WANTED.—AGENTS FOR "THE SECRET SERVICE, THE FIELD, THE DUNGEON AND THE SCOAFF." By Allan Pinkerton, New York Tribune Correspondent. The most interesting and exciting book ever published, embracing Mr. Richardson's unparalleled experiences for four years, traveling through the South in the secret service of the Tribune and the outbreak of the war, with our armies and navy, both East and West, during the first two years of the Rebellion; his thrilling capture; his confinement for 20 months in seven different rebel prisons; his escape and almost miraculous journey by night of nearly 400 miles. It will abound in stirring events, and contain more of the facts, incident and romance of the war than any other work yet published.

Teachers, ladies, energetic young men, and especially returned and disabled officers and soldiers, who want of profitable employment, will find it peculiarly adapted to their condition. We have agents clearing $150 per month, which we will prove to any doubting applicant. Send for circulars. Address JONES, BROS. & CO., No. 602 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

AUCTION SALES.

SALE OF SERVICEABLE MULES.

QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13, 1865.

By direction of the Quartermaster-General, there will be sold, at public auction to the highest bidder, at the time and places named below, viz:

EASTON, PA., THURSDAY, July 20.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., MONDAY, July 24.
PITTSBURGH, PA., THURSDAY, July 27.

Two hundred SERVICEABLE MULES at each place.

Many of them were bought in the beginning of the war, as young mules, accompanied the armies in all their marches and campaigns, and are thoroughly broken; hardened by exercise; gentle and familiar, from being so long surrounded by the soldiers. Though sound and serviceable, they are no longer required in the army, and can be purchased at this sale at far less than their true value. The attention of both miners and farmers is especially invited.

Mules sold singly. Sales to commence at 10 A. M. Terms—Cash, in United States currency.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CHRONIC BLOOD.—With eruptions, disordered and vitiated blood, you are sicker than you think. It may burst out in the form of a sore, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Pores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Humors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis, or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases. Try AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound "Sarsaparilla" and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. We can only assure the sick that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of confirmed Consumptives. Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to promise to cure, will derive from it immediate relief.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by B. A. FAHNESTOCK & SON, and by all Druggists.

Philadelphia "Bluffers" in Trouble—An Outrageous Assault by a Hotel Keeper.

For some days past our citizens have been annoyed by public handbills conspicuously posted throughout the city, that Johnny Lazarus and Johnny Hickey, two well known bruisers of Philadelphia, would give a "separting exhibition" in a room over the Eldorado Saloon, on Fifth street, on Wednesday evening. The "exhibition" came off at the time and place stated, after which Lazarus and Hickey repaired to the Metropolitan Hotel, on St. Clair street, kept by Toney Newell, a well known sporting man, where they intended to pass the night. Several hours were spent in drinking and free conversation, but no disturbance was raised until about three o'clock in the morning, when Lazarus and Hickey began to question a couple of returned soldiers as to whether they had been drafted. One of the soldiers, Colin B. Lacock, a resident of Amwell township, Washington county, stated that they had been paid off and were on their way home. One of the "bouffers" insisted that the soldiers should order a bottle of wine, as they were able to do so, which they demurred to this arrangement. One of them agreed to stand treat at the bar, but this was declined, and the bottle of wine was insisted upon. Lacock was partly disposed to yield to the importunities of the men, but his companion, fearing that they intended to drug and then rob them, declared, in an emphatic manner, "You shall not impose upon my friend in this way. If he doesn't want to drink wine, you shan't make him do it." This incensed the bouffers, and they got between the soldiers and the door in a menacing manner. Finding themselves in rather close quarters they attempted to pass out at the door. At the same time, Newell was seen to take a revolver out of a drawer from behind the bar, when Lacock made a bound and dashed through the door into the street. At the same moment sprang over the counter, and rushing to the door fired the pistol—the ball striking on the pavement in front of Lacock. The soldiers, having escaped without injury, went to the Mayor's office and gave information of what had transpired. This was between three and four o'clock in the morning. When Mayor Lowry came down to his office, he found the men awaiting his arrival. He took their information against Newell, for assault with intent to kill, but the names of the other two men (Lazarus and Hickey) were unknown to them. The police, however, soon found out who were the actors in the assault, and warrants were issued for their arrest and executed by officer Bay. Newell gave bail in five hundred dollars to answer the charge, but Lazarus and Hickey. "Separters" have, however, not had bail and are still in the lock-up.

