of the HERALD have endeavored to learn from old soldiers throughout the county whether there has been any dissatisfaction with the findings of the home Board of Pension Examiners, and as a result of their inquiries feel justified in offering one hundred dollars in gold to R. P. Cummins Post, G. A. R., or to any other G. A. R. Post in the county, for the publication in the "personal organ" of the names of the twenty soldiers who signed the above communication. The editors of the HERALD are not only anxious to know who these slanderers are, but soldiers all over the county want to know them. Out of three appointments recommended by Mr. Scull, two of them were soldiers and both were members of R. P. Cummins Post, G. A. R.

The McKinley Tariff Bill Passes the House as First Reported.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The vote in the House on the third reading and engrossment of the tariff bill resulted: Yeas 161, nays 143.

The scene in the House this morning when the McKinley tariff bill approached a final vote was the most exciting that has yet taken place with the exception of the uproar that occurred on Saturday night between Wilson, Bynum and Bayne. The galleries were crowded and the House on both sides showed that both parties had exerted their energies to bring out their respective votes. As the time approached for the calling of the previous question, both Democrats and Republicans crowded into pit in front of the Speaker's chair and many turbulent scenes were enacted. Mr. Farquhar, of New York, on the Republican side, astonished his party with a one-minute speech, in which he said: "I protest against the kind of protection that this bill carries." Mr. Farquhar was speaking for the benefit of a delegation of Buffalo farms, which was in the gallery, and which has been demanding a lower rate of duty on barley. This unexpected drive at the bill brought half the members of the House on their feet and another scene of confusion ensued. Major Biggs, of California, the great anti-civil service reformer, got the recognition of the chair and standing in the pit made a speech which was not heard owing to the turbulence and uproar that prevailed. Major McKinley at noon demanded the previous question. Mr. Grosvenor left the chair, as the presiding officer of the committee of the whole, and Speaker Reed took the gavel. He rapped the House vigorously to order, when Mr. Grosvenor reported the bill to the House from the committe of the whole with amendments. A vive voce vote was then taken the chair deciding in favor of the bill. Mr. Coleman, of Louisiana, was the sole Republican who had the courage to face his party and vote against the bill. Mr. Whitthorne (Dem.) cast his first vote of the session, he having been sick at home. On the vote on the previous question the result was 161 ayes to 143 nays.

The Impertinence of Census Questions.

From the Pittsburgh Times.

Census takers will not be to blame if they fail to obtain answers to a number of questions they will be required to ask. Among the questions are the following:

"22.—Whether [he or she is] suffering from acute or chronic disease, with the name of disease and length of time afflicted."

"23.—Whether defective in mind, sight, hearing or speech; or whether crippled, maimed or deformed, and name of defect."

"24.—Whether prisoner, convict, homeless child, or pauper."

"25 and 26.—Is the home you live in hired, or is it owned by the head or by a member of the family?"

"27.—If owned by head or member of family, is the house free from mortgage encumbrance?"

"28.—If the head of the family is a farmer, is the farm which he cultivates hired, or is it owned by him or by a member of his family?"

"29.—If owned by head or member of family, is the farm free from mortgage encumbrance?"

"30.—If the home or farm is not owned by head or member of family and mortgaged, give the postoffice address of owner."

To this impertinence "none of your business" would be as good an answer as could be made. The questions amount to an unwarranted and illegal intrusion. They are outside of the constitutional scope of the census law. Says the New York Sun:

"Not one of them is justified by the necessity or propriety. The census takers have no more business to investigate the chronic maladies, the bodily defects, and the private account books of the people living under this free government than they have to investigate our loves and hatreds, our moral weaknesses, our secret sorrows."

"None of your business," we repeat would be as entirely within the line of right and propriety as any one of the above questions. If any one is entitled to know what the questions seek to draw out, there is no family or personal secret that a citizen may not be required to give up. Treat the census taker courteously, but let him depart no wiser than he came so far as these questions are concerned. People should give full and free answers to all the other questions, but to the above full answers cannot be expected.

Reversing the Highest Court.

NEVADA, IA., May 22—Judge Hindman, of the District Court, in his charge to the grand jury at the opening of the court yesterday, took the ground that, notwithstanding the late decision of the United States Supreme Court, no person has a right in this State to keep a place for the sale of intoxicating liquors of any kind, either in original packages or otherwise, and that it was the sworn duty of the jurors to report to the court by indictment any such person as a nuisance under the law.

The entering wedge of a complaint that may prove fatal is often a slight cold, which a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral might have cured at the commencement. It would be well, therefore, to keep the remedy within reach at all times.

SHELLENBERGER'S SENTENCE.

