ALTOONA.

Twelve hundred feet above the level of the sea, and close up to the south side of the spinal column of the Allegheny mountain, near by where the springs of the Juniata river start, lies Altoona. What the smooth sounding word Altoona means is for Philologists to discover.

There are people who believe it to be an Indian name meaning, "highland of great worth," but when they are confronted with the fact that away up in the north of Europe, in Holstein, on the highlands near the sea there is an Altoona, they shake their heads in doubt as to its Indian origin, for when were the Indians in north Europe, or who in the long prehistoric time carried an Indian highland name, and applied it to a place in the far away lowland country across the sea.

Rapid as has been the growth of the Pennsylvania Altoona, it was not brought into being by the mythical wand of the magician, but by the systemized centralizing trade and travel transportation interests of one of the most powerful railroad organizations in the world. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is one of the great organizations that is engaged in the herculean struggle for the mastery of the through trade and travel transportation of the continent, and Altoona is one of the points along its route where it expends a portion of its energy and money for repairs and transportation supplies, and it will continue to grow during the railroad age which is yet in its infancy or until some future day a new railroad directory, may deem it proper to concentrate the forces now at Altoona somewhere else.

Such things take place.

Constantine moved the capital from Rome to Constantinople.

A new directory or a new Pharoah arose among the Egyptians who knew not Joseph, but Altoona is safe for a generation to come, after that who knows?

A WOMAN IN IT.

It is only forty years of age, and as everything important must needs have a woman in it, so must Altoona. The woman appears at the beginning when the bargain was made for the first plot of ground where the Logan house stands and where the original shops are located. A Philadelphia lawyer had been sent to buy a property of 220 acres owned by Dr. Robison. The owner's price was known to be $6000. The railroad Company was determined on acquiring the farm, and to provide against all possibilities of a failure of purchase a letter was sent to the attorney to not miss having even if he had to pay $10,000. While the lawyer was at Robison's house he had occasion to walk in the yard and there accidentally dropped the letter. Mrs. Robison came that way, found it, read it, called her husband out of the house, read it to him and said: "There is four thousand more you can get for the farm. Get it, put the sale off for a day and raise the price." "Ah," said Robison, "the bargain for $6,000 is about complete," but the quick wit of the woman was equal for the occasion. Said she, "tell the lawyer your wife will not join with you in the deed." That settled it. They got the $10,000. Other farms have been absorbed by this railroad plant. The city has extended itself on every side, and new shops not yet completed, that will employ several thousand men have been built, miles away from where the deal with Robison and his wife was made.

THIS IS THE MECCA

to which thousands of men are flocking not for religious purpose, to bow the knee to a new Prophet, but to catch the American god, the almighty dollar, which the railroad company issues with a lavish hand every month to its idolator devotees. There are many Juniata county men here, and they are getting their share of the dollars. But this is not only a good place to get dollars, but it is a good place who are candidates for matrimony to get each a husband, and the father, who has a family of grown daughters and desires to have them married may do well to move to the Mountain City. Men are plenty who get big wages and who are tired of boarding house and hotel life, and who long for their own individual vine and fig tree habitation.

MUCH MAY BE SAID

of this young city of 30,000 people. There are few poor people within its limits. It draws its food supply from the vallies that nestle between the spurs of the Allegheny range of mountains, and reaches as far down the Juniata Valley as Mifflin for many of the good things to eat, thus proving the general benefit that arises from a diversified industry. If all the people of Altoona were sent back to the farms to make their living, the splendid home market that Altoona now furnishes for hundreds of farmers would be destroyed and the farmers would be out of that much cash with which they now supply their homes with the luxuries of life.

John Stahl from Bavaria, Germany, built the first house, where the Red Lyon Hotel stands. About the time the house was completed, Mr. Wright, who was connected with the railroad project, proposed to sell him the lot occupied by the Brant House for three hundred dollars. Said, Stahl, "I have only $27 to my name, I can't buy it." "Yes," said Wright, "you can." Ov r y n der," pointing in the direction of where the old round house now is, "a shop is to be built in which three hundred men are to work, and the lot will increase in price a couple of hundred dollars every year in a number of years to come," but Stahl did not buy.

"Now," said Stahl, speaking to the writer of this article, "the Railroad Company have five thousand men at work here, and more are to come to work in the new shops below town. If I had taken Wright's advice I would have made money. I would be a rich man if I had known what was to take place here.

