LOCAL AND GENERAL.

GEO. V. MYER, whose place of business was recently destroyed by fire, may be the present at the store of COWELL & MYER, where he has established an office.

Snow fell to the depth of nearly two feet in this vicinity on Tuesday night and Wednesday last, in consequence of which travel was considerably interfered with.

A little boy called for a copy of last week's Chimney Swallow, at CALKINS' News Room the other evening, and when told that they had not got it, said he would take one of Tom LESLIE's weeklies, then.

The Otseningo Mills, at Binghamton, owned by MOORE & MYER, were burned on Thursday night last. Loss from twenty-five to thirty thousand dollars. Insured for twenty-eight thousand dollars.

The best rooms, the best light, and the best facilities for producing pertraits in pictures, will be found at Harding & Gustin's over Powell & Co's new store.

Mrs. TUTTLE, of Wysox, desires to thank the friends of Rev. H. J. CRANE for contributing to a purse which was given to that gentleman some time since. Mrs. T. had charge of the subscription, and handed the money over.

Harding & Gustin are fully up to the times. Every new discovery or improvement in the photographic art, they make use of. Perfect work guaranteed. Over Powell & Co's new store.

BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING.—STEPHEN GIRARD accumulated an immense fortune. "How he accomplished it, he said: 'Constant, persistent advertising.'" ROTHSCHILD says: "My success is owing to my liberal advertising."

A train of one hundred and [illegible] empty coal cars passed this place on Tuesday afternoon last, on the Pa. & N.Y. R.R. Tuesday afternoon another, composed of [illegible] and sixty-nine, passed over the road.

Every man thinks he buys his [illegible] a little cheaper than his neighbor, but [illegible] know how cheap you can get groceries, could you have visited PATTERSON & KIRKPATRICK's store, pressed into a proverb that you cannot be undersold.

Retouched negatives only made at HARDING & GUSTIN'S. Wrinkles, freckles and blemishes of every kind removed or softened. Truthful and beautiful can be the result made in this establishment.

We noticed, at SHAW, BRAUND & CO's market the other evening, a "porker" which could compare favorably in size with the celebrated Shoat. He weighed, dressed, being six hundred and twenty-five pounds. The animal was purchased from Mr. GORTON, of Asylum, who claims to be the best hog raiser in this county. SHAW, BRAUND & CO. are experienced butchers, and know the most pleasant way of always buying a fat animal.

Every reader of this paper is [illegible] in knowing where the best place to buy furniture is, and we have no hesitancy in saying that it is at CALKINS' in Northern Pennsylvania. He has large a stock of good furniture of all kinds. We notice that he has just received an extensive assortment of parlor furniture. Persons contemplating furnishing in these lines, will find that it will pay them to call on Mr. C. a call.

It will be seen by referring to our advertising column, that a change has taken place in the firm of POWELL & CO. The retiring partner of Mr. POWELL from active business is recommended by the people of this section of country as possessing in a large degree the public confidence and esteem of the people. He will hereafter have business at the old stand, in connection with the new firm, and will find that it will pay them to call and see him.

PERSONAL.—Rev. F. W. BARTLETT has been ordained to the priesthood in the Protestant Episcopal Church. [illegible] WARD, Esq., is visiting his father, Mr. J. WARD, in this place. [illegible] N. WORDEN, formerly editor of the Lewisburg Chronicle, and an present residing at Williamsport, was a brief visitor the other day. [illegible] CHARLES MERCUR has purchased Geo. NEAL's residence. G. H. WOOD has bought the lot south of the National Bank, and will erect a brick building on the present season. [illegible] A. BRASCH has entered into a contract with the Towanda Gas Company to put up their works. It is expected that the work will be completed by September.

Grand Lodge Lecturer, M. [illegible] returns to Bradford county and will visit Wyalusing, March 23; Camptown, 24; Springhill, March 25; Tuscarora, 26; Stevensville, March 28; East Herrick, March 29; LeRaysville, March 30; Warren Center, March 31; Windham, April 1; Russell's North Orwell, April 2; Potterville, April 4. If no stormy prevented him from meeting the appointments as advertised. It is hoped the friends of temperance will interest themselves in circulating this notice and in securing a full attendance. DAVID CRAFT.

