I CANNOT FORGET.

BY M. A. S.

Fondly and with affection true, My love still clings to thee, In joy and sorrow, still the same, This dotting heart shall be.

If, when the world seems dark and drear, And friends should prove untrue, Within my heart, a home you'll find, 'Tis then I'll think of you.

Should sorrow drive you to despair, This last fond hope is given; Tho' tender hearts are made to bleed, There's rest for you in Heaven.

So let us, while on earth we live, Each other's burdens share, And think that, as we onward go, A crown awaits us there.

Thou, when life's weary race is run, On wings of faith will rise To that blest land where all is love, A home beyond the skies.

Protection to Home Industry.

The question of protection to American industry will soon be made an issue in the politics of our country, and it is proper that Pennsylvanians, especially, take an early and firm stand in favor of the policy that will continue to protect our manufacturing interests...

The Democratic party, as heretofore, is arrayed against the great American policy. The Republican party will continue to stand by our interests in this matter.

We copy the following Resolutions adopted at a public meeting of the friends of domestic industry, held in Philadelphia, April 29, 1869:

WHEREAS, the Congressional Committee of Ways and Means is instructed to consider the propriety of revising the Tariff laws, and to commend to Congress at its next Session such legislation upon that subject as may seem to be expedient; therefore, Resolved that the following statement be presented to the said Committee as embodying the views of the productive industries of this country:

FIRST, That the development of our own resources and the firm possession of our own markets are much more important than foreign commerce to the welfare of all the people of this nation...

SECONDLY, That to maintain such possession of our own markets, and thus to attain financial independence, we must be able to produce at home nearly all the manufactured articles which require the facilities of great establishments...

THIRDLY, That it is impossible for such great establishments to prosper, for smaller ones to spring up, and for the new industries to take root under a flexible and sometimes unfriendly policy...

FOURTHLY, That as a means of promoting regular growth in the productive powers of our country, it is the duty of the government to announce, adhere to, and steadfastly act upon the policy of defending its citizens in their industrial conflict with foreign nations...

FIFTHLY, That a policy of firm and steady protection to American industry being distinctly announced, a general tariff law, the duties being made specific so far as conveniently possible and high enough to afford fair wages and reasonable profits to such American working-men and employers as apply themselves with assiduity, skill, and intelligence to industries suited to our condition and resources...

SIXTHLY, That in order to diminish the labor of Congress, and to expedite those future modifications in tariff legislation which the development of new industries or the changes of trade may from time to time render desirable, some department, bureau, or commission, should be created, specifically charged with the duty of keeping watch over this subject...

SEVENTHLY, Experience having clearly shown that the maintenance of domestic production is the only sure method for reducing the prices of manufactured goods, it is grossly unjust to the employers of operatives who ask for the legislation needful for keeping their hands employed, to charge them with endeavoring to aggrandize themselves at the expense of the public...

RESOLVED, That a committee consisting of Messrs. Joseph Wharton, Henry C. Lea, William Sellers, and Morton McMichael, be appointed to present the foregoing statement to the Committee of Ways and Means...

Cattle War in Colorado.

Years ago the Legislature of Colorado passed a law prohibiting the importation of Texas cattle into the Territory, under penalty of fine and imprisonment. At the time the law was passed, thousands of these cattle were being driven into, and through the Territory, and the parties following the business claim that it was done in the interests of a few persons who owned large herds and wanted to raise the price of cattle and beef...

SOUTHERN PRIDE AND POVERTY, &c., &c.,—Mobile, Ala., April 30, 1869. At Meridian we stopped for breakfast at a house kept by Mrs. Gaines, a widow niece of the Mrs. Gaines of New Orleans. The place was once one of the handsomest estates of the South...

Last year she could not make up her mind to receive the railroad travelers in her home, and so sent her colored servants upon the trains to sell coffee, biscuits, bacon, chickens, &c. But this spring her pride had become crushed by poverty...

One sees everywhere in the South marks of the terrible havoc of the war and evidences of the complete despair of the people. I cannot wonder at the feeling against Northern people that is so manifest here. When we entered the dining hall at Meridian and took our seats at the table, Mrs. Gaines stood at a side table, her back toward us...

THE WESTERN CATTLE TRADE.—Stock growing at the West promises to become much more extensive and lucrative than ever before. A St. Louis paper, in alluding to the attractions which this branch of business holds out, observes: On every side extend rich prairies, and from the West and South of us pour forward the illimitable herds from Texas, the Indian Territory and Kansas...

An itinerant quack doctor in Texas was applied to by one of Colonel Hays' rangers to extract the iron point of an Indian arrowhead from his head where it had been lodged for some time. "I cannot extract this, stranger," said the doctor, "because to do so would go right killin' you; but I tell you what I can do; I can give you a pill that will melt it in your head."

ALEXANDER HAMILTON once said to an intimate friend:

"Men give me credit for genius. All the genius I have lies in this: when I have a subject in hand, I study it profoundly, I explore it in all his bearings, my mind becomes pre-occupied with it. Then the effort I make the people are pleased to call the fruit of genius. It is the fruit of labor and thought."

Mr. Webster once replied to a gentleman who pressed him to speak on a question of great importance. "The subject interests me deeply, but I have no time. There is, sir," pointing to a large pile of letters on the table, "a pile of unanswered letters to which I must reply before the end of this session (which was then three days off). I have no time to master the subject so as to do it justice."

"But, Mr. Webster, a few words from you would do much to awaken public attention to it."

"If there is so much weight in my words as you represent, it is because I do not allow myself to speak on any subject until my mind is imbued with it."

