CONDITIONAL RATIFICATION.—A full report of the South Carolina Legislature's proceedings upon the adoption of the Constitutional amendment shows that it was adopted conditionally, with the understanding put upon the record that the second section of the amendment was not to be construed as empowering Congress to legislate for the freed slaves.

The first section of that amendment, it will be remembered provides that neither slavery nor involuntary servitude shall exist in the United States; the second provides that "Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." These are very plain words and not easily misunderstood. They mean what they say, and Governor Perry very properly understood them as meaning that Congress could, under this article, prevent any attempt to re-enslave the blacks, or reduce them to the condition of peons or serfs.

In his answer to the President's dispatch exacting the adoption of the Amendment as indispensable to the return of the State to the Union, Governor Perry says that there was, on the part of that State, "no objection to the adoption of the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution, except an apprehension that Congress might, under the second section of that amendment, claim the right to legislate for the negro after slavery was abolished." To this Mr. Seward replies:

"The objection which you mention to the last clause of the Constitutional Amendment is regarded as querulous and unreasonable, because that clause is really restraining in its effects, instead of enlarging the power of Congress."

As Congress never had any power over this subject, we are unable to see where the "restraining" power comes in. But now mark how South Carolina seizes upon this opportunity to put in a plea of conditional ratification. Gov. Perry says to the Legislature:

"A few days since I addressed a communication to Mr. Seward, Secretary of State, by mail, in which I repeated and enlarged on the views, previously expressed to the President, in reference to the objections which were entertained in South Carolina to the Proposed Constitutional Amendment. I am happy to find that the Secretary of State does not regard these objections as well founded, but considers them as "querulous and unreasonable." It is true that a plain, honest construction of the language of the amendment would be that slavery was abolished in the United States, and that Congress should simply enforce it. When this was done their legislation would be ended. They could not attempt under the authority given by this amendment to pass laws for the government of the "freedmen" in their free state. The Attorney General of the United States and the President have been understood as concurring in this opinion. It would therefore be well, in adopting the proposed amendment, to place on record the construction which has been given to it by the Executive Department of the Federal Government."

In other words, South Carolina ratifies the amendment, with the understanding placed on the record that its second clause does not mean what it says, but means just the reverse, that "Congress shall not have the power to enforce this article."

Now, we protest against all double-dealing and playing upon words in so grave a matter as this. That amendment has been ratified by the free States with the clear understanding that it clothes Congress with full power to legislate for the protection of those freed by its operation, and South Carolina had better undeceive herself on that point at once. No "construction" placed on the record will avail her in the future. Her ratification must stand without condition; and the question of the power of Congress under the amendment will be settled in due time without reference to any forced interpretation put upon it, in any quarter.

THE CURRENCY.—Every body seems to be in favor of an early resumption of specie payments; but one party, embracing all those interested in speculation and the keeping up of high prices, is in favor of returning without contracting the currency, whilst the other contends that resumption is impossible without contraction. The latter party seems to embrace the leading commercial men of the country and the ablest financiers; every Board of Trade which has yet spoken having endorsed the policy of contraction, as an essential pre-requisite to resumption.

The party opposed to contraction assert that our present volume of currency is not too large—that we need it all to carry on our commerce successfully, and that resumption is not only possible but can easily be maintained with all this currency afloat. We fear, however, that their interests bias their judgments in this regard. It is desirable to keep up prices to their present oppressive point, we admit that all this currency is needed; but that it is possible to resume specie payments with $750,000,000 of paper in circulation, is contrary to all sound judgment and all past experience.

The average paper circulation of Great Britain is about $250,000,000; that of France is under $300,000,000; and that of this country before the war was considerably under the latter figure. We got along, then, with what paper money we had, very smoothly and easily, so that any plea of necessity for the present expansion must fall to the ground. If France and Great Britain can get along with less than $300,000,000 of paper money, surely we can.

The judgment of the great mass of financial men throughout this country is that a contraction of the currency within the limits fixed by the National Banking law is essential to the maintenance of specie payments, and that resumption cannot safely be attempted until we approximate that limit. There is no necessity for forcing this contraction rapidly or suddenly, but it is of the utmost importance that the commercial men of the country should settle down to the conviction that contraction is inevitable and must go on. Until they do so, the business of the country will not readily adapt itself to its changing circumstances.

