MEDICAL.

ENTIRELY VEGETABLE.

NO ALCOHOLIC PREPARATION!

A PURE TONIC MEDICINE.

DR HOOFLAND'S

CELEBRATED

GERMAN BITTERS

PREPARED BY

DR C. M. JACKSON, Philadelphia, Penna.,

Will effectually cure

Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA, JAUNDICE,

Chronic, or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases Arising from a Disordered Liver or Stomach, such as Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness or Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, &c. Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant imaginings of Evil, and a great depression of spirits.

And will positively prevent Yellow Fever, Bilious Fever, &c.

THEY CONTAIN

NO ALCOHOL OR BAD WHISKEY!

They will cure the above diseases in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred.

Indeed, the unparalleled sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable) has induced many ignorant quacks and unprincipled adventurers, have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big-bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; which, instead of curing only aggravates diseases, and leave the disappointed sufferers in despair.

YOU WANT SOMETHING to STRENGTHEN YOU!

YOU WANT A GOOD APPETITE!

DO YOU WANT TO BUILD UP YOUR CONSTITUTION!

DO YOU WANT TO FEEL WELL!

DO YOU WANT TO GET RID OF NERVOUSNESS!

DO YOU WANT ENERGY!

Do you want to sleep well?

Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so then use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

From J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture, then recommended to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility, he used three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for years before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861.

From the Rev. Joseph H. Kennard, Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church.

DR. JACKSON—DEAR SIR:—I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicine, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially liver complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation; in some cases it may fail, but usually I doubt not it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes. Yours very respectfully,

J. M. KENNARD,

Eighth below Coats street, Phila., Dec. 24th, 1861.

From the Wife of ALDERMAN WUNDER, Germantown.

GERMANTOWN, June 1, 1861.

DR. C. M. JACKSON—Sir—It gave me pleasure, of years ago, to give you a certificate, stating that your German Bitters had done for me. I am now perfectly cured of all those diseases your medicine promises to cure, viz: Dyspepsia, Chronic and Nervous debility, diseases of the Kidneys, etc. The powerful influence it exerts upon Nervous prostration is surprising. I have been continually urged to recommend it for this complaint, but without hesitation, have recommended it for the above complaints, and in every instance it has proved effectually cured. Your medicine has a great reputation in Germantown, and is sold in every Drug Store, and in most of the Grocery stores here. If any one should question what I say, let them come to Germantown, and I will prove to their satisfaction, that the Bitters have cured in their vicinity more than twenty cases of the above diseases.

Respectfully,

HANNAH WUNDER.

Main street, above Rittenhouse, Germantown.

JUST THE THING FOR THE SOLDIERS.

Will build up the constitution, and give health and strength to the overtacked and diseased soldiery.

THE TESTIMONY FROM THE ARMY.

PHILADELPHIA, August 12, 1862.

DR. C. M. JACKSON—Dear Sir: While in Virginia, owing to the change of water, I was taken with a severe diarrhœa, which seemed incurable, and which greatly weakened me. When we reached Martinsburg, I feared I should have to come home; but noticing some of your Bitters in the store Mr. H. H. Price, in that town, I purchased a supply, and on taking it was speedily restored to health. The diarrhœa was quickly checked, and I experienced on return of the army, manner and from the same cause, with whom I shared the Bitters, join me in this certificate. I expect to return to the seat of war with the Army of the Potomac, and shall certainly take a supply of the Bitters with my baggage. I would not be without it for its weight in gold, particularly on going into a malarious region.

Yours, truly,

A. E. ALTEMUS,

Company H, Scott Legion.

DAILY POST.

An Excellent Rebuke to General Milroy and the Abolition Army Officers, from the Louisville Journal.