The annual meeting of the Bradford County Bible Society was held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening last. The attendance was very large, the house being crowded to its utmost capacity. Revs. C. W. BENNETT, J. SEWARD, WM. MCGLATHERY, S. J. LUSE, [illegible] CUTTENDEN, and C. S. FOX, were present and took part in the exercises. [illegible] stirring addresses were made by Rev. C. W. BENNETT and Rev. J. S. STEWART. The report of the treasurer showed that only [illegible] churches had contributed to the funds of the Society during the year.

The planet Venus, which has been [illegible] designated as evening star, will be visible in the morning for the rest of the year. Jupiter is visible in the evening, being six hours after the sun. It will continue an evening star till May 1. Saturn will begin to be visible in the morning about May 1, and will then become an evening star for the rest of the year. Notwithstanding these movements of the heavenly bodies, McCARE & MIX, our enterprising jewelers, will continue to sell goods of superior quality at prices to correspond with the decline in the gold market. And as the season for making garden will soon be upon us, we know that our readers will thank us for again reminding them that this firm have the celebrated BUIST'S and DREER'S garden seeds.

MR. EDITOR: In your issue of March 3, your correspondent, "YAROM," in speaking of the Susquehanna river, says that the name means, "crooked," and not "muddy river," as given by many. With all due deference to your worthy correspondent, I beg leave to differ with him, and assume that it—the name Susquehanna—does mean "muddy or riley." It is given in the old history of the Wyoming valley, and also by HECKEWELDER in his work, as I am credibly informed. I do not wish to be misunderstood as taking this position merely for the purpose of opposition, but for the truth; and I respectfully ask your correspondent to give the authority upon which he founds his statement, that the same be compared with that given above, and we be the better enabled to judge which is the most entitled to credit. I learn that efforts are being made to form a Historical Society in this county, which I trust will be successful, and that the history of the county may be preserved thereby, and the questions concerning the origin of the geographical features be ascertained more correctly and satisfactorily. MILITUS.

Sylvania, March 16, 1870.

MR. EDITOR: Permit me to inform the public that the meetings of the Bradford County Convention, I.O. of G.T., have been increasing in interest from its first organization, so that now all the live lodges in the county expect to be represented at its sessions wherever they may be held. The last meeting was in Canton, but though so far away, the eastern lodges sent good representations, and as our railroad has taken all the romance out of stage-coach traveling, many of the delegates chose the route by way of Waverly and Elmira, reaching the latter place on the evening of the 15th. But we were soon destined to learn that the best theories might contain a flaw which will prove fatal to the anticipated results. Before daylight on the morning of the 16th it commenced snowing very rapidly, attended by a heavy westerly wind which increased, until by noon it was blowing a gale. The southward bound train on the Northern Central Railway, which should have left Elmira 6:15 a.m., did not get off until about 8 o'clock. We had proceeded but a short distance, before it was plain enough to be seen that we should have great difficulty in making the trip, although we had on the train two powerful engines and only one passenger coach. The train proceeded slowly without much interruption, until within about one mile of GILLETT's station, when we came to a dead halt in the midst of a snow-drift some six or seven feet deep. All hands turned out in the storm and commenced clearing away the snow. The locomotives were detached from the coach, and an effort was made to break the road with them. In the operation the forward engine was disabled and the other thrown off the track. We were now in an interesting predicament. The snow was drifting in on us on all sides, the storm increasing in fury, and no prospect of aid until it abated, and the wisest of the party could not tell when that would be. What made matters still worse for many of us was, that we left Elmira without breakfast, expecting to meet our Canton friends about 8 o'clock. Empty stomachs soon began to be quite troublesome, and it was proposed to visit a neighboring farmhouse, about half a mile distant, and if possible obtain some supplies. Three of the party started, proceeded but a short distance and then beat a hasty retreat. About two o'clock another party started, and notwithstanding the blinding storm and snowdrifts up to their arm-pits, succeeded in making the house, which proved to be that of Mr. J. D. SMITH, who with his wife did all that was possible for our comfort. As the storm abated, others made their way over, until about twenty-five were furnished with a good and substantial meal, and lunches and tea sent to the ladies who remained in the car.

In the meanwhile the engine had been put upon the track, the drift shoveled through, and we reached GILLETT's about 5 p.m. Here we stopped for the night and waited for assistance from Elmira, having been about ten hours in making eleven miles. The citizens at GILLETT's treated us with marked hospitality and kindness, furnished us with excellent entertainment, and seat us away to Troy. About 11 o'clock on the 17th, two extra engines from Elmira, and a large force with shovels, were sent to our relief, and we were soon underway. From this out delays were short. Though stopped several times afterward, our force was sufficient to speedily clear the way, and we reached Canton about 3 p.m., having been a little more than 31 hours in making a trip that is usually made in less than two hours. Too much praise cannot be awarded to our gentlemanly conductor, J. A. THOMPSON, for his untiring efforts in behalf of the passengers on his train, or to the hands on his train for their persevering toil, in the midst of hunger and storm, to help us on our way.