WANT TO VOTE ON IT.—The Common Council of Washington City is very anxious, if Congress should undertake to confer the right of suffrage on the colored men of that town, to have a vote of the white citizens upon the proposition. No one who is familiar with the views of the white people of the Capital would be willing to leave any question of common honesty to their decision. There never was an hour, during the existence of the war, that a majority would not have voted for Jeff. Davis and for the overthrow of the national government. Congress will not be guilty of the folly of asking their permission to exercise its prerogative of legislating for the District of Columbia aright.

A CITY is issued in Indiana county for the assembling of a convention at Indiana, to consider the ways and best method of securing the presentation of men of proper moral qualifications for all civil offices.

BROWNLOW ON THE RECONSTRUCTED REBELS.

We extract the following from Brownlow's Knoxville Whig of Nov. 8th. The Governor ought to know these Southerners fully, and as his testimony is not that of a Radical, the Reactionists cannot carp at it:

"The Southern leaders still have the devil in them, and presuming upon the leniency of the President, they are losing sight of their real positions. Louisiana is now proposing to elect ex-Governor Allen, now a refugee in exile in Mexico, to gubernatorial honors, on the ground that he is endeared to the people because of his services rendered in the cause of the rebellion. In North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, unpardoned rebels are running for Congress, boasting that they are still unpardoned, and do not intend to change. We are sorry to see this state of things, but it is just what we predicted from the start. The war was closed out two years too soon. The President will adopt a new and different course towards these rebel States. He will, in a word, withdraw all amnesty, and introduce confiscation, martial law and military rule, and finally, all just extreme men have contended for. The mild and benignant policy of the President has been abused, is not at all appreciated by rebel leaders, but is unhesitatingly demanded as their right. These Southern rebels have their fate in their own keeping, and they are nursing their wrath to keep it warm. We feel confident that the President will not yield any more ground to them, if, indeed, he does not withdraw from them what he has conceded."

IT IS STATED upon the authority of Paymaster General Bruce that since the commencement of the war the Pay Department has paid out the enormous sum of one thousand and twenty millions of dollars. With all expenses of paying the disbursing officers, with all defalcations and losses of every kind, it has only cost to pay out this amount three quarters of one per cent—$6,050,000 07.

STATE NEWS.

HON. JOHN CESSNA.—The Franklin Repository says: The Chambersburg Band serenaded Hon. John Cessna at the National Hotel on Wednesday evening last, as a tribute to his eminent services in the Union cause, and to congratulate him on the Union victories in New York, New Jersey, &c. Mr. Cessna responded in an eloquent and appropriate speech, in which he alluded to the efforts of the Democracy in various stages of the war to aid the foes of the country, and congratulated Union men that fidelity to the Government had been triumphant. He was followed by Mr. McClure in a few remarks. The band then proceeded to Little's new restaurant and partook of a fine supper.

A MAN named McCallister was lately arrested in York, Pa., for passing counterfeit money—a twenty dollar greenback. He was taken before a local magistrate, who acting under legal counsel, instead of holding him for his appearance at the United States District Court, at Philadelphia, bound him to appear at the November Term of the Quarter Sessions of this county. McCallister having failed to appear in answer to his recognizance, the astonishing discovery was made that the court had no jurisdiction in the premises and thus the counterfeiter and his sureties, who are said to be among his particular friends, for the present, at least, are free from any legal responsibility.

A MAN was robbed on the railroad track in Titusville, last evening, of three hundred dollars. Two men, with railroad lanterns, accosted him, as he stated, in the direction of Corry, saying as it was dark they would light him as far as the switch. Soon, one of the men fell behind him, and knocked him down, whereupon fell to the victim's head, demanded his money. The poor man in terror enumerated the villains to take his money and let him go. They took from him every cent in his possession, amounting to $300, permitting him to return to the hotel, where he arrived after an absence of about fifteen minutes, a sadder and soberer man.