The Louisville Journal, the staunch, never-faltering and able organ of the Union party in Kentucky, thus administers a deserved rebuke to military interference in our politics. It takes the case of General Milroy as a noticeable example. It says:

"A NEGRO ARMY.—In illustration of the reasons that the people think they have to fear our army when the war is over, we will refer to a recent publication by General Milroy and some other Abolition officers from Indiana. After denouncing as traitors the Democratic members of the Indiana Legislature for fulfilling the wishes and pronouncing the opinions of their constituents, these officers assume to declare for themselves and the whole army: 'When we have crushed armed treason at the South, we will upon our return, while our hands are in, also exterminate treason at the North, if, by arms, it need be, and by the blood of traitors wherever found.' This infamous threat from his subordinates it is to be hoped the President has not seen. In other days its authors would have been promptly dismissed in disgrace from the army. If such threats can be made with impunity by army officers against the people, who are taxed to pay, clothe and feed them, and be held in terrorem over the representatives of the people, the days of freedom are nearly gone. We had as well be preparing the funeral obsequies of American liberty. Take this threat in connection with the notorious fact that the last elections in Missouri were carried under terror of the bayonet, and the Senate the President must see that this is not for increasing but for soothing the fears of the people. If they do not, and act they need not be surprised at the daily increasing clamor for peace."

Milroy, and all the officers who have indulged in such language, should be immediately removed from their commands.

Important Order of General Rosecrans.

In an order dated Murfreesboro', Tennessee, February 10th, Gen. Rosecrans says:

It having been frequently reported to the General commanding that Confederate soldiers approach our lines dressed in our uniforms, and that they have appeared thus in battle, and have even, savage-like, carried our colors to deceive us, it is ordered that none so dressed shall receive, when so captured, the rights of prisoners of war, and that in battle no quarter be given them. When captured singly or in squads, prowling about our lines, they shall be deemed spies and treated accordingly.

AMONG THE MANY ANNOYANCES to which housekeepers are subjected the one more unendurable than any other is the ravages of vermin. The nibbling of rats, and the disturbing presence of roaches in the larder is the detestation of all good housekeepers. It must, therefore be a desideratum with all to obtain something which will effectually rid our dwellings of these filthy creatures. And all glad be grateful. The Rat Killer, prepared by Dr. Kelly, is believed to be the thing desired. It is sure destruction to Rats and Roaches, and at the same time will not cause fever in other animals. One box judiciously used is sufficient to rid a house of all the vermin that infest it. Full directions for use accompanying each box. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Druggists generally, and by the Proprietor, wholesale or retail.

DIRECTORY OF THE HOSPITALS.—The United States Sanitary Commission have established an office of information relative to patients in the General Hospitals of the Army of the West. By a reference to books, which are corrected daily, an answer can, under ordinary circumstances, be given by return mail to the following questions:

1st. Is ——— (giving name and regiment) at present in any hospital of the army of the West?

2d. If so what is his proper address?

3d. What is the name of the Surgeon or Chaplain of the hospital?

4th. If not in hospital at present, has he recently been in hospital?

5th. If so, did he die in hospital, and at what date?

6th. If recently discharged from hospital, was he discharged from service?

7th. If not, what were his orders on leaving?

The Commission will also furnish more specific information as to the condition of any patient in the General Hospitals, within as short a space of time possible, after a request to do so from any of its corresponding societies.

The office of the Directory will be open daily from 8 o'clock a. m. to 8 o'clock p. m., and accessible in urgent cases at any hour of the night.

SELECT TALE.

A ROGUE'S LIFE.

WRITTEN BY HIMSELF.

I had not the most distant notion where I was when I reached the High street, and stopped at The Green Bull Hotel and Coach-office. However, I managed to mention my modest wishes to be conveyed at once in the direction of Wales, with no more than a becoming confusion of manner. The answer was not so encouraging as I could have wished. The coach to Shrewsbury had left an hour before, and there would be no other public conveyance running in my direction until the next morning. Finding myself thus obliged to yield to adverse circumstances, I submitted resignedly, and booked a place outside by the next day's coach, in the name of the Reverend John Jones. I thought it desirable to be at once unassuming and Welch in the selection of travelling names, and therefore considered John Jones calculated to fit me, in my present emergency, to a hair.

