A Storm Rising in Europe.

Since 1849 Napoleon has kept a garrison in Rome to preserve the status quo in the temporal dominions of the Pope. In the great revolution, which resulted in the consolidation of Italy under the crown of Victor Emanuel, these dominions were curtailed to little more than half their former dimensions. The Romish States, by the votes of their own people, became absorbed in the Kingdom of that energetic sovereign; and had Napoleon permitted it, the remainder, including Rome, would have gone the same way. Had this been done, the Pope would have ceased to be a temporal prince.

Recently Napoleon has given notice that he will soon withdraw the French garrison from Rome, and leave the Papedom to the guardianship of Victor Emanuel, and the Italians. That the latter sovereign is inclined to keep the peace with the head of the church, we think altogether probable; but that the people under the rule of the latter will be content with the policy of the fourteenth century in this era of progress, is by no means so probable. They are eager to form a part of a consolidated Italy, and share in the constitutional rights and privileges enjoyed by those of their countrymen who are under the rule of a man of liberal ideas; and how long they will be content to remain under that of a man to whom the whistle of a locomotive is suggestive of heresy, time alone can reveal. We think it likely that the removal of the French garrison will, sooner or later, lead to trouble.

Venice which is still held by Austria, is entirely a part of Italy as are Piedmont and Sardinia, and the Italians will never be content to let the peace of that part of the world firmly established, until that yoke is broken. Italy and Venice united, with the rest of Italy, to effect this much desired consummation the Italians are arming, and making extensive preparations for war both by land and sea. On the other hand, the Austrian government is busy strengthening the defences of Venice. A new Austrian struggle for the mastery of that ancient city, and its contiguous provinces may be expected to take place and later than early spring. It is already regarded as inevitable, and hence these preparations. That Austria, and hence these preparations. That Austria, possessing as it does these provinces, is not to be doubted, and that she expects to take a hand in the terrible game, is plainly intimated by the hasty withdrawal of her troops from Mexico.

Should the Italians be successful in their efforts to detach Venetia from the Austrian Empire, they will not be likely to allow Rome, and the States of the Church, to remain much longer under a separate government, piercing, like a wedge, into the very heart of their national domain, and peopled by Italians, who are themselves eager to unite with their fellow countrymen in one grand nationality.

The late election in this country, which will be regarded in Europe as a triumphant vindication of the principle of popular government, will greatly stimulate and strengthen the liberals of that quarter of the world, and hasten and intensify these struggles to break the fetters of ancient and effete governments—governments which originated in barbarism and brute force, and which have been maintained by force to this day.

If from the present signs of the times we might venture to make a prediction, it would be this: that, before the expiration of the coming year, this country will be restored to peace, the Union intact, the power of slavery broken, and slavery itself quietly passing away; while Europe will be wrapped in the flames of a revolutionary war—that war of principle, which the first Napoleon said would be its last great war, a war which, he said, would make Europe all Republican or all Cossack.

Pennsylvania.

We are beginning to get the official home vote for President in this State. The returns below are on the October home vote:

	Lin.	McCl.	Gain.	Loss.
Allegheny	19437	11569	3401	.....
Armstrong	120 m.			.....
Dauphin	4937	3235	412	.....
Delaware	12929	7605	.....	494
Lancaster	13466	7997	1323	.....
Lehigh	3681	3780	.....	58
Luzerne	5950 m.	4002	.....	862
Lycoming	3856	4002	.....	32
McKean	999	1455	15	.....
Northumberland	3499	6812	.....	431
Northampton	2686	2623	63	.....
Sullivan	439	876	.....	.....
Susquehanna	931 m.	1428	497	.....
Potter	520 m.	691	171	.....
Union	435 m.	1000	565	.....
Cumberland	.....	788 m.	.....	218
Franklin	3516	3562	46	.....
Indiana	1605 m.	1700	95	.....
Montgomery	6504	6772	268	.....
Lawrence	3127	3238	111	.....
Philadelphia	21555	41047	2148	.....
Perry	1998	2123	.....	51

The old Union gain in these twenty two counties is 6547, and the above list includes nearly all the heavy Democratic counties. The gain in the forty-four counties yet to hear from officially will, it is fair to infer, run the aggregate gain well up to 10,000.

Missouri.—There is one feature of the result in Missouri which pleases us much, and that is the fact that she will not have a slave, free Governor, and not a mock one. For four years past that State has been governed by semi-secessionists, pretending to be Union men, but always working so as to prevent the State from accepting a decided and decisive position. Thank God, that is all over. Missouri will now have a complete board of anti-slavery State officers, and as the people have decided upon having a new Constitutional Convention, slavery will soon be wiped out, and Missouri will take her stand with Maryland, among the free States.

