SEEDING FOR PASTURE.

About one-quarter of the seed sown is lost. Deduct this from the thirty-eight millions and we have left only twenty-eight and one-half millions, or about four seeds per inch, instead of seven to ten as provided by nature. Who is so foolhardy as to think of sowing one peck each of timothy, red clover, and red-top per acre? Why, this would be thirty-one pounds to the acre, while our forefathers used but fifteen pounds. Of all our grasses, timothy is the most valuable for all uses, while for pasture alone, it is as good as many others. What we want is more seed and more kinds of seed. Timothy, red-top, red clover, white clover, orchard grass, Kentucky blue grass, rye grass, meadow foxtail, wood meadow grass, are all very valuable as a mixture for pasture lands. If a good pasture is desired, about forty pounds of seed should be sown to the acre. No farmer should ever sow less than twenty-five to thirty pounds per acre, which will make a good sod, good meadow, and good pasture. Use large red clover; do not throw away your money on medium and small. Medium is a humbug, being a mixture of large and small. Examine the seed well before purchasing. The small white clover is very valuable for pasture. There is now in the market a new, large kind of white clover, called Alsike. This is a Danish clover, and no doubt will prove valuable. It grows about two and one-half feet high, and has a deep, strong root. Its blossoms are like the small—it yields largely of seeds, and makes equally as good hay as any clover, but it is held at sixty dollars per bushel, or one and one-half dollars per pound.

After seeding land well and a good growth obtained, sow about two bushels of plaster to the acre; not less than two bushels should be sown if a good crop is desired.

Now, that we are so soon to have a good market for butter, it is to be hoped that the farmers of Bradford will pay more attention to the seeding of pastures and raising the best cattle for dairying purposes. In my next I will give descriptions of the best breeds of cattle for milk.

AGRICOLA.

APPLE WORMS.—We cull the following facts concerning these intolerable pests, from the American Etomologist. It has long been known that, by placing an old cloth, or anything of that nature, in the crotch of an apple tree, the apple worms may be decoyed into building their cocoons underneath it, and thus be destroyed wholesale. Dr. Trimble's method—which amounts to the same thing, and has been found to be practically very beneficial—is to fasten two or three turns of a hay band round the trunk of the apple tree, and every few days from the middle of July to the middle of September, to slip the hay band up and destroy the cocoons that have from time to time formed on the bark underneath it.

All authors are agreed as to the practicle importance of picking up and destroying the wormy apples as fast as they fall, either by hog power, or, when that is inconvenient or impracticable, by man power. The practical utility of allowing a gang of hogs the range of the apple orchard throughout the summer. When we consider that every female moth that hatches out in July or August, from the first brood of apple worms, will probably deposit an egg in some two or three nearly matured apples, thereby rendering them more or less unsaleable, the importance of destroying the wormy wind falls—in the front part of the season, at all events—becomes at once apparent.

CORN MEAL PUFFS.—In one quart of boiling milk, stir eight tablesdoonfuls of meal, four of sugar, boil five minutes, stir constantly, when cool, add six eggs well beaten, bake in butter cups one half hour. To be eaten with maple molasses or other sauce to suit the taste.

INDIAN SLAP JACK.—One quart of milk, one pint of Indian meal, four eggs, four spoonsful of flour, a little salt. Beat together and bake on a griddle.

SAGE AND ONION SAUCE.—Chop fine an ounce of onion and half an ounce of green sage leaves, put them into a stew pan with four spoonsful of water, simmer gently for ten minutes, then put in a teaspoonful of pepper and salt, and one ounce of bread crumbs, mix well together; then pour it into a gill of melted butter (or both or gravy), stir well and simmer it a few minutes longer.

LEMON SAUCE.—Pear a lemon and cut it into slices twice as thick as a half a dollar; divide that into dice, and put them into a gill of melted butter.

LEMON DUMPLING.—One pound of flour half a pound of sugar, juice of three lemons, grated rind or two, chop half a pound-of suit, mix all together with a little water, make out in dumplings, and boil constantly for one hour. To be eaten with any kind of rich sauce.

WAFFLES.—With two fresh eggs, half a pound of flour, quarter of a pound sifted sugar, two slices of butter melted in a little milk, and some drops of range flower water, compose a batter well mixed, containing no lumps, and which ropes in poring. Heat your waffle iron, grease it inside with butter, fill it with the batter, close it and return it to the fire, browning the waffle on both sides. After being assured that it is of a good color, take it out and keep it out until the moment of serving.

A FRIEND asking for fried bread gives opportunity for the following communication. "Slices of toasted bread, dipped in milk and fried in honey, are excellent. Then, instead of calling them "fried bread" they are torelas, an excellent Spanish delicacy, I can assure you. Please understand there is neither butter nor lard. Simply melt the honey in a pan, and when it is very hot put in the bread, which is served hot also, after becoming nicely browned, and without sugar, recollect." Lovers of honey take notice.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS,

2. Thou shalt not choose any other merchant; though shalt not listen to their speeches, for Rosenberg & Wolff are no Chatham-st. dealers, but sell at one price, and reliable, and will serve you unto the third and fourth generation.
3. Thou shalt not seek in vain any more for cheap raiment, for they can be found at Rosenberg & Wolff's One Price Store.
4. Thou shalt bear in mind that we sell only on six days of the week, and don't desecrate the Sabbath by keeping our doors open and hangin out a show, for, on the seventh day, Rosenberg & Wolff, and their clerks, desire to rest from their labors.
5. Thou shalt honor the way Rosenberg & Wolff deal, and long may be thy days to enjoy its benefits.
6. Thou shalt not commit an impropriety—of buying of Chatham st. Dealers, but come direct to Rosenberg & Wolff's Once Price Regulator, Main street.
7. Thou shalt not seek in vain for goods of Foreign make, for Rosenberg & Wolff keep a large variety.
8. Thou shalt not purloin from the Regulator for Rosenberg & Wolff sell so cheap it would be a sin.
9. Thou shalt not bear false witness, but honestly acknowledge that you can get better suited and for less money, at Rosenberg & Wolff's than any other store.
10. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbors goods or his bargains, for Rosenberg & Wolff can give them to you likewise; therefore, take counsel, and buy only of Rosenberg & Wolff the Once Price Men.
