SPECIAL NOTICES.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten. We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The agents below named furnish gratis our American Almanac in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., and sold by B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S SON, & CO., and by all Druggists. ja4:eodawtnm.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

FROM YESTERDAY'S EVENING GAZETTE.

Alleged Inhuman Treatment.

On Sunday morning last, a woman giving her name as Mrs. Meanor, was found sitting on the steps of the Eagle Hotel, with a new-born infant in her arms. She was discovered by the wife of the proprietor, Mr. Mish; who had her conveyed to a room in the hotel, and properly cared for. She was very much exhausted, and unable to speak. A physician was sent for, and she remained in a very critical condition for over forty-eight hours, being apparently insensible. When she became able to converse she stated that she had resided in Louisville, and came here with the expectation of meeting her brother, but failed to find him. She expected to be confined in about two months, and having no friends here engaged work as a domestic in the family of Mr. J. Johns, on Hand street. She told Mrs. Johns her condition, and went to work in the beginning of last week. On Saturday night, however, she was taken sick and delivered of a child, Mrs. Johns sending for a physician and rendering her such assistance as was necessary. In the evening, when Mr. Johns came home, and learned what had happened, he became very much excited, and scolded the women for having deceived him. She alleged that the birth was premature, by two months, and that all she had stated was true. He told her she must leave the house at once, and threatened to pitch her out of the window if she did not clear out. On Sunday morning she was forced to leave the house by Johns, and taking her child made her way as best she could to the Eagle Hotel. She endeavored to get up stairs in the hotel, but her strength failed her and she was found by Mrs. Mish, as already stated. This is the version she gives of the affair.

On the other hand, Mr. Johns asserts that he did not put her out; that on upbraiding her for having deceived him in regard to her condition, she stated that she would leave the house in the morning, when he told her that she could not do so, however willing she might be; and that on Sunday morning she had left without his knowing where she had gone. This is the substance of his statement.

Nothing is known of the character of the woman, nor she seems to have no friends here. She states that her husband died in October last, and that she has been living a respectable life.

Committed for Larceny.

A colored man named Reuben Newman was committed to jail to-day by Mayor Morrison, to answer a charge of larceny preferred by Robert Denson, also colored. The prosecutor stated that he had a fifty dollar note in his possession, which he got changed at one of the banks in Allegheny, and started out with the intention of getting a substitute for another party who was to pay him fifty dollars for his services. In his travels he fell in with Newman and endeavored to induce him to enlist as a substitute. The two visited several taverns, and drank a great many times. In the evening they were both drunk, and, without knowing exactly how the thing was done, Denson found that he had been robbed of his fifty dollars. Newman was arrested next day, but of course he denied the larceny, and nothing was found on him to indicate that he had taken the money. It appeared in evidence, that Newman had offered a ten dollar bill at Bellaine's tavern, for drinks, and got nine dollars change, and that he had purchased a pair of boots, after dark, at Kaufman's. As he had not been carrying any money, he was asked to account how he came by the ten dollars. He stated that he had received it from a Mr. Atkinson, as far back as a week ago, and that he had kept it laid away, but as he owed Mr. Bellaine a little bill he thought he had better pay it. This was his own story, voluntarily made to the Mayor, after he had let out the fact of having borrowed it from his brother-in-law, who stated under oath that he had given the ten dollar bill to Newman! The Mayor, deeming the testimony wholly unsatisfactory, committed the accused to jail for trial.

Teachers' Salaries in Allegheny.

The recommendation of the Committee on Teachers and Salaries, as made to the Allegheny Board of Controllers, and by them referred to the Finance Committee, came up for discussion last evening before the Board. The Finance Committee state that they have not the means to pay the proposed increase of ten per cent., but that, if the Board should order it, the money could be raised by a loan. It was moved to adopt the resolution, increasing the salaries, upon which a spirited debate followed. The usual arguments were advanced on both sides. The friends of the measure contended that many of the teachers, especially the females, were not able to live on their present salaries, owing to the high prices of boarding and clothing, and that justice demanded an increase. Those who opposed the resolution did it solely upon the ground that the Board had not the means at present, and that the burthens of taxation were becoming so onerous upon the people that the taxing power should be exercised with the greatest caution. Had the question gone to a vote, it is probable that the resolution would have carried, but the subject was postponed until the May meeting.

Hay and Hay Wagons—Important Arrangements.