On the popular vote Lincoln is certain to sweep the State on everything. The loss of a Congressman in the first district, where a large majority was wrongfully thrown away by the unfortunate division of the Union party, is at least compensated by the result elsewhere, and a net gain of one is secured in the next delegation.

Shame On New York.

It has been the want of New York to cancel at Pennsylvania for her lack of patriotism, charging soldiers for a drink of water, and so on. And yet New York has no provision for feeding soldiers who pass hungry through her streets! Philadelphia has; and Pittsburgh has. No soldier of any State is ever permitted to pass hungry through either of those places. The New York papers are now stirring up their readers to the fact that their city is totally destitute of any provision for sick, hungry and friendless soldiers passing through that place—a much better work than flying jibes and sneers at her more hospitable sister.

West Virginia.—The Copperheads excluded West Virginia from the Chicago Convention because she was not a State! Having to their notions! They took good care, however, to run an electoral ticket there for McClellan, and polled all the votes they could for it. They failed, happily; but if they had succeeded, they would have insisted upon counting the vote of the State for their candidate—on the record plainly against the legality of the proceeding.

The Result in New York.

The New York telegraph reporter of the Associate Press seems steadily anxious to let the people know what the World thinks. Accordingly he informed us this morning that the World gives up New York—acknowledges that McClellan and Seymour are both beaten. We are much obliged to the World for this condescension, and to the reporter who makes us acquainted with it. We breathe more freely now that we know what the World thinks on that subject.

The Tribune says:

We are entirely out of the woods in New York. The State gives Abraham Lincoln about 5,600 majority. Governor Fenton has probably over 9,000 majority; the whole Union State Ticket is chosen of course. The Senate (holding over) is 21 Union to 11 Democrats; the Assembly probably 78 Union to 50 Democrats. Union majority on joint ballot, 29, or thereabout.

Before and After.

Just before the election, the New York World, McClellan's special organ, said:

Let not a shadow of doubt regarding success rest upon any Democratic mind. We have no desire to mislead our friends; but we assure them that we are convinced, that with a free and full vote, we are certain to succeed.

And this was the way it talked all through this campaign. On the morning after the election it said:

Never was fought a more gallant fight than the loyal and true hearted Democracy of the North finished as the sun went down last night in the Pacific seas. An almost hopeless fight from the beginning, it has been inch by inch contested stubbornly to the bitter end. If it was an "almost hopeless contest from the beginning," why did they lie so about it, from beginning to end?

These, with the returns before given and those yet to be received will swell the army majority to over 10,000.

Illinois.

The majority for Lincoln, in his own State, is over 80,000, a gain of about 20,000 since 1860. Of the 14 Congressmen the Union men have 10 certain, and probably 11. Best of all, they have carried Egypt. That dirty dog Allen is beaten. Mr. Kendall, Union candidate, has by about 1000 majority. The district went 16,000 the other way in 1860.

Pennsylvania Has Done Nobly.—So the New York Tribune says, and truly. Before the election, however, the Tribune was inclined to growl at Pennsylvania, to scoff at her local squabbles over candidates, and to make us, over the bad effect they had. But local squabbles, it appears, are not confined to Pennsylvania. They have been even worse in New York, and came near losing us that state.

New York.—James Brooks, by some juggling, has got the official return for Congress from his district, although the vote is decisively against him. The Tribune says that the Unionists of that district, having been apprised of certain wholesale frauds and gross irregularities in the conduct of the election, are now collecting testimony with a view of contesting the election.

Election Frauds.—The Copperhead election agents from Philadelphia, who were arrested for Grant's army, had fraudulent poll-books with them, when arrested, for conducting elections among the soldiers. The fraud consists in the mis-spelling of the names of Cassidy, Hopkins, and Hackett, and in omission of John S. Penny, all Union Copperheads. We hold full justice will be done these rascals.

From Harrisburg.

Special to the North American and U. S. Gazette.

Harrisburg, Nov. 11.—Considerable excitement was noted in political circles to-day, originating from the development of the fact that certain parties holding responsible situations in the Department here cast their votes against Lincoln on Tuesday. Among the numbers is a son of Mr. Coburn, holding a $1200 situation under his father in the department of the Superintendent of Common Schools. It is said that he openly boasted of helping to defeat Mr. Lincoln. Of course the friends of the Administration very naturally think not only employees of gentlemen are ungrateful, but why favors are extended to them.

