The St. Louis Fire.

PITTSBURGH, May 19, 1849.

Considerable excitement prevails in this city in regard to the St. Louis fire. A number of the steamboats burnt, with their cargoes, were either owned in whole or in part by our citizens.

BOSTON, May 19, 1849.

The amount of insurance in this city, on property destroyed by the late conflagration at St. Louis, is ostimated at $1,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19, 1849.

The insurance offices of this city will not lose over $30,000 by the fire at St. Louis

BALTIMORE, May 19, 1849.

The merchants of this City believe that they will lose a great deal by the fire at St Louis

One Week Later.

ARRIVAL OF THE CANADA.

ST JOHNS, N. B, May 16.—The steamship Cambria, Capt. Judkins, left Liverpool on the 5th of May, and arrived at Halifax, on Monday evening, at half-past six o'clock, making with two exceptions, the quickest passage out on record

The Canada has 82 through passengers. She brings Paris dates to the evening of the 24, London of the 24, and Liverpool to the afternoon of the 4th inst

The Canadian Affairs have been incidentally noticed in Parliament. The Ministry have been very guarded in their expressions.

A meeting very numerously attended, has been held in London, to form a National League for restoring the principle of protection of national industry It is supposed that the meeting was got up for the purpose of fortifying the House of Lords in the step that it now seems probable that branch of the Legislature will pursue in throwing out the bill for the repeal of the Navigation Act

Should this bill be defeated in the House of Lords it will, it is supposed, carry down with it all the prominent measures of the Minority in the Ministerial

LIVERPOOL, May 5th.—American feeling of the moment has some over the cotton trade The weather has lately been one very favorable to the growing crops, which causes buyers to confine their purchases to immediate wants

Continued disturbances continue to act prejudicially in England upon most of the articles of produce and manufactures

Accounts from Manchester are but the diminution of business is more or less in consequence of foreign orders being the main feature of the reports

The breach between the President and his cousin, Napoleon Bonaparte, is now complete, as at the end of last week immediately after the return of the latter from Madrid, a violent altercation took place between the cousins, the result of which would have been under ordinary circumstances an appeal to arms The result which occasioned this outburst was after a great deal of recrimination M Napoleon Bonaparte denounced the President as a bastard, and told him he was not only a little egg put into an eagle's nest, but that the whole of the Bonaparte family know him to be so

The trade of France is rapidly improving. The import duties of March have more than doubled, compared with the same month last year The increase of exports also is equally apparent

Official notice of the intervention of Russia in Hungary, has been received at Paris The number of men placed at the disposal of Austria is 50,000 Another account states the number to be 150,000

The Hungarians have beaten the Austrians, and have almost driven them out of the country

The greatest alarm prevails at Vienna and has had the effect of increasing the demand on Paris to from 24 to 30,000,000 francs, to 8,000,000 francs, which is expectable to Sardinia, and a treaty of peace is accordingly been concluded

The King of Prussia has a quarrel queralled with his Parliament, and has definitely refused to accept the Imperial Crown of Germany.

On the 26th, the second Chamber having passed some obnoxious resolutions against holding Berlin Longer in state of siege, was forthwith dissolved by Royal ordinance, this gave great displeasure to the people of Berlin, and was the immediate cause of a popular commotion which was for the time suppressed by the soldiers, but not until much blood had been shed.

Four of the French steamers returned to Toulon from Civita Vecchia, on the 28th, when preparations were immediately made to embark another detachment of 5,000 infantry, two batteries of artillery and several squadrons of cavalry, which it was expected would sail for Italy on the 2d inst.

This movement might lead to the supposition that Gen. Oudinot expected resistance at Rome, however that may be, it is stated that he would not wait for reinforcements to march. A column of foot-men having been already directed toward that city.

The news of the arrival of the French has created a great sensation at Rome, where it was said Avizzana had got 29,000 men under arms to meet them. Another report states that the Romans did not wait for the arrival of the French troops but to rise against the triumviate. Mazzini, had, according to the statement, fled, and the population pronounced for Pius IX. The French commander proclaims a mission rather friendly than otherwise, and it is understood that the Pope will be expelled, or compelled to grant not only an amnesty but desirable reforms.

Similar conditions will probably be imposed on the Grand Duke of Tuscany.

At Paris, on the 3d inst., it was reported at the Brouse and generally credited, that the Government had received a telegraphic despatch announcing the entry of the French into Rome, and the flight of the Republic Government, also that the Tuscan troops had entered Leghorn

The Sicilians beaten at all points have virtually submitted to the King of Naples, and the French Admiral having negotiated successfully for favorable conditions.

Commercial reports continue highly favorable. A recent severe frost in the south of France caused immense injury to the mulberry trees, which, with other causes, has created a rise of 2s. per lb. for silk.

The war in Schleswig Holstein continues, and there was no prospect of peace.

