Bradford Reporter

Towanda, Thursday, Aug. 14, 1873.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

PEACHES begin to make their appearance in market.

THE new jail will be occupied today by the Sheriff and several prisoners.

IF you know that your neighbor is not a subscriber to the REPORTER, show him this copy and ask him to subscribe.

FITCH, of the candy store, was the first man to remember the "poor printer," with a generous supply of peaches.

DID it ever occur to you that your friend in the East, West, North or South, would prize a paper from this county?

WE UNDERSTAND that all the liquor sellers in this place will be prosecuted for violation of the local option law, at the September term of Court.

DR. DODSON, of Williamsport, is to become a resident of this place, and will have an office in MERCUR, MOODY & MORGAN'S new block.

IN ANOTHER column we print an interesting letter from our esteemed friend and former townsman, B. S. RUSSELL. Mr. B.'s excellent reputation for candor and good judgment, will lend weight to his statements.

MISS JOEY CULVER, having finished the primary course at the T. M. A., has received a diploma from Prof. SHERWOOD. Miss C.'s success is an evidence of what application, when directed by a skillful teacher, may accomplish.

WE ARE pleased to learn that the family of MORGAN LEWIS, who died in this place recently, will receive about $3,000 from the Mutual Benefit Company, of Middletown, N. Y., in which she was insured. This method of insuring is becoming quite popular.

MISS HANNAH NAGLEE is to give a concert in Tioga soon, for the benefit of the new Episcopal Church now being erected there. We congratulate our Tioga friends on their good fortune, and hespeak for them a rich musical treat.

WE HAVE received an excellent photographic view of the large lumber establishment of A. E. MINARD & Co., at Nortonville, Mich. "DIMMICK" himself occupies a prominent position in front, in working uniform, but looking as natural as ever.

F. J. CALKINS has sold his news stand back to the former owners, Warren & Sheer, two young gentlemen from Nanda, N. Y. The new firm come here highly recommended, and we bespeak for them a generous share of public patronage.

WE HAVE received the August and September number of "The Erie Railway Tourist," an interesting sheet, giving time tables and illustrating places of interest to the traveler. Under the new management, the Erie is not only paying the stockholders, but gives entire satisfaction to the public.

HAVING occasion to stop at the VanDyke House, in Ulster, the other day, we were furnished substantial and indigestible food, and the elegant fare set before us, that "local option" has not killed the establishment. The hotel is now kept by Capt. Aplin, and is first-class in every particular.

JOHN MORROW, who had been seriously ill for several months, died at the residence of his son-in-law, ANDREW FOX, Esq., in Wyalusing, on Sunday morning last. The deceased was seventy-four years of age, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was the father of Judge Morrow. The funeral took place at Sugar Run, on Tuesday morning.

WELLS MINGES, son of ALONZO MINGES of this place, was killed by the falling of a tree in the woods near Renovo, Clinton county, on Saturday last. A dispatch announcing the melancholy fact, was received by the Postmaster on Sunday morning. The news came too late for the friends of the deceased to reach Renovo before the burial, which took place on Sunday.

A SMALL party of friends were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Hawes, at their rural residence near Monroeton, on Wednesday evening. The occasion which brought the company together, was the christening of the youngest child of the family. Besides the immediate relatives, several ladies and gentlemen from this place, and one lady from Wilkes-Barre, Mrs. McNish, were present.

REV. WM. M. GLATTHEY delivered his farewell address as Rector of Christ Church, Towanda, on Sunday last. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity on the occasion. The sermon was a rich one, and was listened to with profound attention. The choir sang very sweetly, and with uncommon power. Mr. Glatthey's numerous friends part with him with regret.

SUSQUEHANNA SCENERY.—The grandest scenery which is to be witnessed on any railroad in the world, may be witnessed on the Susquehanna Division of the Erie Railway. It passes along the grand and beautiful Susquehanna, and the eye is ever delighted by the most romantic and artistic pictures of mountain and river, rock and wood. This route takes the old York, justifiably renowned for its beauty, through Harrisburg, distinguished for its virtue and prosperous Mining districts, through Sam's Cut, where every human ill, real or imaginary, is taken in and healed.