Reaching Canton, we were surprised to find the lodge-room well filled with interested and earnest temperance men and women, who were discussing resolutions on the subject of total abstinence. Canton is the banner town in our county, having two good lodges of Good Templars, which together number about 300 members. As there were not delegates sufficient for a quorum present until our arrival, no business was transacted except the discussions above referred to. In our party were the representatives from Wyalusing, Terry'ville, Martha Washington, and Athens, and also Grand Lecturer, Brother M. BROSIUS. The sessions of the convention though necessarily short, yet were deeply interesting, and were indicative of the growing power of our organization and of the deepening interest felt in the cause of temperance.

I cannot close this communication without mentioning the generous entertainment which the lodges of Canton gave the delegates. They had made extensive preparations for a good time, and the storm was as great a disappointment to them as to us.

The convention adjourned to meet at Rome the fourth Wednesday in June. By the way, Mr. BROSIUS resumes work in the county on the 23d inst. He has the reputation of being one of the best lecturers in the State, and all who feel the least interest in the cause should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him, and induce all whom they can to do likewise. The storm prevented his meeting some of his appointments in the middle district, but the remaining part of that district will be canvassed early in April. Then if the people of Towanda feel sufficient interest in the matter to make arrangements for a meeting, we will try to give them an opportunity of hearing him.

ROME.—Editor of Reporter: In examining your last issue, I find that "YAROM" in giving his "historic items" of the Sunday-school in the Presbyterian church, made a few mistakes that I will try to correct.

As that school was organized in 1826, he says: "It is the oldest one in the place, and till 1865 the only one." Had I known of his intention to write on that subject, I would have been pleased to have informed him that there has been a Sunday-school in this place more than 40 years. "It will be remembered" that where the present borough is now located, was formerly in two school districts, known as the Upper and Lower districts. The Baptists held meetings in the lower, and the Methodists in the upper school-house.

In 1827, Deacon STEPHEN CRANMER (Baptist) organized a Sunday-school in the lower school-house, and was its superintendent for a number of successive years. Hence, it will be seen that it was nineteen years before our Presbyterian brethren organized the school in their church. "YAROM" also states: "In 1866 a separate Sunday-school was started by the Methodists. My informant believes that JOHN A. MOODY was the first superintendent." As "YAROM" proposed only to give "historic items" of the Sunday-school in the Presbyterian church, he could not have intended that as "historic," for it is far from being in accordance with existing facts.

On the 18th day of May, 1835, the Methodists organized a Sunday-school in the upper school-house, and kept it in working order until they moved their meetings to the Baptist church. Who the superintendent was, I have not the means at hand to tell; but am quite certain it was not JOHN A. MOODY. The first church edifice in the place was erected by the Baptists some two or three years previous to the building of the Presbyterian church; and, through the kindness of the Baptist brethren, the Methodists were permitted to worship in their church, and united with them in sustaining Sabbath-schools on the true "union basis." The Methodist church was dedicated in February, 1850, and in May following a Sunday-school was organized, E. A. RIDGWAY, superintendent. Since that time it has been kept up (winter months excepted) with the exception of two years, when the Methodists again united with the Baptists. In 1857 and 1858, under the superintendency of D. CHAFFEE, we had a very large and interesting school, and have been prosperous ever since, with only a short vacation during the winter months.

I hope I will not be "understood to infer that such errors were intentional. Such inferences usually spring from vulgar local jealousies." When we take into consideration that "YAROM" has resided but a few months with us, we can easily overlook his blunders in giving his "historic items," but his "informant" is not excusable. If "YAROM" intends to pursue his "historic researches" I would "advise" him to procure a more reliable "informant."

THE BRIGHT SIDE.—The March number of this popular children's paper, just received, presents an unusual variety of contents. There are over twenty different articles, all original, and some of quite superior merit. Its success has been very remarkable, 23,000 circulation being already secured; the publishers say they intend to make it 100,000 by the time it is one year old, which will be next July. They offer to send the four numbers for March, April, May and June, free to all who subscribe before July first. Terms, 50 cents a year. Specimen copy free. JOHN E. ALDEN & Co., Publishers, Chicago, Illinois.