More troops were to leave France for Rome. It was reported that those under Gen Oudinot had reached that place, and that the Romans had risen in favor of the Pope; that Mauzini and the Republican Government had fled. The Pope would be compelled not only to grant an amnesty, but desirable reforms.

Accounts from India report the entire termination of the war on the Punjaub.

Later from San Francisco.

Meeting for the Organization of a Government —Gen Smith disavowed as Governor —Trouble among the Crew of the U. S Ship Ohio.—Court Martial held on Board.—The Caravase at New Orleans, &c

BALTIMORE, May 16th—10 P M

The southern mail has arrived with New Orleans papers to the 7th inst, which state that meetings had been held at San Francisco and resolutions passed to organize a Legislative Assembly, to be composed of 15 members, who are to be charged with the framing of Laws for the preservation of order and protection of trade It was also resolved to elect 3 Judges

Another letter dated Vera Cruz 24th ult, says that it was reported that the people of California had organized a government which disowned the authority of Gen Smith as Governor and annulled his order prohibiting foreigners from working at the gold mines

The Picayune has the following letter—

MAZATLAN April 9th, 1849

Gentlemen The Panama bark Fanny, Capt De Brot arrived here on the 7th inst direct from San Francisco, whence she sailed the 29th ult

A short time before the Fanny left one of the boat's crew belonging to the U S flag ship Ohio ran away with the boat, they were however pursued captured and brought back. Shortly after, the crew being called upon to perform some duty, they refused to turn out and chase the authors of the offence, in consequence of which, at out 30 of the leaders were confined in irons

A court martial was before holden board the Ohio, and it was the opinion that the men in the irons would be a number of years in a penitentiary. Three was no doubts satisfactory to the Navy

All the officers of the ship and her Marines had been ordered to court martial aware

The U S Steam Propeller Massachusetts arrived at San Francisco on the 25th day of March Owing to the numerous number of vessels lying at San Francisco, the whole country was considered in a very insecure state There was a great want felt for the protection of an adequate military force and further the extension of the laws of the United States over the Territory, to the great benefit of those who have settled there

The Caravase at Hilo

The Mississippi a few miles above New Orleans, parted in the river

The water is in the Mississippi and reached Hannibal on the 24th March, and is rising fast

Cholera is not known It was prevalent at Galveston and in some portions of Texas

THE INSOLENCE OF OFFICE.—The official organ of the National and State Administrations, in Philadelphia, the Daily News, of Saturday last, contains the following insolent intimation:

"The Whig Work.—The Whig work is progressing at Washington, and notwithstanding the champerings and wailings of Locofocoism, it will be done right. The world was not made in a day, and surely the huge Augean stable will of necessity require some time It will however be accomplished—by piece meals, it may be—but it will be done."

Such is the spirit of Federal Whiggery "By piece-meals" as the tiger tears its victim and with his jaws all reeking and blood and growls for more Such is the spirit of an Administration which crawled into power upon the meanest and moderate declaration "I have no friends to reward, no enemies to punish." Such is the disposition manifested by a Chief, who declared that "both Democrats and Whigs fought at Monterey, and I know no distinction." Power attained, and it is now "Whig work." Supposing the Democratic Administration under which he acquired all his distinctions, had dismissed him ignominiously from his commands in Florida and on the Rio Grande, how would he have liked such "Democratic work." And yet this is the very course he—elected to the Presidency as he himself declared as a no party candidate—is pursuing towards every Democrat in the employment of the General Government. With their boldness of Virginia, and Connecticut, elections staring him in the face, with the full knowledge that the party so persecuted by his Administration hold equal power in regard to appointments with himself, by having a majority in the Senate, he still persists in this course. The Democracy are liberal and will go any length, almost, to avoid the imputation of factious hostility to an Executive of different politics. But there are limits beyond which it would be treason to the country to permit him to go. Insolence added to injury, and an utter violation of pledged faith, the Daily News, may find to its cost, will stir up the Senate to put the gates down upon all the schemes and dreams of profit and aggrandizement now so luxuriously indulged by the Federal Whig party.—Wilkesburre Farmer.

Jenny Lind retires from the stage, with a fortune of from eighty to a hundred thousand pounds.

MR. BANVARD will have the honor tomorrow of appearing for the first time in his eventful life before a crowned head. His exhibition at Egyptian Hall is closed to day for the purpose of taking down and packing his panorama; it will be sent to Windsor Castle, where it will be arranged in one of the great rooms, and where it will be exhibited to-morrow before the Queen and the Court. Banvard's description of his panorama will undoubtedly be highly relished by the Queen, and I should not be surprised to find this enterprising American artist a court favorite by-and-by. Banvard's announcement to the public that he was going to Windsor, rather astonished the regular showmen about town, as the phraseology was of the simple backwoods order, thus: "Her Majesty the Queen, having been pleased to have Mr Banvard bring his painting to Windsor Castle, the public is informed that the exhibition of the same will be closed on Friday and Saturday." The words "to have," subsequently gave place to the term, "to command"—Banvard's trip to Windsor, and appearance before her Majesty, will be an expensive one, especially as four exhibitions will be entirely lost at Egyptian Hall, but the ultimate effect of the trips will be of immense advantage, for the aristocracy, nobility and gentry will all rush to see an exhibition which the Queen has patronized.—London Dispatch