AN IMPORTANT LAW.—The following is a better adoption of debts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, was passed by the recent Legislature:

"That no person in any Court in this Commonwealth, shall be arrested upon any judgment, nor his property taken in any suit or proceeding, commenced by the Sheriff unless the defendant has no property out of which the judgment and execution can be satisfied, or unless the said Court may be satisfied from affidavit or other evidence, or by examination, upon oath, before a Judge or any other officer duly appointed by the said court, for that purpose, with power to compel the attendance of witnesses by attachment and production of books and papers necessary in such examination. In case the said examination shall disclose any property or effects, the expenses thereof shall be paid by the defendant, out of the same, otherwise they shall be paid by the regular cost of suit."

CAMPTOWN.—Mr. Editor: Croquet still occupies nearly their entire time here, and if continued we shall doubtless learn whether it is a moral or religious influence. One would naturally incline to the latter, judging by the number of ministers and professed church members, who are now engaged in enjoying the fascinating game. It has been quite "catchy" weather, as the farmers call it, for haying the past few days, owing to the frequent showers which have been prevalent in this section. Farmers are the gainers, however, by these fine rains, although some had hay late injured. Crops are looking for a good deal of what they promised one month ago. But there are some very sickly looking corn, some which have in appearance taken on the yellow or spotted fever, and some pieces are sick on account of neglect. Well, we have a few more inhabitants in our community—a number of mothers are talking about their new ten pound babies.

But to return to the subject of croquet, I believe that Christians and ministers can better employ their time than in croquet playing, or anything else that tends to vice or neglect of duty. E. B.

SUSQUEHANNA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.—We would call attention of all interested in school matters to the new advertisement of the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute. Prof. QUINLAN has secured able assistants and proposes to make the Institute even more deserving of patronage than ever before. Nearly every teacher has had an experience of from six to sixteen years. The new male teacher, Prof. CRANDALL, comes recommended in the highest terms and from various sources. The arrangement for non-residents far surpasses any previous arrangement, both in the exclusiveness and home advantages it gives to the young ladies, the fine class of rooms for the young men, and the very reasonable rates at which they are boarded. We doubt if similar advantages can be offered anywhere in the State at the same cost. New walks and other conveniences have been recently added. The Fall term opens Monday, August 25, 1873. Those desiring further information should apply to Prof. E. E. QUINLAN at once.

PERSONAL.—MRS. M. T. TRUE, widow of the late Rev. ALBERT TRUE, was in town last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Judge Monnow. Mrs. T. is preparing to start for Pekin, China, where she is to engage in missionary work. She is one of the noblest Christian women in the country, and will carry with her the prayers of her numerous friends.

—Supt. PACKER is at the Binghamton water cure, seeking relief from the rheumatism which still remains in his system and troubles him.

—JAS. M. WALL, our enterprising and indefatigable fellow-citizen, has a railroad contract in the vicinity of the Adirondacks.

—JOHN D. MONTANYE started for Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y., on Monday last, where he goes to take charge of Mrs. DYER'S office business, at a very handsome salary. Mr. M. is one of the most accomplished and competent bookkeepers in the country.

—B. S. RUSSELL, Esq., is President of the Bank of Duluth, Minn.

—Prof. T. F. GAHAN, Superintendent Public Schools, Lycoming county, was in town last week.

—Prof. RYAN, of the Institute, has been elected Principal of the public school of this place.

—Miss JAMES, of Philadelphia, is visiting her friend, Miss MARY MERCUR, of this place.

—Mrs. POPE and son are spending a few weeks with Mrs. P.'s parents, in this place.

—Mrs. J. C. ADAMS and daughter will leave for Watch Hill to-day, where they will spend several weeks.

—Col. MEANS and wife, W. A. CHAMBERLIN and wife, and Mrs. E. DeMONTANYE, have joined Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Fox at the Slaterville Springs.

LIST of deeds filed in Recorder's Office for the Week ending August 11, 1873:

TO THE MEMBERS OF NORTHERN LODGE.—As it is impossible to ever meet many of you in the Lodge room, let us take this manner of entreating you, if you are really friends of Temperance, to occasionally manifest it by meeting with us. We are now on the eve of a new quarter, and the practical question is before us, whether our Lodge shall flourish or die. "Local Option," whatever we may expect from it in the future, does not stop all the drunkenness in Towanda. Drinking among our educated and talented young men, in social circles, in club rooms and good society, was never more common. More than one young man, formerly a member of our order, is now tippling and hastening to swell the great army. Will these things be better if our Lodge is allowed to die. You say you stay away because it is not so interesting as of old. Have you done your duty and fulfilled your part in making it so?

