NOTICE.—The Commissioners will meet at their Office in Ridgway Elk County Pennsylvania, on Monday August 1st, 1870. C. H. McCauley, Clerk.

One Buckwheat in the Court house square has disappeared and in its place stands a crop of rag weed averaging from four to six feet in height. It is really too bad, but we understand that the Commissioners are going to have this little forest cut down.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED.—Congress adjourned on Friday 22 inst., at 5 o'clock, to the great joy of the members. The usual custom of congratulation and hand-shaking was gone through with at the close of the session.

An unusually large number of the youths appointed to cadetships at West Point this year failed to pass examination. Only one of the appointees from this State was successful, Olin A. Boyle, son of Major John A. Boyle, of the 11th Pennsylvania Volunteers, who was killed at the battle of Wauhatchie, Tenn.—Rafman's Journal.

All severe harassing Coughs are cured in less than one-half the time necessary to cure them with anything else by using Dr. Pierce's Alternative Extract or Golden Medical Discovery, the chief ingredient of which is extracted from a modest little plant found growing by the roadside. It is warranted. Sold by druggists, or get three bottles for three and a quarter dollars, free of Express charges, by enclosing the money to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

PHILIP REITZEL Forney, son of Mr. John W. Forney, of Philadelphia, died at New Orleans on Thursday, 14th inst., from lock-jaw resulting from his left leg having been run over and crushed by a street car in that city, on the 7th inst. He was in the 29th year of his age. He was a warm-hearted, generous man, and had hosts of friends throughout the commonwealth, who will be shocked to hear of his demise. During the war he served as captain in the army, and in all the capacities in which he served the Government he did his duty with zeal and fidelity.

Singular Detection of a Murderer.

As illustrating quick perception and rare presence of mind, Chamber's Journal vouches for the truth of the following story, which was originally published in the guise of fiction:

Caroline G., a good-looking, finely proportioned young girl, lived as a lady's maid with a fashionable young widow, rather posse. One evening, after having assisted at her mistress' toilet for a dinner party, she amused herself, before putting away the various articles scattered about the room, in trying on a pair of stockings and dress shoes belonging to her mistress, and having done so, she viewed her well turned limbs with complacency, saying aloud: "there's a leg for a stocking, and there's a foot for a shoe." Having satisfied herself as to their symmetry, she divested herself of her borrowed plumes, put the room to rights, and awaited the return of her mistress, whom she saw into bed. That was the last time she saw her alive. She was found in the morning murdered in her bed, the jewel case and plate chest broken open and robbed. The robber and murderer left no trace by which he could be captured, and, in spite of the most diligent search, escaped. Three years afterward Caroline was engaged in a similar capacity by a lady who took her to Paris. She had almost forgotten the murder, and, if she thought of it, it was not with any hope of discovering the criminal.

It happened that she was walking in one of the public promenades one afternoon, when, as she passed a group of men, she heard these words:

"There's a leg for a stocking, and there's a foot for a shoe." In a moment the events of the evening before her mistress was murdered flashed on her memory. And now for her marvelous presence of mind, pretending not to have heard anything she glanced at the group of men. She saw there were three, but she could not tell which of them had spoken. She walked slowly past them, then she stopped in an undecided manner and fully turned back and walked up to them, she asked to be directed to a certain street. As she expected, all of them had a word for her and among the voices she easily recognized the one that had just spoken. Their language and looks were both very free, but she only told them that they were very impertinent, and that she would get the information she wanted from the first gentleman. She thus averted suspicion, if they saw her speaking to a policeman. The next difficulty was how to inform a policeman what she wanted; she had only been a fortnight in France, and knew scarcely a word of French. She, however, carried a pocket dictionary with her to assist in making purchases, and as a means of acquiring a little French. Going over to a bench, she sat down and searching through the dictionary she found the words she wanted and she then wrote them with a pencil on the fly leaf of the dictionary. The sentence ran thus: "Gendarmes je vous prie de m'indiquer la rue de la...". The grammar was not very correct, as dictionaries do not teach syntax, but the gendarme understood it, and in another minute held the murderer in his grasp. He was afterward convicted and hanged on the girl's testimony.