After securing a bed at the hotel, and ordering a frugal cursate's dinner (bit of fish, two chops, mashed potatoes, semolina pudding, half-pint of sherry), I sallied out to look at the town. Not knowing the name of it, and not daring to excite surprise by asking, I found the place full of vague yet mysterious interest. Here I was, somewhere in Central England, just as ignorant of localities as if I had been deposited in Central Africa; my lively fancy revelled in the new sensation. I invented a name for the town, a code of laws for the inhabitants, productions, antiquities, chalybeate springs, population, statistics of crime, and so on, while walking about the streets; looked in at the shop windows, and attentively examined the Market-place and Town-hall. Experienced travellers, who have exhausted all novelties, would do well to follow my example; they may be certain, for one day at least, of getting some fresh ideas, and feeling a new sensation.

On returning to dinner in the coffee room, I found all the the London papers on the table.

The Morning Post happened to lie uppermost, so I took it away to my own seat to occupy the time while my unpretending bit of fish was frying. Glancing lazily at the advertisements on the first page to begin with, I was astounded by the appearance of the following lines at the top of the column:

"If F——k S——tt, I will communicate with his distressed and alarmed relatives Mr. and Mrs. B——tt——rb——ry, he will hear of something to his advantage, and may be assured that all will once more be forgiven. A——B——LIA entreats him to write."

What, in the name of all that is most mysterious, does this mean? was my first thought. Anxious about the public papers. I debated with myself whether I should answer their pathetic appeal or not. I had all my money about me (having never let it out of my own posession during my stay at the red-brick house,) and there was plenty of it for the present, so I thought it best to leave the alarm and distress of my anxious relatives unrelieved for a little while longer, and to return quietly to the perusal of the Morning Post.

Five minutes of desultory reading brought me unexpectedly to an explanation of the advertisement, in the shape of the following paragraph:

ALARMING ILLNESS OF LADY MALKINSHAW.—We regret to announce that this venerable lady was seized with an alarming illness on Saturday last, at her mansion in town. The attack took the character of a fit—of what precise nature we have not been able to learn. Her ladyship's medical attendant and near relative, Doctor Softly was immediately called in, and predicted the most fatal results. Fresh medical attendance was secured and ladyship's nearest surviving relatives, Mrs. Softly, and Mr. and Mrs. Batterbury, of Duskydale Park, were summoned. At the time of their arrival, her ladyship's condition was comatose, her breathing being highly stertorous. If we are rightly informed, Doctor Softly and the other medical gentlemen present gave it as their opinion that if the pulse of the venerable sufferer did not rally in the course of a quarter of an hour, at most, very lamentable results might be anticipated. For fourteen minutes, as our reporter was informed, no change took place; but, strange to relate, her ladyship's pulse rallied suddenly in the most extraordinary manner. She was observed to open her eyes very wide, and was heard, to the surprise and delight of all surrounding the couch, to ask why her ladyship's usual lunch of chicken-broth, with a glass of Amontillado sherry, was not placed on the table as usual. These refreshments being produced under the sanction of the medical gentlemen, the aged patient partook of them with an appearance of the utmost relish. Since this happy alteration for the better, her ladyship's health has, we rejoice to say, rapidly improved; and the answer now given to all friendly and fashionable inquiries is, in the venerable lady's own humorous phraseology, "Much better than could be expected."

Well done, my excellent grandmother! my firm, my unwearying, my undying friend! Never can I say my case is desperate while you can swallow your chicken-broth and sip your Amontillado sherry. The moment I want money I will write to Mr. Batterbury, and cut another little gold slice out of that possible three-thousand-pound-cake, for which he has already suffered and sacrificed so much. In the mean time, O venerable protectress of the wandering Rogue! let me gratefully drink your health in the nastiest and smallest half-pint of sherry this palate ever tasted, or these eyes ever beheld!

I went to bed that night in great spirits. My luck seemed to be returning to me; and I began to feel more than hopeful of really discovering my beloved Laura at Crickehll, under the alias of Miss James. The next morning the Reverend John Jones descended to breakfast, so rosy, bland and smiling, that the chambermaids simpered as he tripped by them in the passage, and the landlady bowed graciously as he passed her parlor door.—The coach drove up, and the reverend gentleman (after waiting characteristically for the woman's ladder) mounted to his place on the roof, behind the coachman. One man sat there who had got up before him—and who should that man be, but the chief of the Bow Street runners, who had so rashly tried to take Dr. Knapton into custody!