Court convenes at Troy on Monday next, in the M.E. Church.

MESSRS. SHAW, BRAUND & Co know how to do a nice thing and when to do it. As it is unlawful to eat meat during Lent, these gentlemen took compassion on us and sent us a big shad the other day. If such events are to occur often, we shall not find fault if Lent last the whole year.

J. MERIDETH & Co. have purchased the right to sell a very useful invention, called a patent Milking Stool, Strainer, &c., which on examination we can really recommend to the public. It is spoken of very highly wherever it has been in use during the past year.

MONS. DU CHAILLU's lecture, at MERCUR's Hall on Tuesday evening, was largely attended and well received by most of his hearers. His remarks in the main were interesting and instructive, but his lecture could be vastly improved by omitting a good deal of the nonsense which he indulges in during its delivery.

STULEN's Band added very much to the pleasure of the occasion, by discoursing excellent music.

A flourishing Division of Sons of Temperance has been organized at Burlington, and the following officers elected for the present term:

W.P.—W. A. LANE; W.A.—CHARLES KNAPP; R.S.—ALBERT WHEAT; A.R.S.—MISS CELIA LONG; F.S.—ISAAC P. SLOPER; Treas.—WM. T. MEAD; Chap.—MRS. S. J. SWEENEY; Con.—N. WINSTON; A.C.—Miss REBECCA BIRNEY; I.S.—THOMAS SMITH; O.S.—B. CLARK.

The Division was christened "Triumph," and we hope it may indeed prove a triumph over intemperance and wrong of every kind. Mr. PRATT, of Philadelphia, was present and assisted in the organization.

The M.E. Church was re-dedicated on the 16th inst. Notwithstanding the very inclement state of the weather, the attendance was very good. The morning sermon was preached by Dr. JESSE T. PECK, one of the ablest ministers in the church. Previous to dedicating the edifice, a subscription amounting to about thirty-five hundred dollars was made. In the evening a further collection of five hundred dollars was taken up. The amount collected, we learn is sufficient to pay off the debt created in repairing the building.

Next week we will endeavor to give a full description of the improvements made.

Thursday evening will be the grand opening night of the New York Colossal Gift Entertainment. This company has achieved a grand success wherever they have appeared, both in regard to their entertainments and the fair, impartial manner in which they distribute their gifts. The lady patrons will bear in mind the fact, that one purchasing a ticket on the afternoon of the opening day will receive a gift. On Saturday afternoon they give a matinee for the little folks, when every child will receive a gift. We hope our citizens will improve the opportunity now presented to them of witnessing a first-class entertainment, which will consist of wonderful experiments in magic, singing, music, and protean plays.

Every farmer and horseman in the county now agree that the Hambletonian stock is superior to all other breeds of horses, not only for speed but for durability and general use. It is therefore a matter of great importance to all interested in raising horses, that this stock should be perpetuated in this country. MIX & MONTANYE advertise in another column their full-blooded Hambletonian colt, "Towanda," and we cheerfully call the attention of the farmers of this county who wish to improve their stock to this animal. He is altogether the finest specimen of a horse ever exhibited in this county, and is said by good judges to surpass any colt of his age in the United States. He is a dark bay, nearly 16 hands high, and has all the good points of his uncle, the celebrated DEXTER, now owned by ROBERT BONNER. Although less than three years old, he is well broken, and is as gentle as a lamb. Mr. MIX deserves the thanks of every lover of a good horse for introducing an animal of such merit. Next week we shall publish a history of the old Hambletonian.

OUR FATHERS—WHERE ARE THEY?—It is only now and then that an individual, as in the notice of the death of Mr. OLIVER CORBIN, late of Warren township, Bradford county, Pa., is impressed with a desire to communicate to the public some of the incidents in the early history of a man like Mr. CORBIN.

Indeed, whoever the writer may have been, he has truly conferred a lasting obligation on the relatives and friends of Mr. CORBIN, and a great favor to those who are interested in the early history of those eastern townships, of which little is known.

Permit me, although a stranger to the writer, to express my thanks, and to say to him that his notice, although brief, was read with interest, and carefully transcribed into my manuscript for future publication.

It is, indeed, a debt of gratitude that we owe to the pioneers of this county, that we make an effort to collect, as far as possible, the early history of the trials and hardships they were called to pass through, and have by their industry and economy procured a competence which they have left for us to enjoy.

Permit me to notice here, a promised communication, which is still expected, from Prof. A. KEENEY, of Tuscarora township, giving the early history of that township—space for which is left in my writings. OBSERVER.

