Mize wins Masters in sudden death

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Larry Mize, a native son of this old southern city, turned back two stars of international golf with a spectacular pitch-in birdie that won a sudden death playoff yesterday in the 51st Masters golf tournament.

Mize won the coveted green jacket that goes to the Masters champion with a pitch from about 30-40 yards to the right of the 11th hole, the second of the sudden death playoff.

Mize played the shot to the fringe, then stood frozen in fascination as the ball took off, running straight into the cup. That eliminated Greg Norman of Australia, while Seve Ballesteros of Spain bogeyed the first sudden death hole to drop out.

"It's a dream come true," Mize said. "I've dreamed of winning the Masters, but I never dreamed of winning it like this — beating two of the greatest golfers in the world."

The ball disappeared into the hole like the flash of a cotton-tail rabbit ducking into its burrow.

The quiet, soft-spoken Mize leaped high into the air, then went hopping around the green, raising both hands in elation and clasping them to his head.

"Reporters have asked me all week if I ever dreamed of winning the Masters. I did," Mize said.

It was the climax of a multiple-man struggle in which six men either led or shared the lead at one time or another.

And it beat the two dominant figures in golf today, Norman, the flamboyant "Great White Shark," and Ballesteros, the Spanish master who has won this championship twice and owns a couple of British Open titles.

They were Mize's playoff partners after all three finished the regulation 72 holes in a tie for the top at 285, only three shots under par on the Augusta National Golf Club course.

Larry Mize

Mize birdied the 72nd hole from about three feet to finish a 71 and was the first in the clubhouse.

Ballesteros was next, and he saved par from from a bunker to set up the playoff. He, too had a 71.

Then came Norman, the outstanding golfer in world golf last year, who moved into a tie with a 20-foot birdie putt on the 17th, then parred the 18th to complete an erratic 72 that included six birdies and as many bogeys.

The ninth playoff in Masters history began on the 10th hole.

Ballesteros was eliminated there. He 3-putted for bogey, missing a 5-6 foot second putt. Mize had chance to win it all, but he left a 10-12 foot birdie attempt hanging on the lip of the cup. He tapped in. Norman, who had missed a birdie from about 20 feet, also made par and they went to the 11th.

Mize and Norman both drove the fairway.

Mize pushed his approach far, far to the right and turned his back on the shot while it was in the air.

Norman, the current British Open title-holder and perhaps the most feared competitor in the game today, also put his approach to the right, on the fringe.

Mize needed to get up and down from a difficult spot to have any chance of extending the playoff.

Instead, he pitched the ball in the hole. Norman, now needing a birdie to tie, missed his long putt and became a Masters runner-up for the second year in a row. It marked the third time in the last five major championships — which also include the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA — that he has been second.

For Mize, it was only the second victory of a six-year PGA Tour career. The other came in the 1983 Memphis Classic. He had a chance to win last year's Kemper, but he lost to Norman on the sixth hole of a sudden death playoff.

Mize has had a half-dozen runner-up finishes since the 1983 victory, and questions were being asked about his mental toughness.

He answered them in a strong, firm voice, saving a bogey from the water behind the 15th green, gaining a playoff spot with a last-hole birdie, then beating the best the game can offer.

The victory was worth $162,000 to Mize, who was born and "spent most of my growing-up years" in Augusta, he now resides in Columbus, Ga.

CAREERS

Our firm is a large private investment firm with offices located in Centre County, Pennsylvania; Boston, Massachusetts; and Englewood, Colorado. Our growing international client-base includes major universities, Fortune 500 companies, and other widely recognized corporations and institutions.

We would like nine well-rounded individuals out of 1987's graduating class. In the past, new associates have come from a wide spectrum of disciplines, ranging from a B.S. in Music Education to a Ph.D. in Biochemistry. New associates will join our firm in positions that will provide valuable experience and the opportunity to learn and help guide our firm into the future. We are looking for candidates who want to build a career with our firm.

