If some bodybody would take it on themselves to kill about 400 dogs, that are running loose around town, they would receive the thanks of the community. Who will be the first to move in this matter?

EASTER SUNDAY.—Religious services appropriate to Easter Sunday will be held at the Court House next Sunday morning and evening by Rev. C. M. Heard.

ANOTHER Egg.—We were shown an egg, last Saturday, laid by a Cochon China hen, owned by J. V. Houk, which measured 2 1/2 inches one way, by four inches the other way. The hen has committed suicide. Poor hen!

THE Pennsylvania railroad company was chartered a quarter of a century ago. Now it represents $65,000,000, and owns between 2000 and 3000 miles of railroad track.

COMMUNICATED. THE ALBERT B. C.—We are gratified to learn that this club has started out this season under very favorable auspices. Last year the organization of a Base Ball Club, in our thriving little place, was almost laughed at; as the exponents of the National Game in this place had generally come off second best, but a determined effort was made which resulted in the formation of the Albert B. C. Having won their way, last season, into the good opinions of our citizens by their superior playing and gentlemanly behaviour, it was no hard matter to re-organize on a firmer basis, with a number of the best citizens of the place at their head as officers. We bespeak for them a career fully as brilliant as heretofore, and they have our hearty support in all undertakings.

FOUND DEAD.—Last Saturday morning, 1st instant, the remains of a man named Joseph Meyer, were found on the road, known as the "mountain road," about four miles south of Centreville, this county. When found, the body was almost buried in the mud, and was watched over by a dog, which had accompanied the unfortunate man, and, during the night, had kept at bay a pack of wolves, and prevented them from devouring it; although nearly exhausted by his fearful vigil, it was with difficulty that he could be induced to leave his dead master, or permit the body to be removed. The deceased had been at Centreville, the night before, with a team of horses and a wagon, and had started for home at about six o'clock. It is supposed that he fell forward out of the wagon, breaking his neck, and expiring without a struggle; after he had fallen out the horses went only a few steps, running against a tree, where they were found in the morning. He was a man past middle age, and leaves a wife and family to mourn his demise.

6 pounds of sugar for one dollar at J. V. Houk's.

SOMEbody, who professes to know all about it, says that the cause of accidents with coal oil lamps, generally speaking, is letting the oil burn too low in lamps. As the oil burns down a highly inflammable gas gathers above its surface, and as the oil decreases the gas increases. A slight jar will often ignite this gas and cause an explosion. Such accidents are said to be impossible, if the oil is not allowed to burn more than half way down in the lamp, and the lamp should be filled daily, and always in the morning.

A CURE FOR CATARRH.—Take one part finely pulverized saltpetre, and mix with two parts white sugar reduced to flour. This is an effectual remedy in all stoppages of the head, catarrh, etc. It must be snuffed up the nose a dozen times or more a day, according to the severity of the affection. Persons frequently die from catarrh in the head the disease becoming so bad that the mucus, instead of discharging through the throat and lodges on the lungs, producing many a sore throat, the cause of which is not suspected, and terminating fatally, in many instances, in that most dreaded of all diseases, consumption.

A GOOD WIFE.—An exchange can always tell what sort of a woman a man marries by the way he treats the printer. If he gets a common wife he forgets the printer altogether. If he gets a tolerable good wife, he will send in the notice of his marriage. If he gets a very good one, he will send the printer a slice of cake accompanying the notice. If he gets an extra good one he will send a greenback with the notice. If he gets a glorious, angelic creature, all smiles and affection and goodness, he is sure to send the printer a gold or silver dollar with the notice of his happiness. No good wife will allow her husband to owe for his paper, and if the worse-half does not attend to these things, it is a clear case of deception, because a man who won't pay for his paper will deceive his wife, and we have our opinion of such.

SAYS the Warren Mail: There seems to be no end of the fools or the toly of the counterfeit, sawdust swindle. A farmer near Olean, named John D.—recently lost $95 by trying to cheat some body else. He tried to recover his money at the express office, but no body would go his bail on a writ of replevin. The Cattaraugus Republican pokes John in the ribs thusly: The next day he came down again, accompanied by his brother as bondsman, but being a non-resident of the State he could not be accepted. John was again outwitted. His teeth pained him and he "absorbed something" for relief. Again John started for home; as he passed Martin's Mill some boys were fishing, and seeing a sucker dangling on a line, John made some comparisons quite favorable to the fish. Exit John. Moral for John: take the papers. John's position in the community is rather peculiar.