Granville Centre, March 19, 1870.

STEVENSVILLE.—Once more will we pen a few words for our REPORTER. Now, dear Stevensvillians, "DOUBTFUL" has his cares and labor to perform as well as others, and there are many much more competent to the task. We have set the example, and supposed some influential member of society would follow it—for "imitation is the sincerest flattery"—but fear they are depending wholly upon "DOUBTFUL." We will give others the privilege after this week. We have a few errors to correct in our first.

Meetings were held in the Presbyterian church only. REPORTER failed to speak of our wagon-shop, which is doing a good business—carried on by J. I. STEVENS, who also holds the office of constable. His wife merits the praise of doing considerable for the temperance society. We might say she was the "founder" of our Good Templar lodge.

We have a "portable steam saw-mill" in our vicinity, which we fear will consume all the timber, so there will be nothing but naked hills to gaze out upon—almost an unbroken scene if there were no green trees. So, oh! spare us a few, if only for variety's sake.

Mr. H. A. ROSS has gone to the city to replenish his stock of dry-goods, groceries, yankee notions, &c.—everything that can be desired in a country store; and it is satisfactory to know you are dealing with an honest, upright dealer, who has an established price and seldom, if ever, varies for the sake of baiting customers. He will have his millinery and mantua shop open by or before the first of May.

J. Q. INGHAM keeps everything on hand that a cabinet shop consists of; also ready-made coffins, and the hearse to carry them in, at reasonable charges.

E. J. EASTENBROOKS is prospering finely, and success seems to attend every effort as far the public is concerned.

Dr. BRUNDAGE has been holding a series of physiological lectures in our church. Rather amusing as well as instructive. We cannot fail to speak of the influence these lectures have upon the thoughtful and contemplative mind.

We solemnly regret to learn that a young man in our vicinity, who, to all appearance, was honest and intelligent, was placed under lock and key a short time since for horse theft. "Honesty is indeed the best policy." Ah! young man, beware! take warning from this. Your "sins will find you out."

DIED.

SHIPMAN.—At Madison, Wis., on Monday evening, February 28, 1870, of pleuro-pneumonia, Mrs. Achsah Cornelia, wife of Col. S. V. Shipman, and only daughter of E. B. Goodrich, formerly of this place, aged 37 years, 8 mos.

[From the Madison Democrat, March 8.]

GONE TO REST.—The earthly remains of Mrs. ACHSAH CORNELIA, wife of Col. S. V. SHIPMAN, were this day followed to the grave by the members of the sorrowing family and a large number of the friends of the deceased. Mrs S. was born in Towanda, Pa., and lived to the age of 37 years, 8 months. In her death, the community has lost an active and valued member; the church with which she was associated, a consistent and energetic co-laborer; her neighbors a generous, systematic and faithful friend; and her family an affectionate wife, and self-sacrificing and devoted mother.

Modest and unassuming in manner, she never sought a conspicuous place in public, but was always foremost in every good word and work. With large-hearted earnestness, she could feel for others' woes, and gave with liberal hand. The needy never applied in vain, when she, from her own store, or by appeals to her friends, could supply their wants. By the poor, her memory will be cherished as a generous benefactor.

She was indeed a good mother, in the broadest sense of the term, watching over and caring for her children as only a fond mother can. No amount of labor and patient endurance was spared to promote their welfare. Their troubles were her troubles, and their pleasures were her pleasures.

She was a true Spartan wife. When the war of the rebellion broke out, and the question was discussed in the family circle, she, with true heroism said to her husband, "Yes, it is right you should go, I will take care of the children."

Many of the comrades of her husband can attest the fact that her hands were not idle, in collecting and sending those little home delicacies, so gratefully received and discussed around the camp-fires, on the "tented field."

In the hospital where she went to find her husband among the wounded, she was constantly at the bedside of suffering, with pleasant words, to cheer and encourage, and active hands to minister to the needy. She seemed an angel of mercy in those wards of suffering and death. This, together with the cares of five small children, proved more than her naturally delicate constitution was able to bear, and her health failed.

During her late severe illness, which commenced last fall, she suffered patiently and without a murmur, and while constantly declining, getting weaker and weaker in her hold upon things of this life, but stronger and firmer in the professed faith of her Savior.