Stahl's life in Altoona has not been a failure. He has been a useful man and measurably a successful one in the acquisition of property. He told us the first property he bought was from an Irish boss of Sarah Furnace for whom he built a house. The boss had no money, but instead offered several lots on 13th street, which Stahl accepted as pay for his work. He built himself several houses in one of which he lives in these declining days of his old age. He was the builder of the splendid Catholic church and Convent near Gospel Hill, and when the projectors of the buildings were discouraged for want of funds, and proposed to give it up his indomitable perseverance induced him to say: "No I'll not give up, I'll go out myself and beg for money for the cause before I give up." So much for the courage and zeal of the first builder in Altoona. He exhibited to us a photograph of decorative work executed by his own hands in the German Catholic church, that stands not far from mud Town Hill, an elevated piece of ground from which may be had, a splendid view of this city that is built over more hills than were in the eternal city of Rome.

Altoona has thirty churches.

Four banks.

Twenty-eight saloons.

Forty lawyers and as many doctors.

Sixty-eight schools with more than one hundred teachers.

A number of Catholic parochiel schools.

Seven newspapers, four of them dailies.

It has many gambling devotees.

It is a good place for real estate investment.

It has a debt of four hundred and ten thousand dollars.

It has all kinds of club and secret society organizations, and the day we were there, last Thursday, May 15, on the corner of 12th street and 11th Avenue was dedicated. The temple is said to be the most complete in matters of appointment outside of the Masonic Temple in the City of Brotherly Love. There were present at the dedication members from all parts of Central Pennsylvania and from other parts of the state—Masons of all degrees from Entered Apprentice Degree, on up through all the degrees of Solomon's Temple Masonry, through the Royal Arch Degree, into the Christian Crusader Knight Templar degrees were there.

THE NEW MASONIC TEMPLE,

Altoona is up to the latest American management for the grading and paving of streets to head off jobbery in such enterprises. The jobbery in the grading and paving of streets had become so common that it became necessary to take the matter out of the hands of the city or town council and lodge it among property holders. No street can be graded or paved without first obtaining the consent of two thirds of the owners of property along the street upon which the improvment is proposed to be made. When two thirds of the property holders give their consent by petition for the grading and paving of a street the work may be done, not at the general expense of the taxpayers of the city, but at the expense of the property holders along the street on which the improvement is made. The Juniata Valley met in the office of the Altoona Tribune at 10 o'clock a. m. The editors present were Dern of the Altoona Tribune. Conrad of the McVeytown Journal. Shrom of the Newport Ledger. Allison of the Juniata Herald. Jackman of the Mifflintown Democrat and Register. Goodlander of the Clearfield Republican. Lindsay of the Huntingdon News, Brumbaugh of the Huntingdon Advance. Pannabaker of the Coalport Standard. Speedy of the Port Royal Times. Schweier of the Juniata Sentinel and Republican.

President Dern called the meeting to order. Secretary and Treasurer Conrad read the minutes of the past year with a statement of the financial standing of the Association, which announced a surplus in the Treasury, all of which was approved.

H. C. Dern was re-elected President, Dr. A. B. Brumbaugh, Vice President; E. Conrad, Secretary and Treasurer; and George Shrom, G. B. Goodlander and W. M. Allison, executive committee. Messrs. Dern, Brumbaugh and Conrad by virtue of their offices are members of the executive committee.

Winchester, Va., was selected as the objective point for the next annual summer excursion, and from August 26th to 30th as the date.

Butz of the Huntingdon Globe was in town, but came to late to participate in the meeting of the Association. McPike of the Times is a Catholic, and his church that day held special ascension day services and that kept him away. Private business kept Slept of the Mirror, and Dunmire of the Independent, and the other Altoona editors from the meeting. We are indebted to editor Swartz of the Tribune for courtesies.

ON THE STREETS

one frequently meets Juniata county people, who all speak highly of their new home. Among those whom we met, were E. W. H Kinter, foreman of the Independent, Adam J. Greer, who until last August was a writer on the Tribune. The journey of sixty four years in this vale of tears have left their imprint on Greer. He has been an invalid with bronchitis since last October. Dave Sieber is keeping house and boarders and has a job at $2.00 a day, at work on the Brant house. C. C. Kloss, is pleased with his new home Dr. Books reports the practice of medicine as in a flourishing state. Telegraph operator Fasic, son of John Fasic of Patterson is pleased with his situation in the Mountain City. Dr. Weidman's appearance and bearing indicates that he has become one of the substantial men of the young city. Andrew Todd is a trusted employee in a large mercantile house. We are indebted to him and his friend W. T. Cutler for favors. Henry Scholl, John Gushard, Geo. Heck and Wm. Wagner of Mifflintown; were in attendance upon the dedication of the Masonic Temple. Richard Vaux of Philadelphia was in attendance upon the dedication, and when he made it known that a despatch had been sent him, that the Republicans in the late Randall district would not nominate a candidate against him for the special election to Congress, the Democratic brethren of the fraternity were immensely pleased, and all the others said, good.