Brainard's Musical World.—The April number of this popular musical monthly is on our table, filled to overflowing, with beautiful new music and interesting reading. A charming new song entitled, "That Little Church around the corner," by Eastburn, is among the musical contents of this number, and is alone worth many times the price of the magazine. Interesting stories and editorials, instructive articles on musical topics, the latest news in the world of music, &c., are given, forming a monthly which no person interested in music can afford to be without. It is issued from the extensive music publishing house of S. Brainard & Sons, Cleveland, O., at the low price of $1.00 per annum. Specimen copies, with full catalogue of music and music books, will be sent free to any address during the present month. Address, S. Brainard & Sons, Cleveland, O.

The religious societies of France are said to be the possessors of property to the amount of $100,000,000. There are 6,000,000 real estate owners in the United States, two-thirds of them being farmers. A Roman Catholic priest in Rutland, Main, celebrated St. Patrick's Day by making over two hundred boys take the temperance pledge. One hundred women in the United States are now studying law. The youthful male attorneys will soon begin to wait in chorus with the physicians. A farmer in Southampton recently had $250 in greenbacks burned by leaving them in a drawer with some matches, which ignited by coming in contact with a worn whetstone. A writer in the Pall Mall Gazette says that the natural food of the English is beef and beer; while the American diet is made of segars, politics and newspapers. The oleander—so popular as a house and garden plant—is said to be extremely poisonous. A child, in Ohio, who ate some fragments clipped from an oleander bush was recently poisoned, the symptoms being sudden and violent, and the result almost fatal. A dutiful son in Detroit has killed 67 of his neighbors' cats to get money to buy his mother a set of false teeth. He has made a quiet neighborhood where was a howling wilderness, and the old woman eat heartily. Resolutions have been introduced in the Massachusetts Legislature, declaring "that the people of Massachusetts have seen with alarm the recent attempt, unhappily successful, by the President of the United States, to dictate the organization and appointment of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate of the United States."

Barre Burned.—On Monday the 20th instant, Mr. Michael Cornandy's barn took fire and burned to the ground. It is supposed that it caught fire from the sparks of an engine, on the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad. Mr. Cornandy was insured for $300, which nearly covers the loss. James Cler had rented the barn to store hay and some farming utensils. His loss will amount to some $150. No insurance.—[Dispatch. Death of Rev. Dr. Lyon.—The Erie papers announce the death of Rev. Dr. Lyon, late pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in that city. Dr. Lyon went to Erie more than forty years ago, and when the population was but 1,200 people. He had been unwell for some time, and was at Avon at the time of his death, where he had gone with the hope that a change of air, and the mineral waters at that place, would improve his health. He was buried in Erie on Tuesday last.—[Warren Ledger. CAMERON. A bill has been introduced into the Senate in relation to the allotment of prisoners in the Eastern and Western Penitentiaries, which transfer Cameron, Potter, Clinton, Centre, Millin, Juniata, Fulton and Franklin to the Western Penitentiary District.—[Press. WAIREN. Strange if True.—We learn from what seems good authority, that Mrs. Lucy Chamberlain, of East Randolph, widow of the late Hon. B. Chamberlain, was married last week, to one W. K. Miller. Esq. Miller, for he has been long a Justice of the Peace, is but little beyond middle life, while his new bride is 77 years old, is decrepit, and walks with the aid of crutches. We congratulate the parties on the consummation of their youthful desires. The match is said to be cemented by affection and love.—[Ledger. Henry D. Grander, one of the early German settlers in this Co., died at the residence of his son, John Grander, in Pleasant township, on the 20th of March, aged 75 years. He was a native of Bavaria. In 1817 he came to this country landing in Philadelphia. In 1832 he removed to this place, where he was well known and highly respected for his earnestness, honesty and sincere piety. A good man has gone to his reward.—[Mail. CLEARFIELD. Decensed.—It is with regret that we announce the death of Daniel Livingston, Esq., of Curwensville, aged 51 years and 6 months. Mr. Livingston was a very worthy and highly respected citizen, intimately known in all parts of this county. Upon the enactment of the Internal revenue law, he was appointed assessor in this (the 19th) Congressional district, which position he held until his death. He discharged the duties of his office with fidelity to the government, and the general satisfaction of the citizens in the district. He was quite ill for more than a year past, and hence his death was not unexpected. He left a wife and ten children, and a large circle of friends, to mourn his demise.—[Journal. CENTRE. Scalded.—On Tuesday the 21st inst., a little son, about three years old, of George Bowes, residing in Liberty township, in this county, was playing around the stove, upon which was sitting a tea-kettle of boiling water. The child accidentally pulled the tea-kettle over on its head and shoulders, and was scalded so severely that its recovery was impossible. It suffered intensely until Thursday the 23d inst., about noon, when it died.—[Republican. IMMIGRATION.—The Secretary of State has made a report to Congress on the subject of immigration. It shows that during the year ending 31st December last we received 280,278 immigrants, of whom Great Britain furnished 135,384, or over half, the Irish immigration not being reported separately; Germany less than one-third; Sweden and Norway, 14,135. China comes fourth, sending us 11,553. Canada sent but 249.