Twenty-two Years in Prison at Hard Labor.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., May 22.—J. Monroe Shellenberger, the lawyer whose forgeries and other criminal escapades recently caused such widespread sensation, was to-day sentenced by Judge Yerkes to undergo an imprisonment of 22 years at hard labor in the Eastern Penitentiary. When judgment was pronounced the prisoner broke down completely, and had to be half carried from the court room.

There were seventeen bills of indictment against the prisoner, covering the crimes of forgery and embezzlement. The ordeal of entering the court room proved too much for the once popular and talented lawyer, who as district attorney of Bucks county had made his brilliant reputation at the bar of this very court. When he entered the dock he shrank from the gaze of his former friends and kept his head bowed. Congressman Robert Yardly, who came from Washington to assist in his defense, sat at one of the tables. As the bills of indictment were read, loud groans and sobs came from Shellenberger. His counsel entered the plea of guilty in each case.

Shellenberger at times acted like a madman. He opened his handkerchief and threw it over his head, rubbing his face and head with it, and nervously shook the railing of the dock with his hands and feet. Eventually, he leaned his head forward on the rail and buried it in his arms, rocking himself on the seat like a person suffering from acute pain. At one time Shellenberger groaned so loud and sobbed with such anguish that the judge told the district attorney to hasten his work and get it over. Witnesses were called to show the character and extent of Shellenberger's rascalities. The prisoner rocked himself violently in the dock, tossed his head, moved his head about like a wild man and cried aloud.

Judge Yerkes, an old-time personal acquaintance, pronounced the sentence of the court. It was anticipated that he would give Shellenberger a heavy sentence, but nothing like what he gave him was looked for.

That Tired Feeling

You cannot always tell what may be its cause. Possibly it may be due to change of season, climate, or life; possibly to overwork or overstudy, to mental suffering, or nervous ailments. But there is no mistaking its effects. You know you feel "almost tired to death," without strength to do anything; ambition seems to be all gone, and in its place indifference to how the world wags—an indescribable languor and weakness. You have no appetite, do not care about food, and only eat because it is the hour for eating, or from force of habit.

This must be stopped. Your condition must be changed at once, or like a ship drifting with the inward tide, you will soon be dashed upon the rocks of incurable disease and death. Rouse the torpid kidneys and liver, tone the digestive organs, create a new appetite, purify and vitalize the impure and sluggish blood, cure the headache, and overcome all the prostrating effects of That Tired Feeling, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is just what you need, and to delay taking it is unwise.

"Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla that extreme tired feeling has gone, my appetite returned, and it has toned me up generally." CLARA W. PHELPS, Shirley, Mass.

"My wife suffered from sick headache and neuralgia. After taking Hood's Sarsaparilla she was much relieved." W. R. BABB, Wilmington, O.

Every ingredient employed in producing Hood's Sarsaparilla is strictly pure, and is the best of its kind it is possible to buy. All the roots and herbs are carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. All are ground in our own drug-mill, so that from the time of purchase until the medicine is prepared, everything is carefully watched with a view to attaining the best result.

"Every spring I take from three to five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, because I know it purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses the system of all impurities. That tired feeling will never visit the system that has been properly cared for by Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor Agricultural Epitomist, Indianapolis, Ind.

"It is a pleasure to sell such goods as Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved to be." C. BROWN, Milton, Penn.

"My daughter had an abscess on her neck for five or six years, being all the time under care of physicians, without any perceptible relief. Hood's Sarsaparilla was then recommended to me for her, and it has entirely cured her." S. THOMPSON, Hazelwood, Pittsburgh, Penn.

"I highly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as the best remedy for sick headache. I have been selling this medicine 6 years and not one bottle proved unsatisfactory." P. J. FRICK, Frick's, Bucks Co., Penn.

Weak Women.

The more sensitive nature of the female sex renders women much more susceptible than men to those numerous ills which spring from lack of harmony in the system. Nervousness, sick headache and other ailments peculiar to women cause great suffering. Hood's Sarsaparilla is admirably adapted for such cases. It gives great nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength, cures headache, indigestion, and creates an appetite.

"For nine years I was in a state of constant suffering, scarcely able at any time to walk about the house, and part of the time unable to be out of bed. By advice of local physicians I went to Philadelphia for treatment, which gave me relief for a time, but I was soon worse again and gave up hope of ever getting well. The physicians said I had a fibroid tumor. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and its good effect was soon apparent. I began to improve in health, and continued taking the medicine till now I feel perfectly well, and can walk six or seven miles a day without feeling tired. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine for women and anyone who has had blood." JENNIE E. SMITH, East Broad Top, Penn.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon I felt as if I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.
