LOOK OUT FOR IT.—A new swindling dodge has made its appearance, and the public are cautioned against it. The person whom it is desired to victimize receives a handsomely written circular from a hypothetically gift concert agent, informing him that he has drawn a piano, worth $600, at "the late drawing," and requesting the remittance of the small sum of $4 to cover expense of boxing and expressing. If the victim bites, he will wait long and vainly for his $500 piano. This trick has been plied successfully in some Western cities and the public will do well to pay no attention to such circulars, which will undoubtedly find their way in this vicinity before long.

A MONSTER.—One day last week on the farm of Mr. Graves, a few miles below town in the direction of Two Locks a mare gave birth to a foal which a human head—at least in appearance. From a gentleman who saw this curious freak of nature we learn that the head of what should have been a colt, bore a horrible likeness to the head of a human being. The ears small and setting upon the side, the top of the head round and covered with a glossy suit of fine velvety hair, and the general outlines of the face bearing a strong likeness to humanity. The man-brute lived but a few hours, but the head has been preserved.—Williamsport Pilot.