Especially do we urge the older members, the heads of families, to lay aside excuses, and if necessary make a little sacrifice and attend our meetings. Many of you would come and see that your sons came, if you realized the power of the temptations they daily meet, and often succumb to. In conclusion, we invite all persons who believe that "total abstinence" is a cure for drunkenness, to join us and show their faith by works. It is proposed to organize a good circulating library in connection with the Lodge. Will you help us by your presence?

ED. REPORTER: Our usually quiet town experienced quite a sensation to-day, in a spirited trial of mowers. Mr. S. D. MADDEN, the fair one and gentlemanly president of the Towanda Eureka Mower Co., about a week since wrote to J. W. INGHAM & SON that he had shipped a mower to their place, and would be there himself on Tuesday, August 5, to exhibit it in operation on their meadow, that day, and desired that the notice might be generally given out, and that the agents of all the side-draft machines might be particularly invited to attend with their respective machines, in order that the farmers in this vicinity might be enabled to judge of their merits when seen side by side in actual operation. The notice was accordingly circulated, and the agents of the Young Warrior, Wood, and other side-draft machines, were invited to attend.

Mr. MADDEN came down on the first train, and had hardly got his machine set up, when GEO. CHAMBERLAIN, the energetic and plucky agent for the Young Warrior, appeared on the ground with his machine, and soon the contest for the championship began. There was a large gathering of farmers and others, and very much interest was exhibited in the trial.

Both machines did their work well. Both seemed to run with a light draft, and we may add that both seemed to have their friends but there were some points upon which a majority of those present agreed. The first is, that the Towanda Eureka cuts a swath a foot wider than the Young Warrior, and leaves the mown grass standing up in such a loose manner that it will dry quickly without any tedding or stirring. Second, that the cutter-bar being firmly secured at both ends, is less liable to get bent or broken. Third, that the shop where it is made being near at hand, it will be much less trouble and expense to obtain repairs when needed. FIDES.

Sugar Run, August 3, 1873.

THE following description of an institution, owned and managed by Bradford county men, will prove interesting to many of our readers. The article is clipped from the Scranton Republican:

"THE LACKAWANNA VALLEY BANK.—The improvements commenced some time ago in the banking house of the above institution, are about completed. A description of the proposed changes and the general fitting of the building at that time appeared in these columns, therefore it is unnecessary to again go over the whole ground, but we cannot, nevertheless, refrain from speaking of the banking-room as at present fitted up, which was taken possession of yesterday, and where business is now being transacted. The room is fitted up in the latest modern style, under the personal supervision of Mr. J. G. Sanderson, the work being done by Messrs. Lenn & Sell, of 30 West 12th street, New York, and set up by competent workmen of our own city. For general elegance, artistic design and comfort, this room cannot be surpassed by any in the city. The material used in the construction of the counters and wainscoting, are of walnut, butternut, California bronze and plate-glass. This laurel-wood is rare, and capable of as high a finish as the French walnut. The floor is of walnut, oak and ash, presenting a beautiful contrast. The desks, office furniture, and carpets are in keeping with the general appearance of the room, and in fact a perfect harmony pervades throughout, showing evidence of taste. The entrance as at present is a decided improvement, entering as you do through the hallway. The doors separating the hall from the banking-room are massive, and elegant in design.

"The banking-house of George Sanderson & Co., was established by Geo. Sanderson & Burton Kingsbury, in November, 1855, and is the oldest banking institution in Scranton. They first commenced business in the small wooden building lately occupied by Mr. Thomas Parrott as a merchant tailoring establishment, and was at that time the only building on that side of Lackawanna avenue, with few exceptions. At a later period they occupied their more commodious establishment, located on the site of the present building, but which was destroyed by fire in 1863. While rebuilding, they occupied the 'Jifkin building,' on Penn avenue (afterwards the post-office).

"Since the death of Mr. Burton Kingsbury, his interest has been represented by his son, Mr. George S. Kingsbury. Taking advantage of a very liberal charter granted by the State Legislature, it was decided at a meeting last winter to remodel and enlarge their building so as to increase their facilities for business, the result of which decision is now manifesting itself. Hereafter, the old establishment will be known as "The Lackawanna Valley Bank," successor to Geo. Sanderson & Co., the bank having perfected its organization by the election of George Sanderson, George S. Kingsbury, J. Gardner Sanderson, Charles DuPont Breck, and Dr. R. A Squire as directors, with George Sanderson as president; J. Gardner Sanderson, vice-president; George S. Kingsbury, cashier; and A. Minor Renshaw, teller. A large amount of the capital stock has already been subscribed and paid in, and as soon as the return of their president from his sea-shore visit, it is their intention to offer to the business community and citizens of Scranton an opportunity to subscribe to a further increase. On the first of this month the accounts of the old firm were transferred to the books of the new bank, which thus commences a business already established."