Lacock is satisfied that Lazarus and Hickey intended to rob him and his companion. When the "bouffers" found out that the soldiers had been paid, they were anxious to know whether they did not intend to go to bed and take a sleep, and on being informed that they intended to remain up all night, the "bouffers" dodge was then resorted to. We may here state that Newell keeps a licensed house, and his conduct in firing a revolver at a lodger (if satisfactorily proved) will be worth a reconsideration of his license. If given to freaks of this dangerous character, he is certainly not a proper person to "keep a hotel."

Pennsylvania Scenery.

A writer in the Railroad Record, having recently passed over the Pennsylvania railroad from Philadelphia to this city, gives his "impressions" in the following style:

"There are on the route many objects of interest, which cannot be found of the same kind anywhere else. The traveler may look on the snow-covered mountains of Switzerland—on the magnificent scenery of the Hudson—on the calm, broad, grand waters of the Mississippi—on the cotton plains of the South—on the wild, rugged, gold-bearing rocks of our great western territories—but he will not in all of them see just what he sees in Pennsylvania. The impression given is not of the sublime, nor even the beautiful, nor of the wild, but rather that of the rich, the quiet, the peaceful; of homes where men live at home enjoying the calm rest which belongs to the contented and the happy. Leaving Philadelphia, (a type of industry and prosperity) with its seven hundred thousand inhabitants, we soon see spreading out on every side, those wide, green fields of grass, that waving grain, those great barns which are the types of Pennsylvania farming, and whence Philadelphia obtains those rich products, which have justly given it the reputation of having the best markets of the world. Flying past these beautiful farms, we soon reach the valley of Downington; and if ever human eye can be delighted with what is rich and rural, it must be here. This vale, which is formed by the Brandywine, slipping far away in the distance, with no abrupt termination, with the most gentle waves, in which grass and grain, and fruit and flowers, denote all that is comfortable and charming in the rural scenery of a rich land. We pass along, and from Chester into Lancaster, where Saxon industry has created American wealth. The cash value of farms in the two counties of Chester and Lancaster exceeds ninety millions of dollars, a sum exceeding the value of any other two counties in the United States. In this fact may be seen one of the causes which make Philadelphia a city only second to New York.

At Harrisburg the road crosses the Susquehanna on a fine bridge. We are seen winding round the Blue Ridge—ascending the valley of the Juniata where it breaks through the mountains, not so abruptly, but quite as beautiful as in the Highlands of New York. At the foot of the hills we observed rich flower beds planted by nature, with more than the grace and beauty of the finest garden. At length the winding Juniata brings us to the foot of the Allegheniss and we arrive at Altoona and take a late supper at the Mountain House. The shades of night have gathered too thickly for us to observe closely the windings and tunnelings by which we surmount the granite hills. But all goes on as quietly and safely as if we were in our own homes. Pittsburgh is reached and we bid good by to the Pennsylvania Railroad, with the conviction that it affords one of the very best routes by which the traveler can pass between the east and the west. What wonderful changes has steam locomotion produced in the emigrations of man! Thousands of miles are traversed with almost the rapidity of the wind! Nations come together, and soon neither ocean or continent will be able to divide the families of men.

Sailing [illegible] Tennessee.

Since the roving bands of guerrillas and bushwhackers which have infested the mountain region bordering the Cumberland river have been dispersed, the attention of Northern speculators has been directed to the fine prospects afforded by the condition of the people, for acquiring cheap lands, in that fine mineral region bordering the Cumberland river, together with its various mountain tributaries, in Southern Kentucky, Northern Tennessee and North Eastern Alabama.

For many years this wild and but half explored region has been known only as a rough, sparsely populated, grazing and raising country. Small iron Furnaces have been erected along the Cumberland and its tributaries, and the quality of pig iron produced has been good. Salt wells abound along the South fork of the Cumberland, from Waitsboro, and in the vicinity of Burkesville, Kent
