PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest rubbish on earth, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of bitters is caused and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants, of the worst kind, the desire for liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death. Beware of them.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor bitters, we place with the fullest confidence before the public our well established and popular preparation, the Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters, and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whisky, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in strength and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

DELICATE CHILDREN.

Those suffering from MARASMUS, wasting away, with scarcely any flesh on their bones, are cured in a very short time; one bottle in such cases, will have a most surprising effect.

DEBILITY,

Resulting from fevers of any kind—These Bitters will renew your strength in a very short time.

FEVER AND AGUE.

The chills will not return if these Bitters are used. No person in a Fever and Ague District should be without them.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not supposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of those Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1862.

J. NEWTON BROWN.

ATTENTION SOLDIERS,

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the Army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases incident to exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. We have no hesitation in stating that if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers hundreds of lives might be saved, that otherwise would be lost.

The proprietors are daily receiving thankful letters from sufferers in the army and hospitals, who have been restored to health by the use of those Bitters sent to them by their friends.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

See that the Signature of "C. M. JACKSON" is on the WRAPPER of each Bottle.

PRICES.

Large size $1,00 per Bottle, or Half Doz. $5,00
Medium size 75 " " or Half Doz. $4,00

The Large Size, on account of the quantity the Bottles hold, are much the cheaper.

Should your nearest druggist not have the article, do not be put off by any of the intoxicating preparations that may be offered in his place, but send to us, and we will forward, securely packed by express.

NOTICE TO ALL CONCERNED.—Among a certain class of self-important people there is a peculiar feeling of contempt attached to all physicians that advertise and treat the diseases named in this card. (PRIVATE DISEASES.) Why this should be, they nor no one else can tell. All persons will be aware that all physicians treat diseases of every denomination, in fact what just the very diseases that are so obnoxious to these very refined parties. I suppose they would not let one of their family go to a party that has devoted years for their benefit, because he advertises the fact, and their family physician says he is a humbug so he can get the credit, often he has almost deprived the party of his life. He comes at last to the physician that advertises—how else are they to know? Are they not aware that Sir Astley Cooper, Sir Benjamin Brodie, Sir Charles Ball and M. Paul Ricord devoted years in the treatment of these diseases? These men are held up as shining lights in the medical world; I don't assert that all men are worthy that publish, still there are a great number of them that are. I have devoted myself to the study and treatment of PRIVATE DISEASES upwards of 40 years, and without egotism can say I have saved hundreds from years of misery and untimely death. My treatment is confined to the vegetable altogether, as I think it is the best and most certain. It is my power to bring hundreds of certificates if I thought it necessary to certify to my general success; but my long residence in this city is sufficient proof without adding more. Spermatorrhea and all diseases arising from it are cured in a much shorter time than heretofore. It behooves every young man and woman to be careful in selecting a physician. The different advertisements that are seen in our papers are of no worth, and no benefit will arise from answers than only loss of health and money. Hundreds are cured annually by my new remedies. We have made a chemical analysis of a preparation called "AMBOLINE," put up by Messrs. KENDALL & Co.

It was found to be entirely free from metallic and mineral substances.

The elements of its composition can do the head no injury; but its use would prove beneficial in cases where the scalp requires a gentle stimulant. JAS. R. CHILTON & CO.,

NEWARK, N. J. Jan. 21, 1863.

MESSRS. KENDALL & Co.:

GENTS.—For several years I have been troubled with a tenderness of the scalp, which sometimes developed into an unpleasant eruption, so that I could scarcely endure the painful operation of combing or dressing the hair. I had used various other compounds at the suggestion of friends, but without any advantage, till I chanced to see your "AMBOLINE." I have tried it to my entire recovery, and after much experience I look upon it as the best article in the market for the purpose it is intended for, and as a necessity to the toilet. You are permitted to refer to me if you see fit. Truly,

[Signed] Rev. R. P. LIVINGSTON.

R. D. BANARD, of Albany, says:

"After using two boxes of your Amboline, I was surprised to find a thick crop of young, soft hair, covering the entire scalp, which had been bald for seven years.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10, 1863.

Messrs. KENDALL & Co.:

GENTLEMEN: About eighteen months ago my wife was attacked with a sickness which occasioned the loss of her hair to a great extent. For about a year it continued very thin, dry and short, until she began to use your AMBOLINE. A change for the better was at once apparent. The hair began to thicken and lengthen, and assume a soft, glossy, and healthy appearance, and these effects are permanent and continued, although she has used but one box. We feel at liberty to use these facts for the benefit of others who may need so valuable a remedy for the hair.

Respectfully yours,
J. G. ADAMS,
Pastor Antioch Baptist Church, New York City.

277 CANAL ST., NEW YORK, January 20, 1863.

Messrs. KENDALL & Co.:

I have used several boxes of your Amboline and cheerfully certify to its virtue as a promoter of the growth and beauty of the hair.

I never have had anything in my family which so perfectly answers the purpose of a hair dressing.

It is an effectual remedy for dandruff and soreness of the scalp. I consider it the best article of the kind in the market.

You are at liberty to refer to me as to the genuiness and perfection of the AMBOLINE.

