CITY AND SUBURBAN.

FROM YESTERDAY'S EVENING GAZETTE.

The Fourth of March—Preparations for its Celebration.

The Executive Committee appointed at a public meeting held on Tuesday to make arrangements for celebrating the Fourth of March as a National Holiday, met this forenoon, and organized by calling Hon. Thomas M. Howe to the chair. There was a full attendance of the committee, and the liveliest interest was manifested.

It was arranged that all the bells in the city should be rung from half past eleven until half past twelve o'clock, on Saturday, and that a National salute of one hundred guns should be fired from the mouth of Cliff street, on the hill overlooking Bayardstown, between the hours of twelve and one o'clock.

His Honor, Mayor Lowry, and Capt. Hardtmeyer, were appointed a committee to attend to the firing of the salute, and they are now making arrangements for getting two large guns from the Arsenal for that purpose.

Hon. Thomas M. Howe, George R. White, Esq., and Dr. A. G. McCandless were appointed a committee to request the clergy of the city to have their places of public worship open on Saturday, between the hours of twelve and one o'clock, to deliver patriotic addresses, render thanks for past successes vouchsafed to our armies, and implore a continuance of the Divine favor.

Joseph Dilworth, Wm. O. Davis and James Montooth were appointed a Committee on Finance, and also a Committee of Arrangements to procure a hall for a public meeting to be held in the evening.

Mayor Lowry was instructed to issue an address, requesting the citizens to join in a proper observance of these recommendations. He was also authorized to procure speakers for the evening meeting, and engage a brass band and vocal performers for the occasion.

It is expected that all the manufacturing establishments in the city will suspend business on Saturday, and that the stores will be closed from half past eleven until three o'clock in the afternoon. It is especially desirable that all persons having flags shall display them during the entire day.

Packages by Mail for the Soldiers.

Adjutant S. A. Barr, of the Sixth Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery, encloses to us the following article from a Washington paper, which he wishes published for the information of those who send packages by mail to the soldiers:

We take occasion again to invite the attention of soldiers' families and other friends sending presents, such as stockings, gloves, shirts, drawers, and other knitting articles, as well as watches, jewelry, &c., to the fact that many of these articles have fallen from the brave men for whom they were intended, owing to the imperfect superscriptions; and in numerous other cases because their wrappers have been too fragile for transportation by the mails, and they have reached our postoffice without a particle of the envelope remaining thereon.

In all such cases, the postmaster and his clerks take pleasure and devote every leisure hour in endeavors to trace the owners, either the soldier for whom a package was intended, or the person sending it, but two frequently without success. We have one old veteran, who has been out of the war since 1862—who spends hours day and night, in recovering and directing such packages as can be made out. His desk is known as the "repair shop." A few days ago two shoes, a handsome wig was received, but no owner can be traced for it. Three things are indispensable—strong wrappers, plain directions, and the locality of the regiment.

Letter from the Army of the Potomac.

CAMP NEAR THE WELDON RAILROAD, February 22, 1865.

We have been officially informed of Sherman's recent success in South Carolina, and the news has greatly strengthened the conviction among us that our final triumph is near at hand. We feel assured that Grant and Sherman are masters of the situation, and we confidently hope and believe that their combined skill and energy, under the great "Disposer of events," must inevitably crush this unholy rebellion in a few more months.

I am glad that our noble President firmly and manfully maintained the irrepressible honor and integrity of our Union in his late conference with the Richmond commission. Much as I desire the restoration of peace to the land, and willing as I am that our enemies should respectfully be heard in this matter, I should grieve to know that we had bugged to our bosoms a prostituted peace, stained with eternal dishonor, and for which we had barter away the nation's glory and sacrificed the righteous principles in defence of which we have poured out so much loyal blood.

An attack on some part of our lines is anticipated, and we have been called up to meet it. We may be attacked to-night, but it is generally believed here that General Lee will soon make his forces felt against our lines in a mighty effort to drive the army away from here as the last hope of their desperate cause. Charles Knap's Soiree.

