CITY AND SUBURBAN.

(FROM YESTERDAY'S EVENING GAZETTE.)

A Singular Case—The Boot on the Other Leg.

This morning, Mrs. Ann Smith, residing in Temperanceville, appeared before Mayor Lowry and preferred a charge of larceny against Geo. Brown, a coal miner residing at Penn Station, Westmoreland county. She alleged that her son, John Smith, a minor over the age of eighteen, had enlisted at Greensburg, and got $53 bounty money; that he got leave to come, with the understanding that he should report at Greensburg on Wednesday next; and that, while walking along the street, to-day, he was accosted by George Brown and his son-in-law, James Whitfield, who demanded the money and took it from her son, without his consent. The son was present, and corroborated the statement made by his mother. Mr. Brown, on learning that an information had been made against him, appeared before the Mayor and made a statement to the effect that, about two weeks since, John Smith came up to Penn station, for the purpose of working with him at coal mining; that he worked a few days, and was boarding at his house; that on Friday last he sent him over to his son-in-law, Mr. Whitfield, to get some meat, and while there he stole a pocket book containing a fifty-dollar note on the Farmers' Bank of Reading, and two $3 Treasury notes. The pocket book was on the mantel-piece in a room to which the boy had access. He then left for home. Brown and Whitefield determined to follow him, and took a train for this city. Arriving here to-day, they were lucky enough to encounter him on the street, when they demanded the stolen money, which was handed over in currency—less some five or ten dollars, which had been spent. It was subsequently ascertained that the $50 bill had been changed at Hill & Co's. banking house, and a pretty clear case of larceny was made out—not, however, against Brown. The book was on the other leg, and Smith will be committed for larceny. It is proper to say that the boy is a little "daft," but he has sense enough to act the rascal.

Arrest of a Bold Thief.

On Friday last, a man named Thomas Thomas, while in Johnstown, fell in company with a man giving the name of John Clelow, a "jolly companion" and a "real clever fellow," but, unfortunately hard up for cash. Thomas proposed that Clelow should accompany him to Pittsburgh, and Clelow replied that it would afford him great pleasure to do so, but he had no money to pay his passage. Thomas generously proposed to pay the fare, and the two left in the next train for the Smoky City. Night coming on, Thomas fell into a sleep, and when he woke up he found that his jolly companion had left his side. A further examination developed the fact that he had been robbed of his pocket-book containing $150 in greenbacks and a $5 bill on one of the local banks. He made known his loss to the conductor, but Clelow was nowhere to be found.

On arriving in this city, Thomas put up at the Bull's Head tavern, and on Sunday night he was surprised to encounter his friend Clelow at the same house. He made no accusation in Clelow's presence, but quietly informed Mayor Lowry of the affair, and an officer was soon sent up, only to find, however, that the bird had flown. Officer Ray succeeded in finding the lark to-day, at a tavern in the Diamond, and at once took him into custody. He had been making good use of his time and Thomas' means, as he had purchased an entire new suit, from head to foot. Every stitch he had on was bran new, and he had spent all the money excepting $15, which was in mixed currency. He was locked up for a hearing, and will be committed for trial. He is said to be an accomplished professional thief named John Yates.

A Warning to Bounty Swindlers.

By order of Major General Ord, Second Lieutenant St. John Davis, 100th Pennsylvania Volunteers, having tendered his resignation, is dismissed the service, with forfeiture of all pay and emoluments, subject to the approval of the President, on the following statement of facts, certified to be correct by the commanding officer of his regiment, brigade and division. Lieutenant Davis enlisted for one year in 100th regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, receiving large bounties from the general Government and local authorities, and although well knowing that he was unfit for duty as an officer, by incompetency, yet sought for position as such, expecting that as soon as brought into the field his utter worthlessness would insure permission for him to resign, and return to his home with the bounty he had thus swindled the Government out of, and at liberty to resain practice the same scality. Lieutenant Davis has never done a day's duty with his regiment. He has, therefore, no claim to pay, having never earned it. A copy of the order of dismissal will be endorsed on his discharge, that he and his heirs may not apply for a pension hereafter, on account of the Lieutenant's arduous service in the cause.