New Sunday School Music.—The Pearl, is the title of an entire new collection of beautiful Sunday School music just published by S. Brainard & Sons, Cleveland. Every song in the Pearl is new, fresh and sparkling, and by the best writers in the country. It is pronounced by all who have examined it the best and most attractive collection of Sunday School music ever published. Specimen pages will be sent free, or a single copy mailed for 35 cents. Every one interested in Sunday School music should examine the Pearl. Address, S. Brainard & Sons, Publishers, Cleveland, O. DECEDENTS' ESTATES.—The orphans' court of Philadelphia has recently decided that it is the duty of an executor or administrator to obtain searches against real estate sold by him. In default of taking out searches, the executor or administrator, it is stated, may be held personally liable to a lien creditor for the loss of his claim, even though an auditor has distributed the assets and the report has been confirmed by the court. The executor or administrator, it was held, has constructive notice of record claims, and is bound to retain sufficient funds to meet them or to bring them to the notice of the auditor. Searches against the real estate of the decedent should either be taken out by the auditor or he should require them to be produced by the administrator.

THE oleaner—so popular as a house and garden plant—is said to be extremely poisonous. DR. JOHNSON used to say that a habit of looking at the best side of every event is better than a thousand pounds a year. Mirth is the medicine of life. It cures its ill; it calms its strife; It softly smooths the brow of care; And writes a thousand graces there. MUTILATED CURRENCY.—Treasurer Spinner has decided that postmasters must receive mutilated currency at full value in payment for postage stamps. When in case of United States notes, not more than 1-20th of the note is missing, and in case of fractional currency not more than 1-10 is missing, then they may be received by postmasters as before intimated, but when such notes or fractional currency are mutilated beyond the standard referred to, no one is compelled to receive them for any part of their value, and the only place where such notes may be redeemed is at the United States Treasury.

LET the children sleep. Every hour that a child sleeps is just so much investment of physical capital for years to come. Every hour after dark that a child is awake is just so much capital withdrawn. Every hour that a child lives a quiet, tranquil, joyous life of such sort as kittens live upon hearths, squirrels in sunshine, is just so much investment in strength and steadiness and growth of nervous system. Every hour that a child lives a life of excited brainworking, either in a school-room, or in a ball-room, is just so much taken away from the reserved source which enables nerves to triumph through the labors, through the distress of latter life. Every mouthful of wholesome food that a child eats, at reasonable hours, may be said to tend every moment of his whole life, no matter how long it may be Victor Hugo, the benevolent exile, has found out that to be well fed once in seven days for one meal has been enough to transform the apparent health of all the poor children in Guernsey.

TO NEBRASKA, CALIFORNIA, AND KANSAS, AND THE B. & M. R. R. LANDS. The "Burlington Route," so called, lies right in the path of the Star of Empire. It runs almost immediately in the centre of the great westward movement of emigration. Crossing Illinois and Iowa, it strikes the Missouri river at three points. These three points are the gateways into three great sections of the trans-Missouri region. The Northern gate is Omaha, where the great Pacific road will take you to the land of gold and grapes, sunny mountains, and perpetual summer. The middle gate is Plattsmouth, which opens upon the south half of Nebraska, south of the Platte river, a region unsurpassed on the continent for agriculture and grazing. Just here are the B. & M. Railroad lands, concerning which Geo. S. Harris, the land officer at Burlington, Iowa, can give you all information, and in the heart of them is Lincoln, the State Capital and present terminus of the road. The Southern gate leads to Kansas, by connection with the St. Joe Road at Hamburg, running direct to St. Joe and Kansas City. The trains of the Burlington run smoothly and safely, and make all connections. It runs the best of coaches Pullman Palace and Pullman dining cars, and should you take the journey for the journey's sake alone, you will be repaid; or take it to find a home or a farm, and you cannot find either better than among the B. & M. lands, where you can buy on ten years' credit, and at a low price. v1n2yl.

