Honesty in the Legislature.

We are not astonished, says the STATE GUARD, to hear our article published some time since in acknowledgement of the honesty of men in the Legislature whose reputation for integrity is beyond all doubt, has created considerable feeling. In the counties represented by men who were notorious for their corruptions, we observe our Republican contemporaries are particularly indignant at our ommission of the names of such men from our list of honorable legislators, charging that we were mercenary in so doing, and that the effort to discriminate bedoing, tween the honest and the dishonest, is a failure disgraceful to ourselves and discreditable to the cause we represent. But this is only their opinion. We simed at compromising no man's character in declaring, after patient investigation, that certain men in the Legislature were honest, faithful and true to their trusts. Surely we could not say ALL who had seats in that body were honest, nor was it safe for us to individualize the dishonest. That corrupt men held seats in both branches, the least observant of those who watched legislation are well aware; while the general public who paid any attention to the schemes like that of increasing the rate of taxation on the necessaries of life, to building up monopolies in Philadelphia and other parts of the State, to which the agriculturist and the miner were to be made subservient, know that foul influences were at work. We repeat what we have so often declared, that a better and more reliable class of men are needed to discharge the duties of legislation. Every county in the State can in many ways improve the standard of their legislators, by electing men who, when they get to Harrisbucg, will be able to resist the rings of operating in the name of both parties, but actually working only for their individual aggrandizement. There was a time when any man could discharge the duty of legislator, but that time is now past, Under present circumstances, the most intelligent and reliable are alone able to deal with the measures and men who come before the Legislature for consideration and favor. Nor is this all. The incorporated interests 15th day of April, 1865, the day after he which now overshadow individual enterprise entered his office, and the last on the 3d of in all parts of the State have the very ablest March, 1869. men constantly in attendence on the sessions of the Legislature, insiduously advocating and securing the adoption of measures which are calculated in nine cases out of ten to impair a general or an individual right. Those who can be wheelded or purchased into the support of such schemes are not the men to be elected to the Legislature. Each community must be its own judge of this fact-each constituency must look out for aspirants of this class, and if they value their present hopes of prosperity and the future continuance of Republican government, they must defeat them whenever they dare come up for election to offices of great trust. Our Government, State as well as national, needs honest men in all departments. We have a surfeit to those who believe that government was created for them to pluck and plunder; of men who imagine the Republican party (and the Democratic party, too,) was organized to open mines of wealth for the satisfaction of their covetuousness. The men who are at the head of the journals of both parties, are those who can alone reform the evils to which our articles on the subject of legislative corruption allude; but this cannot be accomplished by bickering with each other.-We must unite for the general good to secure the very best men to represent the people; and in doing this the first essential point to be gained is the security that each constituency. has a man or men in the Legislature who can not be bought. It must be borne in mind that combinations gather around each Legislature which laugh to scorn the people's wants or wishes and prefferences, openly declaring that all this can be defeated or ignored with money whenever such combinations desire that result. We have seen this done more than once. Bribe money has been openly paid in our principal hotels-so that there is

is called to the fact. The Republican party is strongest when it puts forth its best men. It has principles which will preserve its popularity even when Next year the tax will be based on the new bad men lay it under the disgrace of suspicion. But we cannot afford longer to carry great loads of incompetency and corruption. We must have our best men as candidates, or we will assuredly fail. This fact makes us York are hooted and jerred by crowds of antibold in pointing out all whom we know to ritualists. have been honest .- [State Guard,

THE Democrats in this State are exceedingly muddled in regard to the person who shall be their next successful candidate for gubernatorial honors. Gen. Cass, Asa Packer and Heister are each brought forward by their friends, and some Rip-Van Winkle of a Cop has actually attempted the resuscitation of Gov. Bigler. The effort was too exhausting, however, and the individual has sunk away once more for another fifteen years' nap. When a writer begins to repeat himself, he is said to be on the decline. When a political party goes back or attempts to go back to its leaders on issues long since dead, we may safely conclude that the process of political decomposition has commenced.

Good Advice.-There is excellent sense in what a cotemporary says, and ws trust that those to whom it is addressed will have the good sense to follow it. "The Democracy," remarks our brother of the quill, ought to cease abusing the colored people of the South. True they are not doing quite as well as born Yankees, but, considering the quantity of Democratic blood that flows through their veins, they are doing uncomwell-better than could have been expected. When that bad blood is thoroughly worked out, they will no doubt become perfectly re spectable and well-to-do citizens.

Is the Court of Common Pleas, at Philadelphia, on the 26th inst., Judge Pierce read an opinion by Judge Allison, sustaining the 27th selection of the new Registry law, which applies to hotels, taverns, and sailor boarding houses. The result is, that there can be ro more colonizing in Philadelphia, as the Assessors are prohibited from registering any of the inmates of these establishments. If they are citizens and qualified voters they must come before the Board of Canvassers and establish their rights.

METHODIST WOMEN TO VOTE.-The great question of the lay delegation in the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States will probably be at rest for ever next month. The contest will be one of the most important in the history of the denomination, and it will be marked by a peculiar feature, which may be regarded as a significant sign of the times. The sisters of every church have been empowered to vote on the subject, and they will doubtless exercise the franchise the first time in casting their ballots to change the present mode of representation. It is optional, we believe, with the churches to hold the elections at any time in June, but the vote must be taken before August.

An interesting investigation into the re cords shows that President Johnson, during his term of office, pardoned the number of one hundred and forty-two persons convicted of counterfeiting, and ninety-one persons convicted of violating the revenue laws .-Mr. Johnson commenced this business early, and kept it up until the last moment, having pardoned the first counterfeiter on the

THE English press is disposed to do full credit to American enterprise in constructing the Pacific Railroad. "Thus the whole of this formal wilderness will be subdued to man's occupancy and use. Instead of dying like a dead mass in the bosom of the Republic, it will become instinct with life, the iron nerves of civilization will grow through it from the great central backhone now formed, and the vast resources of the republic will not only be made more available by consentration and communication, but will undergo indefinite increase.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted lous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