BITTEN BY A LAP DOG.—DEATH BY HYDROPHOBIA.—Nearly three months ago, a bright boy ten years of age, the eldest son of Mr. J. P. Doremus, the Paterson photographer, petted a little white lap dog, which was following two ladies in front of his father's store, and admiringly stroked the animal on the back, when the dog bit his hand. The wound was dressed by a physician and healed nicely, but from that time the child has been nervous and complained of shooting pains, starting from his arms and going to his head and along his spine, and latterly through his whole person. He went to school until Monday last, and could not rest at school longer. On Monday night he seemed to have spasms, but was better on the day following, but on Wednesday night grew fearfully agitated, and could not be controlled, and leaped from his father's arms several times, and ran wildly about the room. He wanted to eat but could not, and although burning with thirst, when water was brought to him he shivered and repelled it, and could not swallow, or if he did, it seemed to be with a great effort and with a jerk. He did not sleep after Sunday night, and grew weaker after every spasm, bit his lips badly, and failed until 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, when death came to his relief.—Newark, (N. J.) Advertiser

FORTRESS MONROE, July 26.—Three companies of artillery left for Raleigh to aid Governor Holden in enforcing the law.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 26.—Governor Holden refuses to surrender to Chief Justice Pearson the citizens of Alamance county, arrested and now held by Kirk, through the Governor's orders. Kirk has now over one hundred citizens. It is said that Governor Holden has ordered a military commission to assemble at Yanceyville to try the persons under arrest.

It is stated that the friends of Mrs. Lincoln will advise her to decline the pension of three thousand dollars per annum, voted her by Congress at the late session. The reasons urged are that after what was said in the debate in the Senate about Mrs. Lincoln, in connection with the pension, she cannot, out of respect for herself and the memory of her distinguished husband, accept a boon so grudgingly granted. Some of the friends of the late President propose to bind themselves to raise Mrs. Lincoln three thousand dollars per annum during the term of her natural life, provided she declines the pension voted by Congress. Colonel Ward H. Lamont, who was United States marshal for the District of Columbia during President Lincoln's first term, promises to be one of three who will guarantee Mrs. Lincoln a thousand annually. In the meantime, Mrs. Lincoln herself has not been heard from on the subject.

On Sunday last, two brothers, hailing from Kane City, were playing poker at White Oak, and one of the brothers was found in the woods stabbed through the heart. The surviving brother asserts that the deceased fell on his knife and caused instant death.—Forest Republican.

These brothers were Sweeds. Four or five men were there engaged in chopping wood. They lived in a shanty together. On Sunday they got into a general fight in which one was killed and another injured. Dr. Shugart, of Titonite, informs that the direction of the wound in the deceased, the position of the knife, and all the circumstances, lead to quite a different conclusion than accidental stabbing, or suicide as the Coroner's inquest declared it. It is understood that further inquires into the affair are to be made.—Warren Mail.

ADDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED, WHOSE SUFFERING HAVE BEEN PROTRACTED FROM HIDDEN CAUSES, AND WHOSE CASES REQUIRE PROMPT TREATMENT TO RENDER EXISTENCE DESIRABLE.

If you are suffering or have suffered, from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or floccy, or is itropy on settling? Or does a thick skum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on the subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal disease badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of the generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering business-men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—Idiocy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to—and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

DISEASE OF THESE ORGANS REQUIRE THE USE OF A DIURETIC.

A SPLENDID PRIZE FOR THE LADIES. The finest, most pleasing, and costly engraving ever published in America, to be presented as a premium to each subscriber to DEMAREST'S MONTHLY, a magazine of practical utility in the house, a mirror of the fashions, and a literary conservator of surpassing interest and artistic excellence, acknowledged to be the modern parlor magazine of America.

The engraving, 28x32 inches, is from the original painting, entitled, "The Pic-Nic on the Fourth of July."

The pointing took a whole year, and is considered the finest of the entire list of numerous popular productions by Lillie M. Spencer. The engraving was the labor of four years, by three eminent artists—John Rodgers, Samuel Halpin, and Samuel Holyer; The last named having been induced to come from Europe to finish it. The engravers have ably succeeded the successful labors of the painter. None but artists can fully appreciate the skill and labor lavished on this engraving. The general effect is very fine and impressive, and the delicate finish to the heads will bear the most minute inspection. The union of line and stipple is executed with unusual ability, and their skillful combination has greatly contributed to the success of the engravers in this unsurpassed proof of their genius.

The work on the engraving alone cost over seven thousand dollars, besides the cost of the copyright, and is acknowledged by competent judges the most elaborately finished large work of art ever engraved in America.

Fine copies of this magnificent picture, on heavy plate paper, worth $10 each, are to be given as a premium to each subscriber to DEMAREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE. Yearly subscriptions only Three Dollars, and ten cents (which is to be sent with the subscription) for the postage on the engravings (which will be mailed securely done up on a roller.

This is certainly the largest, most liberal and splendid premium ever offered to single subscribers by any publisher, and affords an easy and economical way for any one to secure an elegant work of art, a Parlor Picture that is only next to a piano in the way of ornamentation, and a perpetual reminder of a day which ought to be cherished and held in remembrance by every true American.

The reception of this magnificent picture will take every one by surprise and we do not venture anything in saying that $10 will not procure another that combines so much of interest and beauty.

Specimens of the Magazine, with circulars, giving full particulars, will be sent to any given address, post free on receipt of 15 cents.
