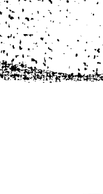
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR THE RADICAL CURE OF COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.



THIS REMEDY is offered to the community with the confidence we feel in an article which seldom fails to realize the happiest effects that can be desired. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind, is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the suffocating and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate.

Nothing has called louder for the earnest inquiry of medical men, than the alarming prevalence and fatality of consumptive complaints, nor has any one class of diseases had more of their investigations and care. But as yet no adequate remedy has been provided, on which the public could place reliance for protection from attacks upon the respiratory organs, until the introduction of the CHERRY PECTORAL. This article is the product of a long, laborious, and, I believe, successful endeavor to furnish the community with such a remedy. Of the last statement the American people are now competent to judge, and I appeal with confidence to their decision. If there is any dependence to be placed in what men of every class and station certify it has done for them, if we can trust our own senses, when we see dangerous affections of the throat and lungs yield to it, if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent Physicians who make it their business to know—in short, if there is any reliance upon any business to know—that this medicine does really do what we claim—the cure of diseases it is designed for, because many and all others that are known to mankind. If this be so, it cannot be too freely published, nor too widely known, that the afflicted should know it. A remedy that cures is priceless to them. Parents should know it, their children are priceless to them. All should know it, for health can be valued by no one. Not only should it be circulated here, but everywhere, not only in this country, but in all countries. We have been fairly and faithfully, we have acted on this conviction, as shown in the fact that already this article has made the circles of the globe. The sun never sets on its home. No continent is without it, and but few peoples. Although not in so general use in other nations as in this, it is employed by the more intelligent in almost all civilized countries. It is extensively used in both America—in Europe, Asia, Africa, and in the islands of the sea. Life is as dear to them as to us, and they grasp at a valuable remedy with even more avidity. Unlike most preparations of its kind, it is an expensive composition of costly materials, and still it is afforded to the public at a reasonably low price, and but is of vastly more importance to them, its quality is never suffered to decline from its original standard of excellence. Every bottle of this medicine manufactured, is of the same strength. No pains or expense has been made heretofore, and no care will be spared, in maintaining its high standard. No half or coarse is spared, in maintaining it in the best perfection which it is possible to produce. Hence the patriot who procures the genuine CHERRY PECTORAL may rely on having as good an article as has ever been had by those who testify to its cures.

By pursuing this course, I have the hope of doing some good in the world, as well as the satisfaction of believing that much has been done already.