Congratulatory Letter from Gen. Grant.

City Point, Nov. 10, 1864—10:20 P. M.

Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

Enough now seems to be known to say who is to hold the reins of Government for the next four years.

Congratulate the President for me for the double victory.

The election having passed off quietly, no bloodshed or riot throughout the land, is a victory worth more to the country than a battle.

Rebels and Europe will construe it so.

A Result in Indianapolis.

The official count of votes polled in Indianapolis was completed at one o'clock on Wednesday morning. The results footed up:

Lincoln	6,091
McClellan	4,858
Lincoln's majority	1,233

The Resignation of McClellan.—A Washington special to the New York Post says: General McClellan's resignation of his commission in the army was received at the War Department yesterday. It will be accepted.

Men who Voted for Washington Vote for Lincoln.

As this is almost certainly the only instance in which a voter for George Washington will again vote at a Presidential election, we print the following interesting account from the Springfield (Mass.) Republican:

To the Editor of the Republican:

Deacon John Phillips, of this town, who is one hundred and four years, four months and nine days old, appeared at the town hall and deposited his ballot for Presidential electors and State officers. He was brought in a carriage, and then conveyed into the hall in a chair supported by a platoon of our returned soldiers, and received by the citizens of the town rising from their seats with uncovered heads, amid the tears and heartfelt emotions of all present. After resting for a moment, the venerable patriot expressed a desire to shake hands with all the returned soldiers.

Some thirteen soldiers then formed in line, when each one was introduced to the patriarch, and took him by the hand, with the announcement of his name and that he served in the army. The last soldier introduced, a Mr. King, an Irishman, said he had served the country three years, and had enlisted for three years more, and if that was not long enough to subdue the Rebellion he was ready for another three years. After this, three hearty cheers were given for the returned soldiers, and three rousing cheers by the whole assembly for the "old soldier of the Revolution."

Col. Edward Phillips, oldest son of the venerable deacon, now in his 80th year, then made an impromptu speech to the soldiers, in the course of which he said that he was the oldest man in town who was born in town, and yet, said he, my father is here, and "still lives." The old gentleman was then presented with two sets of votes, one for Abraham Lincoln, and one for George B. McClellan, and requested before all present to take his choice, when he reached out his hand, and in audible and deep-toned bass voice, said, "I shall take the one for Abraham Lincoln."

The town then voted that the Chairman of the Selectmen present the ballot-box to the old gentleman, who took his ballot, with both hands and deposited it in the box, stating that he had voted for Washington for President, and had attended all the Presidential elections since, excepting that four years ago, when he was sick and did not attend.

The following preamble and resolutions were then presented to the town meeting, which were adopted by a unanimous vote:

Whereas, Our very venerable and highly respected fellow-citizen, Deacon John Phillips, who is this day one hundred and four years, four months and nine days old, and who yet retains his mental and physical faculties in a high degree—and

Whereas, He has travelled some two miles to attend this town meeting, and has deposited his vote for Presidential electors and State county and town officers, therefore,

Resolved, That this be entered on the records of the town as a lasting memorial of his undying patriotism and devotion to his country, and as an incident, perhaps, unparalleled in the annals of our Government.

Shelburne, Mass., Nov. 8, 1864.

Dred Scott Decision.—The bold game of the McClellan Judges in Adams, Bedford and Fulton, in disfranchising enough of soldiers' votes, to deprive General Koontz of his certificate as the member of Congress elect from this district, didn't win, and these gentlemen, and their legal advisers, can now count their "love's labor" as lost. On Friday last, the Return Judges from the several counties met at Chambersburg. The Union Judges in Adams and Bedford regarding the action of the majority in excluding the soldiers' votes as illegal and void, certified the full legal vote and appointed Return Judges—Wm. B. Gast, of this county, representing Adams. These gentlemen were met at Chambersburg by the Return Judges from Franklin, Somerset and Fulton—the latter a Democrat—and united in certifying to the Governor the full legal vote of the District, and gave Gen. Koontz a certificate of election. Thus ends this new conspiracy to break down popular majorities.

We understand that subsequently the McClellan Judges from four of the counties got together and gave a minority certificate to Coffroth, which will be worth to him about that much blank paper.

Michigan.—Detroit, Mich., Friday, Nov. 11, 1864.—The 5th Congressional District of Michigan, the only doubtful one, has elected F. E. Trowbridge, Republican, over A. S. Baldwin, the present Democratic member, thus making the delegation of six stand unanimously for the Union in the 38th Congress.