Oriental.

Our post master, E. G. Sheaffer procured a nice and neatly furnished case with letter boxes for the post office, which is quite an improvement to the appearance of his store room as well as a convenience to the patrons of the office.

A few days ago Lew Arnold's grey mare tried her skill trotting on Ed. Sheaffer's board walk; they say she did it nice and made good time.

Some time ago Ed. Shuffer merchant and post master at Knoustown had the misfortune of having a number of finished fence posts stolen from him and carried, or hauled away, which he had scattered along the road for the erection of a fence. This is the first instance your reporter ever heard of any man's post fence having been stolen, and we are willing to score one for Knousetown. But now, is not a post master as much a public officer as a congressman? If so, we think he should be paid for his posts out of the public treasury just the same as our (un-) worthy congressmen for what they lost on Silcott the absconding defaulter. Let us have equal rights.

The wheat crop in this section gives promise of a bountiful harvest.

If everybody would mind their own business and allow everybody else to mind his, it would be one importantstep towards restoring this world to a paradise,

George Strawser and Savorrow G. Dressler have pulled up stakes and pitched their tent in Middleburg for the summer, to work in the woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hockenbrought are off on a visit to their sons, at Paxinos, Northumberland county.

Some candidates are already at work building up fences. Better not allow the fences to become dilapidated during term of office, then they would require less repairs.

AMICUS.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

A terrible accident occured at the grade crossing on the line of the Pennsylvania railroad at McVeytown station on May 14. Its victim was George S Ruble, of Oliver township, Mifflin county. Mr. Ruble was in the act of driving a four-horse team across the tracks with a load of wheat, preparatory to taking it to the warehouse on the south side of the tracks, when a fast freight, east bound came along. Before he could get out of the way the engine struck the wagon and the two horses next to it.

The force was terrific. The two horses were killed outright and the wagon was reduced to fragments. Mr. Ruble was hurled a long distance and received injuries of such a character as to render his recovery impossible and he died shortly afterward. The accident is the first of its kind to occur at the crossing named. Its unfortunate victim was a well to do farmer who owned a farm in the township about three miles from where the accident occurred.

A resident of Washington Pa., desiring a license, offered to buy his daughter, a young and pretty married woman, a baby carriage if she procured the names of forty reputable citizens for his petition. The young woman got the names and the carriage, and is greatly delighted at her success.

Mrs. Mary Rist, of Pottsville, was struck by lightning while preparing supper and thrown violently to the floor. She was rendered unconscious and one side of her body was completely paralyzed. Considerable damage was done to the house.

In an audible reflection over the racket, in the vicinity of the merry-go-round in Lewistown some nights ago, the Lewistown Sentinel is happy and expresses thankfulness that "no two Mifflintowners can lick Lewistown and Logan to boot.

The Patrons of Husbandry have purchased twenty acres of land adjacent to the town of Centre Hall for their picnic grounds, and will have a great exhibition there in September.

The semi annual encampment of the G. A. R., of Pennsylvania, will be held on Cemetery Ridge, at Gettysberg, August 30 to September 5.

Senator Ingalls, of Kansas, will be the orator at Gettysburg on Decoration Day.

The promise is bright for a big crop of cherries this year in Bucks county.

Flood victims are still being dug out of the mud at Johnstown.

From the Germantown Republican.

"He riseth in the morning and knoweth not what a day may bring forth. If he telleth all the news he runneth a great risk of having a tin ear put on him, and if he telleth not the news, the people say he is n. g. and there is nojoy in it. The crafty man cajoleth him into giving him a fifty cent puff for a five cent cigar, and fond mothers frown on him, if he fails to flatter their freckled faced broods. And all his ways are ways of woe and his days are full of sorrow. The life insurance man setteth snares for him, and on the whole he hath a duce of a time."

A Big Show Coming

Allen's Great Eastern Shows, a constellation in the realm of circusdom, will shortly exhibit in our midst in conjunction with Van Vrankin's wonderful troup of educated horses. The most wonderful exhibition of equine sagacity extant. Prof. Van Vranken stands to-day preeminent as an educator of this the noblest of beasts, and to see his wonderful work exemplified one must witness the performance of Allen's Great Eastern Shows June 4, 1890.

NEW DRUG STORE.

M. P. CRAWFORD, PHARMACIST, has opened a new drug store in Mifflintown and has in stock a full line of all goods kept in a first class drug store. PRESCRIPTIONS ACCURATELY COMPOUNDED. Purity of ingredients guaranteed. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited. Democrat and Register building, opposite Odd Fellows' Hall, Bridge street. tf.

Prof Van Vranken.