THE FIRE AT WATERTOWN.—The Watertown Journal Extra, contains full particulars of the late disastrous fire in that place, from which we condense the following list of sufferers. Over 100 buildings were destroyed; the loss as previously stated, is about $125,000. As a general thing the whole is fairly covered by insurance All the mails in for the North and West were involved in the loss of the Post Office, including all the letters for delivery. It is apprehended that several lives were lost; the remains of one human body were found where some stage carriages were burned, supposed to be those of a frail sister who had been refused admission during the evening where she had called for lodgings — Some six or eight horses were burned The progress of the flames was so rapid that the loss of goods among the merchants must be very great, as most of them had received their Spring supplies

THE WISCONSIN WHEAT CROP.—We learn from every county in the State that the wheat crop looks uncommonly vigorous and healthy The remark is made in the farm rs that it never promised better; and it is estimated that at least one third and perhaps one-half more wheat will be cultivated in Wisconsin during the coming summer, than in any previous season.—Milwaukee Wisconsin

ANOTHER GREAT FIRE—Loss $60,000 —MILWAUKEE Thursday May 17 — A fire broke out this morning about 4 o'clock in destroying $60,000 worth of property. Much of it was subdued The fire originated in the building occupied by W. Hawkins as a planing and store factory, which was consumed together with the store of David Morse S Davison' lively stable, Ludington's brick building, occupied by Sentinel and Gazette Davis & Moore's stage barn and a shed on the lots on which was $20,000 D. Davies' livery stable, including large quantities of hay, carriages, &c, and all the buildings from Ludington's, on the west side of Water street, with the exception of Metcalf's meat-market, and the seed-store of G Deer which were saved The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary

The Administration—Clouds Gathering in the Horizon.

This administration of President Polk has left behind it something of a permanent monument—something of abiding glory—a melting of a historical grandeur which cannot be effaced It was successful It accomplished its entire schedule of measures—besides annexing an empire to the republic—besides establishing for our volunteer armies a renown which has immeasurable strengthened the nation at home and abroad What was the secret of this success? Unity Unity in the administration, and in the party supporting it: concurrence of sentiment and of action in congress, and in the executive department of the government.

How is Gen Taylor to succeed? The senate is against him—the house may possibly be against him—the cabinet are supposed to be too fast for him: His pledges before the election—his position as defined in the inaugural, appear to be too moderate, too conciliatory, for the demands of his cabinet, and the outside pressure of the whigs ultra. What is he to do? If he pursues this ultra whig policy—if he listens and acquiesces to these ultra whig demands, he will speedily be left entirely to their support—all the extraneous elements which combined to give him his election will abandon him, and he will stand in a minority before the country. All the offices in the Union will scarcely suffice for a tithe of the applicants, for the whigs have more office seekers among them than the democrats—more young lawyers and doctors and men of leisure out of business, more of those fashionable people who do nothing, but who love good salaries and light labor.—Washington Cor. N. Y. Herald.

☞ John Ferris has been appointed postmaster at Lawrenceburgh, Ind., vice Wallace C. Law, removed. Mr. Law served his country bravely in the war with Mexico, and LOST ONE OF HIS ARMS BY A CANNON BALL AT THE BATTLE OF BUENA VISTA. Of course this disqualifies him—takes away the "essential prerequisites."

INGENIOUS.—E. H. Howard, late Postmaster at Sheboygan, Wisconsin, has started for California, in a boat wagon of his own construction. The box of the wagon is a boat set on steel springs, the whole of which is covered with oil cloth, making a very comfortable house. The establishment is so arranged that, upon reaching a river, the running gears of the wagon can be unshipped in a few minutes and taken aboard the boat while crossing the stream. This is decidedly the best overland outfit we have noticed.

The Spaniards have a proverb that he who would make a fortune in six months will be hanged in a year.

AN UNSOLICITED VOICE FROM OWEGO, N. Y.—The undersigned take pleasure in recommending "Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer," as a medicine possessing greater healing virtues—adapted to a much larger class of diseases—and its effects, in arresting pain being more immediate than any remedy we have ever used. As a family medicine, we think it has no superior, and would recommend its use by all who are afflicted. The following comprises a list of some of the complaints in which we have used the Pain Killer with complete success:—Burns, Bruises, Sprains, Rheumatism, Cuts, Coughs, Colds, Headache, Toothache, Chilblains, Sore Throat and Breast, Pain in the Side and Stomach, Diarrhœa, Bee Sting, Cholic, Mumps, Kernelle, Worms, Ague and Fever, and general debility of the system.