RELIIGIOUS COLONY. REV. C. M. HEARD, Editor. Scouring at Children. The other evening, about eight o'clock, we had occasion to take a short ride in a street-car. Among our fellow-passengers were a respectable-looking lady and her two small children. One of the children was a girl about four years old, who sat on the car-seat, while the other, a baby of a few months, occupied his mother's lap. At that hour in the evening very young children are apt to be sleepy, and neither of these infants was an exception to the general rule. The injudicious mother seemed to overlook this fact in infantile natural history, or else to be ignorant of it. She demanded of them the same rigid conformity to regulations concerning sitting up straight and refraining from fidgeting, that she seemed to be in the habit of exacting of them during those hours of the day when they are fresh and hearty. She worried the baby into a state of fitful restlessness. She teased and tormented the larger child by trying to make her sit up like an adult, when she wanted to rest herself by leaning back, and by insisting that she should hold her feet still, when she wanted to kick them together. In the space of eight minutes by the watch, she exercised discipline on that suffering child fourteen times. Some of these exercises were exclusively the lash of the tongue, but more than half of them supplemented the acidulous "Sit up there, now, will you?" with a slap, a pull, or a pinch. The correction appeared to be a total failure for all purposes for which it was intended, unless its sole purpose was to vex the unhappy children and make them more unhappy than they would otherwise have been. The more the woman corrected the children, the more imperative seemed the demand for additional correction. We felt sadly for the tormented little folks. We wondered exactly how folkly it would go with them when they should reach home, and probably receive a sound thrashing before finally closing their eyes in slumber. There are women who seldom severely punish their children by beating, punching, or kicking, who nevertheless manage to inflict a great amount of worry upon them by pecking and snapping at them, and threatening them with much that they propose to do in the way of punishment. This has a hardening as well as a worrying effect on the threatened ones. The children soon understand that most of the promises of punishment are nothing but threats which will never be carried into execution, and they govern their conduct accordingly. It is a mean thing to visit on a child the anger or fretfulness which may, for the time being, have possession of the parent. There are many children punished for no offense at all, or for little offenses for which a kind word to the child would be sufficient to set him right. To be continually snarling and snapping at a child, continually exhibiting him to himself as a little malefactor, is, to say the best of it, poor policy. Severe reproof may be necessary in aggravated cases. The people who worry their children into aggravated disobedience by constantly and disagreeably reproving them when reproof is unnecessary, eventually find themselves the parents of disobedient sons and daughters. The parent or teacher who thus makes an enemy of the child will find it difficult ever to regain the child's friendship and confidence. A child is not a thing to be cuffed and kicked and whipped and scolded and threatened—not a mere object of discipline, to be made to march in soldierly fashion through life in obedience to harsh requirement. Our children are given to us to love, to teach, to train for happiness here and hereafter. They are for companions and helpers to us. They are to lead us by their happy smiles, and their cheerfully rendered obedience. They are to smooth the rough places for us, and for them. We are to cheer each other; to brighten each other's paths. We are partners with them in joy or sorrow, and they with us. Let us make the partnership a happy one to its junior as well as senior members. Let us bar the windows and close the door against everything that is unhappy and dismal. Life is too short to spend a moment in snarling. Let us make the most of it, and be joyful.

A Garden. A garden is a beautiful book, writ by the finger of God; every flower and every leaf is a letter. You have only to learn them—and he is a poor dupe who cannot, if he will, do that—to learn them and join them, and then go on reading and reading. And you will find yourself carried away from the earth by the beautiful story you are going through. You do not know what beautiful thoughts grow out of the ground, and seem to talk to a man. And then there are some flowers that seem to me like over-dutiful children; tend them but ever so little, and they come up and flourish, and show as I may say, their bright and happy faces to you.—[Douglas Jerrold.

Some writer has compared man to a watch needing to be wound up evening and morning with prayer and reading the Word of God in order to be able to keep equal and regular time. It is thus that the best men are made, as Bunyan, Baxter, Wesley, Fletcher, Fisk, Thomson, Kingsley, They who go to the Strong for strength and to the Wise for wisdom, are the men of mark who leave their impress upon their times, and whose influence will long survive to bless the race.