ANOTHER RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Two Men Killed.—Last night a terrible accident occurred near Andersonburg, on the Pennsylvania railroad, by which Mr. Henry Willoughby, of Harrisburg, conductor, and a man named Ritter, of East Donegal township, Lancaster county, were instantly killed. It appears that the unfortunate men were sitting in a coal car belonging to means gave way, precipitating Willoughby and Ritter upon the track, killing them instantly and mutilating them most horribly. It is said Willoughby could only be identified by means of his coatee.—Harrisburgh Telegraph of Wednesday Evening.

ON last Saturday night, about eight o'clock, a carpenter by the name of Kingsleein, while walking on the railroad track forward Titusville, was met by three men, who knocked him down and robbed him of $17 in money and two orders for oil. After severely beating him with a stick, they seized him by the scot of the pants and threw him down the embankment. He thinks the men were foreigners, as he could not understand their language. He is also of the impression that they wore masks, as their faces were all alike.

AMONG other important cases that will engage the attention of the Grand Jury of the Crawford county Court, in session this week, is Meadville, is the Oil Creek Railroad casualty of August the 24th. The verdict of the Coroner's jury has been returned to the District Attorney, and will be presented for confirmation. No arrests were made upon the finding of the Coroner's jury, for reasons unexplained. The fugitive engineer of the freight train is said to be in Chicago.

THE Hollidaysburgh Register says: We are informed that the amount of money required for the erection of the Juniata Plate and Sheet Iron Works, with an Iron Merchant Bar Mill and Nail Factory added thereto, on the ruins of the Lincoln Rolling Mill, in this place, is $150,000, of which $100,000 has already been subscribed, and the balance required can be easily obtained.

JACOB A. TANNER was convicted on Friday, in Erie, of manslaughter, and was sentenced to the Western Penitentiary for a term of four years. Immediately after the the conviction of Tanner, the license of A. Robinson, of Edinboro', where the murderer became intoxicated previous to committing his crime, was revoked by the court.

THE telegraph operators to the Petroleum district, to the number of twenty, had a fusion meeting at Pithole the other day. They appear to have done ample justice to a bountiful dinner and discussed and acted upon several questions, returned thanks for their hospitable entertainment, and went home more or less invigorated.

THE Indiana Register charges that Dr. Thomas St Clair, Hon. P. Sutton and Samuel A. Smith, all citizens of Indiana borough, endeavored to compass the defeat of Harry White for State senator in that district, by offering a large sum of money towards placing an independent candidate on the track.

THE Adams Sentinel entered its sixty-fourth year last week, and its present venerable and respected editor, Robert G. Harper, Esq., has conducted it uninterruptedly for forty-nine years. He is the patriarch of the Pennsylvania press, and the editorial career of few men has been equally reputable.

WE learn that the coal company formed in Indiana some time ago, in which F. M. Kinter, M. W. Dallas, —— McCallister, and Jos. M. Thompson were interested, sold out a few days ago, making something handsome out of the speculation. The great body of the land bought by them is in the southern part of the county.

SOME person or persons unknown, keep pulling down the telegraph wires as fast as they can put up, this side of the Shaffer Farm, Titusville Herald. Consequently without its night telegraph report.

GAME is unusually plenty in the woods of Cambria county, just now. The Washington Intelligencer, boasted three or four door brace and smaller game bagged daily, Sundays excepted, are almost without number.

ONE of the saw-mills at Garland, belonging to Col. McGrew, of Titusville, was consumed by fire on Friday night last, together with 200,000 feet of lumber. The loss will reach $8,000. There was no insurance.

A MAN named Dearmit was killed on the railroad, near Tyrone, on Friday last. He was knocked down by the locomotive, and some of the car wheels passed over him. He died in a short time afterwards.

REV. JOHN H. MANN, of York county, Pa., has been elected principal of the Male and Female High School of Lancaster city. Mr. M. is a graduate of Dartmouth College. The salary is one thousand dollars per annum.

THE clerks in Titusville are talking about an early closing movement. The employers do not evince any haste to move in the matter.