A little girl in Boston has just begun a beautiful charity for the fragrance of which commands it to be adopted elsewhere. At her suggestion the chapel of one of the central churches is opened two mornings of each week for the reception of fresh fruits and flowers to be distributed among the poor sick of the city, who else might never know the refreshment of a fruit or flower...

Despotism as Russia undoubtedly is, she is making rapid strides in the march of human progress. While her neighbors, calling themselves more free, only grant new privileges to their people when forced to do so by an irresistible public sentiment...

There is a famous "sleeper" in the Bicêtre Hospital, Paris, concerning whom the savans and physicians are in despair. He has been snoring away for six months, during which time vain attempts have been made to shake, rub, whip, and enrage him into consciousness. He is fed through a probe put into his nose, whence the food passes into his body, and he is growing fat under the treatment. He bids fair to become the champion Rip Van Vinkle of the world.

Secretary Boutwell has ordered the purchase of a certain amount of 5-20 bonds with the surplus funds in the Treasury. Once redeemed, these bonds will not be again issued. So the amount purchased will be a permanent reduction of the national debt, both principal and interest.

Gov. Geary has carried the Philadelphia delegation for Governor. We suppose his re-nomination by acclamation of a very large majority, is already a sure thing. He is deservedly one of our most popular Executives.

An exchange says a large class of Englishmen have hitherto treated the Alabama claims as a joke. That is because the settlement of them has so long been in the hands of a clown.

Rev. J. H. Whallon, of Erie, has been appointed Consul to Port Nahon, in the Mediterranean, at a salary of $1,500 in gold.

A COLONY OF INSANE PEOPLE.—Prof. Griesinger, in his work on "Mental Pathology and Therapeutics" says: "A colony of insane has been formed in the remarkable Belgian village of Gheel, in which for several hundred years past, lunatics have lived together with the inhabitants, and even resided in their families. In former times people frequently resorted thither to supplicate the aid of Dymphne, the patron saint of the insane, although the people are seldom in the habit now of consulting her oracle. Out of a population of about 9,000, it has from 900 to 1,000 inhabitants who are insane. The lunatics enjoy an amount of pleasure and freedom which could not be permitted in an asylum. All who are capable of it share in the mechanical or agricultural employments of the sane."

The treatment in the main, is very mild and restraint is never made without first consulting a physician. Suicide is rare, and the general physical health so good that in 1838 two of the patients reached upward of 100 years of age. Owing to the peculiar situation of Gheel, escape by the patient is difficult. With all its advantages, it has undoubted drawbacks. But the experiment of Gheel has proved that the greater number of insane do not require the confinement of an asylum; and that many of them can safely be trusted with more liberty than those institutions allow; and that association in family life is very beneficial to insane patients.

An invalid once sent for a physician, and after detaining him some time with a description of his pains, aches, &c., he thus summed up: "Now, doctor, you have humbugged me long enough with your good for nothing pills and worthless syrups; they don't touch the real difficulty, I wish you to strike the cause of my ailment, if it is in your power to reach it!" "It shall be done," at the same time lifting his cane and demolishing a canteen of gin that stood on a sideboard.

"I see," (icy,) said the blind man when he fell on the slippery pavement.

Facts and Fancies.

Book keeping taught in one lesson—Don't lend them.

Young ladies generally honest, but they will hook dresses. Beautiful extract—a handsome lady just helped out of a mud hole.

Foul play—to be helped with an old hen when you call for a spring chicken.

A foul conundrum: Why do chickens have no future existence? Because they have their neck twirled in this!

Some men like tea—their real strength is not drawn out until they have been some time in hot water.

Whether winking is natural depends on circumstances—i. e., whether you have a cinder or a pretty girl in your eye. Squibb thinks the President's address should not be called is-angel-air, because it wasn't long enough to bore anybody.

"I say, landlord, that's a dirty towel or a man to wipe out." Landlord with a look of amazement, replied: "Sixty or seventy of my boarders have wiped on that towel this morning, and you are the first one that has found fault!"

A gentleman who was blessed with a mouth of unusual dimensions was once asked by a friend if he had a lease of the mouth of his. "No," good humorously rejoined the other, "I have it only from year to year."

"Isn't it pleasant to be surrounded by a crowd of ladies?" said a pretty woman to a popular lecturer. "Yes," said he, "but it would be much pleasanter to be surrounded by one."

A traveler stopping at an inn to breakfast, and having drunk a cup of what was given to him, the servant asked, "What will you take, tea or coffee?" "That depends upon circumstances," was the reply. "If what you gave me was tea, I want coffee; if it was coffee I want tea. I want a change."

A lady who had been just married seen her husband enter, stole secretly behind him and giving him a kiss, the husband was angry and said she offended against decency. "Pardon me," exclaimed she, "I did not know it was you!"

A London cabman said, "If you run over a youngster down here, the folks don't say nothin' kase they have got more children and no wittles for 'em; but you just run over a goat or kid, or a sow or a pig, and I'm blessed if a mob ain't arter you in two minutes!"

HE KNOWS THE REST.—A little girl, carried to her chamber and laid her upon her bed in a half-asleep state, upon being reminded that she ought not to go to bed without saying her prayers, half opened her large blue eyes, and dreamingly articulated—

"Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord—"

then adding in a sweet murmur, "He knows the rest," she sank on her pillow, in his watchful care who "giveth his beloved sleep." Is this not touching—beautiful? Yes, believe He knows the rest—all the rest—and he knows what is best. Cast your cares therefore on Him for he careth for you.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color. A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable remedy against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most efficient remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases which the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear. Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it. Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it. Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses. So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of those who have used it, than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Uninclined persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily. For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.