A CORRESPONDENT of the Binghamton Daily Times, has been paying a visit to this section, and gives some of his ideas regarding the country, in a letter to that paper. His reference to our streets is truthful, and should cause our authorities to blush. Speaking of Towanda, the writer says:

"The streets and sidewalks of this town cannot be said to be inviting, for there is but little stone sidewalk, and much of the plank walk is, like the streets of Pompeii, 'worn with the tramp of busy feet.' In my 'rounds' I observed some fine residences and beautiful pleasure grounds, and a handsome brick church, trimmed with a light-gray sandstone, of recent construction, occupying a commanding site well up towards the mountain base. Near the upper end of the town an Episcopal Church is going up, the basement of which is composed of the same light-gray sandstone above mentioned, which stone has at a distance much the appearance of marble. The stone is obtained from quarries in this immediate vicinity. But the handsomest structure I saw in Towanda, is their

which is large, of fine design, and built entirely of this beautiful light sandstone. It has some thirty cells with one dark dungeon underneath, all of which are walled in with the solidest of masonry. Heavy iron doors, with new style fastenings which no ingenuity or strength on earth can unfasten from the inside, guard the entrance next the cells, and against each door shuts another heavy door, lined inside with a solid plate of iron. One heavy flagging stone forms the floor of each cell, over which is a wood floor, and the ceiling overhead is constructed in the same manner. The dark dungeon underneath, with its rough rock floor and rougher walls, its three-inch tube—the only passage way for light through its thick walls—and its' ponderous double iron doors, almost caused the chills to creep over me when I stepped inside for a moment, and my guide closed the door. It appears to me that confinement in this cell would out of old Satan himself. The jail is warmed by a furnace, and every cell is supplied with water by means of pipes. Towanda is doing a thorough and exemplary work in the design and construction of this jail."

THE COURT-HOUSE

is an old and ordinary looking building, but is situated at the rear of large and very pleasant grounds. The Ward House is large, and from my one night's stay here, I can recommend it as a first-class house. I am told that there are five other well-kept hotels in the place, and that four weekly newspapers are published here.

THE RAILROAD DEPOT,

For some inexplicable reason the depot of the Sullivan and Erie Railway, which runs to Dushore and the mines, is located at the upper extremity of the town, which arrangement, as the town is some two miles in length, is an abominably inconvenient one. To obviate somewhat this inconvenience, the train halts at the foot of the street leading from the Ward House and takes on passengers. A crowd of us were kept broiling in the hot sun for half an hour this morning waiting for the train, which was in no hurry, and there was not even a dry-goods box to sit upon. As if to aggravate as much as possible the centre townspeople, another depot is built a mile below, thus giving them the choice of going a mile up-town or a mile down-town, a choice very similar to the consoling one called 'Hobson's choice.' Somebody might win the gratitude and perhaps some of the money of people who take the cars at this point, by erecting some kind of a shelter from the sun's heat and the frequent storms, and furnishing it with something in the shape of seats.

"At last the train arrived—a smoking car and a coach hitched to the end of a long train of empty coal cars and we were not all loth to exchange our 'seat' in the depot' for the comfortable one we found in the coach. This is a narrow gauge road, and but one train runs over it daily at present, going up in the morning and back in the afternoon. As it is but twenty-eight miles in length and terminates at the mines, this arrangement is ample enough for the demand. From Towanda it keeps down the Susquehanna for a mile or more, and then turns in at the mouth of the Towanda creek and follows up that stream to within about four miles of Dushore, where it strikes through a gap in the mountain, over on to the head of Marsh Run, and follows down that little creek to Dushore.

"Arriving at the mines, the train runs directly to the coal breaker and stops. We alight and look with no little interest—for this is our first visit to a coal mine—upon the huge, dingy building where the coal, as it comes from the mines, is prepared for market, upon the great black pile of refuse or waste thrown out in this preparation upon the long mule trains coming from away under the mountain where the coal is mined, and upon the rough village of miners' homes running in one street along the foot of the mountain. All this is taken in at one glance, and although novelty lends interest to the scene, we confess to ourselves that we do not envy the miner his opportunity for accumulating wealth. Here in this dense wilderness upon the wild mountain's side, with just enough of the forest cleared away to give room for the accomplishment of his dirty work, it struck me as it never did before that the miner must be a man of iron nerve to thus voluntarily shut himself from the pleasures and beauties of the outside world, and bury himself here in this dismal region.

