About Beds.

Considering that one-third of our lives are passed in bed, it is strange how little attention is still given, in many families, to the condition of sleeping comfortably and well. In the first place, the average bed-room is much too small, and is not planned with reference to admitting the sunlight and air. One of the worst things about the "flats" and apartment houses in cities, that are just now so popular, is that the bed-rooms are so small, as a rule, and often dark also. A bed-room shut off from the sunshine and the direct outdoor air is a cell—a mere dungeon—we care not how richly it be furnished. If we were shut in to a choice, we would receive calls in an inner room, or display finery there, or do anything that did not keep human beings pent up for more than an hour at a time—and use the parlor or drawing-room to sleep in. Plenty of air, light and space should be secured for the sleeping apartment, whatever other room suffers. After a good deal of experience, we have come to the conclusion that the best bed which our civilization has yet produced is none too good for a Christian who has a due respect for himself. How a man can spend money for a gaudy carpet, for fine furniture—or even for pictures and books—and sleep on a hard mattress, placed on slats hardly less hard, we fail to understand. A low, strong, roomy bed stead, with the best of springs, is the foundation. We have found the spiral copper wire springs, put into slats, the simplest, cheapest, most cleanly, and on the whole the easiest, though there are plenty of patent beds to pick from. On these put two light mattresses—the bottom one of husk or seagrass, the top one of hair—if you can afford it; if not, go without other things till you can. A well-made hair mattress is as far as the bed makers have gone; and it is one of the luxurious necessities that no well to do house should be without. Have the mattresses made in sections, so that they can be easily turned and handled. Over the top one should be spread a thick cover, just its size, made like a "comfortable." This not only adds to the softness, but protects the mattress. The covering should be light in weight and open in texture—that is to say, of wool, both for healthfulness and comfort. The ideal bed has, aside from the sheet, nothing but the best rose blankets, and only enough of them to insure the requisite warmth. It ought not to be necessary to say—but we have observed that it is—that beds should be aired every morning, the fuller and longer the better; and at least once a month, in addition to scrupulous cleanness in other particulars, the entire bedding, mattresses, pillows and blankets, should be put out of doors in the sunshine, and beaten and brushed thoroughly.—Golden Rule.

About Breakfast

The importance of breakfast is so great that of all the meals of the day it should receive special attention. It is, in a way, the key of the day. If it is fresh, wholesome, nicely cooked and served, it gives one a "push-off" for the whole day, that is full of vigor and good cheer. If it is dowdy, musty, and indigestible, it spoils the day, and one goes about work much as if a weight were tied to his heels. If one has fruit, it should always be on the breakfast table.

Mothers, Think of This.—The following suggestion is worthy of the consideration of parents: Nervousness with a child is almost always a matter of the stomach. A crust of bread will usually put an end to the most obstinate peevishness. Children, for this reason, should never be allowed to go to bed, after a fit of crying, with an empty stomach. A bit of bread and jelly, or a cup of custard, will bring back smiles and happiness when all the moral laws fails, and for the question of reason.

The Eyes.—Favor your eyes in every possible manner. If you sit down to write or to read, manage to do so in a way that will bring the light over your shoulder. Do not front the light—that is very trying to the optic nerves and will in time seriously injure them. A little care in this matter will give you good eyesight for years later in life than if you neglect such simple and easy rules.

To Remove Discoloration Occasioned by Erysipelas, &c.—Should the use of any strong parts for instance a fall, a blow, or running against hard substance, apply a cloth wet out of very warm water, and continue until the pain ceases. Then rub and foot together for a moment or two back to the proper color, or bar-

Just Published in a Sealed Envelope. Price six cents.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhoea, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operation, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

THE WHITE SEWING MACHINE
THE BEST OF ALL.

Unrivaled in Appearance,
Unparalleled in Simplicity,
Unsurpassed in Construction,
Unprecedented in Popularity,
And Undisputed in the Broad Claim
OF BEING THE
VERY BEST OPERATING
QUICKEST SELLING,
HANDSOMEST, AND
Most Perfect Sewing Machine
IN THE WORLD.

The great popularity of the White is the most complete tribute to its excellence and superiority over other machines, and is substituted by the fact we put it upon the market, and in no instance has it failed to satisfy the recommendation held in view.

The demand for the White has increased to such an extent that we are now supplied to turn out the same number of machines as the two next leading machines combined.

YOU WILL BE SORRY

If you replace that old Pump with a new one and do not first carefully examine the

Bucke e Force Pump,

The Buckeye is the very latest improvement in Pumps. It is constructed with air-chambers which make it very easy to operate. Hose can be attached to the Buckeye Pump, and water can be thrown upon any building in case of fire. You can water your Garden and Yard, Wash Windows, Wash Buggies, and have a

FIRE ENGINE

ever ready on your own premises at no more cost than an ordinary pump. It in cold weather. Durable beyond a doubt. The very pump for deep wells. The working parts are below cisterns and valves within a porcelain lined chamber. Nothing to decay about it. The

Cannot Freeze

Iron Turbine Wind Engine

is also a great improvement in Wind Engines. Call and see these pumps in operation, or for particulars address