At the last meeting of Councils authority was given to the Street Committee to designate some given locality where hay and express wagons could stand while in waiting at the market. The hay wagons usually occupy Fifth and Liberty streets, but the locality has been objectionable on account of the railroad trains passing and repassing so frequently. The committee have directed that hereafter all hay wagons shall have permission to stand on the east side of Pitt street, from Penn to Duquesne Way, while the express wagons may stand on the north side of Liberty, from the corner of Fifth to Ferry. Those, therefore, who wish to purchase hay, or hire express wagons, will know where to go. The hay is thus driven a square or two further from the market house, but the locality is probably the best that could have been selected. Pitt street is just one square below St. Clair, and is not three minutes walk from the market house.

A Bold Robbery.

A man named William Bell appeared before Mayor Lowry to-day and stated that he had been knocked down and robbed of a pocket book containing fifty dollars, by a man unknown to him, but with whom he had been drinking. Bell had but recently come to the city, and was boarding at Smith's tavern, on Grant street. While walking along this street, near the wharf, the stranger induced him to step into a narrow alley, when he knocked him down and took his pocket book. The affair transpired between eleven and twelve o'clock, and if the facts are as stated the robbery was a most daring one. The police are in search of the robber.

Scarcity of Water in Allegheny.

The citizens of Allegheny were seriously put about this morning, on waking, to find that nearly all the hydrants had given out, and that there was scarcely enough water to be had to supply the usual tea and coffee demand; this trouble and annoyance comes with every freshet in the river. The supply pipe from the river become clogged up with ice and slush, which cannot be removed until the water subsides, considerably, and the consequence is that the supply in the basin becomes exhausted. Arrangements are being made for putting in an additional supply pipe, which will prevent a recurrence of the evil.

NOT ARRESTED.—Alexander Jackson, the party charged with the murder of Thomas Bellacy, was not arrested as reported; but his brother, George Jackson, was taken into custody and is still detained as a witness. He was present when the murder was committed, but alleges that he was so drunk at the time as to be unable to recollect anything about it. His brother left immediately after the murder, and has not been heard from since. The wife of George Jackson, who was also present, is in a precarious condition, owing to premature birth caused by fright.

Notes of Travel in the Oil and Coal Regions of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Particulars of the Oil and Coal Prospects on the "Big Sandy" and its Tributaries—Personal Observations—The Feasibility of "Locking and Damming" the "Big Sandy"—A "Wampus" Among the Guerrillas—Six of them Killed—High Waters—Bad Roads—Prominent Oil Streams, etc.

PAINTVILLE, Johnson Co., Ky., March 3, 1865.

Since my last I have been prospecting on the mountains and through the ravines in this vicinity, and have found that the coal, both in quality and quantity, is fully up to the representations made in my last, with one single exception—that of thickness. The upper vein I cannot put down at more than nine feet, although it is claimed by citizens here that the "drift" is not put down at the bottom of the vein, a fact I could not ascertain, as the vein is very imperfectly opened and only "lin" about thirty feet. This vein is about two hundred and fifty feet above the level of the river, and has a vein of slate running through it, say twelve inches thick, of a soft "blue fire-clay" nature.

The next seam—the celebrated Peach Orchard vein—is about fifty feet below this, and is about five feet thick, and notwithstanding its great reputation, I consider the upper seam far superior. Yet it is scarcely drifted a sufficient distance to give it a fair test as to quality. Up to "the breaking out of the rebellion" the Peach Orchard vein was worked extensively and successfully by Mr. W. P. Mellon, of Cincinnati. The third vein is about fifty feet below this again, is forty-two inches in thickness and unsurpassed for blacksmithing purposes. There is also a fourth vein about twenty inches thick still nearer the river. Of the other minerals contained in the mountains and valleys, I can only judge by the surface indications and general report. I found some fine specimens of iron ore, fire clay and cannel coal; but failed to find indications of the existence of lead so far; but I am assured that it does exist to a considerable extent. As to the oil resources, the most skeptical cannot raise a question—where the oil is floating thickly on the top of every little stream—where some eighty to one hundred barrels have been gathered off the surface by stirring the sand to make it rise, there certainly cannot be a reasonable doubt of its existence beneath. The former I saw myself; of the latter I am assured by Judge Borders, an old and reliable citizen, who boated it to me ket.

In case the mining business should become so extensive that the mode of transportation, as it is at present, should become inadequate, the question of locking and damming the Sandy naturally suggests itself. For my part I see but one reason why it could not, if indeed I can call it an objective reason, viz: the washing of the sand into the locks, otherwise everything is favorable, stream narrow, bluff high, rock plenty, and the declination very slight, say on an average, fifteen feet to the mile, depending to some extent on the stage of water in the Ohio, which sometimes backs the Sandy up as far as the shoals above "Peach Orchard." I do not think, however, that any such move will ever become necessary. Mr. Mellon built his boats one hundred and thirty feet long, twenty-two feet wide, and sun