"But I came here to see the

and there must be no flinching now. I was immensely pleased to learn that I was not, alone in this undertaking. A gentleman who came upon the same train expressed a desire to enter the mines, and the General Superintendent, Mr. J. H. Horton, politely offered us the services of his head miner to guide us through the labyrinths of the mine. Before starting in I was considerably disappointed to learn that the miners were not so extensive as I had been led to suppose. They penetrate the mountain but little more than half a mile. The entrance is on a level with the track, upon which the coal, in small cars, is drawn directly by mules to the breaker. This entrance is a small square hole, some seven feet high and eight feet wide, and is on a level with the passages cut into the heart of the mountain."

POWELL, of Scranton, keeps a full line of small musical merchandise, which is being constantly replenished with the latest novelties. Double Basses, Violoncellos, Violas, Violins, Guitars, Banjos, Flutes, Fifes, Piccolos, Drums, Clarionets, Accordions, Concertinas, etc., etc., in great variety and at lower prices than ever. Price lists mailed on application. Address,

L. B. POWELL,
115 Wyoming Ave., Scranton, Pa.

July 30—2w.

TREE AND PLANT SWINDLERS.—I am informed that certain fruit tree agents are canvassing this county, for "Utah Cherries," "Grant Pears," and "Colfax Peaches," representing them to be very prolific. I have examined all the catalogues of the leading nurserymen, and fail to find anything of the kind laid down, from which I infer that the names given these trees are fictitious, and calculated to deceive the people. The trees which I am offering for sale are warranted true to name, and I bind myself to rectify all mistakes. The people should not be gulled into paying extravagant prices for worthless trees. H. PEET.

WYALUSING DISTRICT CAMP-MEETING.—HELD AT MESHOPPEN, SEPT. 3, 1873.—Hacks run from the depot. Fresh meat, milk, straw and horse feed supplied. For tent sites confer with J. H. WESTON on the ground. For lumber or board tents apply to ESQ. MOWRY, Esq., Meshoppen. Good board on the ground. Price, single meal 50 cents, $1.00 per day, $5.00 per week. Discount to ministers and their families. Officers of the law on the ground will secure order. No huckstering allowed. Particular attention is called to the "Local Option Law" prohibiting the sale of intoxicating drinks. A word to the wise is sufficient. Rev. LUTHER PECK, Presiding Elder of the District, has charge of the meeting, and will, with his usual efficiency, labor for its success. We humbly ask the blessing of heaven on our efforts, and expect a "time of refreshing from the presence of the Lord." Whoso' will, let him come. Prepare your tents. Rev. LUTHER PECK, P. E.

COMMITTEE: Rev. J. B. SUMNER, Sec'y; Rev. J. H. WESTON, Rev. P. E. TOWER, Rev. J. L. RACE, Rev. S. ELWELL, Rev. G. E. PALMER, Treas'r; H. B. ACKLEY, WM. H. BARNES, JOHN G. TAYLOR, AARON BUNNELL.

DAVENPORT.—In Wyalusing, July 10, of consumption, Ella A., daughter of Hiram and Mary Davenport, aged 27 years, 2 months, 1 day.

"Dearest sister, though thou hast left us
Here thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that hath bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal."

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labor; and their works do follow them."

ANDERSON.—In Burlington, Bradford county Pa., May 7, 1873, Julia A. Lantz, wife of Mr. Stewart Anderson, aged 56 years, formerly of Sussex county, N. J.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.—A depressed, irritable state of mind; a weak, nervous, exhausted feeling; no energy or animation; confused head, weak memory, often with debilitating, involuntary discharges. The consequences of excesses, mental overwork or indiscretions. This NERVOUS DEBILITY finds a sovereign cure in HUMPHREY'S HOMEOPATHIC SPECIFIC No. 28. It tones up the system, arrests discharges, dispels the mental gloom and despondency, and rejuvenates the entire system. It is perfectly harmless and always efficient. Price $1 for a package of five boxes and a large $2 vial of powder, which is important in old, serious cases; or $1 per single box. Sold by ALL druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price.