Yours truly, WARREN WARD.

55 KING STREET, NEW YORK, January 16, 1863.

Messrs. KENDALL & Co.:

GENTS.—For a long time my head has been almost entirely bald, so that I had abandoned the idea of my hair ever being restored. I gave my barber some of your AMBOLINE to use on my head, and one day I was astonished at his informing me that the hair was again growing, and the whole scalp entirely covered with a growth of new hair. It is soft and silken, and growing rapidly. I attribute it altogether to the use of the AMBOLINE.

I shall be pleased to verify this by personal statement to any one who desires it, or would refer them to my barber, Mr. Antonio Carro, Division street, this city. Respectfully,

JOHN SENIA.

Miss Fanny Sefton, the beautiful and talented actress says:

"I have used KENDALL'S AMBOLINE for my hair, and find it a very superior article. I have no hesitation in advising every lady who desires an elegant head of hair to use it."

Mrs. Geo. T. Morgan, of Brooklyn, says:

"I have been using the AMBOLINE for about four weeks, and during that time my hair has lengthened two and a half inches.

KENDALL'S AMBOLINE
Prevents the hair from falling out.
KENDALL'S AMBOLINE
Causes it to grow on bald heads.
KENDALL'S AMBOLINE

A French View of Our Civil War.

Political Situation of the United States of America

[Translated from the Memorial Diplomatique.]

The various demonstrations made by the Democrats and friends of peace in the North have induced those who do not study American affairs with the attention to believe that the great revolution which is devouring the republic of Washington will work its own solution, and that both North and South, aghast at the ruins and heaped up every way around them, at the sea of blood which their arms will either become conscious of the fact that war is not an element of the union, and casting aside their arms will either become reconciled by mutual concessions or settle down in peace, side by side, as Free and independent States.

The recent elections have destroyed this illusion. For the first time, we might say in a whole year, public sentiment in the United States has assumed such a form as to enable us to understand its purport. We can now see clearly into the plans of the Government, and ascertain how they are viewed by the people. The idea has been hitherto entertained that the Democratic party desired peace. This error has been strengthened by the attacks which its organs and orators made and are still making every day upon the Federal Administration, and by the general tone of hostility which pervades the language of its leaders. The late elections, while they show the weakness of the party, also bring to light the fact which we have long since known, that there is little diference between Democrats and Radicals as to the propriety of carrying on the war.

In the midst of the tempest which each day carries off some element of American liberty, the Democrats are it is true, the only persons who protest against the usurpations of Government, against the violence of military authority, and against the encroachments of the central power upon that of the States; and from this circumstance they are the only constitutional party in the North; but they have not been able to resist that blind devotion to the Union which induces Americans to value it more than liberty; they have failed to appreciate the spirit of that Constitution of which they are the only and last defenders.

Not one of the leaders of the Democratic party, even of those who have been most energetic in their attacks upon the policy of the Administration, not even Vallandigham or Govenor Seymour, has ever declared that he was in favor of peace with the South at the price of separation. Judge Woodward, who was the recent candidate for Govenor of Pennsylvania, Mr. Vallandigham, who aspired to the same post in Ohio; Mr. Seymour, Governor of the State of New York, and all the other heads of the Democratic party, are as strongly in favor of the Union, as Mr. Lincoln. The only difference between Radicals and Democrats is, that the former wish for Union through war, and that the latter wish to obtain it by conciliation, if possible, and, if not, by carrying on the war in a regular and humane way, in accordance with the spirit of the age.

Union, Union through fire and sword or Union by prayer and compromise, but Union at any cost. Union, even at the price of an ocean of blood, at the price of public credit; Union, in fact, at any price even that of liberty; such is the open or secret thought of every American of the North, be he Radical, Peace Democrat, War Democrat, Copperhead or Old Line Whig. The insane desire for Union turns the heads of all. A prey to this hallucination, the Americans do not perceive that while they are running after some detached portions of the Republic, those which were still united begin to separate, and that their attempts in favor of the Union are so many gems of disunion, from which, instead of two confederacies, three or four will probably arise.

National vanity has taken such hold upon the people of the North that it has destroyed their moral sense. They sacrifice every thing to the pride of being able to say that their power extends over half a continent, and that they are equal to any nation in the world.

Rather, say they, let our institutions and a whole generation perish, than renounce this glorious idea! The Anglo Saxon is certainly the most independent of all men, but his pride is greater than his love of independence, and he would not hesitate to sacrifice liberty to vanity. One of the great men of the French Revolution said: "Let the Colonies perish sooner than a principle." The Americans reverse the expression and say: "Sooner let liberty perish than lose an inch of territory." In their opinion the glorious Union takes precedence of every thing.

There is then, in fact, little difference between the Democrats of the North and the most extreme Radicals; they are all agreed upon this capital point, that the independence of the South can not be recognized. All want the Union, and if they differ as to their plans for obtaining it, it is because their interests are not identical. The possession of power is the real point in dispute between these two parties; the real profound difference between them lies in the fact that the one is in the possession of the Government which the other wishes to control.