Calmly and peacefully her spirit floated away, to that brighter and better world where there are no sorrows or partings, where all is peace, joy and gladness, and where a countless host are, and ever will be, singing songs of praise and gratitude to the goodness of Him who doeth all things well. On account of snow drifts, Dr. Clark was unable to meet his patients at West Warren, Warren Centre and Orwell. At nearly every appointment Dr. Clark has been unable to attend to all who wished treatment from him. The patients using his remedies are most certainly doing very finely, and many cases considered almost hopeless are rapidly recovering. It is not to be expected that Dr. Clark can cure every disease presented to him for examination, but every call will be treated to the fullest extent of the Doctor's ability when reasonable hopes of recovery can be entertained. March 23, '70.

Hon. B. B. Strang, of Tioga county, and Speaker of the House of Representatives, with two other citizens of Westfield, Pa., guaranteed to Dr. Clark a very liberal fee if he would cure N. F. Smith, a young man of that village laboring under the worst form of epilepsy. Young Smith's first letter to Dr. Clark dated March 8, 1870, says: "I have not had any fits since I saw you in Tioga, being eight weeks to-morrow, and it is the longest time between them that has occured in ten years. Enclosed find currency as required" (for medicine).

[This young man has taken but one course of Dr. Clark's medicines. We have read the letter from young Smith, handed to us by Dr. Clark's agent, and know the above to be as stated.—ED.] March 23 '70.

The Summer Term of the Orwell Graded School will commence on Tuesday, April 12th. Miss M. A. Pratt, a graduate of the Elmira Female College, has been engaged to take charge of the higher department, and Miss F. C. Mills, of Mt. Holyoke Female Seminary, has been employed to take the primary department. In addition to the common branches, classes will be formed in Higher Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, Physiology, &c. Pupils not residing in the district will be charged a tuition fee of from $4.00 to $6.00, according to studies pursued. Judging from the well-earned reputation and the past eminent success of these teachers, the directors feel that they can recommend this school to those who desire to avail themselves of the privileges of one of the best schools in the country at a low rate of tuition. Board can be obtained at reasonable rates. March 23-w4

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY.—Under the recent opinion of the Attorney General of the United States, soldiers enlisting under act of July 4, 1864, their discharges must read "discharged by reason of expiration of service," to entitle them to the balance of their bounty.

It is stated that the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Hosmer bounty case, providing in substance that volunteers under the call of 1861 are entitled to bounty if honorably discharged for disability, or any cause whatever, before their term of enlistment expired, applies also to soldiers who enlisted prior to the issuing of said call and served in the war of the rebellion. All those interested and having claims, apply to H. B. MCKEAN, Attorney-at-Law, office over Mason & Co.'s Banking House, Towanda, Pa. Mar. 24, 1870.

NEW MERCHANT TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT.—Messrs. Taylor & Gore have opened, in connection with their Clothing Store, a Tailoring Department; and having secured the services of a "first-class cutter" and competent workmen, they are now prepared to make up work in the best style and latest fashions to order. Having just received a new and full stock of cloths, they are prepared to offer better inducements than ever before offered in Towanda. The public will find it to their advantage to give us a call before buying elsewhere. Remember we warrant our work and guarantee good fits. Repairing done on short notice. March 12, 1870.

The stated meeting of the Bradford County Convention, I.O. of G.T., will be held at Canton on Wednesday, March 16, 1870, commencing at 10 o'clock, a.m. One of the Grand Lodge lecturers will be present. Feb. 24, 1870. DAVID CRAFT, W.C.T.

PIANOS, ORGANS AND MELODEONS.—It always gives us pleasure to call the attention of our readers to articles of real merit. In this connection, we advise our patrons who are about to purchase a Piano, Organ or Melodeon, to call at WM. DITTRICH'S Music Store, at Towanda, before buying elsewhere, as the instruments sold by W. D. are really the only first-class in every respect. The Decker Brothers, Hallet & Cumston, and Conrad Myers' Pianos have now been before the public for twenty years and more. The Peloubet & Co. and Shaninger Organs and Melodeons for sixteen years. All of them are known to be as near perfection as it is possible to make them, and are giving the most entire satisfaction to all who have used them. Our prices are low, and will sell Pianos from $290 to $1,500; Organs from $80 to $1,000; Melodeons from $75 to $300. Sheet Music, and Instruction Books for Pianos, Organs, Melodeons, and Violins, always on hand. To those who would like instruments from other makers not mentioned above, we say, give us your orders and you shall have them on short notice. Recollect, ladies and gentlemen, that Professor W. DITTRICH has had experience for over twenty years in the above business. Tuning and repairing done, if wanted. W. DITTRICH.
