Arrival of the Saxonia.

The Great Eastern and the Paris Exhibition.

THE WAR IN CANDIA.

Arrival of the Saxonia.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12th.—The steamer Saxonia, from Hamburg, has arrived. She brings advices from Southampton to Oct. 31st.

Cholera had broken out afresh at Woolwich and Charlton, prevailing lightly in Edinburgh.

It has also appeared in Durham, Sunderland, Hartlepool, Darlington, Middlesborough and several places in Yorkshire.

Oscar Beaker, who, five years ago, had attempted the life of the King of Prussia has been pardoned.

The Great Eastern has been chartered to carry visitors from New York to Brest during the Paris Exhibition, after which she will be taken to lay the telegraph between France and America.

Marshall O'Donnell was seriously ill in Paris.

Dresden, Leipsic, Chemnitz, Bautzen, Zittau Grossenheim, Oschatz, Riesa Meissen and Perna are to receive Prussian garrisons.

The Saxon portion of the Dresden garrison will consist of the royal body guard.

A Florence despatch says that the national loan fixed for fifty-nine provinces was 77,400,000 lire, but forty-five provinces have responded with contributions amounting to 127,000,000 lire.

Mr. Gladstone has visited the Pope.

The Ex-King Francis II intends to prolong his residence in Rome.

The Chamber of Deputies in Baden have unanimously rejected the bill proposing an increase in the public taxes for 1867.

The majority of members elected to the Swiss National Council are Liberals.

In Candia the Turko-Egyptian army had gained a decisive victory over the insurgents. Mustapha Pacha, with 18,000 troops, captured Keraneesa, and subsequently pushed forward to the mountains, where he was defeated after four days' fighting.

MARY RICHARDS, a little girl of eight years, was caught in the machinery of an oil well at Strykes, Williams county, Ohio, a few days ago, and injured so that she died in a few moments. As she felt herself drawn by the machine, she screamed for her "mamma," and died with the word upon her lips.

MUSCLE AND MONEY.—England has sent to America, in the last fifty years, six millions of her population, and they in that time have sent to their friends at home, seventy millions of dollars.

TEXAS.

Report of the Judiciary Committee—Gov. Throckmorton and General Grant's Order.

GALVESTON, Nov. 9.—The Committee on the Judiciary of the Texas Legislature have reported to that body that sudden change, as well as the present condition of the negroes, require that they should be protected by wise and just legislation. Their removal, however desirable, cannot be accomplished for many years to come. If we are not governed and controlled by our own laws, they will be imposed upon us by those who know nothing of our true wants and capacity, and that power over us will be perpetuated which has been acquired by force.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—The Houston (Texas) Journal learns that General Sheridan communicated to Governor Throckmorton an order from General Grant, recognizing the nullification of General Orders No. 3, which authorized military commanders in the South to arrest all parties charged with certain offences, on failure or inability of the civil authorities to do so.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON TO GOVERNOR THROCKMORTON.

The Houston (Texas) Telegraph publishes the following despatch:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30, 1866.—Gov. Throckmorton:—Your telegram of the 29th inst. just received. I have nothing further to suggest than urging upon the Legislature to make all laws involving civil rights as complete as possible, so as to extend equal and exact justice to all persons, without regard to color, if it has not been done. We should not despair of the republic. My faith is strong. My confidence is unlimited in the wisdom, prudence, virtue, intelligence and magnanimity of the great mass of the people; and that their ultimate decision will be uninfluenced by passion and prejudice, engendered by the recent civil war, for the complete restoration of the Union by the admission of loyal Representatives and Senators from all the States to the respective Houses of the Congress of the United States.

"ANDREW JOHNSON."

Finance and Business—Nov. 12, 1866.

There is but little change in the Money Market, and notwithstanding the abundance and cheapness of capital, the market for stocks generally is dull. The bear movement, which has controlled the speculative list for some time past, still continues, and until there is some accession to the outside buyers, the present apathetic state of affairs will be likely to continue. Government Loans closed very quiet at 114¼ for the Coupon Sixes, '81; 110¼ for the Five-Twenties, '62; 107⅛ for the '65s; 105⅜ for the July Seven-Thirties, and 100⅛ for the Ten-Forties. State and City Loans were held stiffly. The new issues of the latter closed firm at 102¼@102½. In the absence of more active and profitable employment, large sums are seeking investment in the better class of Railroad and Canal Bonds, as well as in mortgages on Real Estate. Camden and Amboy Railroad sold at 138⅞@134—an advance; Pennsylvania Railroad at 55⅞; Catawissa Railroad Preferred at 28; Lehigh Valley Railroad at 67—an advance of ½, and Philadelphia and Erie Railroad at 32½. Canal stocks were dull. 36⅞ was bid for Schuylkill Navigation Preferred, and 57½ for Delaware Division. Susquehanna Canal was firm at 15¼. The managers give notice that they will resume payment of the coupon on its Bonds on the 15th of January next. It is anticipated that in the future the Company will be enabled to pay the interest on its bonds promptly, as they have a large sinking fund to meet future contingencies. Passenger Railway shares were more sought after. 31½ was freely bid for Germantown, and none offered under 32. Thirteenth and Fifteenth Streets sold at 20¼.