COAL MINERS' ASSOCIATION.—A bill has been read in the House incorporating the American Miners' Association, the object of the association being the intellectual and social improvement of its members, and the securing of better protection for the lives and limbs against accidents, fire damps, imperfect ventilation of mines, falling of insecure roofs, &c., and to create a fund for the relief and assistance of their sick and disabled associates, and for the burial of deceased members. The members shall be male, practical miners, and the company shall also have power to establish a newspaper for the purpose of advocating the interest of its members.

FROM THE REBEL PRISONS.—Yesterday the First Lieutenant Robert Huey, of the second regiment Tennessee infantry, who passed through the city on his way to Lancaster, where he is going to visit his friends. Lieutenant Huey, with nearly all of his regiment, was captured over a year ago, and has been confined in the rebel prisons ever since, until January, when he made his escape, and came into Knoxville. He says that out of forty-eight of his company who were captured at the same time only seven were still alive when he left, and that with all that has been said of the cruel treatment received by the Union prisoners in the hands of the rebels, not half has been told.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—George Ward, a resident of Temperanceville, met with a fatal accident at New Castle, on Friday last. There are conflicting accounts as to how the accident occurred, some alleging that he was run over by railroad cars, others that he received his injuries in a rolling-mill. Be this as it may, his injuries were of such a nature that amputation of one of his legs was deemed necessary by his physicians, and he died during the operation by immediately thereafter. His remains were brought to Temperanceville and interred in the Catholic burial ground some distance from the village.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLOSION—ENGINEER KILLED.—We learn that engine No. 146, employed as a "pusher" on the local freight train, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, exploded on Saturday, in the vicinity of Wilmore. It is reported that the engineer, Joseph Parks, Sr., had a leg blown off, and has since died from the effects of his injuries. He resided at Altoona. We have no other particulars.

MONONGAHELA MILITARY DISTRICT.—Captain G. P. Davis, V. R. C., commanding this district, announces as his staff, Capt. Albert M. Harper, Assistant Adjutant General; Captain F. A. Dohrman, Commissary of Subsistence, and Lieutenant M. G. Cushing, Fifth Pennsylvania Cavalry, Aid-de-Camp. Headquarters at Military Post of Pittsburgh, Girard House.

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday a lady named Logan had her hand crushed at English's Printing office on Fourth street. She had called the office for the purpose of seeing a printing press in operation, and while leaning on the "feed board" her hand was caught in the rippers, crushing two fingers so severely that they were amputated at the second joint.

MANCHESTER has voted, in favor of levying a tax for bounty purposes—the vote being 263 in favor of, and only 4 against the tax.

Child Burnt to Death.

On Wednesday evening last, a horrible and fatal accident occurred in the vicinity of the Allegheny Arsenal. A little girl named Lizzy Kearney, whose parents were both absent at the time, approached so near the fire that her clothes ignited, and before she could receive any assistance, she was completely enveloped in flames. She immediately ran to the door, and her screams soon attracted the neighbors and her mother, who was not far distant. Before the flames could be extinguished, however, her breast and neck was so badly burnt that it was thought she could not survive. Medical aid was immediately summoned, but the doctor who dressed her injuries expressed his opinion that they would prove fatal. She lingered in a most painful condition until the following evening, when death opened. The deceased was only three years old.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—A colored man named Albert Baker was arrested to-day on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Mary E. Bird, also colored. The evidence showed that Baker had abused the woman badly, and he was committed to jail by Mayor Lowry.

PRESENTATION.—The employees of the Kensington Iron Works on Saturday presented to Mr. Joseph Nixon, general manager, a magnificent gold headed cane, made from wood taken from old Fort Duquesne. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Flowers, and was appropriately responded to by Mr. Nixon.

LARCENY.—Miles O'Neal was before the Mayor to-day, charged with the larceny of seventeen dollars from the house of Thomas Corcoran. The same party was accused of stealing a silver watch, valued at fifty-five dollars, the property of a soldier named Darragh, who had been boarding with Corcoran. O'Neal was held for trial.

PERSONAL.—Capt. Joseph Zeigler, of the 5th Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery, is now in the city on a brief leave of absence, and is looking hale and hearty. His friends will be glad to have the pleasure of giving him a hearty shake.

RESIGNATION OF GEN. NEGLEY.—Major General James S. Negley has resigned his commission in the army.