Will handle in every town or city where Allen's Great Eastern Shows exhibits, some vicious local horse. He daily encounters wild and vicious animals and the fight between man and beast will be worth miles of travel to see. It will be the most scientific as well as exciting exhibition ever witnessed in this county. Keep in mind the day and date of the coming of Allen's Great Eastern Shows, June 4, 1890.

A Spring Medicine.

The druggists claim that people call daily for the new cure for constipation and sick headache, discovered by Dr. Silas Lane while in the Rocky mountains. It is said to be Oregon grape root (a great remedy in the far west for those complaints) combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring on boiling water to draw out the strength. It sells at 40 cents a package and is called Lane's Family Medicine tf.

Ask Your Friends About It.

Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend who has used it what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottles 50c and $1 at all druggists. tf

TO CONSUMPTIVES

The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge) a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all throat and lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address Rev. Edward A. Wilson, Williamsburg, Kings County, New York.

Opportunity to Secure Bargains.

Samuel Strayer did not find a customer to buy his clothing store, therefore he has laid in a nice new stock at very low cash price. Old stock still at cost as he wants to quit business and will sell to anyone wanting to buy him out. He invites you to call and learn terms and so forth at his store on Bridge Street, Patterson.

May 7, 1890 3m.

Owners of Vicious Horses.

And in fact all admirers of horse flesh have a valuable treat in store for themselves in attending the performance of Prof. Van Franken, the world famous equine educator in connection with Allen's Circus. Mr. Van Vranken stands to day the peer of Oscar E. Gleason, the world's famous horse trainer, and his subduing of kicking, shying, bucking and cantankerous horses is worth miles of travel to witness. A free exhibition of breaking horses will be given in the public the day of the show in Mifflintown, June 4, 1890.

Consumption Surely Cured.

TO THE EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above-named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

EDITOR SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN: Please announce the name of W. Harry Moore, of Walker Twp., as a candidate for nomination for County Commissioner, subject to Republican usages. Mr. Moore's record as a Soldier and Citizen is without blemish and he possesses all the qualifications necessary to make a good and efficient officer, having received within a few votes of a majority three years ago, after not being able to canvass the county on account of sickness in his family, fully attests his claim for the office. MIFFLINTOWN.

May 12, 1890.

EDITOR SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN:—Dear Sir: The county government which is lodged in the board of County Commissioners, is of more importance in times of peace to the people of the county than the general government and therefore the board of county commissioners should be composed of honest and capable men, who will discharge the affairs of office for the general good. With this object in view I would name Joseph Sieber of Fayette township as a citizen standeth qualified to fill the important office of county commissioner. His nomination at the primary election will give the people generally an opportunity to elect a good man to the important office in November. JUNIATA.

COUNTY TREASURER.

EDITOR OF THE SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN—Dear Sir:—James J. McMullin of Tuscarora township has numerous friends, who desire to have him announced as a candidate for the office of County Treasurer at the Republican Primary Election, subject to the rules that govern the party, feeling satisfied that if he becomes the standard bearer for that office, he will prove a tower of strength before the people in old Tuscarora and the upper end, and throughout the entire county at the November election. He is a man of straight forward address and good business qualifications and common sense views of financial affairs. TUSCARORA.

EDITOR OF THE JUNIATA SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN.—Dear Sir—In conformity with the rules of the Republican party for primary nomination that all candidates for office must be publicly announced, I present the name of Luke Davis of Walker township as a most suitable man for the office of County Treasurer. Mr. Davis lives in the heaviest tax-paying township in the county, a township that has not been honored with a nomination for county office in years. He has been a heavy tax-payer all his life, an economical citizen, a tiller of the soil, a soldier in the Union army almost three years, a member of the National Guard five years, a good citizen every way, who will prove himself an efficient county officer, if the people will do themselves justice in electing him. WALKER.

EDITOR SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN:—No man in this community has the public confidence to a greater degree for honesty of purpose and financial integrity than Frederick Espenschade, and for that reason he is one of the fittest men in the county for official position, therefore I present him as a candidate for the primary nomination for the office of County Treasurer. He has not been an office seeker and for that reason will be acceptable to a large majority of people. His extensive acquaintance which has been acquired throughout the county by diligent attention to business will make him invincible before the people in November.

MIFFLINTOWN.

EDITOR SENTINEL AND REPUBLICAN:—Dear Sir: John F. Ehrenzeller of Fayette township, may not be known personally to every man in the county, but wherever he is known his name when mentioned in connection with the nomination for the office of County Treasurer, inspires confidence. He is a man of the people and resides in the banner district of the county. The eyes of all Juniata are turned upon Fayette at election time. Considering the personal qualities of Mr. Ehrenzeller and the district in which he lives his nomination at the primary would be most timely and his election assured in November. FAYETTE.