MR. DAVID BURK is a young man of Oswego, N. Y., just starting in business. Last week he started to New York with six hundred dollars in the side pocket of his coat. He was all right when the train left Great Bend, Pa., but when he got to Susquehanna it was missing. He appeals to think it got out of his side pocket somewhere between the two places. If he had put his money in the bank, where it belonged, and drawn against it when in New York, his side pocket arrangement, for the safe transmission of funds on a journey, would have been comparatively harmless and not so expensive as it turned out to have been. Side pockets, doubtless have their uses, and as a general thing it's well enough to have one around, but really in an item like this we can't express our views at large on the subject.

VARIOUS ITEMS.

SOME years since Daniel Webster called in at Taylor's bookstore, on Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, and asked if they had the second volume of Macauley's History of England. One of the clerks, who was much mixed as to the identity of Noah and Daniel, replied, "Yes, Mr. Webster, we have, and what will most recommend it to you, we have it with the orthography according to Webster." "That will do," said the statesman, "I don't want it; what I want is Macauley's History written in the English language."

A SINGULAR accident occurred the other day in a passenger car on the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis Railroad. One of the lamps fell from its fastenings and burst, throwing the oil over the floor. In the fall the oil became ignited, and the names flashed along the car with fearful rapidity, endangering the lives of several passengers. Before the flames were extinguished several seats were burned, and had the car been full many passengers would have lost their lives before they could have escaped.

A WESTERN paper says of a very mean rich man who lately died in Ohio, that "he bought a plain brick residence on the Virginia side of the Ohio river, and made that his home, to escape paying taxes in Ohio on his mortgages, judgment notes and money. He always managed somehow to avoid paying a large share of the taxes justly due from him. The heavy federal income tax nearly broke his heart. He was very obese and short winded, and for several years drank whiskey in large quantities."

A LADY in Boston, now nearly seventy years of age, can repeat all the Psalms of David, and Solomon's Proverbs by heart. No matter at what verse one may begin, she will take up the cue and proceed to the end of the chapter.

SORGHUM planting will be extensively carried on in Connecticut next year. Mills for crushing and boiling have been built, and syrup of a fine quality, worth one dollar and fifty cents per gallon has been made this year.

WORKMEN employed in sinking a foundation for a new church at Exeter, England, lately discovered, at a depth of ten feet, some portions of tessellated pavement, evidently of great antiquity.

THE State census of Illinois, at present incomplete, will probably put the population of the State about 2,165,000, being an increase of 150,000 since 1860.

THE Mississippi is to be bridged at Dubuque. Parties are there making preparations for the work.

SOME say that the quickest way to destroy "weeds" is to marry a widow. It is, no doubt, a most delightful species of husbandry.

Will contain timely and instructive articles on a wide variety of leading topics, pertaining to the great issues of the day. The GAZETTE will continue to be an independent Republican journal, governed in its course by no party clique, but by the interests of the whole country. It will advocate a firm and just policy towards the Southern States, and will be ready to allow them all the privileges of the rest of the States in the Union, as soon as they show themselves worthy to be entrusted with them. It will continue to uphold, as in the past, a national policy of protection to American industry.

CORRESPONDENCE

From different points, North and South, East and West, as well as from Europe, will be found in its columns.

THE COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Will continue to furnish the most accurate and trustworthy reports of the important and growing business transactions of this community. The several Markets will be regularly given, and the quotations of Produce, Cattle, Flour, Groceries, Oils, &c., may be relied upon as the actual prices, from day to day, thus furnishing a most interesting and valuable feature for all classes of readers. Telegraphic quotations from abroad, in addition to home reports.

THE LOCAL DEPARTMENT

Will be found unusually full and accurate, containing carefully prepared accounts of everything of public interest going on in Pittsburgh, Allegheny, and the surrounding boroughs.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE

Is issued Wednesdays and Saturdays. It contains the most important reading matter from the Daily, such as the Editorials, General and Local Intelligence, and full reports of the Markets, both at home and abroad. It can safely be commended as the most interesting and valuable weekly newspaper published in Western Pennsylvania. Liberal inducements for clubbing are offered.