There could not be the least doubt of his indentity; I should have known his face again among a thousand. He looked at me, as I took my place by his side, with one sharp, searching glance—then turned his head away towards the road. Knowing that he had never set eyes on my face, (thanks to the convenient peep-hole at the red brick house), I thought my meeting with him was likely to be rather advantageous than otherwise. I had now an opportunity of watching the proceedings of one of our pursuers, at any rate—and surely this was something gained.

"Fine morning, sir," I said.

"Yes," he replied, in the gruffest of monosyllables.

I was not offended; I could make allowances for the feelings of a man who had been locked up by his own prisoner.

"Very fine morning indeed," I repeated, soothingly and cheerfully.

The runner only grunted this time.—Well, well! we all have our little infirmities. I don't talk the worse of a man now, for having been rude to me, that morning, on top of the Shrewsbury coach.

The next passenger who got up and placed himself by my side, was a florid, excitable, confused-looking man, excessively talkative and familar. He was followed by a sulky agricultural youth, in top boots—and then the complement of passengers, on our best behind the coachman, was complete.

"Have you heard the news, sir?" said he, turning to me.

"Not that I am aware of," I answered.

"It's the most tremendous thing that has happened these twenty years," said the florid gentleman. "A gang of coiners, sir, discovered at Barkingham—in a house they used to call the Grange. All the dreadful lot of bad silver that's been about they are at the bottom of. And the head of the gang not taken—escaped, sir, like the ghost on the stage, through a trap-door, after actually locking the runners in his workshop. The blacksmiths from Barkingham had to break them out; the whole house was found full of iron doors, back staircases, and all that sort of thing, just like the Inquisition. A very respectable man, the original proprietor. Think what a misfortune to have let his house to a scoundrel who has turned the whole inside into traps, furnaces and iron doors. What is to become of society? Where is our protection? The times are awful—upon my soul, the times we live in are perfectly awful."

"Pray, sir, is there any chance of catching this coiner?" I inquired, innocently.

"I hope so, sir, for the sake of outraged society, I hope so, sir," said the excitable man. "They have printed hand-bills at Barkingham, offering a reward for him. I saw my friend the Mayor early this morning, and saw them issued. 'Mr. Mayor,' says I 'I'm going West—give me a few copies—let me circulate them—for the sake of outraged society, let me circulate them.' Here they are; take a few for distribution. You'll see there are three other fellows to be caught besides the principal rascal—one of them a scamp belonging to a respectable family. Of what times! Take three copies, and pray circulate them in three influential quarters. Perhaps that gentleman next to you could like a few. Will you take three, sir?"

"No, I won't," said the Bow Street runner, doggedly. "Not yet one of 'em—and it's my opinion that the coining gang would be nabbed all the sooner, if you was to give over helping the law to catch them."

PITTSBURGH PRODUCE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY POST,
Wednesday, Feb. 25th, 1863.

Remarks—The market remains very quiet as there has been but few sales made. Buyers and sellers being apart in their views, matters drag along very slowly. Oils were unusually quiet. Holders say that prices will go up and are indifferent about selling, whilst buyers do not seem to look at things in that light. At the Oil Exchange the was a fair attendance, but no sales were effected. Flour.—The sales since our last were few and far between. Prices rule about the same. In Cincinnati and most of the leading cities prices have declined from 50@10c per bbl, but no decline is yet perceptible here. The stock in first hands is not large, but sufficient for all ordinary purposes. Groceries—Firm, with a good demand for home use. The advance mentioned previously has been sustained. There is a fair stock in first hands. Bacon—We have to notice a firm market for the various descriptions. The article produced by our packers this season is the best we have ever noticed. There are some pretty heavy lots under negotiation. Dried Fruit—The demand continues to improve and prices tend upward.—The stock in first hands is not large. Grain—The continued light receipts keep up the late advance The market contains more buyers than sellers. The stock in first hands is small.

Brooms—Sales 20 doz $2 75@10 do $3.

Flour—The only sales made were of a retail character, viz: 25 bbls Extra Family $7 25; 50 do $7 37@7 50; 25 do Extra $8 50; 50 do $8 62.