Successful applicants must have at least a Bachelor's Degree with a minimum overall grade point average of 3.00. The individuals must be detail-oriented, intellectually aggressive, responsible, and willing to give that little extra that makes the difference.

The following are some of the associate level positions offered:

Assistant to the President. A newly created position requiring intelligence, common sense, the ability to work independently, and the ability to handle ten different projects at once. This person will do some of the work currently being done by our firm's president. Flexibility and a high tolerance level are required. The associate will be rewarded with a rare opportunity to gain valuable experience.

Securities Trader. The associate will join our current staff which traded over $3 billion worth of securities in 1986. The individual must be extremely accurate and willing to work in a high pressure environment. In return, the associate would receive an advanced understanding of securities markets.

Applications Programmer. A knowledge of investment finance, RPG II, Fortran, Basic, and telecommunications are most helpful, as is exposure to programming in a multi-user environment. Also useful is a familiarity with Wang VS systems. Three years of programming experience would be preferred, but not required.

Investment Research Analyst. A research staff position involving the quantitative analysis of financial figures and stock market data for approximately 750 stocks. Accuracy and the ability to meet daily deadlines are an absolute must. This approximately 60 hour per week position is suited only for a dedicated and career-minded individual.

Special Projects Analyst. Will be working on special investment research projects, along with routine responsibilites. The position would require the individual to work long hours and weekends when necessary. The applicant should view detail-oriented work as challenging and rewarding.

Portfolio Assistant. A reliable, detail-oriented person to help prepare error-free client reports and presentations. Experience with computers (word processing and plotting) and interest in investments would be helpful. Ability to meet deadlines a must. Applicant should have good communication skills and be willing to work long hours and weekends when necessary.

Corporate Accountant. We are looking for a high caliber individual who can produce perfectly accurate work on a timely basis. The job is too big for one person, so we are not going to list the individual requirements but are simply looking for the most capable applicant.

Securities Accountant. Responsibilities will include reporting daily trading to leading financial institutions world-wide. Our work is highly specialized, thus we can train anyone who is willing to learn. The associate will learn much more than what is covered in finance class.

Research Assistant. An entry-level position to compile, organize, and file stock market data and reports for a team of four research analysts. Must possess good communications skills in order to accurately collect and record financial data directly from companies. The position offers the potential to advance within the firm. This individual will deal with the investor relations departments of major corporations.

Part-time Employees. We are also looking for 8 additional part-time employees to do clerical work and light manual labor approximately fifteen to twenty hours per month at $7.50/hour.

If your are interested in any of these positions and feel you would be a valuable addition to our staff, please respond by sending a letter stating why you would be an asset to our firm along with your current resume and names of four references to P.O. Box 79, State College, Pennsylvania 16804.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

These positions have already been offered to other individuals from 1987's graduating class.

For the following, two positions were created and offered to an M.B.A. and an M.S. in Psychology:

Marketing Assistant. Candidate need not have a degree in marketing but should possess superior organizational and communication skills, learn quickly, work well under deadline pressure, and be willing to work long hours. The ideal applicant will have an eagerness to learn, the ability to work independently, and the patience and understanding for routine assignments as well as special projects. Responsibilities will include telephone contact with clients, updating and maintaining monthly and quarterly data and correspondence, and preparing and editing publications.

The following position has been offered to an M.A. in Communication Studies:

Investment Research Analyst. A research staff position involving the quantitative analysis of financial figures and stock market data for approximately 750 stocks. Accuracy and the ability to meet daily deadlines are an absolute must. This approximately 60 hour per week position is suited only for a dedicated and career-minded individual.

The following position has been offered to a B.S. in Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Management:

Receptionist. Requirements for this position are good communication skills and the ability to represent our firm to the public. Also necessary is the willingness to do general office work as needed. Within the past ten months, two people who held this position were presented with the opportunity to advance within the firm.