A Washington correspondent has written a letter to the New York Tribune, correcting the exaggerated statements of the regular correspondent of that journal concerning the late entertainment given by Charles Knap, Esq., in that city. He says: "The report, the affair cost $100,000 is simply preposterous: it was undoubtedly elegant and expensive, but except in transportation of cooks, servants and material from New York, there was no greater outlay than at many of the grand balls which take place there. The walls were not torn down between the two houses, but the communication was made by the back piazzas, which were draped in. The street was not floored or carpeted; but a plank landing place over the gutter was made for carriages and some ordinary rope matting laid down across the sidewalk. Mr. Knap, it is well known, owns the only foundry in the country capable of turning out first class heavy ordnance, such as the great mortars and the fifteen and twenty inch guns. He has been engaged in this work since the commencement of the war, and if he has made a fortune, he has made it fairly by dint of superior enterprise and skill, not by shoddy. He is a man of well known liberality, and has, I believe, contributed his share in charitable works. That he should have commemorated Washington's birthday and our success by a ball, is certainly no subject for censure."

ACCIDENT AT THE VARIETIES.—Last evening, as Masters Philip and William Kincade were performing their "Mid Air Sports" on the trapeze, and were whirling rapidly round like a wheel, they lost their hold and fell from the ceiling to the orchestra, receiving very severe injuries. They were picked up in an insensible condition, and carried to the rear of the stage, where a physician was soon in attendance. The house was crowded, and the accident caused great excitement for a time.

ACCIDENT TO A FREIGHT TRAIN.—Yesterday as a freight train, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, was approaching Lilly's Station, the scene of the late fearful catastrophe, one of the trucks fell on the track, throwing off three cars, one of which caught fire, and was totally destroyed. One of the hands had his legs horribly mashed, but beyond this we have no particulars. The cars which were thrown off were hardly broken, so that the loss to the company must have been considerable.

RECRUITING IN THE 23D DISTRICT.—Captain Kirker, Provost Marshal of the 23d district yesterday mustered ninety-six men, and enlistments are still going on very briskly. There is a growing confidence in our leaders and our armies, stimulating the recruiting service everywhere, and it only needs a due amount of perseverance, to fill the quotas.

LOST CHILD.—The lady who took a child from its mother, at the Allegheny City Poor Farm, on Saturday last, will confer a favor on a distressed mother by leaving word at the Mayor's office, Pittsburgh where the child may be found.

SECOND WARD.—The Second ward is rapidly filling up its quota, and should the draft be postponed a few days longer will be out.

Recruiting at a Prayer Meeting.

A singular circumstance, connected with the recruiting business, transpired a day or two since. It appears that a recruiting committee, hailing from Amwell township, Washington county, came over to this city to look up recruits. One of the committee is a class leader in the Methodist church, and either by chance or design visited a colored prayer meeting in one of the upper wards. During the evening he became quite familiar with the minister of the church, and mixing business with his devotion, he finally obtained no less than ten recruits out of the congregation, including the preacher! These were all presented at the office of Provost Marshal Foster, and all passed examination, excepting the minister, who was not fully up to the military standard of physical condition. The other nine were duly mustered into the service, to the credit of the aforesaid township.

SIXTH WARD.—All persons who have subscribed to the bounty fund of this ward, and others intending to subscribe, are requested to pay up as soon as possible. The School Directors have made arrangements by which they will secure the balance of the fund remaining unsubscribed, and will be enabled to offer the highest bounty to volunteers. We are gratified at this result, and may anticipate the speedy relief of the ward from the coming draft, if the citizens of the ward bend themselves energetically to the work.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY AND SURETY OF PEACE.—James Kelley was before Alderman Strain last evening on two charges; one for assault and battery, preferred by Elizabeth Duncan, a colored woman, and the other, for surety of the peace, by Annie Matthews. In default of bail he was sent to jail.

PROF. WILSON'S LECTURE.—The lecture by Prof. S. J. Wilson, D. D., at University Hall, corner of Ross and Diamond streets, comes off to-morrow evening. Subject: "Self-esteem—a Lecture for Students and Young Men."

CHARTIERS.—This township is nearly out of the draft, having but six or seven men to furnish.