Philadelphia Markets.

MONDAY, Nov. 12.—The Breadstuffs market is at a stand—buyers and sellers being widely apart in their views. The receipts of Flour have somewhat increased but they are still much less than usual at this season of the year, and navigation will close with smaller stocks on the seaboard than at this period for a quarter of a century past. There is no shipping demand and only a few hundred barrels were disposed of to the home consumers at $12@13 ₩ barrel for Northwest extra family, $13@14 for Penna. and Ohio do. do., $15@16 50 for fancy lots; $9@11 for extras, including 100 barrels of the latter on secret terms, and $8@$8 75 for superfine. Small sales of Rye Flour at $8—no change. Corn Meal is quiet and Prices are nominal.

There is little or no demand for Wheat and very little doing to fix quotations. The last sales of Red were from $3 to $3 25 for common and prime; 200 bushels prime White sold at $3 35. Rye may be quoted at $1 35@1 40. Corn comes in slowly; 2,000 bushels yellow sold at $1 27 in store. Oats are dull; sales of 2,000 bushels at 63 cents.

No change in Barley or Malt.

Whisky—The demand is limited. Small sales of Penna. barrels at $2 41 and Ohio at $2 44.

COURTS.

The Maguire Homicide.

OYER AND TERMINER—Judges Allison and Ludlow.—The case of William A. Maguire, charged with the murder of Maggie Baer on the 20 of April, 1861, was resumed. On Saturday the special venire was exhausted after seven jurors had been obtained. So many of those summoned had formed and expressed opinions which they asserted would influence them as jurors, that the panel was thus exhausted. A second special venire was issued summoning fifty talesmen. This was returned this morning and forty-six jurors answered. From this panel the remaining jurors were secured.

There was a large attendance in the Court room this morning, and no little interest was manifested in the proceedings. As on Friday and Saturday, Maguire, in the dock, was closely watched, his movements and manner still indicating either insanity or an effort to simulate that condition. He was continually moving about in the dock, gesticulating violently with his hands and arms and at times addressing himself to the spectators, but his words were unintelligible to us across the Court room. He frequently indulged in an idiotic laugh, and the tipstaves had considerable difficulty in keeping him quiet.

The jury was full at fifteen minutes past 12 o'clock, and once more the trial was commenced. In opening the case, the District Attorney referred to the frequent complaints in the community that there were delays in the administering of criminal justice, but it was a curious fact that those who indulged in these comments were the very individuals who came into Court as jurors, and admitted their inability to do their part in executing the laws of the country.

At one period of Mr. Mann's address, the prisoner commenced striking his hand against the railing of the dock. The noise attracted the attention of every one, and Mr. Mann, in commenting upon insanity as a defence, said that the jury was required to ascertain the prisoner's mental condition at the time of the commission of the murder. Any exhibitions of insanity here in court now are idle and useless, as it did not establish the insanity of Maguire at the time he killed Maggie Baer.

At the close of Mr. Mann's address, the prisoner still continued his demonstrations, and during the examination of witnesses he frequently attracted attention to himself by his conduct. At one time his mother endeavored to pacify him, but without success. Her efforts only drew from him a vacant smile.

The testimony of Dr. Shapleigh, Ex-Coroner Taylor, and the officers who witnessed the murder and made the arrest was the same as that given to the jury last week.

Officer Benj. B. Sparks, sworn.—I was at the theatre the night this occurred; Maggie Baer was in the private box; some soldier was in the box with her; saw the prisoner; he came in and asked me to take a drink with him; I declined; he then asked my permission to go in the box to see Maggie Baer; I was officer of the theatre; I told him I could not well allow it; he said he only wanted to go for a few minutes to bid her good bye, as he was going away; then I consented to let him go; he went; whether he opened the box or they opened for him, I don't know; in a moment or two afterwards I heard the report of a pistol; when I got to the box Officers Moore and Rice were in the box and had him arrested; I did not know that he had a weapon at that time; I can't say he was either drunk or sober; he had been drinking during the day, I think, I am not positive that I saw him during the day; he was not what you call a drunken man; if he had been drinking he carried it very well; he was lively, but did not make any noise out of the way; had seen him at the theatre before; nearly nightly for a week or more; he was in no women's company that I saw when he was there; never saw him with Maggie Baer at the theatre; have seen them on the street; have been in the "Red Robin," Chestnut and Hudson's alley; I had seen Maggie Baer there; she was not a waiter girl there but was sitting there; have seen the prisoner there; he was consorting with the women there.

Cross-examined—Other men besides the prisoner went there and consorted with the women; when I got to the box Maggie told me he had done it, and told me to shoot him.

The court adjourned at this point until three o'clock this afternoon.