If the Democrats ask to have the Union restored by means of compromise, it is because this is the only way in which they can obtain power. The return of the Southern States to the Union would at once give the Democratic party its former superiority. It is evident that if these States are induced by any combination, even by subjugation, to send representatives to Congress, those representatives would unite with the Democratic party of the North, with whom they have numerous points of contact, and who are the only persons who have any sympathy with them.

The Democrats, independently of the question of principles, which unfortunately have at this moment little weight in the United States, have every interest in sustaining the doctrine of State rights and preaching conciliation toward the Confederates; since if the Southern States should be entirely crushed out or lost their constitutional rights, their restoration to the Union as conquered provinces would not diminish the political influence of the Radicals.

Hence the watchword of the Democratic party is: "The Union as it was, and the Constitution as it is".

The Radicals take a perfectly clear view of the situation. They know that the day on which the twenty-six Senators of the South shall take their seats in the Capitol, will be the day on which they will cease to govern the Union, and they are determined that that day shall never come. We must here admire the astuteness and ability with which they have prepared and brought the revolution to the point where it now is. At the beginning of the war, when the North as one man asked the restoration of the Union the Radicals did not show any intention of changing the institutions of the Republic in any way; they shouted Union and Constitution as loudly as did the Democrats. Now, however, that the Democrats have separated from them, and are crowding around the Constitution, which they take as their banner, they announce that instead of the Union and Constitution as they were, they wish for a strong Union, which shall centralize in itself all powers formerly held by the States, and that the rebel States shall be held as territories.

This Machiavelian idea, which had already been put forward in the United States Senate, where, in April, 1862, Mr. Sumner, Chairman of the Committee of Foreign Affairs, adviser of the President, and one of the firmest supporters of the Administration, proposed to declare that the rights of the South as independent States had ceased to exist, was renewed by Mr. Sumner in his famous speech at the Cooper Institute, in which he explained the legal theory by which he proposed to sustain the constitutionality of the pretended forfeiture of the Southern States through their so-called rebellion. Hardly was this theory made public before the ultra journals hastened to defend it, and before the orators of the Administration party went about making speeches in favor of it. Only a few days since General Butler, the Mouravieff of America, in a speech delivered at Boston, arguing on the theory of Mr. Sumner, emphatically declared that if the Southern States came back to the Union it must be as conquered provinces. Some days after Gen. Butler was appointed to command the Department of Eastern Virginia and North Carolina.

One of the civilians of the North, who is one of the most eminent of the age, Hon. William Beach Lawrence, the learned editor and commentator of Wheaton's Treatise on International Law, has thought it his duty to refute, in a legal point of view, this dangerous and wicked doctrine, which at the same time that it overthrows completely the American political system, opens the door to revolting injustice. His voice will probably not be heard; political passions, once let loose, no longer listen to reason, and the fanatics of the North will continue in their blind fury to undermine the edifice of the republic, untill one day it will crumble to ruins over their heads. Such are the plans and views of the two political parties in the North, as brought to light by recent events.

The late elections have shown the strength of the two parties. The Democrats disorganized by internal dissensions cut up by the personal ambition of leaders, fearful of risking their popularity and timid in the presence of power, have not dared to take a bold and dignified position, and have been beaten almost every where. Moreover, whatever may be the superiority of the political ideas of the Democrats in other respects over their adversaries, the Southerners cannot consider them otherwise than as enemies as much been as are the Abolitionists on crushing out their new-born freedom.

The marked triumph of the Radicals, their accord with the Democrats as to the necessity of restoring the Union, the new projects of conquest and oppression which they entertain, all place the States of the South in a more alarming position than any in which they have yet found themselves. Not content with forcing them back into the Union, the determination seems now to be to exterminate them. They have no longer a choice between the Southern Confederation and conquest, between liberty and slavery, between life and death.

The triumph of the Radicals and the more decided attitude of the Democrats destroys the last hope entertained by the friends of peace that the American Revolution could be brought to a perfect termination. The Federal, irritated by the resistance which they met with, and blinded by the blood which they have shed, rush like drunken men upon the South and precipitate themselves en masse upon the palpitating and heroic body of the Confederacy, while all the world looks on at the murder and not a voice is raised in their behalf, not one in America or Europe.

Spiritual Advice by a Physician.

Old Doctor C. was known as a skillful physician, blunt and downright, but not addicted to churchgoing. Mr. S., the sick trader sent for him. The pulse was examined, the pills dealt out and the directions given. But as the doctor was taking up his saddle-bags, Mr. S. turned to him with a pious look:

"I have a solemn request to make for you, Doctor C.

"What! of me? a solemn request of me?

"Yes sir; it concerns my salvation, and I hope you won't refuse it."

"Why, bless you, Mr. S., that don't come in my line; send for the minister."

"But hear me; I feel that I am a very sick man, and if at any time you see I am going to die, wont you to let me know at least three days beforehand."

"But what in the world do you want to know that for."

"Oh, I don't know that I am prepared to die, and I shall want at least two or three days to prepare."

"Oh, well, make your preparations, make your preparations, Mr. S., and if you don't die, it will not be lost to your customers."