Bacon—Market very firm, with a good demand; Sales 14,000 lbs Shoulders, 5c; Plain Hams, 8¾c; Sides, 8c. 3,000 lbs S. C. Hams, 9¾@10¼c; 5,000 lbs Shoulders, 5c.

Sugar—Sales 5 hhds. Orleans at 11½@12½c; 10 do on private terms.

Molasses—Sales 30 bbls Orleans 58@60c.

Syrups—Sales of 70 bbls, 58@60c.

Coffee—Sales of Rio 34@35c.

Hay—Sales at scales at at $16@18 ¥ ton.

Rags—Sales of 600 lbs White at 6½c.

Whiskey—Sales 40 bbls Rectified at 53@55c; 200 lbs old Rye, 100 at 77c and 100 at 78c ¥ gallon.

Butter—Sales 6 bbls, medium 19c; 7 do prime 23c; 3 do 18c.

Dried Fruit—The market is very firm at the late advance. Sales 100 bushels Apples, $1 37; 50 bus. Peaches, $3 25@3 50.

Seeds—Demand improving. Sales 25 bushels Timothy $2 50; 25 do Clover at $6 50.

PORK PACKING ITEMS.

Cincinnati.

In the Provision market, Lard continues to be the most prominently attractive article. Sales of country were large at 9¾@10c. The latter price secured a small quantity of City but holders are not offering it to any great extent, and decline to fix figures.

Bulk Sides were sold at 5⅞@6c for heavy. Light are very dull, and offerings pretty freely at 5¾c. Shoulders continue to bring 5¼@5½c, but transactions are not large. Another sale of them, 5¼c, was made at $4 70. Long Middles, boxed, were sold at 6¾@6⅞c; Short Hill Middles, at 6¾@7c for heavy, and Short clear do, at 7½c.

Mess Pork remains rather unattractive to operators. A few transactions in Old are making at $11@11 50 for Country and City. New is quoted at $14@14 50 for Country and City.

Baltimore Coffee Market, Feb 21st.

There has been a more active demand for Rio, and the market has ruled very firm. Transactions embrace 1,500 bags at 32c; 200 bags at 32½c, all ex Amizon; 1,200 bags at 32c, cargo of the bark Agenor, and 470 bags ex Adelaide, at 33c, the last transactions showing an advance of ½@¾c. At Rio we quote at 33@34c. Laguayra 37@38c and Java at 40c ¥ lb. The stock of Rio in first hands is 6,600 bags.

Cincinnati Tobacco Market.

The sales of Leaf Tobacco at Morris & Chilland's Warehouse, were 30 hhds, viz: 12 hhds, new Kentucky lugs, at 12½@13½c; 3 at 16@16½c; 7 do, medium, at 17@18c; 4 do leaf, at 18@22c; 3 do old lugs at 16½@19½c.

RIVER NEWS

Cincinnati.

The river here, was swelling slowly yesterday evening, the Falls being navigable for the larger class of steamers. The Lower Ohio, Cumberland and Tennessee are in fine navigable order. With very fair tonnage, freights are moderate rates. Shipments are making to the former point for Pittsburgh and Nashville, at 25c per hundred pounds.

The Eclipse and Arminia, from Pittsburgh, Nevada, from St. Louis, and Jewess, from the Cumberland are among the arrivals.

The Emperor passed up for Pittsburgh with a full cargo from below.

Louisville

The river is rising at this point, having risen 6 inches during the 24 hours ending at 5 o'clock last evening. The weather is clear and pleasant, the landing abounding in mud.

St. Louis.

The river here is falling slowly. In the twenty four hours ending at ten o'clock yesterday morning it had receded 5¼ inches, and was thus 14 feet 3¾ inches above low water mark in Dec. 1860. channel out to Cairo, and plenty of water below. The Illinois is rising, and bank full from Peoria down to the mouth.

The Upper Mississippi is said to be falling slowly with plenty of water from Keokuk down.

No news whatever from the Missouri.

The Nellie Rogers left for Pittsburgh loaded nearly to the guards.
